I. REPORTS OF COMMITTEES ON MONETARY SUBJECTS

(arranged chronologically)

This first group of official papers contains only the reports of committees (or commissions) whose principal object was to investigate monetary matters. These reports, together with their accompanying minutes of evidence and appendices, contain the most important source material. They are cited in the footnotes by the date or abbreviation that in the list below precedes the catch title preserved here for convenience of identification. Thus "Ev., H.L. 1819" refers to evidence before the Lords Committee on the Resumption of Cash Payments, 1819, found in the Reports . . . P.P. 1819, III, the sixth item listed in this section. The abbreviation "H.C." is given only where committees from both Houses bore similar names at about the same time.

2. OTHER OFFICIAL PAPERS
(arranged chronologically)
- In this supplementary group of official papers are listed the reports of committees which dealt with monetary subjects rather incidentally, such as the committees investigating agricultural distress. Also in this group are some of the more important miscellaneous returns, such as copies of correspondence, Treasury minutes, and data supplied by the Bank and by various government offices. These papers are cited by a short title (or brief description where the short title seems insufficient) and by the "paper" number where several papers are bound in the same volume. The "paper" number is given in round brackets immediately before the volume number.

3. BOOKS, PAMPHLETS, AND PERIODICAL ARTICLES
- ACRES, W. MARSTON, The Bank of England from Within, 1694-1900, 2 vols. (London, 1931).
- ACWORTH, ANGUS WHITEFORD, Financial Reconstruction in England, 1815-1822 (London, 1925).
- AITCHISON, WILLIAM JOHN, The Bank of England's Reserve, and Exceptional Issues of Legal-Tender Notes (London, 1873).
- ALISON, ARCHIBALD, "The British Finances," Blackwood's, XXXI, 598-621 (April 1832). Deplores Resumption Act of 1819 and Act of 1826 suppressing small notes.
- "Revolutionary Inroads. The Bank — The Corn-Laws," Blackwood's, XXXII, 671-79 (October 1832). Condemns publication of Bank Charter Evidence. Are political commissioners, Whig commissioners, to take over management of the Bank?
- "The Late Commercial Crisis — The Work of the Tyrant Majority," Blackwood's, XLII, 210-25 (August 1837). Jackson's policies are responsible for the efflux of gold to America. Commends Bank for early check given to speculation.
- England in 1815 and 1845: or, a Sufficient and a Contracted Currency (Edinburgh and London, 1845).
- "Thirty Years of Liberal Legislation," Blackwood's, LXIII, 1-28 (January 1848). Peel's Act of 1844 requires the Bank to contract the currency when gold is scarce and expand it when gold is plentiful; the true principle is just the reverse.
- "The Currency Extension Act of Nature," Blackwood's, LXIX, 1-19 (January 1851). California gold has temporarily, but only temporarily, diminished the evils of a gold currency. Author proposes an inconvertible currency to prevent alternate expansion and contraction.
- "Gold — Emigration — Foreign Dependence — Taxation," Blackwood's, LXXII, 203-17 (August 1852). The new supplies of gold have greatly diminished the danger of a disastrous drain upon the Bank.

- "The Currency Question.— Adjustment of the Standard of Value.— One Pound Note Circulation," xxvii, 792-801 (May 1830). Name of author not recorded. Article insists that the pound should have been devalued at the time of Resumption. Appeals to the authority of A. Baring and J. B. Say. The question should be reconsidered by the Government.

THE LOEB CLASSICAL LIBRARY

was founded in 1910 to provide modern readers with accurate texts and adequate English translations of all the important Latin and Greek authors. In the past quarter of a century both scholars and general readers have accorded the series an enthusiastic welcome that has fully justified the work of the founder, Dr James Loeb, and the Editors. The original scheme embraces about four hundred volumes, of which some three hundred are now published. These include the ancient orators, dramatists, biographers, historians, philosophers, botanists, geographers, physicians, and economists: Caesar, Vergil, Cicero, and Horace; Homer, Xenophon, and Plato — these familiar classics are available for the discovery of delights unsuspected by the schoolboy. But besides, there are dozens of writers not so well known: Aulus Gellius, Fronto, and Petronius, among the Latins; and among the Greeks, Quintus Smyrnaeus, Dio Chrysostom, Lucian, and Apollodorus. A number of the authors in the Library have never before been translated into English. In each volume the Greek or Latin original is printed on the left-hand page, and on the right-hand page there is a faithful page-for-page translation. The price is uniformly $2.50 per volume for cloth-bound copies; $3.50 for copies bound in flexible leather. A complete descriptive catalogue may be had on application to the
