The Servants of India Society

PREAMBLE :

Extracts from the original Preamble to the Constitution of the Society written by the illustrious Founder, the late Gopal Krishna Gokhale, in 1905.

For some time past the conviction has been forcing itself on many earnest and thoughful minds that a stage has been reached in the work of nation-building in India when, for further progress. the devoted labours of a specially trained agency applying itself to the task in a true missionary spirit are required. The work that has been accomplished so far has indeed been of the highest value. The growth during the last fifty years of a feeling of common nationality based upon common traditions and ties, common hopes and aspirations, and even common disabilities, has been most striking. The fact that we are Indians first and Hindus Mahommedans, Parsees or Christians afterwards, is being realised in a steadily increasing measure, and the idea of a united and renovated India marching onwards to a place among the nations of the world, worthy of her great past, is no longer a mere idle dream of a few imaginative minds, but is the definitely accepted creed of those who form the brain of the communitythe educated classes of the country. A creditable beginning has already been made in matters of education and of local selfgovernment; and all classes of the people are slowly but steadily coming under the influence of liberal ideas. The claims of public life are every day receiving wider recognition, and attachment to the land of our birth is growing into a strong and deeply cherished passion of the heart. The annual meetings of Congresses and Conferences, the work of public bodies and associations, the writings in the columns of the Indian Press-all bear witness to the new life that is coursing in the veins of the people. The results achieved so far are undoubtedly most gratifying, but they only mean that the jungle has been cleared and the foundations laid. The great work of rearing the superstructure has vet to be taken in hand, and the situation demands on the part of workers devotion and sacrifices proportionate to the magnitude of the task.

The Servants of India Society has been established to meet in some measure these requirements of the situation....Much of the work must be directed towards building up in the country a higher type of character and capacity than is generally available at present, and the advance can only be slow. Moreover, the path is beset with great difficulties; there will be constant temptations to turn back; bitter disappointment will repeatedly try the faith of those who have put their hand to the work. But the weary toil can have but one end, if only the workers grow not faint-hearted on the way. One essential condition of success in this work is that a sufficient number of our countrymen must now come forward to devote themselves to the cause in the spirit in which religious work is undertaken. Public life must be spiritualised. Love of country must so fill the heart that all else shall appear as of little moment by its side. A fervent patriotism which rejoices at every opportunity of sacrifice for the motherland, a dauntless heart which refuses to be turned back from its object by difficulty or danger, a deep faith in the purpose of Providence which nothing can shake—equipped with these, the worker must start on his mission and reverently seek the joy which comes of spending oneself in the service of one's country.

The Servants of Indian Society will train men, prepared to devote their lives to the cause of the country in a religious spirit, and will seek to promote, by all constitutional means, the national interests of the Indian people. Its members will direct their efforts, principally towards (1) creating among the people, by example and by precept, a deep and passionate love of the motherland, seeking its highest fulfilment in service and sacrifice; (2) organizing the work of political education and agitation, basing it on a careful study of public questions and strengthening generally the public life of the country; (3) promoting relations of cordial goodwill and co-operation among the different communities; (4) assisting educational movements, especially those for the education of women, the education of backward classes and industrial and scientific education; (5) helping forward the industrial development of the country; (6) the elevation of the depressed classes...

RELIEF OF DISTRESS

The Committee is composed of nominees of almost all the political parties and groups, including the Congress, representatives of trade, commerce and industry, zilla parishads, co-operative sector, non-political social workers and of the press. The Central Committee aims at, inter alia, ensuring that various types of relief administered by Government reaches the famine-affected people in full measure and on time, that there is no avoidable wastage and corruption in relief administration and that malpractices are prevented by maintaining a vigilant eve on relief works. In pursuance of its aims and objects the Committee appointed 22 observers, who were regualarly paid honorarium and travelling allowance, to work in 14 worst-affected districts of the State. On the basis of factual information collected first hand by these observers the defects, deficiencies, shortcomings and a variety of mal-practices etc. in the relief administration of Government as well as expectations and demands of the affected people along with their privations and hardships were regularly brought to the notice of Government, and the public in the form of hand-outs. This main work of the Committee kept the Hony, Secretary busy. Besides attending to the office work Shri Kakade toured, along with other members of the Executive Committee, a number of worst-affected districts. A Conference of representatives of famine-affected people was held in Poona in September 1973 to ventilate the grievances of the relief workers as well as to educate public opinion about the famine situation. Due to the acute scarcity of foodgrains and fodder the Central Committee Could not undertake sustained relief operations on its own, as it did in previous famines, to supplement Govt, relief. The Committee therefore decided to extend financial assistance to some schools and colleges that undertook to provide free meals to the students appearing for their annual examinations, water supply schemes, a cattle feeding centre in Poona and an orphanage in Sholapur district. To supplement Government relief or where Govt relief did not reach, the Committee sent its teams of medical men to Osmanabad, Rhir, Sholapur, Sangli, Satara, Poona, Ahmednagar, Dhulia and Nasik districts to distribute medicines and to give preventive innoculations. The Committee thus spent in all about Rs. 82,000 on relief work through other agencies, out of its total collections about Rs. 4,00,000/—. Bulk of the donations have been earmarked for certain specific purposes. The Committee has been registered as a public charitable trust under the name of Maharashtra Association for the Relief and Eradication of Famine. Dr. Kakade continues to be Hony. Shri Ajgaonkar continued his work on the Education Committee of the Social Service League, Bombay, which conducts two high schools, a day high school and a night high school in a predominantly labour area of Bombay.

The Day High School was started in 1966 with five divisions of Std. VIII. During the year there were one division of Standard V, one division of Standard VI, seven divisions of Standard VIII, five divisions of Standard IX, six divisions of Standard X, and three divisions of Standard XI. The number of pupils on the roll was 1,164 out of which 319 belonged to Backward and Economically Backward Classes.

The Night High School is one of the oldest educational institutions working in this area for the last 52 years. The School is a full-fledged one and conducts classes from Std. V to Std. XI. During the year the total number of pupils on the roll was 394.

Shri S. S. Ajgaonkar continued to be a member of the Mafatlal Gagalbhai Textile Technical Institute Supervising Committee of the Social Service League. The Institute was started in 1924 to provide facilities for systematic training to those who seek entry in the textile industry as a career and to those who are already in the Industry. The School is only one of its kind in the country which imparts theoretical and practical training in the textile technology to students, without interfering with their jobs in any way. The training in the School is divided into two sections viz., the Post-Employment Training Section and Pre-Employment Training Section.

In the Post-Employment Training Section there are two courses, namely (1) the Textile Apprentice Courses in Spinning and Weaving and (2) the Certificate Cotton Spinning and Certificate Cotton Weaving Courses.

The Textile Apprentice Courses are meant for Officers, Workers and Apprentices in textile mills who have passed the S. S. C. Examination. The duration of each course is of two years. The classes are conducted once a week. The medium of instruction is English. The annual examinations are held by the Board of Technical Examinations, Maharashtra State. During the year the number of students admitted to the First.

Year and Second Year Classes of the Textile Apprentice Courses was 116. They were drawn from 40 textile mills.

The Certificate Cotton Spinning and Cotton Weaving Courses are meant for ordinary textile workers who aspire to hold such posts as jobbers and supervisors in the textile mills. The Courses are of two years' duration and are held morning and evening so as to accommodate employees working in different shifts. The medium of instruction is Marathi and the minimum qualification is Vernacular VI Std. During the year there were 157 students drawn from 42 textile mills.

In the Pre-Employment section a Certificate Course of three months' duration in weaving is conducted, for those who soek employment as weavers in textile mills. The total admissions in this section during the year were 178.

The School also organised four sessions in Basic Training and Related Instructions for the apprentices deputed by the textile mills at the instance of the Bombay Millowners' Association and the Staff Apprenticeship Advisor, Government of Maharashtra, under Apprentices Act 1963 (Central). The Basic Training of apprentices working in textile mills is the responsibility of employers. The Bombay Millowners' Association entrusted upon the M. G. T. T. School this training programme on behalf of the millowners of the city. According to the understanding reached with the Millowners' Association the School receives a batch of 50 apprentices every quarter. Thus during the year the School received 141 apprentices for Basic Training and Related Instructions.

Under the Central Apprentice Act, during the year two more trades came to be designated in the textile industry. They are (1) Tenter (Fram) and Doffer-cum-Piecer (Ring). As the Institute had no machinery for these trades, it did not take up the practical part of the training. It took up only the related instructions part in the above two trades. During the year the mills deputed 64 apprentices for the trade of tenter and 77 for the trade of the doffer-cum-piecer. The Managing Committee of the League proposes to replenish the Institute with the machinery that would be required for practical training in these two trades.

Thus the Institute is helping the textile industry and improving economic condition of the workers by equipping them with technical know-how for these trades.
