

* AMERICAN STATESMEN *

Edited by

JOHN T. MORSE, JR.

V73, 1y7m09
C3.2
2949

Dhananjayrao Gadgil Library

GIPE-PUNE-002949

American Statesmen

EDITED BY

JOHN T. MORSE, JR.

American Statesmen

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

BY

JOHN T. MORSE, JR.

IN TWO VOLUMES

VOL. II.

BOSTON AND NEW YORK
HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN AND COMPANY
The Riverside Press, Cambridge

Copyright, 1893,
By JOHN T. MORSE, JR.

All rights reserved.

V73, 1y7

C3.2

2949

CONTENTS.

CHAPTER I.

EMANCIPATION AND POLITICS	1
-------------------------------------	---

CHAPTER II.

THE SECOND ACT OF THE McCLELLAN DRAMA . . .	31
---	----

CHAPTER III.

THE THIRD AND CLOSING ACT OF THE McCLELLAN DRAMA	73
---	----

CHAPTER IV.

THE AUTUMN ELECTIONS OF 1862, AND THE PROCLAMA- TION OF EMANCIPATION	95
---	----

CHAPTER V.

BATTLES AND SIEGES; DECEMBER, 1862—DECEMBER, 1863	134
---	-----

CHAPTER VI.

SUNDRIES	171
--------------------	-----

CHAPTER VII.

THE TURN OF THE TIDE	200
--------------------------------	-----

CHAPTER VIII.

RECONSTRUCTION	217
--------------------------	-----

CHAPTER IX.

RENOMINATION	246
------------------------	-----

CHAPTER X.

MILITARY SUCCESSES, AND THE REELECTION OF THE PRESIDENT	277
--	-----

CHAPTER XI.

THE END COMES INTO SIGHT: THE SECOND INAUGURA- TION	301
--	-----

CHAPTER XII.

EMANCIPATION COMPLETED	316
----------------------------------	-----

CHAPTER XIII.

THE FALL OF RICHMOND, AND THE ASSASSINATION OF PRESIDENT LINCOLN	329
---	-----

INDEX	259
-----------------	-----

INDEX.

- ADAMS, Charles Francis, i. 231; arrival in London, 372; his instructions, 373-375; his complaints concerning Confederate privateers, 172, 173.
- Adams, Charles Francis, Jr., enters Richmond at head of negro regiment, ii. 336.
- Adams, John, i. 101 n.
- Adams, John Q., i. 74.
- Adams, Samuel, i. 101 n.
- Alabama, the privateer, ii. 173; destroyed, 302.
- Albemarle, the, destroyed, ii. 302.
- Albert, Prince, amends dispatch about Mason and Slidell, i. 383.
- Altoona Conference, ii. 117, 118.
- Amendment, Thirteenth, to Constitution. See Thirteenth Constitutional Amendment.
- Amnesty Proclamation, ii. 224-228; as result of Sherman-Johnson capitulation, 240.
- Anderson, Robert, i. 36; in Fort Moultrie, 186; at Fort Sumter, 243-249.
- Andrew, John A., dispatches troops to Washington, i. 256, 257.
- Anthony, Henry B., i. 297.
- Antietam, battle of, ii. 85.
- Arkansas, secedes, i. 269; reconstruction in, ii. 234, 236, 296-298.
- Armstrong, Jack, fight with Lincoln, i. 18.
- Arnold, Isaac N., Lincoln's biographer, i. 9, 65 n., 67, 148 n., 149 n., 297, 307, 385; concerning Lincoln's mother, 9 n.; concerning Lincoln's duel, 66 n.; ii. 24, 214-216, 246; introduces abolitionist bill, 13; as to Greeley's prayer of twenty millions, 106 n.; Lincoln's only friend in the House, 248; Lincoln refuses to aid his canvass, 290; concerning constitutional amendment for emancipation, 319, 326; concerning death of Lincoln, 350.
- Ashley, James M., i. 237.
- Ashmun, George, amendment, i. 77; presides over Republican Convention, 167.
- Atlanta, fall of, ii. 284.
- Baker, Edward D., i. 68; anecdotes, 59, 71, 72; at inauguration, 220; at Ball's Bluff, 308, 309.
- Ball's Bluff, the skirmish, i. 308-310.
- Baltimore riot, i. 257-260.
- Banks, Nathaniel P., i. 319; ii. 35; during Peninsula Campaign, 44, 45, 52; beaten at Winchester, 54; under Pope, 74; at Cedar Mountain, 76; takes Port Hudson, 162.
- Barnard, J. G., opposes McClellan's plan, i. 336; advice at Yorktown, ii. 38.
- Bates, Edward, candidate for Republican nomination for Presidency, i. 166-170; in the Cabinet, 234-236; concerning Sumter, 245, 246.
- Bayard, James A., i. 297.
- Beauregard, G. T., at Charleston, i. 244; attacks Sumter, 248; in Virginia, 239; at Bull Run and Manassas, 300, 301; at Shiloh, 362; evacuates Corinth, 364.
- Bell, John, candidate for presidency, i. 166; attitude of his followers, 175, 194.
- Benjamin, Judah P., i. 200, 206.
- Bermuda Hundred, ii. 281.
- Big Bethel, the skirmish, i. 298.
- Black, J. S., in Buchanan's Cabinet, i. 188, 189 n., 198-200.
- Blaine, James G., i. 102 n., 128 n., 168 n., 170 n.; ii. 4, 15, 53, 123, 125, 182, 188.
- Blair, Francis P., mission to J. Davis, ii. 304-306.
- Blair, Francis P., Jr., i. 297; interview with Lee, 263; influence in St. Louis, 269; ii. 253; concerning Emancipation Proclamation, 123.
- Blair, Montgomery, in Cabinet, i. 234, 236; concerning Sumter, 245, 246;

- concerning advances and route of army in Virginia, 324, 330; arrested, 350; effort to force him out of Cabinet, ii. 288; resigns, 289; desires Chief Justiceship, 239.
- Blockade, proclaimed, i. 283-285, 293; instructions to Mr. Adams about it, 373; effective, 376.
- Booth, J. W., the assassin of Lincoln, ii. 347-350.
- Boutwell, George S., ii. 116.
- Bragg, Braxton, in Kentucky and Tennessee, ii. 154; at Stone's River, 155; leaves Tennessee, 156, 157; in Chattanooga, 163; at Chickamauga, 164; besieges Chattanooga, 165; at Lookout Mountain, 166, 167.
- Breckenridge, John C., i. 101; candidate for presidency, 164; political position, 175, 180; electoral vote for him, 208; expelled from Senate, 299.
- Bright, J. D., i. 297.
- Brooks, Preston S., assaults Charles Sumner, i. 100.
- Brough, John, Governor of Ohio, ii. 193, 194.
- Brown, A. V., i. 188.
- Brown, B. Gratz, aids nomination of Fremont, ii. 256.
- Brown, George W., Mayor of Baltimore, concerning plot to assassinate Lincoln, i. 217 n.; during the riots, 258, 259; estimate of Maryland rebel enlistments, 262 n.
- Browning, O. H., i. 68.
- Bryant, William Cullen, i. 153; opposes Lincoln, ii. 262.
- Buchanan, James, nominated for presidency in 1856, i. 101; elected, 101; position concerning Lecompton Constitution of Kansas, 105, 126; quarrels about this with Douglas, 108; hostility to Douglas in campaign of 1860, 180 n.; Lincoln's attack upon him in the joint debates of 1858, 127-129; falsely placed, between election and inauguration of Lincoln, 189; worn out, 181; Governor Pickens sends him advice, also commissioners, 185, 186; opinions and action in autumn of 1860, 187; messages to Thirty-sixth Congress, 188-190; excuses for him in demoralization of the North, 190, 195; rallies his courage, 198; the South Carolina Commissioners and the Cabinet, 199, 200; abused by Southerners, 200; at Lincoln's inauguration, 220; calls extra session of Senate, 234; concerning Sumter, 243; and the navy, 283.
- Buckner, S. B., surrenders Fort Donelson, i. 354, 355.
- Buell, Don Carlos, i. 347, 355, 364; compared with McClellan, 352, 353; Lincoln's letter to, 353; at Nashville, and afterward, 360; at Shiloh, 361; ii. 135; returns fugitive slaves, 8; pursues Bragg, 164; relieved, 155.
- Bull Run, first battle of, i. 300-302; second battle of, ii. 77.
- Burns, Anthony, i. 99.
- Burnside, Ambrose E., in North Carolina, i. 348; given command of army, ii. 92, 136; at Fredericksburg, 136, 137; resigns, 138; in Tennessee and Kentucky, 164, 167; arrests Vallandigham, 186-189.
- Bush, Sarah, i. 11.
- Butler, B. F., i. 319; at Baltimore, 260; at Big Bethel, 298; at New Orleans, 358; "contraband of war," ii. 5; at Bermuda Hundred, 281; for Vice-President, 284 n.
- Butterfield, Justin, i. 68.
- Cadwalader, George, in case of Merriam, i. 287.
- Calhoun, John, appoints Lincoln deputy surveyor, i. 41.
- Calhoun, John C., i. 106; and Compromise of 1850, 90.
- California, admission of State, i. 87-92.
- Cameron, Simon, i. 297; before Republican nominating convention, 1860, 166-170; weakness of his Republicanism in autumn of 1860, 197; in cabinet, 234, 235; trouble about his appointment, 236; in Sumter matter, 245, 246; refuses request of Governor Andrew for arms, 256; and orders troops through Baltimore, 257; minister to Russia, 329; his proceedings against slavery, ii. 5; "contraband of war," 5; order to Sherman, 8; report to Congress recommending the arming of slaves, 9, 102; remarks to Lincoln, 261; anxiety about Republican success, 274.
- Campbell, John A., dealings with Seward, i. 239, 245; commissioner for peace, ii. 304-307.
- Canby, E. R. S., ii. 238 n.
- Cartwright, Peter, Lincoln's competitor for Congress, i. 73.
- Case, Lewis, i. 79, 199; in Buchanan's cabinet, 187; resignation therefrom, 198.
- Cedar Mountain, battle of, ii. 76.
- "Central Illinois Gazette" suggests Lincoln for Presidency, i. 161.
- Chambrun, Comte de, anecdote of Lincoln, ii. 345.
- Chancellorsville, battle of, ii. 141, 142.

- Chandler, Zachariah, i. 296; advice to Lincoln about Conservatives, ii. 214; concerning H. W. Davis's bill for reconstruction, 233.
- Chase, Salmon F., i. 106, 129 n., 161, 206; and Compromise of 1850, 90; before the Republican nominating convention in 1860, 166-170; in cabinet, 234, 235; story of the appointment, 236; in Sumter matter, 245, 246; subordination to Lincoln, 275, 276; at conference about ordering an advance in Virginia, January, 1861, 323-326; favors Lincoln's plan, 330; on the military situation, 341; would not let slavery influence his action, ii. 109; remarks about Emancipation Proclamation, 117, 118; contribution to final proclamation, 131; full control allowed to him in his department, 171; offer of resignation at time of cabal against Seward, 177-181; complains of Lincoln, 248; scheme to make him Republican nominee for presidency, 248-252; subsequent difficulties with Lincoln, resulting in resignation, 253, 254; an enemy of M. Blair, 248; appointed Chief Justice, 239, 300.
- Chattanooga, siege of, ii. 165-167.
- Chickamauga, battle of, ii. 164.
- Childe, E. Lee, i. 263 n., 264 n.
- Chittenden, L. E., i. 181, 382, 387.
- Cisco, John J., ii. 254.
- Clay, Henry, i. 73, 78, 106; Lincoln's feeling towards him, 70, 71; and the Compromise of 1850, 89 et seq.
- Clinton, De Witt, I. 194.
- Clinton, George, i. 194.
- Cobb, Howell, i. 74; secessionist intrigues in Georgia, 186; in Buchanan's cabinet, 187; his behavior, 188; resigns, 198; argument for secession, 183.
- Cochrane, John, nominee for Vice-Presidency, ii. 263.
- Cold Harbor, i. 281.
- Colfax, Schuyler, i. 297; opposes Lincoln in 1868, 116; ii. 327; remark about Lincoln, 114.
- Collamer, Jacob, i. 74, 297; candidate for Presidential nomination, 169, 170.
- Committee on Conduct of War, concerning army of Potomac, i. 312; its creation and composition, 321, 322; insists on corps-formation, 344; hostility to McClellan, 342; ii. 65; concerning army of the Potomac, 70.
- Committee of Thirteen, i. 202.
- Committee of Thirty-three, i. 201, 202, 210.
- Compromise of 1850, i. 88-93; comments upon in Lincoln-Douglas joint debates, 125.
- Comte de Paris, i. 312; ii. 50, 54, 55, 62, 63.
- Confederate bonds, sold in England, ii. 173, 174.
- Congress of Paris, i. 375-377.
- Congress, the frigate, i. 356.
- Conkling, James C., Lincoln's letter to, ii. 202.
- Conkling, Roscoe, i. 297.
- Copperheads, attitude in Democratic party, ii. 95; activity and power of, 182-185; worsted, 193, 194; the Vallandigham episode, 185-189, 193; meetings and protests of, with Lincoln's replies, 189-193; during the draft riots in New York, 197.
- Corbett, Boston, New York Booth, ii. 350.
- Corinth, capture of, i. 360-364.
- Corning, Erastus, i. 297.
- Cowdell, J., i. 297.
- Cox, S. S., i. 297.
- Crittenden, J. J., i. 297; prefers Douglas to Lincoln, 117 n.; efforts for compromise, 202; resolutions concerning purpose of war, ii. 4.
- Cumberland, the frigate, i. 356.
- Curtin, Andrew G., ii. 202; concerning Altoona conference, etc., 117.
- Curtis, B. R., in Dred Scott case, i. 103 n.
- Curtis, S. R., at Pea Ridge, i. 351.
- Cushing, W. B., destroys the Albatross, ii. 302.
- Davis, David, i. 68; in Republican convention, 167-170; statement about the cabinet, 235.
- Davis, Garrett, i. 297; opposes enlistment of negro troops, ii. 16.
- Davis, Henry Winter, his bill concerning reconstruction, ii. 231-235, 243; manifesto against the President, 235, 236; hostility to Lincoln, 266.
- Davis, Jefferson, i. 223, 234, 264, 393; and Compromise of 1850, 90; opposes compromise between North and South, 204; chosen President of Confederate States, 205; sends commissioners to Washington, 238; urged to action, 241, 242; reluctant to be aggressor, 242; efforts to induce Kentucky to secede, 266-268; offers letters of marque and reprisal, 282; attack on East Tennesseeans, 352; ii. 153; believes Kentucky to be disloyal, 154; his escape desired, 239; appoints Hood in place of Johnston, 284; reception of F. P. Blair, 305; appoints commissioners, 306; notified that Richmond must be surrendered, 331, 334; escapes, 335, 341; charged with com-

- plcity in assassination conspiracy, 363.
- Dayton, W. L., nominated for Vice-Presidency, i. 101; candidate for nomination in 1860, 166, 169, 170.
- Dennison, William, enters cabinet, ii. 289.
- Dickinson, D. S., ii. 265.
- Dir, John A., concerning secession of New York city, i. 197; in Buchanan's cabinet, 201.
- Donelson, Andrew J., i. 100.
- Donelson, Fort, captured, i. 354.
- Doolittle, J. R., i. 297.
- Douglas, Stephen A., i. 68, 77, 97; first meeting with Lincoln, 43; in campaign of 1840, 61; praises Missouri Compromise, 83; efforts to repeal Missouri Compromise, 94, 107; endeavors to defend his action, 95, 96; charges Lincoln with a political trade about the Senatorship, 98; Southern favorite for Presidential nomination in 1856, 101; position in the Democratic party and before the country, 106-110, 113; quarrels with Buchanan about Kansas, 108; opposes the "English bill," 109; Democratic candidate for Senate in 1858, 114; and as such opposed by many Democrats and befriended by many Republicans, 116, 117; in the joint debates of 1858, 121 et seq.; his ultimate success, 149; his personal triumph, 149; subsequent speeches in Ohio, 151; comments on his speeches, 157, 158; before the Democratic nominating convention, 1860, 163; nominated, 164; position in Democratic party, 1860, 165; in campaign of 1860, 174, 180 n.; opposed by extremist Southerners in the campaign, 175; sustains Lincoln when Sumter is attacked, 251.
- Draft, act for, and proceedings thereunder, 195-199; riot in New York, 198.
- Early, Jubal A., i. 339; raid against Washington, ii. 282-284; in Shenandoah Valley, 285.
- Edwards, Mrs. Ninian W., i. 62-64.
- Edwards, Ninian W., i. 68.
- Emancipation Proclamation, ii. 205, 207, 222; the preliminary proclamation, 114-121; its political effect, 122 et seq.; final proclamation, 130, 132; English opinion about it, 132; comments, 316, 317.
- English, James E., i. 297; his famous bill, 109, 110; votes for Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery, ii. 326.
- Ericsson, John, i. 356.
- Everts, W. M., i. 171.
- "Evening Journal" (of Albany), attitude concerning secession, i. 133.
- "Evening Post" (of New York), i. 155.
- Kverett, Edward, nominated for vice-presidency, i. 166; attitude of his supporters, 175, 194; at Gettysburg, ii. 215.
- Ewell, R. S., ii. 143, 144.
- "Examiner," The (of Richmond), quoted, i. 209.
- Fair Oaks, battle at, ii. 58, 59.
- Farragut, D. G., captures New Orleans, i. 358 n.; at Vicksburg, 359, 364; takes Mobile, ii. 285.
- Fell, J. W., i. 161.
- Felton, S. M., statements concerning Lincoln's journey to Washington, i. 212-214, 217 n.
- Fenton, R. E., i. 297.
- Fessenden, W. P., i. 296; remark about decision in the Dred Scott Case, 128 n.; Secretary of the Treasury, ii. 254, 255.
- Fillmore, M., nominated for presidency, i. 100; the vote for him, 102.
- Florida, the privateer, ii. 172, 173.
- Floyd, J. B., in Buchanan's Cabinet, i. 187, 188; behavior, opinions and resignation, 198, 199, 208; concerning the navy, 283.
- Foot, A. E., i. 333; at Fort Henry, 354.
- Ford's "History of Illinois," sketch of bench and bar, i. 29; remarks on Lincoln, 54.
- Forney, J. W., ii. 263.
- Forquer, G., anecdote, i. 51.
- Fort Pillow, ii. 143.
- Fox, G. V., and Fort Sumter, i. 245, 246.
- Franklin, W. B., concerning advance in Virginia, i. 323-325, 330, 336; joint McClellan on Peninsula, ii. 47, 48.
- Fredericksburg, battle of, ii. 136, 137.
- Fremont, John C., candidate for presidency, i. 101, 102; in Department of the West, 349-351; issues order freeing slaves, ii. 6, 7, 102; in mountains of Virginia, 35; at time of Jackson's foray, 55, 56; resigns, 74; the effort to make him a candidate for the presidency, 255-260.
- Fremont, Mrs. J. C., visit to Lincoln, i. 350.
- Fugitive Slave Law, i. 88, 91, 132, 143.
- Gaines's Mill, battle at, ii. 62.
- Garrison, W. L., i. 191; in autumn of

- 1860, 177; quotation from Life of, 173 n.; befriends Lincoln politically, ii, 267.
- Gettysburg, battle of, ii, 147-149; Lincoln's speech at, 214-216.
- Giddings, J. R., supports Lincoln's bill for abolition in District of Columbia, i, 80; in 1860, member of Republican nominating convention, 177.
- Gilmer, J. A., refuses Cabinet position, i, 236.
- Gilmors, J. R., mission to Richmond, ii, 271 n.
- Gist, Governor of South Carolina, circular letter, i, 182.
- Grant, U. S., i, 306, 333, 338, 355; remark as to equal fighting capacity, North and South, 254 n.; theory of a decisive battle, 317 n.; enters Paducah, 353; attacks Fort Donelson, 354; ill-treated by Halleck, 360; campaign against Corinth, 360-364; at battle of Pittsburg Landing, or Shiloh, 361, 362; ii, 73, 239; remarks about Copperheads, 96; campaign against Vicksburg, 157-161; Lincoln's letter to him, 162; comes to aid Thomas at Chattanooga, 166-168; supposed dislike for Rosecrans, 166 n.; on reconstruction, 230; at the Hampton Roads Conference, 238; concerning the Sherman-Johnston capitulation, 242; concerning Stanton's treatment of Sherman, 241 n.; effort to nominate him for presidency, 260, 264; made lieutenant-general, 277; takes command in Virginia, 278; note to the President, 279; moves against Lee and Richmond, 280, 281, 301; during Early's raid, 283; appoints Sheridan to command, 285; Lincoln's instructions to him concerning Lee's capitulation, 330; estimate of Confederate deserters, 331; anxiety to capture Lee's army, 331, 332; at Hampton Roads conference, 333; summons Lincoln from City Point, 334; enters Petersburg, 335; presses Lee after evacuation of Richmond, 327-339; arranges terms of capitulation, 339, 340; on April 14, 346; probably included in plot for assassination, 351.
- Greeley, Horace, opposition to Lincoln, i, 112, 113, 115, 152, 191, 265 n.; part in Republican Convention, 1860, for nominating candidates for presidency, 167, 172; panic-stricken in autumn of 1860, 191-193, 195, 231; compares Northern and Southern resources, 206; singular outbreak, 210; his prayer of 20,000,000 of people, ii, 105, 108, 109; proposes French mediation, 175; opposition to renomination of Lincoln, 261, 262; his peace Republicanism, 267-271; peace mission to Niagara Falls, 268-271.
- Green, Duff, i, 210.
- Green, J. S., i, 224 n.
- Greene, Bolin, aids Lincoln, i, 42.
- Grimes, J. W., i, 296.
- Grow, G. A., i, 297.
- Habeas corpus*, question of suspending the writ, i, 286-291; ii, 187, 189, 193.
- Hale, John P., i, 296; concerning surrender of Mason and Sidel, 386; concerning confiscation of slaves, ii, 34.
- Halleck, Henry W., i, 347; discouraging dispatch from, 323; letter to, 329; commands in Missouri, 351, 359; announces surrender of Fort Donelson, 354; treatment of Grant at the West, 360, 363; at siege of Corinth, 363, 364; general-in-chief, 364; ii, 65; comments on his career, i, 365-367; ii, 73, 74; expels fugitive slaves from his lines, 8; advocates withdrawal of army from Peninsula, 66; disputes with McClellan about the withdrawal, 79; panic-stricken, 80; orders to McClellan, 83, 84; quarrels with Hooker, 145, 146; relations with Rosecrans, 156; laid aside, 277; an enemy of M. Blair, 288, 289.
- Hamlin, Hannibal, i, 208; nominated for vice-presidency, 171; ii, 346; question of renominating him, 264, 265.
- Hanks, Dennis, i, 7.
- Hanks, John, i, 16, 17; at Illinois Convention, 162.
- Hanks, Lucy, i, 7.
- Hanks, Nancy, i, 7, 8, 9; death, 11.
- Hardin, J. J., i, 71-73.
- Harlan, J., i, 296.
- Harrison, W. H., President, campaign of 1840, i, 61.
- Haven, Franklin, anecdote of Lincoln, i, 52 n.
- Hawkins, —, Governor, i, 204.
- Hay, John, diary quoted, ii, 234 n. See Nicolay and Hay.
- Heintzelman, S. P., opposes McClellan's plan for advance, i, 336; corps commander, 344; later views as to route, ii, 32.
- Henderson, —, approves Lincoln's emancipation policy, ii, 27.
- Henry, Fort, capture of, i, 354.
- "Herald," The (of New York), publication in autumn of 1860, i, 193.

- Herndon, W. H., i. 42, 63, 93, 111; on Lincoln's genealogy, 7; Lincoln's early writing, 13 n.; Lincoln's love-affairs, 49 n.; Lincoln's marriage, 65 n.; Lincoln's duel, 66 n.; partnership with Lincoln, 67; prevents Lincoln from joining Abolitionists, 95, 96; goes East on Lincoln's behalf, 113; approves Lincoln's speech accepting Senatorial nomination in 1858, 119.
- Hickman, assails Lincoln's emancipation policy, ii. 93.
- Hicks, T. H., suggestions for arbitration, i. 281; also ii. 175; commends suspension of habeas corpus, i. 287.
- Hitchcock, E. A., ii. 33; as to defenses of Washington, 40, 43.
- Holland, J. G., i. 29 n., 37 n., 65 n., 42, 60, 72; concerning Lincoln's duel, 66 n.
- Holst, Dr. von, i. 74, 84, 91.
- Holt, Joseph, in Buchanan's Cabinet, i. 193.
- Hood, John B., beaten at Atlanta, ii. 284; and at Nashville, 301, 302.
- Hooker, Joseph, ii. 169; returns fugitive slaves, 8; during Peninsula Campaign, 44; appointed to command in Virginia, 138-140; his Chancellorsville Campaign, 140-142; subsequent manoeuvres, 143-145; quarrels with Halleck, 145-146; relieved of command, 146; at Lookout Mountain, 166.
- Houston, Samuel, i. opposes secession and threatened, 187.
- Hunter, D., Lincoln's letter to him, i. 349; succeeds Fremont, 351; order freeing slaves, ii. 7, 27, 102; organizes negro regiment, 15.
- Hunter, R. M. T., commissioner for peace, ii. 306, 309.
- Hyer, T., i. 167.
- Iverson, A., i. 224 n.; secessionist labors in Georgia, 186; threatens Houston with assassination, 187; quoted, 209.
- Jackson, Thomas Jonathan, alias "Stonewall," i. 299, 338; ii. 35, 54 n.; campaign against Banks, 53-58; at Cedar Mountain, and afterward, 75-77; remark about the Northern armies, 87; death, 141.
- Jaques, Col., mission to Richmond, ii. 271 n.
- Johnson, Andrew, i. 74, 297; ii. 219 n., 345; in reconstruction of Tennessee, 218 n., 220, 230; rejects Sherman's agreement for Johnston's surrender, 240; nominated for vice-presidency, 264, 265; concerning presidential election in Tennessee, 296; his accession welcome to many persons, 250; refuses to commute Mrs. Surratt's sentence, 353.
- Johnson, Bushrod K., i. 355.
- Johnson, Herschel V., nominated for vice-presidency, i. 164; opposes secession, 187.
- Johnson, Oliver, befriends Lincoln, ii. 257.
- Johnston, A. S., death, i. 362.
- Johnston, Jos. E., i. 315, 316; at Bull Run, 299-302; retires from Manassas, 341; during Peninsula Campaign, ii. 38, 44; at Seven Pines and Fair Oaks, 58; after Vicksburg, 162; capitulation, 239-241; removed from command, 284; at Bentonville, 332; final surrender, 341.
- Johnston, Sally, Lincoln's stepmother, i. 11.
- Judd, O. B., i. 162; connection with Lincoln's journey to Washington, 213.
- Julian, Geo. W., i. 275, 297, 325; ii. 104, 105, 106 n., 247; as to Lincoln's death and Johnson's succession, 350.
- Kane, Geo. P., secessionist marshal of police in Baltimore, i. 212 n., 258.
- Kansas, territorial bill, i. 93; amendments repealing Missouri Compromise, 94, 95; prize of struggle between anti-slavery and pro-slavery, 98; progress of the struggle, 104; voting on the Lecompton Constitution, 104, 105; positions of Douglas and Buchanan concerning, 105, 108; action of Congress concerning Lecompton Constitution, 109; the "English bill," 109; final admission, 110.
- Kearse, the, destroys the Alabama, ii. 302.
- Kentucky, conflict for the State, and its theory of neutrality, i. 254, 265-268, 351.
- Keyes, E. D., i. 336; corps-commander, 344; opinion as to advance of army in Virginia, ii. 32; before Yorktown, 38.
- King, P. M., ii. 289.
- Knights of the Golden Circle, ii. 183 et seq.
- Lamon, Ward H., i. 70 n., 101, 153, 170, 171, 236; concerning Lincoln's youthful writing, 13 n.; concerning Lincoln's early political affiliations, 38 n.; concerning Lincoln's love-affairs, 49 n.; concerning his marriage, 65 n.; and his duel, 66 n.; accompanies Lincoln from Harriburg to Washington, 218; says Lincoln regretted the secrecy, 215 n.

Lane, J. H., i. 297.
 Lane, Joseph, nominated for vice-presidency, i. 164.
 Leecompton Constitution, of Kansas, I. 104-110; 126.
 Lee, Robert E., joins secessionists, i. 263, 264; remarks about Southern troops, 315; "swaps queens," 338; ii. 241; campaign against Pope, 76-78; northward march, ending at Antietam, 84-86; at Fredericksburg, 126, 137; at Chancellorsville, 140-142; second Northern invasion, ending at Gettysburg, 143-145, 147; subsequent retreat, 148; in autumn of 1863, 168, 169; battles against Grant, 279-281; seeks interview with Grant, 330; notifies Davis that Richmond must be surrendered, 331; efforts to save army, 332-335, 337-339; capitulates, 339, 340; requests rations for troops, 340.
 "Liberator," The, i. 191.
 Lincoln and Douglas debates, I. 149; comments on, 156-160.
 Lincoln, Abraham (of England) i. 4 n.
 Lincoln, Abraham, scant knowledge of his own genealogy, i. 1; pedigree on father's side, 1 7; descent on mother's side, 7; birth, 8; schooling, 12; reading, 13; anecdotes and description of boyish doings, 13 et seq.; employed by Offut, 16; early impressions of slavery, 17; fight with Armstrong, 18; studies grammar, 19; anecdotes of honesty, 19; dislike of drinking, 14, 25; ill-dressed, 26; in conversation, 28; relationship with his surroundings, 31 et seq.; in the Black Hawk Campaign, 35, 36; nominates himself, March, 1832, for State Legislature, 37; sets forth his political creed, 37, 38; defeated, 39; engages in grocery business, and fails, 39, 40; studying law, 40; postmaster at New Salem, 41; deputy surveyor, 41; elected to Legislature in 1834, in the Legislature, 43; love affair with Ann Rutledge, 43; melancholy, 45-48; love-affair with Mary Owens, 48; again, in 1836, nominates himself for the Legislature, 49; the campaign, 51; in the Legislature, 52-55; action concerning slavery, 55; admitted to the bar, 56; settles in Springfield, 56; partnership with Stuart, 56; ambition, 57; reflected to Legislature, 1838, 59; anecdotes of campaign, 59; as a financier, 60; again in Legislature, 60; anecdote, 60; in presidential campaign of 1840, 61; meets Miss Mary Todd, 62; courtship and ultimate marriage, 62-65; dual with

Shields, 65; partnership with Stephen T. Logan, 67; with William H. Herndon, 67; as a lawyer, 68-70; a Clay man in 1844, 70; hopes of nomination for Congress in 1843, 71; pursues the honor in 1846, 72; elected, over Cartwright, 73; presents the "Spot Resolutions," 75; on the right of the Texans to revolt, 76; course concerning the Mexican war, 77; desires, but does not obtain, re-nomination, 78; advocates nomination of Taylor, 78; speeches for Taylor, 79; votes for Wilmot Proviso, 79; action concerning slavery in District of Columbia, 80, 81; desires to be Commissioner of General Lands Office, 81; declines governorship of Oregon, 81; condemns the Compromise of 1850, 92; speaks for Gen. Scott, 93; angry at repeal of Missouri Compromise, 95; and encounters Douglas, 95, 96; elected to State Legislature, but resigns, 96; in the Senatorial contest, 96-98; voted for, as candidate for vice-presidency, in Republican Convention in 1856, 101; remarks concerning Kansas, 105; speech in reply to Douglas, 108 n.; aids formation of Republican party in Illinois, 111; anecdote of the "mass meeting" at Springfield, 111; on Republican ticket for presidential electors, in 1856, 112; his labors, 112; opposed by Greeley and others, 112, 113; Republican candidate for Senate in 1858, 114; injured by Republican adhesion to Douglas, 116; his speech, accepting nomination, 117-121; challenges Douglas to the joint debates of 1858, 121; his speeches and arguments in these debates, 121 et seq.; on the Dred Scott decision, 126-130; on the social and political status of the negro, 131, 135-137; on a Fugitive Slave Law, 132; on admission of more slave States, 132; on slavery in District of Columbia, 133; on slavery in Territories, 133; on Republicanism, 134; attitude towards slavery and slave holders, 138; on the doctrine that slaves are property, 142; on Douglas's theory of unfriendly legislation, 142, 143; supposed to be aiming at the presidency, 144; declares slavery an evil, 145-147; literary quality of these speeches of 1858, 147-149; defeated by Douglas, 149; contribution to campaign expenses, 150; subsequent speeches in Ohio, 151; description of Douglas, at Cincinnati, 152; invited to speak in New York, 152; journey to Kansas, 153; arrival in New York, 153; his speech at Cooper Institute, 153-156; in New England, 156; comments on his speeches in 1858, 1859, 156-160; suggested as candidate for presidency, 161; named by Illinois Convention, 162; position before the presidential nominating convention, 1860, 167; nominated, 170; "sad and dejected," 171; reasons leading to selection of him, 172; unknown to mass of people, 172, 173; position as to side issues, 175; relations with Abolitionists, 176, 177; popular and electoral votes for him, 178; was he the "choice of the American people"? 178, 179; in a false position, between election and inauguration, 181; his election the signal for secession, 184; injured by hostility of Horace Greeley, 191; comments on Constitutional Amendment proposed by Committee of Thirty-Three, 202; declared elected, 208; threats as to assassination at or before inauguration, 209; abused by Richmond "Examiner," 209; passes winter of 1860-61 in Springfield, 209; his expressions on condition of public affairs, 210, 211; leaves Springfield, 211; the journey to Washington, 212-214; regrets it, 215; comments, 214-217; receives Peace Congress and impresses members well, 218, 219; the inauguration, 219-221; comments on the inaugural, 221, 227, 228; in the White House, 229; his duty and his chance to perform it, 230-234; isolation, 233; his Cabinet, 234-236; his appointment of Cameron, 236; and of Chase, 236; trouble with Seward, 237; dealings with the Southern commissioners, 239, 240; and the Virginia commissioners, 240; biding his time, 241; investigates question of Sumter, 244-246; gives orders to send supplies, 246; blunder about the Powhatan, 247, 249, 250; not to blame for delay, 250; issues Proclamation, April 15, 1861, 252; remark as to comparative fighting qualities, North and South, 253; purpose in naming date for meeting of Congress, 254; dealings with Mayor Brown of Baltimore, 258-260; isolated in Washington, 261; efforts to hold Virginia, especially through R. E. Lee, 262-264; also Kentucky, 265-268; influence in other Border States, 269, 270; master of the Cabinet, 275; receives and answers a strange proposition from Seward, 276-280; his position, 280; an over-advised man, 281, 282; proclaims blockade, 283; decides not to close ports, 284, 285; action concerning suspension of habeas corpus, 286-290; call for more troops, 291; message to Thirty-seventh Congress, extra session, July 4, 1861, 292-296; appoints McClellan, 303, 310; concerning arrest of Gen. Stone, 309; urged to compel an advance in Virginia, 314, 316; military duties, 318; political unselfishness, 320; questions to McClellan, about advance, 322; consultations with McDowell and Franklin, 323-325; appoints Cameron Minister to Russia, and Stanton Secretary of War, 326-328; letter to Halleck, 329; plans for advance via Manassas, 330-332, 333-335, 340, 341; issues General War Order No. 1, 332; Special War Order No. 1, 333; General War Order No. 3, 341; reduces McClellan's command, 343; establishes army corps, 344; attention to affairs at the West, 347; dealings with Fremont, in Missouri, 349-351; efforts concerning East Tennessee, 351, 352; death of his son, 355; believes in the experiment of the Monitor, 356; plans capture of New Orleans, 357; modifies Seward's instructions to Adams, 373-376; reference to foreign affairs in message of December, 1861, 377, 378; first opinion in matter of the Trent, and Mason and Silldell, 382; subsequent position, 384-386.

II. his border-state policy, 3; corrects Fremont's abolitionist proclamation, 6; also revokes Hunter's order, 7; later comments on Hunter's order, 27; controls emancipation, 8; corrects and restrains Cameron's abolitionism, 8, 9; Message to Thirty-seventh Congress, 10; treatment therein of slavery matters, 10; remarks on act freeing slaves in District of Columbia, 12; signs other anti-slavery bills, 14, 15, 17; concerning enlistment of negro troops, 17; differs from anti-slavery policy of Congress, 18; his own views and policy, 19, 20; asks for legislation to aid compensated emancipation and colonization, 20-22; endeavors to obtain cooperation of border-state men, 23-28; remarks on his schemes, 28, 29; holds open vacancies on Supreme Bench, 30; renewal of discussion as to routes for McClellan's advance, 31; anxiety as to safety of Washington, 33, 34, 40; withholds Blenker's division from McClellan, 35; urges McClellan to break the line at Yorktown, 37; retains McDowell before Washington, 39-44; letter on this and other military matters to McClellan, April 9, 1862, 44; on forwarding troops to McClellan, 48; arranges to send McDowell to McClellan, 50-52; countermands this, 52-58; significant telegram to McClellan, 60; appoints Halleck general-in-chief, 65; loyalty to McClellan, 66; goes to Harrison's Landing, 67; orders withdrawal from Peninsula, 68, 73; determines to reinstate McClellan, 80-83; stimulates McClellan after Antietam, 86, 87; letter to McClellan, 88; removes McClellan and appoints Burnside, 92; letter to A. G. Hodges as to emancipation, 101; his border-state policy, 103; distrusted by many Republicans and Abolitionists, in autumn of 1863, 98 et seq., 104 et seq.; response to Greeley's "prayer of 20,000,000 of people," 107; response to the Chicago clergymen, 110; composition of Emancipation Proclamation, 113, 115, 116; communicates it to Cabinet, 114; its tenor and publication, 116; the step wholly his own, 117-119; criticised, 120; his own later opinion as to the step, 120; his probable reasons for it, at this time, 123; again recommends compensated emancipation, 126-129; and urges it on Missourians, 130; issues the final proclamation of emancipation, 130, 131; interests himself in the enlistment of negro troops, 132; action concerning retaliation for Southern maltreatment of negro troops, 133; comments on Burnside's plan of campaign, 136; relations with Burnside, from Fredericksburg to Burnside's resignation, 138; appoints Hooker, and writes him a remarkable letter, 139, 140; suggestions to Hooker as to military movements, 143, 144; arranges quarrels between Hooker and Halleck, 145, 146; appoints Meade, 146, 147; dissatisfaction with Meade, after Gettysburg, 149-152; response to A. H. Stephens, 153; relations with Rosecrans, 156; what credit he had for the Vicksburg Campaign, 160; letter to Grant, 162; dealings with matters in Tennessee, 163, 165; instructions to Meade, 168, 169; leaves the national finances wholly to Chase, 171; relations with European statesmen, 176; management of the cabal to displace Seward from Cabinet, 177-181; action concerning admission of West Virginia, 181, 182;

treatment of the secret Copperhead societies, 183-186; action in Vallandigham's case, 187-189; replies to Democratic protests, 189-194; orders and enforces a draft, 195-199; letter to James C. Conkling, August 26, 1863, 202; a master in the country, 209, 210; effect of the war upon his conduct, 211-213; distrusted and advised by the radicals, 214; Gettysburg dedication speech, 216; general views as to reconstruction, 217; appoints military governors, 218, 219; suggestions for Tennessee, 220; instructions to Governor Shepley as to Louisiana, 221; issues proclamation of amnesty, as part of message of December 8, 1863, 223-228; opinion on negro suffrage, 231; will not sign H. W. Davis's reconstruction bill, 233-236; remarks on reconstruction, April 11, 1865, 235; conference at City Point with Grant, Sherman, and Porter, 238, 239, 241, 242; comments on his plans for reconstruction, 243-245; renomination, 246 et seq.; hostility to him, 247-249; behavior at time of Chase's candidacy, 249-252; and to Chase subsequently, 253, 254; nominates Fessenden to succeed Chase, 254; relations towards Republicans of Missouri, 255; condemned by the Fremont party, 256; relations with the Abolitionists, 256-258; remark concerning Fremont's nomination, 259; concerning Grant's candidacy, 260; popular movement in his favor, 261; his own conduct, 262, 263; nominated, 264; action concerning vice-presidency, 264; remarks to committee, 265; feebly supported by politicians, 266; assailed by Greeley, 267 et seq.; sends Greeley to Canada, 269-271; trouble with war Democrats, 272, 273; disturbed by evil predictions of Raymond, 274; orders draft, 275; appoints Grant lieutenant-general, 277; refrains from interference with Grant, 278; credit given to him by Grant, 279; during Early's raid, 282; to Sherman, after Atlanta, 284; remark concerning election, 287; requests resignation of Blair, 288, 289; abstains from partisan interference in presidential campaign, 289, 290; but contradicts slanderous charges, 291; memorandum as to duty in case of defeat at polls, 292; election, 292; speeches to seceders, 293-295; reply to Tennesseans about executive interference in presidential election, 296; signs resolution of Congress as to counting votes

- of sundry seceded States, 296, 297; appoints Chase Chief Justice, 299; urged to open negotiations with J. Davis, 302-304; allows F. P. Blair to try this, 305, 306; at Hampton Roads conference, 307-309; scheme for peace, 310; second inaugural, 312; comments on Emancipation Proclamation, 316; efforts to secure constitutional amendment, 318-320; further comments on this and kindred topics, 321-325; appeals to Democrats to aid abolition amendment, 325; uses influence in Congress for same purpose, 326; endeavors to retain control concerning Lee's capitulation, 330; trip to City Point, the Hampton Roads Conference, 333, 334; enters Petersburg, 335; goes to Richmond, 336; annoyed by office-seekers, 342; vision of the double face, 342; threatened with assassination, 344; "Enemies! we must never speak of that!" 345; the assassination, 346-347; recognized as the best friend whom the South had, 349, 350.
- Lincoln, Mrs. Abraham (see Todd, Mary), domestic relations, i. 64, 65; alarmed at vision seen by her husband, ii. 343; anecdotes connected with assassination, 346.
- Lincoln, David J., i. 5 n.
- Lincoln, Francis H., i. 3 n.
- Lincoln, George, i. 5 n.
- Lincoln, Solomon, i. 3.
- Lincoln, Thomas, the president's father, i. 5, 6, 9-11, 24; moves to Illinois, 15.
- Logan, Stephen T., i. 68, 72, 78; partnership with Lincoln, 87; in Republican convention, 1860, 187.
- Longstreet, James, ii. 145; in Shenandoah Valley, 76; in Tennessee, 163; at Chickamauga, 164.
- Lookout Mountain, battle of, ii. 166, 167.
- Lossing, B. J., i. 384.
- Louisiana, secedes, i. 187; reconstruction in, ii. 221-223, 234, 238.
- Lovejoy, Owen, i. 297; tries to bring Lincoln to Abolitionism, 95; consequences, 97; concerning surrender of Mason and Slidell, 386; ii. 24; does not vote on Crittenden resolution, 4 n.; befriends Lincoln, politically, 257, 258.
- Lyon, Lord, i. 281; in matter of Mason and Slidell, 383, 384; ii. 175.
- Magruder, J. B., i. 297; at Yorktown, ii. 37, 39, 47.
- Mallory, B. R., i. 206.
- Malvern Hill, battle at, ii. 61.
- Maryland withheld from formal secession, i. 260-262.
- Mason, J. M., i. 224 n.; seized from on board the Trent, and subsequently released, 380-387.
- Matteson, Gov., i. 37.
- Maynard, H., i. 297; approves Lincoln's emancipation policy, ii. 27.
- McCall, Geo. A., ii. 59.
- McClellan, George B., i. 311 n., 360; assigned to command army of Potomac, 303; sketch of previous career, 303; in West Virginia, 304; his organization of the troops, 306; not responsible for Ball's Bluff, 308 n.; commander of all the armies, 310; disregards the civilian critics, 311, 313; opinion of the army, 312; and of the Southern army, 315; his plans and views, 317; discussions about a forward movement, via Manassas, 322, 323; contempt for Lincoln, 337 n.; the interview with McDowell and Franklin, 324, 325; plan for route of advance, 330; growing hostility against him, 331, 332; accused of being a traitor, and his own counter-suspicious, 331 n.; his plan repudiated, 332; his defense of it, 334, 335; lack of wisdom in adherence to his plan, 339, 340; vexed, 341; holds to his plan after John's withdrawal from Manassas, 342; reduced to command of army of Potomac, 343; compared with Buell, 352, 353; his career compared with that of Halleck, 365-367; promises to crush slave insurrection, ii. 8; renewal of discussion concerning route for advance, 31; action as to leaving troops to secure Washington, when he started for Peninsula, 33-36; arrives at Fortress Monroe, 36; his forces curtailed, 35, 36; before Yorktown, 37-39, 47; advances, 48; takes the York River route, 49; ordered to arrange for joining McDowell, 50, 51; deprived of the corps, 55; consequent situation, 58; lack of enterprise after Seven Pines and Fair Oaks, 59; rebuked, 60; withdrawal to James River, 61; insulting letter to Stanton, 62; desires to continue movement against Richmond, 64; ordered back from the Peninsula, 65-68; prediction about Pope, 78; accused of being dilatory, 78; reinstated, 80-82; interview with Lincoln, 83; campaign against Lee, resulting in battle of Antietam, 84-86; rebuked by the President, 88; removed, 92, 136; opposed to radical anti-slavery action, 103; remarks of Lincoln as to removal, 136; non-

- inated for presidency by Democrats, 266; repudiates peace plank in platform, 276, 287; injured by Confederate friendship, 287; defeated at the election, 292; Lincoln's opinion of him, 94 n.
- McClelland, J. A., i. 348.
- McClure, A. K., i. 237; ii. 94 n., 106, 204; on Lincoln's feeling about reconstruction, 238.
- McDougall, J. A., i. 297.
- McDowell, Irvin, i. 299; in the Bull Run campaign, 300, 301; at conference about advance of army in Virginia, 323-325; favors Lincoln's route, 330, 336; a corps-commander, 344; ii. 36, 37; subsequent views as to route, 32; during Peninsula Campaign, 36, 37, 39, 44, 45, 46, 48; plans for his jointer with McClellan, 49-53; withheld and sent against Jackson, 55; under orders of Pope, 74.
- McLean, John, candidate for presidential nomination, i. 163, 170.
- Meade, Geo. G., i. 306; commands in Virginia, ii. 146; at Gettysburg, 147, 148; in Virginia in autumn of 1863, 168, 169, 277; concerning secret disloyal societies at the North, 185; enters Petersburg, 335; during Lee's retreat, 339.
- Mediation, offers of, ii. 174.
- Meigs, M. C., concerning advance of army in Virginia, i. 324.
- Memminger, C. G., i. 206.
- Mercer, T., i. 247, 248.
- Mercier, M., ii. 175.
- Merrimac, the, i. 356, 357; influence on McClellan's choice of route, ii. 32; destroyed, 48.
- Merryman, J., habeas corpus case, i. 287.
- Mexico, war with, i. 74-77, 85, 86.
- "Mirror," The (of Manchester, N. H.), quoted, concerning Lincoln's speech, i. 156.
- Missouri Compromise, i. 83, 97, 101, 203; proposal to extend line of, 86, 90, 92; movement to repeal, 94, 95; language of repeal, 104; Douglas's aid in repealing, 107.
- Missouri, struggle to prevent formal secession, i. 269; the fighting in, 349.
- Mobile, fall of, ii. 285.
- Monitor, the, i. 356, 357.
- Morgan, E. D., introduces constitutional amendment for emancipation into Republican platform, ii. 319, 320.
- Morton, O. P., and secret disloyal societies, ii. 184, 185; anxious about Republican prospects in presidential campaign, 1804, 274.
- Nagle, H. M., i. 336.
- Napoleon, Emperor Louis, agreement with English foreign office about the United States, i. 371; offers mediation, ii. 174.
- Nebraska territorial bill, i. 93; amendments repealing Missouri Compromise, 94, 95.
- Negro suffrage, Lincoln's opinion about, ii. 231.
- Negro troops, bill for enlisting, ii. 15-17; carried into good effect, 17, 18; touched upon in proclamation of emancipation, 132; Confederate threats against, 133; results of enlisting, 206, 207.
- Nesmith, J. W., i. 297.
- New Mexico, i. 86, 88, 91.
- New Orleans, capture of, i. 357, 358.
- Nicolay (J. G.) and Hay (John), Life of Lincoln, i. 55 n., 60 n., 94 n., 201, 319 n.; that Lincoln was "clean of speech," 29 n.; concerning his love affairs, 49 n.; his marriage, 60 n.; his duel, 66 n.; that he was the "choice of the American people," 178, 179; ii. 77 n., 215, 244 n., 259, 335 n.; that Lincoln used no influence concerning selection of nominee for vice-presidency in 1864, 264; concerning Blair's removal, 289.
- Offut, Denton, employs Lincoln, i. 16-18, 20.
- Oglesby, R. J., i. 162.
- Omnibus bill, i. 90-92.
- Order of American Knights, ii. 183 et seq.
- Order of the Star, ii. 183 et seq.
- Ordinance of 1787, i. 82, 83.
- Ordinances of Secession, of South Carolina, i. 184; of other States prior to Lincoln's accession, 186, 187; of Virginia, 262, 263, 292; of Tennessee, 268; of North Carolina and Arkansas, 269.
- Oreto, the privateer, ii. 172.
- Owens, Mary, Lincoln's love-affair with, i. 48.
- Palfrey, F. W., i. 822 n.
- Palmerston, Lord, concerning case of Mason and Slidell, i. 883.
- Patterson, E., in Virginia, before battle of Bull Run, i. 299-301.
- Peace Congress, its labors and failure, i. 293, 294; calls on Lincoln, 218.
- Pemberton, J. C., surrenders Vicksburg, ii. 160.
- Pendleton, G. H., i. 297.
- Penrose, C. B., story of Lincoln's entry into Richmond, ii. 337.
- Peters, Governor, i. 204.
- Petersburg captured, ii. 335.

- Phillips, W., i. 113; advocates yielding to secessionists, 195, 207, 231; sneers at Lincoln, 173, 177; favors movement to make Fremont President, ii. 256.
- Pickens, F. W., governor of South Carolina, advice to Buchanan, i. 185.
- Pickens, Fort, expedition against, i. 247.
- Pierce, F., elected President, i. 93; suggested for same office in 1856, 101; Lincoln's remarks about him, in debates of 1858, 127-129.
- Pierpont, F. H., governor of Virginia, ii. 216.
- Pillow, massacre at Fort, ii. 143.
- "Pine Street meeting," the, i. 194.
- Pinkerton, A., in connection with Lincoln's journey to Washington, i. 212, 213, 217 n.
- Pittsburg Landing, battle at, i. 361.
- Polk, J. K., elected President, i. 71; concerning Mexican War, i. 74, 85, 86.
- Pomeroy, S. C., i. 297; assists movement to make Chase President, ii. 251.
- Pope, John, i. 355, 364; advises withdrawal from Peninsula, ii. 65; in command in Virginia, 74; his proclamation, 75; his campaign, ending in second battle of Bull Run, 75-80; unpopularity, 75, 83.
- Port Hudson, capture of, ii. 162, 167.
- Porter, Andrew, i. 336.
- Porter, David D., at Vicksburg, ii. 159; at conference of Lincoln, Grant, and Sherman, 238; concerning Sherman-Johnston capitulation, 242.
- Porter, Fitz John, i. 336; ii. 51, 62, 79.
- Porter, Lieut., i. 247, 248.
- Powell, L. W., opposes Lincoln's emancipation policy, ii. 23.
- Privateers, ii. 172, and see under respective names.
- Rathbone, H. R., at Lincoln's assassination, ii. 347.
- Raymond, Henry J., i. 8 n.; anxious about Republican prospects, ii. 274; and proposes mission to J. Davis, 274, 275.
- Reagan, J. H., i. 206.
- Richardson, W. A., i. 362.
- Richmond, the rebel capital, i. 264; captured, ii. 335; Lincoln's visit to, 336, 337.
- Richmond "Enquirer," the, i. 119 n.
- Riot in New York city about draft, ii. 197.
- Ropes, J. C., ii. 78, n., 199, n.
- Rosecrans, W. S., ii. 169; in Kentucky and Tennessee, 155; vexes Lincoln, 156; at Stone's River, 155; pursues Bragg, 156, 157; inactivity, 163; at Chickamauga, 164, 165; removed, 166.
- Russell, Earl, sentiments towards United States, i. 371 et seq., 376; in the matter of Mason and Slidell, 383; comments on Emancipation Proclamation, ii. 132; concerning the "Alabama," 173.
- Rutledge, Ann, Lincoln's love affair with, i. 44.
- Saulsbury, W., i. 297.
- Savannah, the privateer, crew of, i. 375 n.
- Saxton, Rufus, allowed to enlist negroes, ii. 17.
- Schofield, J. M., ii. 241, 255; meets Sherman at Goldsboro, 332.
- Schurz, Carl, ii. 263.
- Scott, Dred, decision in case of, i. 103, 107; comments on his case in Lincoln-Douglas joint debates, 126, 129, 130, 141, 142; also in Lincoln's speech at Cooper Institute, 154.
- Scott, Winfield, i. 78, 93, 203, 211, 259, 286, 287; suggests dividing the country, 191, 207; concerning the counting of the electoral vote, and reinforcement of forts, 207, 208; connection with Lincoln's journey to Washington, 213; at the inauguration, 213, 220; opinion about Fort Sumter, 244; prepares to defend Washington, 255; endeavors to retain Lee for the Union, 263; relations with McClellan, and retirement, 310.
- Seaton, W. W., i. 80.
- Secession. See Ordinances.
- Seaman, Raphael, ii. 173.
- Seven Pines, battle at, ii. 58, 59.
- Seward, F. W., i. 213, 215.
- Seward, William H., i. 106, 113, 161, 193, 211, 323; and Compromise of 1850, 96; before Republican nominating convention, 1860, 166-170, 172; weakness of his position in autumn, 1860, 197, 231; why he did not receive nomination; 173; connection with Lincoln's journey to Washington, 213, 214; proclaims "irrepressible conflict," 223, and see 119 n.; letter to G. F. Adams, April 10, 1861, 231; in Cabinet, 234, 235; effort to withdraw, March 2, 1861, 237; dealings with Confederate commissioners, 238-240; opinions about Fort Sumter, 239, 245, 246, 248-250; settlement of supremacy between Lincoln and him, by his strange proposition and the - reply thereto, 276-280; prefers blockade to closing ports, 284; attitude towards England, 371; his draft of instructions to Mr. C. F. Adams, 373-375; first impression concerning case of Mason and Slidell, 381, 382; insulted by the London "Times," 384; ii. 330; beloved by Abolitionists, 98; suggestions concerning Emancipation Proclamation, 115; contribution to final proclamation, 131; dispatch to Emperor Napoleon, 174; effort to drive him from Cabinet, 177-181; an enemy of M. Blair, 288; remarks misconstrued, 300; at Hampton Roads Conference, 306-309; effort to assassinate, 351.

- Seymour, Horatio, governor of New York, ii. 124, 202; concerning Vallandigham's arrest, 190; concerning the draft and the riot, 197, 198.
- Shackford, S., concerning Lincoln genealogy, i. 3, 5.
- Shellabarger, S., i. 297.
- Shenandoah, the privateer, ii. 300.
- Shepley, G. F., military governor of Louisiana, ii. 219 n.; concerning reconstruction, 221.
- Sheridan, F. H., ii. 73; placed in command by Grant, beats Early, 285, 286; at Five Forks, 334; encounters Lee retreating from Richmond, 338, 339.
- Sherman, John, i. 296; on Sherman-Johnston capitulation, ii. 24 n.
- Sherman, T. W., at Port Royal, ii. 8.
- Sherman, W. T., i. 365; ii. 73 276; at Vicksburg, 158; afterward, 162; at Missionary Ridge, 165-167; afterward, 167; at conference with Lincoln, Grant, and Porter at Hampton Roads, 238, 239-241, 333, 334; his terms with Johnston rejected, 239, 240; resentment against Stanton, 241; defense, 241, 242; beats Hood, and captures Atlanta, 284; march to the sea, 301; marching northward, defeats Johnston, 332.
- Shields, J. A., challenges Lincoln, i. 65; candidate for Congress, 96-98.
- Shiloh, battle of, i. 361; the Grant's whiskey anecdote, ii. 161.
- Short, J., aids Lincoln, i. 42.
- Sickles, D. E., suggests secession of New York city, i. 197.
- Sigel, F., ii. 74.
- Slidell, John, seizure and release, i. 380-387.
- Smith, Caleb B., i. 170, 234.
- Smith, W. F., i. 336.
- Smoot, Coleman, i. 43.
- Sons of Liberty, ii. 183, et seq.
- Speed, Joshua, Lincoln to, i. 17; friendly turn to Lincoln, 63.
- Spottsylvania, ii. 280.
- Sprague, W., ii. 252.
- Stanley, Edward, military governor of North Carolina, ii. 219 n.
- Stanton, Edwin M., in Buchanan's Cabinet, i. 198, 200; and General Stone, 309; appointment to Lincoln's Cabinet, 326; previous relationship with Lincoln, 326, 327; character, 327, 328; assumes general management of war, 343; praises Wilkes for capture of Mason and Slidell, 381; ii. 32, 169; orders recruiting to be stopped, 41; McClellan's letter to, 62; becomes hostile to McClellan, 65; opposes restoring McClellan to command, 81; action concerning Sherman's capitulation with Johnston, 240, 241; during Early's raid, 282; objects to Sheridan, 285; an enemy of M. Blair, 288; forces military protection upon Lincoln, 344; probably included in assassination plot, 351.
- Stephens, A. H., i. 74; an opinion, 183; speech for Union, 187; vice-president of Confederacy, 205; denies plot for seizure of Washington, 209; Lincoln's letter to, 211; on Southern position in connection with slavery, 223 n.; attempt to meet Lincoln, ii. 152, 153; commissioner for peace, 306-309.
- Stevens, Thaddeus, i. 297; will not vote for Crittenden resolutions, ii. 4 n.; assails Lincoln's emancipation policy, 22; derides the Constitution, 109, 182; on admission of West Virginia, 182; hostility to Lincoln, 248, 266.
- Stone, C. P., at Ball's Bluff, and afterward, i. 308, 309.
- Stone's River, battle of, ii. 155.
- Stuart, J. E. B., foray around McClellan's army, ii. 60; second foray, 87.
- Stuart, John T., partner of Lincoln, i. 56; partnership dissolved, 67.
- Sumner, Charles, i. 106, 113, 296; assaulted by Brooks, 100; does not vote for Crittenden's resolutions, ii. 4 n.
- Sumner, Gen. E. V., connection with Lincoln's journey to Washington, i. 213; opposes McClellan's plan of advance, 336; corps commander, 344; later views as to route for advance in Virginia, ii. 32; during Peninsula Campaign, 44.
- Sumter, Fort, story of siege and capture, i. 239-250.
- Surratt, John H., ii. 353.

- Surratt, Mary E., in assassination conspiracy, ii. 350, 353.
- Swinton, William, i. 314, 339; ii. 40, 54, 55, 60, 61, 66, 141, 146, 148, 149.
- Taney, R. B., in case of Dred Scott, i. 103, 104; criticised by Lincoln in joint debates of 1858, 127-129; at Lincoln's inauguration, 220; in the Merryman case, 287-289; death, ii. 299.
- Tatnall, Josiah, ii. 49.
- Taylor, R., i. 59; ii. 278 n.
- Taylor, Zachary, i. 73, 75, 78, 88.
- Tennessee, secedes, i. 268; loyalty in Eastern parts, 268, 351-353; reconstruction in, ii. 219-221, 296-298.
- Texas, i. 76, 78, 85, 91.
- Thirteenth Constitutional Amendment, ii. 328 n.; first effort to pass it through Congress, 318, 319; in Republican platform, 320; indorsed by the people, 324; Lincoln's appeal for, 325; passage by Congress, 326, 327; ratified by States, 327; language of, 328.
- Thomas, G. H., at Chickamauga, ii. 164; at Chattanooga, 166; beats Hood, 301, 302.
- Thomas, L., as to defense of Washington, ii. 40, 42.
- Thomas, P. F., in Buchanan's Cabinet, i. 196; resigns, 200.
- Thompson, Jacob, in Buchanan's Cabinet and a secessionist commissioner, i. 188; resignation, 200.
- Thompson, Samuel, i. 36.
- "Times," The (of London), concerning Mason and Slidell, i. 383, 384.
- Tod, David, ii. 254.
- Todd, Mary, Lincoln's courtship and marriage, i. 62-65; cause of the Shields-Lincoln duel, 66.
- Toombs, Robert, i. 74; secessionist intrigues in Georgia, 186; acknowledges himself a traitor, 205; in Davis's Cabinet, 206; on the Southern position in connection with slavery, 223 n.
- Toucey, Isaac, in Buchanan's Cabinet, i. 188.
- Treaty of Paris, i. 375-377.
- Trent, case of the, i. 380-385.
- "Tribune," The (New York), i. 155, 206; early hostility to Lincoln, 112; attitude in autumn of 1860, 191-193, 260; prayer of 20,000,000 of people, ii. 105-109; manifesto against Lincoln, 235.
- Trumbull, Lyman, i. 68, 296; candidate for Senate, 97; ii. 238 n.; bill to confiscate slaves, 14.
- Tucker, John, transports army down Potomac, ii. 36.
- Twenty-second joint rule, ii. 298.
- Tyler, John, i. 61.
- Vallandigham, C. L., arrest and subsequent proceedings, ii. 185-193; defeated in candidacy for governorship of Ohio, 193, 194, 202; inserts peace plank in Democratic platform, 276.
- Vicksburg, assaulted by Farragut, ii. 359; Grant's campaign against, ii. 157-162, 167.
- Virginia, struggle to prevent her formal secession, i. 262-265.
- Virginia, the rebel ram. See Merrimac.
- Voorhees, D. W., i. 297.
- Wade, B. F., i. 296; snubbed by McClellan, 311; thinks country is "going to hell," ii. 104; manifesto against Lincoln, 235, 236; hostility to Lincoln, 266.
- Wadsworth, J. S., concerning defense of Washington, ii. 34, 40, 42.
- Walker, I. G., i. 206.
- Walworth, Chancellor, political attitude autumn of 1860, i. 194.
- Washburne, E. B., i. 98, 116, 210, 214, 297; anxious about Republican prospects, 272.
- Webb, A. S., i. 314 n., 336; ii. 39, 40, 43, 61, 68.
- Webster, D., i. 106; and Compromise of 1850, 90.
- Weed, Thurlow, in Republican Convention, 1860, for nominating candidates for Presidency, i. 167; weakens in autumn of 1860, 193.
- Weitzel, G., enters Richmond, ii. 235.
- Wells, Gideon, in Cabinet, i. 234; in matter of Fort Sumter and the Pensacola, 245-247; would close Southern ports, 284; praises Wilke, 381, 382 n.; criticises Lincoln's scheme for conciliation, ii. 310.
- West Virginia, admission of, ii. 181, 182, 218; her electoral vote counted, 298.
- White, Hugh L., i. 50.
- Whitehead, S., i. 36.
- Wide-awake clubs, i. 174.
- Wigfall, L. T., i. 196.
- Wilderness, fight in the, ii. 280.
- Wilke, Charles, takes Mason and Slidell from the Trent, i. 380; opinions of his action, 381, 385.
- Wilmot, David, i. 74, 86, 296.
- Wilmot Proviso, i. 79, 86-88.
- Wilson, Henry, i. 113, 137 n., 296; prefers Douglas to Lincoln, 116; ii. 17; bill for emancipation in District of Columbia, 11; urges removal of Blair, 288.

INDEX.

373

- Winthrop, R. C., i. 73.
Wood, Fernando, mayor of New York city, suggests its secession, i. 197; schemes for compromise, ii. 152.
Wool, John E., at Fortres Monroe, spring of 1862, ii. 36, 45.
- Wright, H. G., repels Early's raid on Washington, ii. 283.
Yorktown, operations before, ii. 37-39, 47.
Yulee, David L., i. 204.