ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to acknowledge my gratitude towards Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics (GIPE), Pune for giving me an opportunity to pursue this study.

First and foremost, I owe my sincere gratitude to my guide, Dr. Shrikant Kalamkar. Without his guidance, this research would not have taken such a shape, as he took efforts to bring together all my scattered ideas. He minutely examined all my drafts with utmost patience and seriousness. Being a novice in field data collection, I would say that, his constant guidance was an encouraging force to pursue the data collection in a successful manner. His comments and suggestions were extremely valuable to finalize the thesis.

I am also grateful to Dr. K.G. Kshirsagar (first guide, until his move to NARI, Papua New Guinea) and Prof. Rajas Parchure, (interim guide, until Dr. Shrikant Kalamkar was appointed), who were encouraging me to pursue this study in the initial stages in various ways. I also thank my research committee members, Prof. A. Maharathna and Prof. Mulay. I am indebted to Prof. Maharathna for his valuable suggestions as and when needed and his creditable counsel.

This research work, especially the primary survey, is a product of many contributors. According to me it would be impossible to conduct this study as an individual without their support and guidance. They are, Ms. Malini Shankar (Director, Office of Director of Industries, Mumbai); Mr. Naik (Joint Director, Office of the Joint Director of Industries, Mumbai); Mr. Jeevagan Ebenezer (Managing Director, Bericap India, Pune); Mr. Vikram P. Khanolkar (Director, Greenfield Management and Placement Consultant Pvt. Pune); Mr. Anand Gadgil (Mumbai); Antony Samy (Director, ALERT India, Mumbai); Mr. Chacko (Secretary, PATH, Mumbai); Ms. Girija Gupte (President, Jagruti Kendrya Munch, Mumbai); Mrs. Mary Antony Samy (Jagruti Kendrya Munch, Mumbai); Ms. Malan Bai (President, Domestic Workers Association, Mumbai); Mr. Ambre (Comrade, Sarva Shramik Sangathna Union Office, Mumbai). All of them helped me in their own capacity to identify the industries as well as the ex-workers that facilitated my data collection.

I would like to acknowledge the support provided by the staff from Directorate of Economics and Statistics (DES) at Manthralaya and Bandara offices, Mumbai; staff from Sarva Sharamik Sangathna Union Office, Dadar (especially Mr. Anant Mahlap); Ms. Maduri Naresh More (Asst. Librarian, Ambekar Institute of Labour Studies, Mumbai); and library staff of International Institute for Population Sciences (IIPS) and Tata Institute of social Sciences (TISS).

Additionally, I take this opportunity to thank Prof. P.Ramachandran (Rtd. Professor, TISS), Prof. D.P.Singh (TISS), Prof. Sulabha Parasuraman (IIPS), Prof. R.B.Bhagat (IIPS) and Prof. Sharad Sawant (TISS) whose help were immensely utilised in this thesis. I am thankful to the effort of Mr. A.K. Nirmal (Hindi Officer, IIPS) and Mrs. Venna Tendulkar (IIPS), who have translated the interview schedule in Hindi. I would like to extend my gratitude to Ms. Chandrachur and Ms.Kher in the PhD section of GIPE, Pune for their assistance and advices.

I would like to thank Mr. Vasanth Gade, Mrs. Wagemere, Mr. Gauda and Mr. Shrikant who have accompanied me to the houses of the respondents in their areas. I am very much indebted to Mrs. Vaishali, Miss. Sujatha and Mr. Rupesh Krishna Bandbe who have assisted me during the field work. Their bubbly nature and previous experience on field survey were very helpful to conduct this survey in an efficient manner. I am also thankful to my friends, Ms. Sumoni Mukherji, Ms. Vini Sivanandan, Ms. Rashmi Nair, Ms. Usha Radhakrishnan, Ms. Saritha Pawar and Ms. Shantha Singh.

I would like to thank two ladies who realised my academic dream and made them realistic by contributing in their own ways - my mother Mrs. Kamala Yesudian and my mother-in-law, late Mrs. Flora Yesudian. I would like to acknowledge the contribution of my children; and husband, who has introduced me to few NGOs and accompanied me during field visit in the initial stages of data collection.

Last but not the least, I thank each and every respondent of the study. Often I was asked why I am taking this interview and who would benefit from this. Once they knew, that it was for research purpose, some refused to participate in the interview. During the course of some interviews, I could witness the agonies and painful feelings, while narrating the initial days of job loss. I dedicate this thesis to each and every one of the respondents.
