

Conscience clause For Indians
in Indian Education code.
A reply to certain criticism.

A CONSCIENCE CLAUSE FOR INDIANS

IN

INDIAN EDUCATION CODES

A REPLY TO CERTAIN CRITICISMS

THE HON. MR. V. S. SRINIVASA SASTRI

SERVANTS OF INDIA SOCIETY

NOTE

My original pamphlet on this subject has evoked a certain amount of criticism, which I gratefully acknowledge to have been helpful. The Indian Social Reformer in particular has examined my arguments with its usual vigour and dignity, but not, it seems to me, with its usual breadth of view or regard for basic principles. The Rev. Dr. Miller, the greatest living authority on South Indian education, has also done me the honour of answering me in a pamphlet of his own published by the Christian Literature Society for India. It shows on every page the large tolerance and the catholicity of outlook which have made him so shining an example to controversialists as well as to teachers of religion. I have endeavoured in this pamphlet to meet the important criticisms that have been made. Little, however, is new, and I have not repeated much from my original pamphlet. To understand the position fully, it will be necessary to read the two pamphlets together.

V. S. SRINIVASAN.