W. M. FLETCHER,
Superintendent, Deccan Revenue Survey.

No. 1879 or 1889.

Ahmednagar Collector's Office, 2nd April 1889.

Forwarded to the Commissioner, C. D., through the Survey and Settlement Commissioner. The Collector has no special remarks to offer; as regards the proposals made by Mr. Fletcher there is no reason why the villages referred to should not be admitted to the same concession as to remissions as other villages in the two talukas which are included within the scope of the Secretary of State's orders.

2. If any objections are received they will be separately dealt with.

G. WADDINGTON, Collector.

No. 824 or 1889.

Camp Mahabaleshwar, 23rd April 1889.

Forwarded to Government through the Commissioner, C. D.

2. This correspondence has reference to 13 villages now included in the Sangamner Taluka of the Ahmednagar District and 6 villages belonging to the Kopargaon Taluka of the same district. These villages were originally settled between the years 1851-52 and 1856-57 on rates corresponding with those which had been shortly before applied to the surrounding villages. When the bulk of the villages of these talukas were resettled under the Government Resolutions

No. 1699 of 19th March 1875.

noted in the margin the 19 villages now dealt with were not ripe for revision. Now, however, the opportunity is taken to revise their rates also according to the pitch of assessment adopted at the general revision, and to prevent future confusion the proposed rates of these villages if sanctioned will be guaranteed up to such date as will cause them to expire simultaneously with the rates for the rest of the villages of the taluka to which they belong. Thus the year of the expiry of the rates for all the Sangamner and Kopargaon villages will be 1904-5.

3. Mr. Fletcher has collected and commented upon the statistics usually quoted in a revision settlement report to illustrate the progress of the villages in wealth and resources during the expired settlement. Of course in the case of villages scattered over the face of two talukas, as these are, the degree of prosperity evidenced by the figures varies to some extent, but the results in general are satisfactory. Mr. Fletcher has remarked on the trivial falling off in the number of working cattle as the most unsatisfactory feature of the returns; but when we look at column 8 of Appendices K to O, and observe the rapid rate at which the means of providing grazing for cattle in arable assessed waste has decreased, we can scarcely wonder that the tendency has been to retain only those cattle which are necessary for tillage and to part with those which are superfluous. The loss of cattle in the famine of 1876-77 must have gone far to confirm this tendency. It is satisfactory, however, to know that notwithstanding the decrease the number of oxen now available in these villages is quite sufficient for the ordinary purposes of tillage.

4. The application of the maximum rates proposed by Mr. Fletcher in his paragraph 12 will place these villages on the same level as they would have occupied if they had been revised with the villages adjoining in the years 1875 to 1881. Although for seven or eight years subsequent to the famine the condition of the Kopargaon and Sangamner Talukas gave cause for grave anxiety, and special measures of relief had to be adopted, recent circumstances enable us to apply to these isolated villages the same standard of rating as was applied to the taluka generally with considerably greater confidence.

5. It will be remembered that in 1880, in consideration of the distress which followed in the wake of the famine, a remission of part of the enhanced assessment in all revision settlements was ordered by the Secretary of State in his despatch No. 45, Revenue, of 11th November 1880. This remission was to last three years from 1880-81 and was arranged so as to bring down the enhancement caused by revision to about 20 per cent advance on the old assessment. In pursuance of these orders the revised rates in these talukas were reduced, each holding in Kopargaon having a reduction of 1 anna 6 pies per rupee of assessment and in Sangamner 1 anna. At the expiration of three years a report was called for as to whether the revised rates should be reverted to in full or not; but in consideration of the extraordinary run of unfavourable seasons to which these tracts had been exposed, it was finally determined after a lengthy correspondence (vide Government Resolution No. 7603 of 19th September 1885) that the reduction which had been originally made in accordance with the Secretary of State's wishes should be continued until the expiration of the period for which the revised rates had been guaranteed. Thus the remissions originally intended to be temporary became a regular part of the revised settlement.

6. The question now arises whether the 19 villages to be brought under settlement which did not come under the Secretary of State's remission scheme at all owing to their having not been revised in 1880, should have the remissions applied to them for the sake of uniformity when they are brought under revision. Mr. Fletcher and Mr. Waddington are in favour of extending the remissions to them also; and although, as they have had the benefit of the lighter original rates during a period when the country suffered much from failure of crops, they cannot claim the concession as of right, I am of opinion that it will be well to equalize the rates for the term of the guarantee over the whole talukas. In view of the next revision of rates it is important that there should be as little divergence as possible in the standards of rating existing in the villages of these talukas, while to have a few scattered villages under different terms of settlement would only prove embarrassing when we come to re-arrange the assessments at the expiration of the lease. I would not consider this of itself as a sufficient reason for extending the remissions; but the whole country comprised in these talukas has been unusually unfortunate in its experiences subsequent to the famine, and cultivation in the villages which are now proposed for revision has been attended with the same struggles and difficulties which have been common to those which have been revised from the outset.

7. The increase of revenue which will be realized by the application of these rates is Rs. 6,668, of which Rs. 1,939 will be added to the revenue demand of Kopargaon and Rs. 4,729 to that of Sangamner. With the remissions, however, forming part of the revision scheme the enhancement on these villages will be reduced to about Rs. 5,060 which would be a reasonable rate of enhancement even if the villages we are settling were comprised in a whole taluka. But we cannot treat this settlement as one of a taluka or group of villages even as, with the exception of 4, which happen to lie together, the villages are isolated and each has had its maximum rate already sanctioned for the villages adjoining. We must be content, I think, with the assurance that with the exception of 3 villages, the rates for which are owing to increased dry-crop cultivation unavoidably raised beyond the limit prescribed for single villages, the enhancements of assessment are fair and reasonable and will be still more reasonable when the prevailing scheme of remissions is applied to the assessments of holdings.

8. If these proposals meet with the approval of Government, the revised rates will be announced to the villagers during the current revenue year with guarantee up to 1904-5 in both talukas. The period for receiving resignations under Section 74 of the Land Revenue Code should be extended for this year as a special case until 15th July.

Forwarded to Government with compliments.

2. As these 19 villages, belonging to the Kopargaon and Sangamner Tálukas, resemble in climate and physical features the villages which adjoin them, and which have already been brought under the Revision Settlement, it seems only just and fair to apply to them now the rates which have been in force in the neighbouring villages for 8 and 11 years, and to give them the concession of a remission of part of the enhanced settlement which the other villages, already revised, in the above-mentioned tálukas are enjoying, and to guarantee the rates up to 1904-5, when the rates in all the villages of the Kopargaon and Sangamner Tálukas will expire simultaneously.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

Bombay Castle, 12th June 1889.

Memorandum from the Commissioner, C. D., No. R.—2153, dated 2nd May 1889—Submitting the papers noted in the margin containing proposals for the revision settlement of 13 villages of the Sangamner Táluka and 6 of the Kopargaon Táluka of the Ahmednagar District.

Letter from the Superintendent, Deccan Revenue Survey, No. 478, dated 9th March 1889.
 Memorandum from the Collector of Ahmednagar, No. 1879, dated 2nd April 1889.
 Memorandum from the Survey and Settlement Commissioner, No. 824, dated 23rd April 1889.

RESOLUTION.—Proposals are submitted for the revision survey settlement of 19 scattered villages, of which 13 are situated in the Sangamner and 6 in the Kopargaon Táluka of the Ahmednagar District. In all cases the term of the original settlement has expired.

2. The circumstances of these tálukás were fully considered when revised settlements for the bulk of their villages were sanctioned in the Resolutions mentioned in the margin: and the arguments for increase of assessment apply equally to the villages now under consideration which, when those Resolutions were passed, were not ripe for revision. Statistics illustrating their progress under the expired settlement are furnished and there is no apparent reason why the same rates should not be applied to them as have already been introduced in the adjoining villages of their respective tálukás.

3. The 19 villages have been divided into 7 classes, for which maximum dry-crop rates varying from Re. 1-2 to Rs. 2 per acre are proposed. The orders of Government regarding the assessment of Motasthal garden land have been followed. Pátasthal land has been assessed on the usual Rs. 8 maximum rate.

4. The table appended to paragraph 12 of Mr. Fletcher's report shows that the result of these proposals will be an increase of Rs. 6,668 (from Rs. 15,241 to Rs. 21,909), or 43·8 per cent. in the assessment on Government occupied land. It is proposed, however, by the Honourable Mr. Stewart, who has fully explained his reasons in paragraph 6 of his Memorandum No. 824 of 23rd April 1889, to reduce this enhancement to about Rs. 5,060 by the grant of remissions of the same nature as have been sanctioned for the other villages in these talukás. The proposal is sanctioned, and the rates may, subject to this condition, be introduced in the current year with a guarantee up to the year 1904-5 in both talukás. The period for receiving resignations under Section 74 of the Land Revenue Code may be extended for this year as a special case up to 15th July.

5. Only one petition of objection to the revised rates has been received and it discloses no cause for withholding sanction thereto.
