Vols. I.-VII., with Portraits, Now Ready, 2s. 6d. each.

English Men of Action.

Seven volumes in the series are now ready, namely:—

General Gordon. By Colonel Sir WILLIAM BUTLER.

The Spectator says:—"This is beyond all question the best of the narratives of the career of General Gordon that have yet been published."

The Athenæum says:—"As a brief memorial of a career that embraced many momentous spheres of action, that included some of the principal military and colonial crises of the past fifty years, and that ended in a halo of transcendent self-immolation, Sir William Butler's volume is the best we possess."

The Nonconformist says:—"It is the best biography of Gordon that has yet appeared."

Henry the Fifth. By the Rev. A. J. CHURCH.

The St. James's Gazette says—"The incidents in Henry's life are clearly related, the account of the battle of Agincourt is masterly, and the style is eminently readable."

The Spectator says:—"Mr. Church has told well his interesting story."

Livingstone. By Mr. THOMAS HUGHES.

The Spectator says:—"The volume is an excellent instance of miniature biography, for it gives us what we seek in such a book—a sketch of his deeds, but a picture of the man. . . . This excellent little book."

Lord Lawrence. By Sir RICHARD TEMPLE.

The Leeds Mercury says:—"The book may be commended to all who are in search of a lucid, temperate, and impressive summary of Lord Lawrence's noble and blameless career."

The Saturday Review says:—"This excellent sketch of Lord Lawrence's heroic character and unsullied life."

Wellington. By Mr. GEORGE HOOPER.

The Scotsman says:—"There are few, if any, more interesting life stories in our military history than that of the great Duke, and very few lives that form a more instructive or stimulating study. The story of the great Duke's life is admirably told by Mr. Hooper."

Dampier. By Mr. W. CLARK RUSSELL.

The Athenæum says:—"His practical knowledge of the sea enables him to describe and discuss the seafaring life of two centuries ago with intelligence and vigour. . . . As a commentary on Dampier's 'Voyages' this little book is among the best of the many that have been published."

Monk. By Mr. JULIAN CORBETT.

Strafford. By Mr. H. D. TRAILL.

[In November.

The undermentioned volumes are in the press or in preparation:—

Warwick, the King-Maker. By Mr. C. W. OMAN.

Montrosa. By Mr. MOWBRAY MORRIS.

Marlborough. By Colonel Sir WILLIAM BUTLER.

Peterborough. By Mr. W. STEBBING.

Captain Cook. By Mr. WALTER BESANT.

Rodney. By Mr. DAVID HANNAY.

Clive. By Colonel Sir CHARLES WILSON.

Warren Hastings. By Sir ALFRED LYALL.

Sir John Moore. By Colonel MAURICE.

Sir Charles Napier. By Colonel Sir WILLIAM BUTLER.

Sir Henry Havelock. By Mr. ARCHIBALD FORBES.

WORKS BY JULIAN CORBETT.

THE FALL OF ASGARD: A Story of St. Olaf's Day. 2 Vols.

Globe 8vo. 12s.

The Athenæum says:—"Mr. Corbett's story deserves the welcome that is due to a successful excursion into a comparatively untrodden region—that of mediæval Norse history. . . . There is no lack of stirring episode, heroic fighting and feasting, vivid pictures of Norwegian scenery and pagan ceremonial. . . . What we chiefly like about the book is its wholesome freshness."

The Guardian says:—"The description of Earl Swend's eluding Olaf's fleet, and again that of the sacking of Nidaros and the sea-fight of Nessi are wonderfully exciting, and the conclusion shows great tragic power. It is altogether a remarkable book."

The Academy says:—"It is, indeed, a genuine tale of the North, stirring and yet tender; and while the interest never flags, there are many passages of great beauty and power. . . ."

KOPHETUA THE THIRTEENTH. 2 Vols. Globe 8vo. 12s

The Athenæum says:—"If the reader will throw himself into the fantastic mood of Mr. Julian Corbett, and advance into the path of delusion just as his guide is pleased to lead him, he may find 'Kophetua the Thirteenth' a taking romance, and one to be remembered. . . ."

The Academy says:—"Previous performances will have led the public to expect work of a high order from Mr. Julian Corbett, and in 'Kophetua' they will not be disappointed. . . . In following out the tangled web of cross-purposes involved in these complications, as well as in descriptive and dramatic power, Mr. Corbett displays capacity of no ordinary kind; and his book ought to be one of the successes of the season."

FOR GOD AND GOLD. Crown 8vo. 6s

The Times says:—"The story treats with considerable freshness the familiar story of Elizabethan enterprise and adventure on the Spanish main and in Southern America."

The Athenæum says:—"No one could have written such a book as 'For God and Gold' without saturating himself in the literature of the spacious times therein depicted. . . . He has produced a fresh and vivid romance, in which the conflicting tendencies of the early Elizabethan epoch—euphuistic, ascetic, and adventurous—are happily and often divertingly contrasted."

POPULAR EDITION, ONE SHILLING EACH.

Now Publishing in Monthly Volumes (Volume I., January 1887), price 1s. each in Paper Cover, or in Limp Cloth binding, 1s. 6d.
