Extracts from The Rules for the Asafia State Library.

XX. No. manuscript, instrument, map, dictionary or any books of reference as for instance, encyclopædias, guides, and calendars, shall ever be lent out to any person. And any other books, journals, magazines, etc., as the Committee may specially name shall not be lent out.

RULES FOR LENDING BOOKS.

XXI. All books except those referred to in Rule XX may be lent out subject to the following restrictions :—

- (a) Any person, on the introduction of a member of the Committee or of a Gazetted officer of Government, may become a member of the library, but persons residing in the districts shall not be admitted as members except in special cases.
- (b) Such a person on payment of a monthly fee of Rs. 2 and on depositing Rs. 25 and furnishing the Superintendent with his permanent address, shall become a member of the library, entitling him to borrow from the library two volumes at a time, provided that the value of the book or books so lent does not exceed three-fourths of the amount deposited.
- (c) A signed receipt must be given for books borrowed, which shall be surrendered to the member on his returning the books.
- (d) If any book borrowed from the library be damaged or lost, the borrower's deposit money shall be utilised for the purchase of a new copy.
- (e) When a member's deposit balance falls below Rs. 25 the member shall be required to restore the deposit to its original amount.
- (f) A member shall be at liberty to resign his membership and withdraw his deposit. Should he desire to resume membership he can do so by placing another deposit equal to the original amount.

NOTE.—Book or books lent as per sub-para. b to be returned within a fortnight. The same will be re-issued for a similar period if desired.
