REPORT

OF THE

N. E. S. HOSTEL, POONA

To

THE CHAIRMAN,
GOVERNING BODY,
Deccan Education Society, Poona.

Sir.

I have the honour to submit the annual report on the working of the N. E. S. Hostel, Poona, for the year 1916-17.

Messrs. D. M. Tungare and G. G. Joshi who had been appointed in June 1915 ceased to work on the staff towards the close of April 1916 and I was in consequence obliged to secure the services of two new teachers Messrs. N. A. Tembe (B.A.) and P. V. Hirve (I. E.). Neither of these was quite new to his work and that enabled them to appreciate the spirit of the instructions they were called upon to carry out from time to time. In Mr. Hirve I found a willing worker and a man fitted for his work. The former too would have rendered equally valuable help to me in the management of the Hostel, had he not been deterred from continuing in the service owing to ill health. Mr. D. W. Bhate a permanent teacher of the N. E. School whose services as a clerk had been lent to the Hostel for many years past was allowed to resign at the beginning of March. Mr. V. R. Kale a permanent teacher of the Navin Marathi Shala who had sometimes been employed as a relieving hand to help Mr. Bhate and had therefore been in touch with the management of the Hostel is now doing his work.

The total receipts and expenditure during the year under report were Rs. 5667-12-6 and Rs. 6368-9-0 as against Rs. 9639 and Rs. 10572 respectively of the previous year. The deficit of Rs. 700-12-6 which is rather too large to pass unnoticed is mainly due to the outbreak of the virulent type of plague that raged this year from August almost to the end of December. The difference between the numbers of boarders before and after the plague season which are 78 and 49 respectively will sufficiently indicate the disastrous consequences that follow such an epidemic and how far an institution like ours is likely to be affected thereby.

The number of boarders on the last day of the year under report was 42 as against 46 of the last year. This year as in 1915-16 the abnormal decrease in the number of boarders is partly due to the change of terms and the change thereby necessitated in the dates of the Matriculation and School Final Examinations. I fully endorse the view held by my predecessor Prof. Tulpule in this respect viz. that this change has rendered it well nigh impossible to conduct the Hostel howsoever economically without incurring a deficit and that therefore some means must be found out to meet it.

It will not - I hope - be found out of place if I take this opportunity of sketching an outline of some improvements, that were introduced this year by way of an experiment. These are in my opinion calculated to induce and promote self-reliance, co-operation, resourcefulness and the sense of discipline in boys. A few of these may be mentioned here:

1. The boys have now been given a full share in the management of the store-room and the mess-room. It is a satisfaction to me to note that they have been able to discharge it efficiently and economically.

2. Dr. G. S. Vaze was kind enough to examine all boys and prescribe the kind and amount of physical exercise suited to each. One of these has of late undertaken of his own accord to see that all boys carry out the instruction given to them by the doctor.

3. Special provision has also been made to give the boys lessons in drill which are so much appreciated that they have gone through almost the whole of the preliminary course in a period of about two months. This has helped to create in them a sort of liking for military training and discipline and when the appeal was made to students by the Hon : Principal Paranjpye with a view to form a company for the I. D. F., as many as 9 of the 13 boarders who were eligible by reason of their having completed the 18th year responded to it. The inmates of the Hostel may therefore justly pride themselves on being the foremost among the several institutions of the Society in this respect.

4. As in the preceding year, trips were arranged to places of interest in the vicinity viz: Khadakwasla, Vithalwadi, Scindia's Chhatri, Dehu, Manjri Sugarcane Farm, Empress Garden, and Ganesh-Khinda Botanical Garden. The last three were greatly instrumental in bringing home to the boarders the necessity of having a show garden for themselves and of acquiring at any rate a tolerable knowledge of the art of swimming. Accordingly attempts are being made by the boys themselves to convert the two quadrangles and the waste piece of land about the wada, into show gardens.

5. Even in respect of teaching boys to swim I hope ere long to secure much success-

6. with a view to awaken in boys varied interest and inquisitiveness, a museum was started only recently which, although unassuming at present would, it is hoped in the near future, grow into such dimension as to justify its usefulness.

7. The boys have also undertaken to conduct the Reading-room and Library and debating club and Hostel Bala Masik. The Reading Room at present subscribes to two dailies, one weekly and 4 monthlies. The necessity of subscribing to more periodicals is keenly felt but when the library itself is kept half starved, it can't expect to be given a more liberal allotment. The debating club held its Session almost every Sunday during the last term and the variety of subjects selected for debate may well be a testimony to the amount of interest that it evoked.

8. Lastly to enable us as well as the parents and guardians of boarders to judge of the progress that they have made since they joined the Hostel, a detailed register in the form of a progress book is proposed to be kept in the office and progress recorded and communicated to the guardians every month.

In conclusion I have to thank Messrs. Hirve and Kale for their hearty co-operation and the Hostel Committee and Prof. Bhate for their valuable advice and help.

I have the honour to be,

sir,

Your most obedient servant.

S. B. BONDALE,
Superintendent.

APPENDIX F.

Opening Ceremony of the three New Buildings.

The ceremony of the opening of new Buildings (1) Sawai Tukoji Rao III Maharaja Holkar Biological Laboratory, (2) The additions to the Chemical Laboratory, and (3) Sir Shapoorji Broacha Students Reading Room and Library took place on 21st June 1916 and was witnessed by a large and distinguished gatherings of ladies and gentlemen, past and present students of the College and 400 students from the top-most classes of the New English School Poona, when His Excellency Lord Willingdon arrived. He was received at the door by the Vice-Presidents of the society, the chairman and other members of the society's council. His Excellency having taken his seat a respectful welcome was accorded to them by Sir Gangadhar Rao, Chief of Miraj. Vice-President of the Society.

Sir Gangadhar Rao said :-

Your Excellency, ladies and gentlemen,

As the Senior Vice-President of the Deccan Education Society, I have to thank you very heartily for your presence here to-day in response to our invitation. The Deccan Education Society and the Fergusson College need no fresh introduction to you, as they have been carrying on their work unostentatiously for over thirty years. The College has been steadily growing in numbers and a corresponding growth in its equipment is necessary. A few years ago Lord Sydenham opened this large Amphitheatre, in which we are assembled to-day. We are now met to have three new additions to our buildings declared open by Your Excellency. These new buildings, although not so imposing as this Amphitheatre, are still a very large addition to the College buildings. Of these the extension to the Chemical Laboratory is built out of the Imperial Grant, the Biological Laboratory with a handsome contribution of Rs. 20,000—from H. H. the Maharaja Holkar, and the Students' Reading Room and Library with a contribution of Rs. 10,000—from Sir Shapoorji Broacha. The sources of these contributions exemplify the catholicity of the Fergusson College. Its aim is neither racial nor sectarian, but it seeks to spread education as widely as possible among all classes, keeping a soft corner in its heart for those that are backward. Students and their guardians have also realised this fact as the College draws its students from provinces as far apart as Sind, Rajputana, Mysore and Hyderabad. Ladies and gentlemen, ideas of educational efficiency have advanced so much in recent years that what was considered best twenty years ago is now regarded only tolerable, and what was good then has got to be soon replaced, as it is out of date. In the domain of equipment in particular this rapid wearing out is very marked. At a time when success in war as well as in peace is seen to depend on scientific efficiency, the wide spread of scientific knowledge is greatly to be desired. Hence the Managers of the Fergusson College are to be congratulated on the fact that they are doing all they can to further scientific education. Two out of the three new buildings to be opened by Your Excellency to-day will help to make the Science teaching of this College more adequate and efficient, and I trust that some of the students trained there will be able to do some good work in the industrial sphere, on our advancement in which the prosperity of our country so greatly depends. Government have their Colleges of Science at Bombay and Ahmedabad, and I hope that the Fergusson College, which has been silently doing good work in science, will be enabled, as time goes on, to do still better work by having proper facilities and equipment at its disposal.

Ladies and gentlemen, the Fergusson College is a poor man's College and it has enabled large number of young students to get higher education, who would never otherwise have thought of it. Some people are heard to complain that even at this College, education is getting dearer and dearer. But it is due, in a large measure, to the increased cost of living everywhere. The increase in the cost for which the College is responsible, is simply the small additional science fee that had to be charged owing to the large expenditure on science apparatus and materials. If some generous donors were to give an endowment sufficient to pay these science fees once for all, I undertake to persuade the managers of the College to do away with these fees. A single fact will show how much help this College is giving the poor students. About 150 of its students, i. e. about 10 per cent., are being educated absolutely free—a number which is equal to the total number of students in many a College in India.

Ladies and gentlemen, the Life-members have been doing their work from high public-spirited motives and your coming here to-day will cheer them up in their work. The sympathy and recognition of the public, especially if it takes a tangible form, will greatly facilitate their work and enable them to extend it considerably, for everybody can see that the field for their labours is almost unlimited. I shall now ask the Secretary of the Society, Prof. H. G. Limaye, to read a short statement about the progress of the Fergusson College, and then, I hope, Your Excellency will be pleased to open the new buildings by touching this electric button.

Prof. Limaye then read the following account:—

1. The Fergusson College has grown out of the New English School which was started in Poona by a band of enthusiastic young men about 37 years ago. Other young men fired by the same enthusiasm joined them, the institution gained sympathy and support, and in 1884, the workers and sympathisers formed themselves into the Deccan Education Society with Patrons, Fellows and Life-Members. The object of the Society was to cheapen and facilitate education by starting or affiliating institutions in different parts of the Deccan. During the 32 years of its existence the Society has always and steadily kept this object in view with the result that the Society at present controls 7 institutions. Of these, the New English School at Poona and that at Satara belong to the Society. So also do the Boarding House for students and the Navin Marathi Shala at Poona. The Dravid High School of Wai has been generously endowed by Mr. Bhikaji Venkatesh Dravid of Yeotmal and his brother the late Mr Ganesh Venkatesh Dravid through this Society and is for all practical purposes managed by the Society. The Mavji Madhavji English School at Umbargaon has been placed under the control of the Society by the local School Committee and the arrangement has been found to be satisfactory by both the parties for the last five years. The School Committee of Erandol in East Khandesh have proposed to hand over their Anglo-Vernacular School to the Society with a permanent fund of about Rs. 20,000 and a School building of the same estimated cost. Negotiations are proceeding and a final settlement may be expected in a short time. Every year some applications are received either for the affiliation of School or their being taken over by the Society and however slowly and cautiously the Society may desire to proceed in this direction, the need for the expert advice and sympathetic guidance of such a body appears to be so keenly felt in the mofussil that the Society will be obliged, in the near future to extend and develop the sphere of its activities.

2. The Fergusson College was the second institution of the Society being opened in the year 1885. Originally affiliated for the Previous Examination only, it obtained permission to open the first B. A. class in 1890, and by 1894 it was recognised by the University for the full course of the Faculty of Arts. This year the College applied for and obtained permission to open a class for the Preliminary Scientific Examination for the M. B. B. S. Course.

3. The growth of the College was comparatively slow during the first twenty years as will be seen from the following figures:—

Year.	Number of Students.
1885-1886	133
1890-1891	199
1895-1896	213
1900-1901	267
1905-1906	470

During the last ten years however the rise in number has been rapid and phenomenal.

Year.	Numbers of Students.
1906-1907	500
1907-1908	527

LXXVII

Year.	Numbers of Students
1908--1909	599
1909--1910	610
1910--1911	730
1911--1912	787
1912--1913	853
1913--1914	935
1914--1915	1188

In March last the number on the rolls stood at 1435 which is a record not only for Poona, or the University of Bombay, but perhaps for the whole of India.

The College has always maintained a high rank in University results. This year there have been two First Class Honours from this College. Since its inception, the College has sent out 928 graduates and 98 M. As. and won a number of University and other prizes and scholarships. Many of the alumni of the College have distinguished themselves in their future career. During the last ten years four of the old students have passed the I. C. S. and many others have attained to distinguished position.

4. The staff is being strengthened every year to keep pace with the increase in the number of students. There are at present 33 members on the staff of the College as against 11 in 1902. Out of these, four have received the benefit of foreign education. The first of these is the Principal, the Honourable Mr. R. P. Paranjpye, who won laurels in Mathematics at Cambridge 17 years ago. Dr. P. D. Gune and Dr. K. K. Joshi studied in Germany and have specialised in Sanskrit and German respectively. Mr. G. H. Kelkar was at Cambridge and has specialised in English. Mr. G. B. Kolhatkar worked for two years in Organic Chemistry at the Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, and has been elected an Associate of the Institute for his research work. The Society intends to continue the practice of sending its Life-Members abroad for higher education as funds become available.

5. The College was at first housed in Gadre Wada in the City alone with the New English School. But this arrangement was only of a temporary character. It was always intended that the College should be located somewhere outside the City in healthy surroundings. The present grounds, sufficiently near for students residing in the City were secured in 1891, new buildings were planned and constructed, and were formally declared open in 1895 by Lord Sandhurst, the then Governor of Bombay. These buildings included the main buildings of the College, and Sir Bhagwatsinhaji Students' Quarters. Of these the main building was built out of funds collected by public subscriptions. The Southern Maratha Chiefs with the Maharaja Chhatrapati of Kolhapur, the President of the Society, at their head helped the infant institution in a most liberal manner. The Thakoresaheb of Gondal contributed Rs. 20,000 for the Student's Quarters which have been named after him. Six years later a small block of buildings was added to the Students' Quarter. In 1903 the Chemical Laboratory, which till then had been accommodated in a class room was provided with a separate building. Rs. 10,000 was contributed for the purpose by the late Dr. S. V. Kane of Bombay in memory of his brother Dr. Kashinath Waman Kane. With the continuously large increase in the number of students from 1903-04 the provision of more class rooms and separate buildings for the Laboratories became imperative. The Imperial Grant of about Rs. 10,000 which came to be received by the College every year from about this time, was utilised for this purpose. Four class rooms and a Physical Laboratory were built out of a portion of this grant. The numbers in the meanwhile had nearly doubled and all the students of the College could not be brought together in one hall on any occasion. The idea of a large amphitheatre was, therefore, seriously taken up by the Council which was able to give a material form to that idea in 1912. Rs. 25,000 was contributed by the Trustees of the N. M. Wadia charities for this building, which was named after the late Mr. N. M. Wadia. Rs. 20,000 was given as a special grant by the Government of Bombay Rs. 5,000 from H. H. The Aga Khan and a contribution of Rs. 1,000 each was received from several Ruling Chiefs and gentlemen in sympathy with the aims and objects of the College. The provision of additional hostel accommodation was still an unsolved problem. The Council takled it by raising a debenture loan of Rs. 75,000 and constructing a new block of buildings in 1915 to accommodate 100 students. But with all this addition the College has not been able to meet even half the demand for hostels.

In this connection it may not be amiss to say that while the Calcutta University has been very liberally treated by Government in the matter of hostels by spending many lakhs on them even in these hard times, the Bombay University and its Colleges have hardly received any special attention in his direction. In particular a grant of say three lakhs to our College for increasing our hostel accommodation will be very far-reaching in its results on the intellect and character of the Students. Students and their guardians want to take advantage of hostels. They see their desirability, and it is a very great hardship that they have, for lack of facilities, to live in very undesirable surroundings.

6. The increasing number of students and the remodelled science courses found the extension of the Laboratories still inadequate. Particular difficulty was felt with the Chemical and Biological Laboratories. The Council, therefore, utilised the Imperial grant for two year amounting to Rs. 22,500, for building a big hall with two small rooms, for laboratory work in Chemistry. This building is one of those that are to be opened by His Excellency to-day. Our ever willing donors also came to our help. His Highness Sawai Tukoji Rao III Maharaja Holkar of Indore, made a handsome donation of Rs. 20,000 for the Biological Laboratory. This Laboratory, which will be the Sawai Tukoji Rao III Maharaja Holkar Biological Laboratory, is another building which will be opened to-day. The third building to be opened to-day is the Sir Shapoorjee Broacha Students' Reading Room and Library named after Sir Shapoorjee Broacha who liberally contributed Rs. 10,000 for the purpose.

7. These Science laboratories thus extended are still not quite sufficient, and the Council of the Society is planning further extensions. The Physical Laboratory will have to be extended on the southern as well as on the northern side. The two sections of the Chemical Laboratory will be joined together by rooms and verandahs. The Biological Laboratory wants additional rooms for the Department of Geology and for the purposes of a herbarium.

8. The Society and its Life-Members are full alive to the fact that material appliances alone do not make an educational institution, although in these days of increasing educational requirements these play a large part in its efficiency. An educational institution would not be worthy of the name, if its alumni do not get a permanent impress--both intellectual and moral--while they are within its walls. The large number of students in all Colleges makes this a matter of considerable difficulty. But the staff of this College is always doing its best to cope with them by utilising all opportunities of coming into contact with the students, by encouraging the love of healthy games and by impressing upon students that they have not only to pass their examinations, but that they have also to form their moral as well as intellectual character, to learn to think for themselves and to realise their duties and responsibilities. The Life-members would like to institute a kind of tutorial system under which each Professor would be made the special guardian of a small number of students--whom he would know intimately and supervise their studies as well as help them in any other matters; thus each student will have a tutor who would be in loco parentis to him. One of the difficulties in doing this is that it is not at present possible to give a separate room to each Professor where he can see them. One of our immediate needs is to have a block of buildings consisting of such rooms. It has been the practice for the last two or three years for Honours students to have small societies to discuss their special subjects under the guidance of their Professors and to start small working libraries for their own use at all times. This is the beginning of the seminar system now in force in many western Universities and we should like to have the necessary material appliances supplied to us to enable this system to grow up naturally. Again the College staff as mentioned above has very largely increased in recent years, but require to be still further increased to enable us to realise all our ideals. The Society with the help of the Government and the public is doing its best to make the College as efficient and progressive in these and other respects as it is possible to do.

9. It will be seen that this College is widening the scope of its work to such an extent that it may perhaps be justified in cherishing higher ambitions. Many universities in the world have a far smaller number of students than there are in this College; and in future perhaps Poona with its many higher institutions may rise to the dignity of a separate University with this College as its central nucleus. But while the Deccan Education Society will always endeavour to raise the efficiency of its institutions to as high a pitch as possible and continually attempt to embrace more and more branches of study, it will always proceed on the sound plan of making its various steps sure and certain. It feels that while there are many advantages connected with a separate and independent existence as a local Poona or Maharashtra University, there are also some important draw-backs in cutting Poona off from its past traditions as a member of the Bombay University, which, be it said to its credit, has generally speaking, treated us in Poona with justice and fairness. In any case it is better not to aspire immediately to a new University standing, if it is to be only a second-rate one. Poona must have the best that is possible. For a University large funds will be necessary, larger than any required for a College and Poona with all its advantages is not blessed with millionaires who will endow a University single-handed, and in these days we cannot very well ask Government to go in for such schemes. Our aim will be to go on with our work, not insisting on a name, but in such a manner that in the fulness of time, when all conditions are favourable, the passage from the status of a college to that of a University may be effected in an easy and natural manner. After all the aim of the Society is to spread higher education over as wide an area as possible by providing the necessary facilities in order that this ancient land may take its place side by side with the most advanced countries of the world.

With the help of the Government and the public, and with the advice of the Council and the Governing Body, the Life-Members have been able to achieve the result indicated in this statement and they are full of hope that with this help continuously vouchsafed to them, they will be able to make further progress towards the attainment of the goal which the Society has all alone kept before itself.

After the statement was read His Excellency performed the formal ceremony of opening the three buildings by touching the three buttons, which thereupon by electric contact admitted light and displayed on three separate tablets the names of the three buildings as they were successively opened. His Excellency the Governor addressed the assembly.

His Excellency said:—

“It almost seems that it is becoming an annual occurrence that your Principal sends an invitation to the Governor of the Presidency, asking him to be present and open for the use of the Fergusson College some new building, some further addition to your necessary equipment to further the advance towards the complete efficiency of this important educational institution. I am, therefore, very glad to be amongst you and to join with you, Mr. Paranjpye, your professors and students, in thanking those benefactors through whose munificent generosity you have been able to erect the three fine buildings which I have been privileged to open to-day, and to add that while we are all most grateful for the numerous benefactions from the distinguished individuals, which you have received in the past, we trust that we may be equally fortunate in securing further benefactions in the future. Yes, and I would wish to congratulate you once more, Mr. Paranjpye, in the presence of your students, on the honour which you received last night at my hands from our King-Emperor, an honour which you richly deserve for your unselfish and strenuous labours in raising the moral and intellectual condition of your fellow citizens and in guiding the fortunes of this the largest college in our Presidency, an honour which it was a particular pleasure to me, as an old Cambridge man, to present to one who had passed such a brilliant career at my old University. May I suggest to you that this auspicious event might well be commemorated by a whole holiday to your students at an early date? We have all, I am sure, listened with the deepest interest to the record of the work of the Decean Education Society during the last 37 years. It is a record of which you, Mr. President, and all your associates may well be proud, for it tells of a widespread educational service in this Presidency and of a constant increase in the number of schools over which your society has now the management and control. But by far the greatest of your achievements is the creation and building up of this great educational institution, the Fergusson College, where I learn, you have now over 1,400 students on your rolls. It is a great responsibility, but one which I am confident that you, with the zealous and loyal assistance of your staff, will continue to undertake in the very best interest of the future welfare of these young men. But, perhaps, to us all the most interesting part of your report was the outlook you have given us on your aspirations for the future and the plans which you have in your minds for the further development of your College. I am delighted to feel that you fully realise the importance of that close association, that personal touch, which it is so necessary to obtain, between students and their instructors, and I thoroughly approve of your determination to establish that tutorial system which obtains in the West, as soon as funds are available. Such a system can do nothing but good in bringing about the closest and most intimate relations between the tutor and his pupils.

I notice that you are inclined to take Government to task for not being more generous in giving considerable sums to you for the additional hostel accommodation you require. May I say that I am inclined to think that your intense desire for this improvement has caused you to make a somewhat unfair criticism. You must remember that important as your college is, there are many other colleges in the Presidency, who are equally insistent on the assistance they require for the furtherance of their efficiency. With the revenue at our command we have to deal, as fairly as we can, with the many requirements of the various departments, and I do not think that your college can claim that it has been treated in any niggardly spirit by Government. Large as are the benefactions by generous people in this Presidency for many purposes, it is my hope that as the country develops and increases in wealth we may find more and more patriotic citizens giving such endowments for the good of the community. And this last remark can be used with some force in reference to the last aspiration you refer to in your report, the establishment of a great University in Poona with many well-equipped and well-staffed colleges, claiming this University as their alma mater. Mr. President, in making the following observation it must be understood that I am not committing Government but am only expressing my own point of view, which is that if in the British Isles, with their 40,000,000 population, so many universities are found necessary for educational advance, it is clear to me that before many years are past Government will have seriously to take in consideration the extension of university life to our population of 20,000,000 and I can imagine no more suitable spot for that extension than our historic city of Poona.

To you, Mr. Paranjpye, and all who are associated with you I give my warm congratulations on the events of to-day and bid you look forward with all hope and confidence to the future, and let me express the hope that you, young men, to whom I feel I am becoming an old acquaintance and in whose welfare in the future I shall take the keenest interest, will always remember the care and attention that has been given to you all during your lives here and will always hold high the good name and credit of your college. And when you go out into the world I beg of you never to forget that we are none of us put into the world to work for our own personal gain and advantage, but to do our duty to our country and, brilliant as I hope your careers may be, to live your lives so that you may feel by your actions that you are doing your best to help forward the welfare of the community."

His Excellency having concluded his speech in loud cheers Sir Dr. Bhandarkar, Chairman of the Council, moved a vote of thanks to His Excellency in the following words:—

Now devolves on me the agreeable duty of proposing a vote of sincere thanks to His Excellency for having come down to grace the present occasion by his presence and performed the function of opening our new buildings. When we think of the varied matters involving heavy responsibilities which His Excellency has to turn his attention to, we cannot but highly value the favour he has conferred on us by devoting a good deal of his time to our institution. During the time that Lord Willingdon has been with us, he has been visiting the various parts of this presidency, over which he has been appointed to rule, in order to come into closer contact with the people and ascertain their wants, wishes and aspirations. But we are here concerned with the attention he bestows on the growth of higher education, which, I feel sure, is as important in his eyes as any other concern of the people of the Presidency, as is shown by his taking the trouble of going to the city, just this day last week, to open the New Poona College and spending a good deal of time there and patiently and good-naturedly doing all that he was asked to do. This matter of the higher education of our people is one on which educated Indians are very nervous and a little thing is sufficient to generate in their mind a fear of the attitude of Government towards it. This was pointed out the other day on the occasion of the special convocation for conferring the honorary degree of LL. D. on Lord Hardinge by the Vice-Chancellor. But, I believe, the fear has no grounds; for the Sovereign of the realm, His Gracious Majesty, King George V, said in his reply to the address of the Calcutta University, on the 6th of January 1912, that it was his wish that a network of schools and colleges should spread over the land and that the homes of his Indian subjects might be brightened and their labour sweetened by the spread of knowledge and that a higher level of thought, comfort and health might come to prevail in consequence. And Lord Hardinge as His Majesty's highest and first representative in India explained what he had done for carrying out his sovereign's wishes by saying that expenditure on education generally, which had been about 7 crores of rupees had risen to more than 11 crores during the five years for which he held office; while as regards University education the number of students in Arts and Professional Colleges rose from thirty thousand to fifty thousand, and the expenditure from 60¼ lacs to over 91 lacs and I may here mention that one of the buildings opened by His Excellency to-day was constructed out of the grant of Rs. 27,000 by the Government of India. But that is not all. Lord Hardinge also mentioned the establishment of more Universities with more qualified professors and teachers for the affiliated colleges. What Lord Hardinge did for India, His Excellency Lord Willingdon is doing for Bombay. Lord Hardinge himself speaks of Lord Willingdon's thorough loyalty and co-operation with himself and his Government. I at any rate, therefore, have no fear whatsoever that the interests of higher education in this Presidency will suffer but believe that they will be promoted. And I have reasons to believe that he thinks highly of the conductors of this institution in particular. I therefore propose that we pass a vote of hearty thanks to His Excellency, Lord Willingdon."

The vote of thanks was eloquently seconded by the Hon'ble Mr. R. P. Paranjpye, who apologised for the fact that the buildings were not yet quite completed and accounted, for the delay by the early setting in of the monsoon that year and the consequent hindrance to the work of construction, though the early appearance of the rains was after all, a happy circumstance in the general interest of the people. He also said in answer to His Excellency's remarks that the Society was fully mindful of the liberal help given to it by the Bombay Government from time to time and that the remark in the statement was rather directed towards the Imperial Government which had granted large sums to the Calcutta University for the construction of Hostels, while no similar grants were made to Bombay University and its Colleges for a like purpose though their need was by no means less imperative.

His Excellency was then garlanded amid loud cheers and after the distribution of Pansupari and Attar and three cheers for His Majesty the King-Emperor and His Excellency, the proceedings terminated.

“It is the duty of scholars and philosophers not to shrink from holding and expressing what men of the world call quixotic opinions; for, if I read the history of the world rightly, the victory of reason over unreason, and the whole progress of our race, have generally been achieved by such fools as ourselves “rushing in where angels fear to tread,” till after a time the track becomes beaten, and even angels are no longer afraid.”

THIS PAPER IS RESPECTFULLY INSCRIBED,

In appreciation of their services to the cause of

EDUCATION IN WESTERN INDIA,

BY

THEIR GRATEFUL AND AFFECTIONATE PUPIL.

The importance of the bearing of a sound system of education on the right solution of all social and political questions on which depends the well-being of a people has not been sufficiently recognised by the leaders of native thought. The topics that absorb all the public attention are financial, political and social reforms. Hence the ignorance and apathy generally shown for educational problems. The spell of indifference was, however, broken for a time last year by the controversy between Dr. Bhandarkar and the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ranade. In this controversy the question of University Reform was made unnecessarily to depend upon the answer to the question whether or not the university strain was responsible for the heavy death-rate among the graduates. The question of University Reform deserves public attention irrespective of the question of mental strain; and I drew public attention to this last year in the columns of the Gujarat Mitra and gave my reasons for such an opinion.

The articles having attracted the attention of persons interested in University Reform, it was suggested to me that I should draw up my recommendations in the form of a paper. And this paper is the result of that suggestion. Being desirous to correct my own views by the light of the views of other people, I submitted my original articles, with all their imperfections, to several gentlemen, both Native and European—for their opinions and suggestions. The result was encouraging beyond my expectations. I have to thank the Hon'ble Mr. R. M. Sayani, M. A., LL. B., Messrs. N. G. Chandavarker, B. A., LL. B., G. M. Tripathi, B. A., LL. B.,

M. M. Munshi, B. A., LL. B., A. S. Davur, B.A., and D. E. Wacha, of Bombay; Messrs. M. H. Desai, B. A., K. P. Trivedi, B. A., and D. B. Wells, M. A., of Ahmedabad; Messrs. K. M. Dave, B. A., LL. B., and L. P. Adalja, of Rajkot; Prof. B. A. Enti, of Bhavnagar; Prof. M. N. Dwivedi, of Baroda; and Principal Jervis, Dr. A. D. Cooper, and Khan Saheb J. E. Modi, B. A., LL. B., of Surat, for their sympathy and appreciation of the views on reform proposed by me. Revd. H. R. Scott, M. A., of Rajkot Mission, Revd. G. P. Taylor, M. A., D. D., of Ahmedabad Mission, Principal Gajjar of Kala-Bhavan, Prof. Middleton, of Baroda College, and Khan Bahadur B. E. Modi, M. A., LL. B., Judge of the Small Causes Court, Surat, have laid me under much obligation by their great interest and valuable suggestions. Finally, the ungrudging assistance of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Ranade, M. A., LL. B., C I. E., has proved invaluable in the preparation of this paper. I cannot, however, hold any one responsible for the views expressed in this paper but myself.

I have purposely avoided going into detail of studies for the various examinations, because I hold, with Principal Gajjar, that the subject is vast and requires the co-operation of many specialists. What is omitted in this paper will be found, however, fully treated in Principal Gajjar's able Note on University Reform.
