

10005

AMERICA CAN BE SELF-CONTAINED

IN these days of international enmity and bitterness, it is the fortunate nation which can stand alone.

For the first time, says Samuel Crowther, America is practically self-contained and can and should depend upon her own resources.

There is scarcely one important commodity we need import. We can even produce rubber synthetically. We have the inventors, the research chemists, the machines, the raw materials that will enable us to compete with all nations.

We have the highest purchasing power of any people and by reason of our high standards of living, we are the greatest consumers of American goods.

339.4973
978

Dhananjayrao Gadgil Library

GIPE-PUNE-010005

America Self-Contained

Books by
SAMUEL CROWTHER

A Basis for Stability

American Rowing

America Self-Contained

Common Sense and Labour

Men and Rubber

(With Harvey S. Firestone)

Moving Forward

(With Henry Ford)

My Life and Work

(With Henry Ford)

The Book of Business

The First Million the Hardest

(With A. B. Farquhar)

The Life of John H. Patterson

The Presidency Vs. Hoover

The Romance and Rise of the American Tropics

Today and Tomorrow

(With Henry Ford)

Why Men Strike

AMERICA SELF-CONTAINED

By SAMUEL CROWTHER

MCMXXXIII

Doubleday, Doran & Company, Inc.
Garden City, New York

PRINTED AT THE Country Life Press, GARDEN CITY, N. Y., U. S. A.

X. 73. N. 3

10005

COPYRIGHT, 1933
BY SAMUEL CROWTHER
ALL RIGHTS RESERVED

FIRST EDITION

Foreword

I wish gratefully to acknowledge the courtesy of Mr. George Horace Lorimer—who has led in the movement toward constructive, economic nationalism—in permitting some material originally developed by me in the Saturday Evening Post to be incorporated in this book without specific credit.

SAMUEL CROWTHER

Contents

CHAPTER		PAGE
I	Half Slave—Half Free?	I
II	George Washington's Suit	20
III	The Nature of Our Trade and Freedom	44
IV	The Great Awakening	69
V	The Winning of Freedom	93
VI	Cæsar Drunk	109
VII	The Bankers' Crusade	125
VIII	Rich Man, Poor Man	151
IX	The Free-Trade Myth	164
X	The Passing of International Trade	183
XI	The War Debt Hoax	206
XII	An American Policy	229
XIII	What Remains with Us	248
XIV	The Balance	268
XV	The Home Market	289
XVI	The Price of Internationalism	310
XVII	The United States—a Nation	328