Et Toi, Sauvage !

“ Si vous voulez combattre,
Il faut croire d'abord ;
Il faut que le lutteur
Affirme la justice ;
Il faut, pour le devoir
Qu'il s'offre au sacrifice,
Et qu'il soit le plus pur,
S'il n'est pas le plus fort.”

Author of "Veranilda," "The Private Papers of Henry Ryecroft," etc.

JÖRN UHL.

By GUSTAV FRENSEN,

Translated from the German. Over 180,000 have already been sold of this remarkable novel.

A NEW NOVEL.

By MEREJKOWSKI,

Author of "The Death of the Gods" and "The Forerunner."
This completes the trilogy, "Christ and Anti-Christ."

JOHN FLETCHER'S MADONNA.

By MRS. COMYNS CARR,

Author of "Cottage Folk," etc.

"Mrs. Comyns Carr has very cleverly worked out an original idea, contriving her picture in a perfect mosaic of picturesque detail. . . . The Baron strongly recommends it to those capable of enjoying a good novel when they get it."—Punch.

THE OUTLET.

By ANDY ADAMS,

Author of "The Log of a Cowboy," "A Texas Match-maker," etc. Illustrated by E. BOYD SMITH.

THE QUEEN'S MAN.

By ELEANOR C. PRICE,

Author of "Angelot," "Off the High Road," etc.

IN SEARCH OF THE UNKNOWN.

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS,

Author of "Cardigan," "Maids of Paradise," "The Maid at Arms," etc. With a Frontispiece.

"Below the surface it is an excellent satire on pseudo-scientific romance. On the surface it is a delightful string of the most marvellous adventures. . . . The book is saturated with fun, and heaped up and running over with adventure and information."—Scotsman.

CRITTENDEN.

By JOHN FOX,

Author of "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," etc.

"'Crittenden' will be found worth reading both as a story and as history. . . . It is written in an easy, vigorous style, and the interest never flags."—Academy.

THE DIVINE FIRE.

By MAY SINCLAIR,

Author of "Two Sides of a Question," etc.

"Judged by almost every standard to which a comedy like this should be referred, I find her book the most remarkable that I have read for many years."—Mr. OWEN SEAMAN in Punch.

THE STEPPING STONE.

By HELEN HESTER COLVILL,

Author of "Our Wills and Fates," "Mr. Bryant's Mistake," etc.

"It is a book which pleases and detains the reader throughout, both for the thought put into it, and its simple, but effective, writing."—The Times.

LIBRARY EDITION.

Complete in eighteen crown 8vo volumes with a Photogravure Frontispiece to each. (Novels in fifteen volumes as above, "An Essay on Comedy," in one volume without Frontispiece. "Poems," complete in two volumes, each sold separately.) Cloth gilt. Price 6s. each.

POCKET EDITION.

In seventeen volumes. Printed on thin opaque paper, specially manufactured for this edition, bound in red cloth, gilt lettered on back and side, gilt top, 2s. 6d. net per volume, or 3s. 6d. net in full leather, per volume.

"To-day, by the general consent of the English-speaking world, or of that part of it at any rate which concerns itself at all with the humaner letters, he is accepted as our foremost living novelist. . . . Mr. Meredith, like Voltaire, has been crowned with the laurel in his own life-time."—The Daily Chronicle.

By MISS MARY JOHNSTON

By Order of the Company

[12th Edition.

“‘By order of the Company’ has more than fulfilled the promise of ‘The Old Dominion’ . . . a tale of ingenious exciting adventure, at once catching the attention, and holding it from first to last.”—The Globe.

The Old Dominion

[8th Edition.

“Since Thackeray wrote ‘The Virginians’ there has not been produced a more charming picture of life in Virginia in the old colonial days than is presented in Mary Johnston’s romance ‘The Old Dominion.’”—The Daily Mail.

Audrey

With Coloured Illustrations. [4th Edition.

“A worthy successor to the two other brilliant novels she has already given us. The whole story is a beautiful and poetic conception, touched with lights and shadows of a quiet dry humour and restrained emotional intensity . . . A powerful memorable piece of work for which one has nothing but admiration and praise.”—The Bookman.

Sir Mortimer

[3rd Edition.

With a Frontispiece in Colours and 8 other
Illustrations by F. C. JOHN.

“‘Sir Mortimer’ will add to the debt owed to her by all who have read her books . . . In the conception of the plot and its development, and in the creation of attractive characters, Miss Johnston’s ability is of a very high order indeed.”—The Literary World.

Uniform cloth gilt binding, 6s. each.

By GEORGE GISSING

The Private Papers of Henry
Ryecroft 6/- [6th Edition.

“Mr. Gissing has never written anything more remarkable. . . . In many ways it is his best work . . . strikes us as a tour de force.”—The Times.

“The sustained excellence of the writing in this volume will surprise even his admirers. The pages that describe natural beauties of scene or of season are the finest that have been written lately. . . . The volume is a great treat. It is the revelation of a deeply interesting personality, and it is expressed in the prose of admirable strength and beauty.”—Daily Chronicle.

Veranilda 6/- [4th Edition.

MR. H. G. WELLS says in the Sphere: “Gissing’s maturest, latest and most deliberately conceived book . . . the book that lay nearest his heart during the last years of his life.”

MR. W. L. COURTNEY, in the Daily Telegraph: “A work for which he was eminently fitted by his tastes and predilections; ‘Veranilda’ is an historical romance such as we rarely see in our modern times.”

DR. WILLIAM BARRY in The Bookman: “Fine workmanship It belongs emphatically to literature, and it cannot fail to give pleasure.”

MR. FREDERIC HARRISON says: “I judge it to be far the most important book which George Gissing ever produced. . . . I think these pages contain his best and most original work.”

Will Warburton 6/-
A Romance of Real Life

BY ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

Cardigan

[Constable's Half-Crown Library.

Small Crown 8vo, 2s. 6d. net.

"Unquestionably a stirring tale, palpitating, never faltering in interest, and written in a style at once vigorous, cultured and picturesque."—Pall Mall Gazette.

"One of the most spirited and interesting historical novels we have read for a long time."—Spectator.

"With all its dash and excitement, there is no slovenly workmanship in this story. 'Cardigan' is a fine and inspiring story fittingly told."—Athenæum.

The Maid at Arms 6/-

[2nd Edition.

"A good title that covers an even better book. Mr. Chambers gives a fine picture of that moment of hesitation when the future of the United States trembled on a razor's edge. . . . We salute Dorothy as one of the sweetest heroines that fiction has presented for some little time."—The Daily Chronicle.

"As fine a romance as any one has a right to wish for . . . not merely a book to order from the circulating library, but to buy and read many times over."—The Church Times.

Maids of Paradise 6/-

[3rd Edition.

"Is a fine martial story of the Franco-Prussian War, with a dash of romance in it. Besides being a good novel, Mr. Chambers' book is rich in descriptive passages that are as vivid and graphic as anything that has been written of that disastrous war."—Yorkshire Post.

In Search of the Unknown 6/-

"Below the surface it is an excellent satire on pseudo-scientific romance. On the surface it is a delightful string of the most marvellous adventures. . . . The book is saturated with fun, and heaped up and running over with adventure and information."—Scotsman.

A Young Man in a Hurry 6/-

[In the press.

BY JOHN FOX

Crittenden. 6/-

“‘Crittenden’ will be found worth reading both as a story and as history. . . . It is written in an easy, vigorous style, and the interest never flags.’—Academy.

The Little Shepherd of
Kingdom Come. 6/- [4th Edition
Illustrated by F. C. JOHN.

“As pleasant an idyll as you will find in Bret Harte. Frankly we have not found a dull page in the book. We doubt if a love scene so pretty as that where Chad makes his declaration to Margaret has been written for years. . . . Jack the sheep-dog is unforgettable.”—Morning Post.

A Fine Story of a Boy and a Dog.—“Has a charm and tenderness and vein of poetry not often encountered; a rare piece of work, such as could only have been written by a man who knows and loves animals.”—Yorkshire Post.

“Bound to touch the heart of the honest reader, and at the same time to appeal to a discriminating taste in letters.”—To-Day.

Christmas Eve on Lonesome

With Coloured Illustrations. Crown 8vo. 3s. 6d. net.

“In this new book Mr. Fox fully comes up to the standard he set in the earlier one. Comprehension of human nature, power in the delineation of its ways and moods, sympathy for all its weaknesses and limitations—all these are displayed here.”—The

NEW 6/- NOVELS

John Fletcher's Madonna

By MRS. COMYNS CARR, Author of "Cottage Folk," etc.

"Mrs. Comyns Carr has very cleverly worked out an original idea, contriving her picture in a perfect mosaic of picturesque detail. . . . The Baron strongly recommends it to those capable of enjoying a good novel when they get it."—Punch.

"Mrs. Comyns Carr may be said to have scored a success with this delightful story."—Daily Telegraph.

The Wedding of the Lady of Lovell, and Other Matches of Tobiah's Making

By UNA L. SILBERRAD, Author of "Petronilla Heroven," "The Success of Mark Wyngate," etc.

"It may be safely said that few tales of recent years have been more excellently told. There is a quiet humorous force about the style, a mature originality which is altogether admirable."—Morning Leader.

The Stepping Stone

By HELEN HESTER COLVILL, Author of "Our Wills and Fates," "Mr. BRYANT'S MISTAKE," etc.

"It is a book which pleases and detains the reader throughout, both for the thought put into it, and its simple, but effective, writing."—The Times.

A Rough Reformer

By ERNEST GLANVILLE, Author of "The Kloof Bride," etc.

Jörn Uhl

By GUSTAV FRENSSEN.

Translated from the German. Over 180,000 have already been sold of this remarkable novel.

POPULAR 6/- NOVELS

Broke of Covenden

By J. C. SNAITH
[2nd Edition]

"Mr. Snaith has invention, energy, and ideas of his own. He has given us a delightful heroine, a wholly original hero, and great deal of entertainment, for which we offer him our hearty thanks."—Spectator.

"... We have to welcome in 'Broke of Covenden' the freshest and most original piece of comedy."—Saturday Review

As sunny and attractive as "Marta."

The Bandolero

By PAUL GWYNN

"In 'The Bandolero' he has attained to mastery of his material and the book is as strong in characterisation and as stirring in a venture as it is significant of the land which it portrays."—Outlook

"Really a great book."

Paths of Judgment

By ANNE DOUGL
SEDCWICK.

"This is not simply a good story, nor yet alone a clever piece of character analysis, but also a remarkably fine novel. . . . The four principals . . . are real living characters drawn minute and well placed before the reader with a vividness and sureness of touch which are very rare outside the work of masters of fiction."—Athenaeum.

"... Really a great book. The story is cleverly developed. The characters are true and clear."—Daily News.

A novel which is being widely appreciated both here and in America.

The Divine Fire.

By MAY SINCLAIR

"Judged by almost every standard to which a comedy like this should be referred, I find her book the most remarkable thing I have read for many years."—Mr. OWEN SEAMAN in Punch.

"'The Divine Fire' belongs to a high order of fiction. It bears the imprint not only of imagination and keenness of judgment, but also for a noble ideal; the dialogue is always natural and the style flowing and cultivated."—Standard.

POPULAR 6/- NOVELS

In the Bishop's Carriage

By MIRIAM MICHELSON.

"Everyone is reading or wanting to read 'In the Bishop's Carriage.'"—Academy and Literature.

By the well-known Canadian author.

The Prisoner of Mademoiselle

By CHARLES D. G. ROBERTS.

"A charmingly told tale gaining much of its attraction from the natural and telling style of the writer."—Daily News.

... "It possesses a peculiar attraction which we recognise in almost all works of fiction which come to us from Canada; an atmosphere of refinement and a certain loftiness characterise their romance. . . . It has gleams of humour in its high romance, and is told with a certain elegance characteristic of its origin."—The World.

"Vastly amusing."

Archers of the Long Bow

By ARTHUR MOORE.

"It is vastly amusing, and we could do with many more exorbitant stories of the same kind. . . . A capital story in itself . . . constructed with great ingenuity. . . . Will amuse even a confirmed pessimist who despairs of modern light fiction."—Morning Post.

"... The narrative is brisk, the incidents are ingeniously contrived, and the characterisation great and consistent."—Spectator.

POPULAR 6/- NOVELS

A Japanese Nightingale By ONOTO WATANNA.

"This is an entirely charming romance . . . the exquisite self-sacrifice of Japanese women is given here with very delicate and true feeling. . . . The atmosphere and colouring of the book are very beautiful. The pidgin English is the most delightful dialect we have ever read."—Speaker.

"This book is a finished work of art."—Daily News.

The Incomparable Bellairs

By AGNES and EGERTON CASTLE, Authors of "The Star Dreamer," etc. Illustrated by FRED PEGRAM.

"The merit of the book lies mainly in its esprit, its gaiety, and its sense of colour and romance."—Athenæum.

The Deliverance By ELLEN GLASGOW,

Author of "The Battleground," "The Voice of the People," etc. With illustrations in colour by FRANK SCHOONOVER. [3rd Edition.

"The story has many finely dramatic situations, and is written picturesquely, and with an intimate knowledge of the country and the life it portrays."—Bookman.

Dorothea: A Story of the Pure in Heart

By MAARTEN MAARTENS, Author of "My Poor Relations."

[2nd Edition.

"It is a ripe, strong, and masterly book, a distinct and genuine addition to English fiction."—Daily Chronicle.

The Imperialist By SARA JEANNETTE DUNCAN (Mrs. EVERARD COTES),

Author of "Those Delightful Americans," etc.

"The book is very well written, and full of earnest conviction."—The Globe.

Belchamber By HOWARD STURGIS,

Author of "Tim" and "All that was Possible."

"As finely constructed as it is admirably written . . . full of knowledge and observation of life."—Pilot.

THOMPSON SETON'S BOOKS

Monarch, The Big Bear

By ERNEST THOMPSON SETON. With many drawings by the Author in half-tone and line. 5s. net.

"Some (nature students) are drily scientific, some are dull and prosy, some are sentimental, some are sensational, and a few are altogether admirable. Mr. Thompson Seton, as an artist and raconteur, ranks by far the highest in this field."—MR. JOHN BURROUGHS, in the Atlantic Monthly.

"A more charming and pathetic animal story was never written even by that sympathetic student of wild life, Thompson Seton."—Daily Express.

Two Little Savages

Being the adventures of Two Boys who Lived as Indians and what They Learned. With over 300 drawings. Written and Illustrated by ERNEST THOMPSON SETON. Post 8vo, cloth, 6s. net.

"From the delight and envy which this book has awakened in us we can imagine the unalloyed pleasure with which it will be devoured by all boys clever enough to understand it and fortunate enough to live where emulation of the doings of Yan and Sam and Sappy is within the horizon of possibility. . . . Mr. Seton's name is sufficient guarantee for the style, in which we inhale the aromatic freshness and pungency of the great forest library where he has studied."—Glas

THE MAUDE VERSIONS OF TOLSTOY

"Better translators, both for knowledge of the two languages and for penetration into the very meaning of the matter translated, could not be invented."—LEO TOLSTOY.
