A series of lectures was arranged by the Servants of India Society in May last at its headquarters in Poona in connection with the Birthday Centenary Celebrations of Gopal Krishna Gokhale, the founder of the Society. The lectures and the essay by Prof. B. N. Ganguli are now brought out in book form. It is hoped they will help in a better understanding of the great man by the younger generation.

Our special thanks are due to Shri V. D. Divekar, Assistant Librarian, Servants of India Society's Library, Poona, who has prepared the index to this book purely as a labour of love.

MAHADEV GOVIND RANADE

A Biography

T. V. PARVATE

Within these pages is an intimate and exhaustive biography of one whose activities embraced in their range the entire field of social and political reform. It is the story of the courage and convictions of a renowned judge and the humanity of a pioneer of social reform. Closely associated with the Prarthana Samaj and the Sarva-janik Sabha—his media of social and political activities—Ranade was both a symbol and substance of the surge of a renascent nationalism. The “Patriarch of Patriots”, a cautious moderate, his disarming magnanimity drew to him even avowed extremists.

... a scholarly account of Ranade's life and work in all its aspects. The inclusion of a chapter dealing with Ramabai Ranade, the widow who dedicated herself to carrying on the work of social reform in the true spirit of her husband, enhances the value of the book....

SPEECHES AND WRITINGS OF GOPAL KRISHNA GOKHALE

VOLUME III—EDUCATIONAL

Edited by

D. G. KARVE AND D. V. AMBEKAR

This volume, third in a series consisting of Gopal Krishna Gokhale's speeches and writings, deals largely with educational problems. It contains everything Gokhale said in the Imperial Legislative Council on this subject during his eventful membership of that august body. It will help the reader understand how strenuous and uphill his task was in fighting Government's efforts to officialize the Universities; how by means of his resolutions and his Bill he succeeded in pressing on the attention of an unwilling Government the urgent need to promote mass education by making primary education free and compulsory. Some speeches on other topics made outside the legislature are also included, notably his classic farewell speech at the Fergusson College on his retirement.

The volume also contains Gokhale's personal tributes to distinguished Indian leaders like Ranade and Dadabhai Naoroji and to well-known British friends of India like Wedderburn, Hume, and others.
