WHO DID MORE THAN WRITE "THE MARCH OF THE WOMEN."

AUTHOR'S NOTE

I have obtained the material for this little book from a large number of individuals and organisations; but the conclusions that I have drawn from the facts put before me must be regarded as entirely my own. No other person or society can be held responsible for them.

It is impossible to thank everybody who has helped me; but I should like especially to acknowledge the services of the following organisations: The London and National Society for Women's Service; the Six Point Group; the India League; the Open Door Council and the Equal Rights International, and the following individuals: Miss K. Gilchrist, Miss Cicely Hamilton, Miss Vera Brittain, Miss Stella Browne, and Mr. Patrick Brand.
