INTRODUCTION	II
SELECT LIST OF SOURCES WITH REFERENCE NUMBERS USED IN THE TEXT	15

PART I

CHAPTER I

THE GROWTH OF TECHNICAL EFFICIENCY	19
The Industrial Revolution—The Measure of Efficiency—The Use of Scientific Invention—The Division of Labour—The Factory and the Factory Town—Big Business—The Capitalist System—The Scope of Industry.

CHAPTER II

THE LABOUR PROBLEM	48
Labour as a Commodity—Labour Demand and Supply—The Earnings of Labour—Life at the Poverty Line—Conditions of Employment—Type of Work and Type of Worker—Hours and Intensity of Work—Physical Environment and Incentives.

CHAPTER III

SOLUTIONS OF THE PROBLEM	76
The Rise and Fall of Laissez-faire —The Labour Movement—State Control in Industry—The Plan of Scientific Management—Scientific Management and Labour.

CHAPTER IV

THE THEORY OF FATIGUE AND UNREST	96
The "Human Factor," "Fatigue" and "Unrest"—Theory and Investigation—The Cost and Control of Human Inefficiency—The Adjustment of Industrial Conditions—The Scheme of Investigation in Practice—The Need for Joint Control—The Plan of Informed Joint Control.

8 ECONOMICS OF FATIGUE AND UNREST

PART II

CHAPTER V

	PAGE
THE BUSINESS COSTS OF INDUSTRIAL INEFFICIENCY	127
Business Costs and Real Costs—Overhead Costs Analysed—The Importance of Overhead Costs—The Industrial Balance Sheet.

CHAPTER VI

THE LOSS BY LABOUR TURNOVER	137
A. The Cost of Turnover	137
A General Analysis—The Factor of Reduced Production—A Summary of Costs.
B. The Average Loss by Turnover	146
American Experience—English Experience—Experiences Compared—The Aggregate Cost of Average Experience.
C. The Minimum Loss by Turnover	160
D. Conditions of Excessive Loss	163
§ 1. Effect of Different Physical Working Conditions and Types of Work	163
§ 2. Effect of Organized Employment Policy	167
§ 3. Effect of Employees' Length of Service	169
§ 4. Effect of Type, Experience and Wages of Workers Employed	174

CHAPTER VII

THE LOSS BY ABSENCE	179
A. The Cost of Absence	179
B. The Average Loss by Absence	185
§ 1. Full Absence	185
§ 2. Lateness	189
§ 3. Time Lost by Strike and Lockout	190
C. Minimum Loss by Unavoidable Absence	192
§ 1. Insufficient Evidence of Factory Records	193
§ 2. Sources and Limits of Unavoidable Absence	195
§ 3. Absence from Industrial Accidents	197
§ 4. Absence from Sickness	200
§ 5. Supplement and Summary	203
D. Conditions of Excessive Loss	206
§ 1. Effect of Hours and Other Working Conditions	206
§ 2. Effect of Sex, Living Conditions and Affiliations of Workers Employed	209

CHAPTER VIII

	PAGE
THE LOSS BY DEFICIENCY OF OUTPUT	212
A. Cost of Deficient Output	214
BC. Average and Minimum Loss by Deficient Output	218
The Existence of Variation—Individual Variations—Daily and Hourly Variations.
D. Conditions of Excessive Loss	225
§ 1. The General Effect of Changed Hours of Work	225
§ 2. The Cyclical Effect of Continuous Hours and Days of Work	233
§ 3. Effect of Different Methods of Work and of Rhythm	241
§ 4. Effect of Physical Environment and Night Work	248
§ 5. Effect of Methods of Wage Payment and Other Incentives	253
§ 6. Effect of Type and Living Conditions of Worker Employed	259

CHAPTER IX

THE LOSS BY DEFECTIVE OUTPUT	264
The Cost of Defective Output—Effect of Hours of Work—Effect of Type of Work, Incentives and Other Conditions.

CHAPTER X

THE LOSS BY INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS	274
A. The Cost of an Industrial Accident	275
B. The Average Loss by Industrial Accidents	280
American Experience—English Experience.
C. Minimum Loss by Industrial Accidents	286
The Theoretical Minimum—The Practical Minimum.
D. Conditions of Excessive Loss	292
§ 1. Effect of Hours of Work	292
§ 2. Effect of Social and Physical Working Conditions	296
§ 3. Effect of the Experience, Literacy and Type of Worker Employed	299

CHAPTER XI

THE LOSS BY INDUSTRIAL ILL-HEALTH	302
A. Cost of Industrial Ill-health	303
BC. Average and Minimum Industrial Ill-health	306
§ 1. Physical Deterioration	306
§ 2. The Industrial Death Rate	309

10 ECONOMICS OF FATIGUE AND UNREST

	PAGE
§ 3. Superannuation and Invalidity	314
§ 4. Comparative Rates of Sickness	316
§ 5. Rates of Insured Sickness	319
§ 6. The Occupational Diseases	325
D. Conditions of Excessive Loss by Industrial Ill-health	328
§ 1. The Effect of Adjusting Hours of Work	328
§ 2. Effect of Different Types of Work and Physical Working Conditions	331
§ 3. Effect of Medical Supervision in the Factory	335
§ 4. Effect of Employment of Various Types of Worker	338
§ 5. Effect of Poor Wages and Living Conditions	342

CHAPTER XII

THE SIGNIFICANCE OF FATIGUE AND UNREST	347
The Findings of Statistical Investigation summed up	348
The Intermediacy of Human Fatigue and Unrest	356
The Findings of Test and Questionnaire	365
The Scope of Fatigue and Unrest	383
A Policy of Record-Keeping	389

PART III

CHAPTER XIII

THE RECORD OF LABOUR LOSSES	397
Measurement of Labour Turnover—Measurement of Absence— Measurement of Output—Measurement of Accidents—Measure- ment of Sickness.

CHAPTER XIV

THE RECORD OF INDUSTRIAL CONDITIONS	408
The Employee File—The Survey of Working Conditions.

The Prospects of Industrial Civilization

BY BERTRAND AND DORA RUSSELL

Cr. 8vo.

7s. 6d.

"Mr. Russell is one of the most brilliantly clever among living Englishmen. . . . He gives us plenty to think about, and has blurted out certain things which many are thinking, but which few care to put into words."
—DEAN INGE in Evening Standard.

Representative Government and a Parliament of Industry

Cr. 8vo.

BY H. FINER, M.Sc.

7s. 6d.

This book is the result of investigations on the spot into the work of the German Economic Council by one of the lecturers of the London School of Economics. It gives a detailed account of the work of the German Economic Council and discusses the whole problem of a Parliament of Industry in relation to English Political Institutions.

Stabilisation

An Economic Policy for Producers and Consumers

Cr. 8vo.

BY E. M. H. LLOYD

4s. 6d.

"A book which pioneers, breaks fresh ground and sows the seed of policies."—New Leader.

The Economics of Unemployment

By

J. A. HOBSON

Cr. 8vo.

4s. 6d.

"Combines once more the rare virtues of conciseness, clearness and authority. . . . The book demands, by the clearness of its exposition and the persuasiveness of its argument, the careful attention of everyone concerned over the serious problem with which it deals."—Manchester Guardian.

The Truth About Mesopotamia, Palestine and Syria

BY J. DE V. LODER

WITH A FOREWORD BY LORD ROBERT CECIL

Cr. 8vo.

7s. 6d.

"A lucid account of a very tangled piece of history, free from the distortions of special pleading, and including the texts of a number of highly important documents."—New Statesman.

Russia and Peace

Cr. 8vo.

BY DR. FRIDTJOF NANSEN

5s.

"A book that only a man of great ability, absolute honesty, and complete absorption in a big, impersonal task could have written. This small book by a great man should be widely read."—New Leader.

Poland and Peace

BY COUNT ALEXANDER SKRZYNSKI

(Late Foreign Minister of Poland)

La. Cr. 8vo.

6s.

The writer of this book was Polish Minister in Rumania almost from the beginning of new Poland up to the end of 1922. He was one of the principal authors of the alliance between Rumania and Poland. Appointed Foreign Minister in the Cabinet of General Sikorski, he may be regarded as the exponent of Polish Liberal Foreign Policy. It is chiefly due to his efforts that the frontiers between Russia and Poland were finally recognized by the Allied Powers. This book is not written for purposes of propaganda, but to explain the principal objects of Liberal policy in Poland, both in foreign and home affairs. These objects have as their aim the establishment of a durable peace on the Continent based upon a close relationship with England. The author, though striving to be impartial, shows clearly enough his own strong sympathies with the English people and his belief in the civilizing influences that Great Britain exercises in world affairs.

Studies in Polish Life and History

BY A. E. TENNANT, F.E.I.S.

Demy 8vo.

10s. 6d.

This book surveys comprehensively Polish history (largely from the constitutional side); Polish commerce, industry, agriculture, modes of life, music and literature, from their beginnings until the present day. Though sympathetically written, it is not propagandist.

A Short History of International Intercourse

By C. DELISLE BURNS

Cr. 8vo.

Cloth, 5s.; Paper, 3s. 6d.

This book is supplementary to the histories used in schools and universities. It should be useful, therefore, to all teachers; and for the general reader it provides a comprehensive view of the contributions which the different nations have made to the civilization of the world. It explains the growth of our arts and sciences without the discussions of purely political and economic issues, and without the traditional emphasis upon war. It shows what peace has meant in the intercourse between peoples.

The World-Struggle for Oil

By PIERRE L'ESPAGNOL DE LA TRAMERYE

Demy 8vo. TRANSLATED BY C. LEONARD LEESE 10s. 6d.

"Oil is Empire." Just as the British Empire was built up on its coal-fields, so the Empires of the future will be founded upon possession of oil. Thus the most vital factor in world-politics to-day is the struggle for control of oil supplies. In this important book, which has reached its third edition in the original French, M. L'Espagnol de la Tramerye tells the story of the rise of the great oil trusts from their humble beginnings to the dominating position which they now occupy in world affairs. He traces the rivalry between Britain, Germany, and the United States before the War, and lifts the veil from the almost secret struggle which has been fought—and is still undecided—between Britain, the United States, and France since the War ended. The book has been revised to include an account of the negotiations with Russia at the Genoa Conference and subsequently, and is furnished with the most recent statistics dealing with the different aspects of the subject.

State Experiments in New Zealand

BY THE HON. WILLIAM PEMBER REEVES

Demy 8vo.

2 Vols., 21s.

A reprint of this standard work, which has now been out of print for some time. It gives a full and connected account of the more interesting experiments in law and administration in New Zealand during the years 1881 to 1902.

Elements of Vital Statistics

By SIR ARTHUR NEWSHOLME, K.C.B., M.D.

Late Principal Medical Officer of the Local Government Board (England) and Lecturer in Public Health in Johns Hopkins University, U.S.A.

Demy 8vo.

24s.

This work was first published in 1889 and re-written in 1899, since when, owing to the official engagements of the author, no new edition has been prepared, and the book has been allowed to go out of print. The new edition will be substantially a new work.

The subject divides itself naturally into consideration of the data of vital statistics, their compilation, and their interpretation; and under each of these headings the needs of physicians, public health officers and social workers will be carefully met, and numerous illustrations given of statistical errors and the methods for avoiding them.

All prices are net.
