

THE MODERN WORLD
A SURVEY OF HISTORICAL FORCES

Volume V: INDIA

THE MODERN WORLD

A SURVEY OF HISTORICAL FORCES

Edited by The Right Hon. H. A. L. FISHER, M.P.

The aim of the volumes in this series is to provide a balanced survey, with such historical illustrations as are necessary, of the tendencies and forces, political, economic, intellectual, which are moulding the lives of contemporary states. This volume is the fifth of the series.

Already published:

IRELAND by Stephen Gwynn

"We know of no more searching study . . . it is illuminating because it is without passion and does, on the whole, manage to hold even justice."—MANCHESTER GUARDIAN.

"Mr. Gwynn does it admirably . . . real distinction."
—OBSERVER.

GERMANY by G. P. Gooch

"A very valuable and very remarkable book."—TIMES.

"What devoted study upon every line of thought. What a tolerant and balanced judgment."—H. W. Nevinson in the WEEKLY WESTMINSTER.

NORWAY by G. Gathorne Hardy

"Liberal, well-reasoned and humane, full of learning gaily borne . . . its every chapter leaves the reader more indebted."—TIMES.

RUSSIA by N. Makeev and V. O'Hara

"The best work—perhaps the only work—of its kind."—MANCHESTER GUARDIAN.

In preparation:

TURKEY by Arnold Toynbee

IRAQ by Gertrude Bell

CHILE by Agustin Edwards

ENGLAND by the Very Rev. W. R. Inge, D.D

ARGENTINA by Professor C. H. Haring

AMERICA by John Huston Finley, LL.D.

FRANCE by Sisley Huddleston

INDIA

By SIR VALENTINE CHIROL

*Author of "Indian Unrest" (1910), "India Old and New" (1921), etc.
Member of the Royal Commission on the Indian Public Services (1912-15).*

WITH AN INTRODUCTION BY
THE RIGHT HON. H. A. L. FISHER, M.P.

And hear ye the beat
Of the ages' feet
 In strides of thousands of years ;
A muffled note
That low doth float
 On history's breath to list'ning ears.

E. Lloyd Pease.

LONDON : ERNEST BENN LIMITED
8 BOUVERIE STREET, E.C.4
1926

MADE AND PRINTED IN GREAT BRITAIN

By Thomas De La Rue & Co., Ltd., London.

INTRODUCTION

To the student of Indian society and politics, Sir Valentine Chirol needs no introduction. His great knowledge of the country, his affectionate appreciation of the finer sides of Indian life and character, his wide grasp of public affairs, have been evidenced in a series of weighty publications. He now gives to us the matured fruit of his long devotion to Indian enquiries. In this masterly survey all the factors essential to the comprehension of modern India are made to stand out in their true perspective. Sir Valentine Chirol has had the courage to deal with living men and burning issues, but of these he writes, not as one anxious to claim a party victory, but as the friend of India, offering the tribute of a dispassionate judgment and of a wide and well-balanced experience drawn alike from ancient and modern times.

H. A. L. FISHER.

21st November, 1925.

CONTENTS

CHAPTER	PAGE
INTRODUCTION	V
I A BIRD'S-EYE VIEW OF INDIA	I
II THE BEDROCK OF HINDUISM	II
III MOHAMMEDAN DOMINATION	35
IV THE GOVERNING PRINCIPLES OF BRITISH RULE ..	56
V THE FLOWING TIDE OF WESTERN INFLUENCE ..	72
VI THE FIRST WAVE OF ANTI-WESTERN REACTION ..	93
VII THE PARTITION OF BENGAL	114
VIII THE TANGLE OF WESTERN EDUCATION ..	125
IX THE GREAT WAR	155
X THE SILENT MASSES	167
XI THE INDUSTRIALIZATION OF INDIA	187
XII THE NON-CO-OPERATION MOVEMENT	200
XIII INDIA'S NEW CONSTITUTIONAL CHARTER	225
XIV THE FIRST THREE YEARS OF THE REFORMS ..	243
XV THE REACTIONS OF WORLD-FORCES ON INDIA ..	261
XVI THE SWARAJIST PLAN OF CAMPAIGN	272
XVII THE FLIGHT FROM SWARAJ	288
XVIII THE STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS OF THE RAJ ..	307
XIX A NEW STAGE IN THE GREAT EXPERIMENT ..	323
INDEX	343

INDEX

A

Abdul Hamid, Ottoman Sultan and Caliph, 218, 219.
 Abdur-Rahim, Mr. Justice, 239.
 Acworth, Sir W., Railway Commission, 315, 319.
 Abyssinia, Defeat of Italian armies in; effect in India, 110.
 Afghanistan, 207, 266, 303.
 Age of Consent Bill (Lord Lansdowne's), 99.
 Agra, the Moghul capital, 54.
 Agriculture, see Rural Population.
 Agriculture, Department of, 178, 318.
Ahimsa, Hindu doctrine of, 205, 211.
 Ahmed Khan, Sir Syed, 147, 148.
Akali movement in Punjab (see Sikhs).
 Akbar, The Emperor, 37, 38, 52, 54, 90 (see Moghul Empire).
 Ali, the brothers Mohammed and Shaukat Ali (see Caliphate movement), 220, 221, 223, 225, 290, 292.
 Aligurh, Anglo-Mohammedan College of, 147; converted into University, 153; Gandhi's attempt to capture, 290.
 All-India Moslem League, 219, 260, 290.
 Amritsar, the tragedy of, 207-10.
 Anglo-Indian (Eurasian) community, 78.
 Anti-Brahman party in Madras, 244, 255, 294, 295.
 Army, British forces in India, 8, 280, 281.
 Army, Indian:—East India Co. raises Indian forces, 59, 60; in co-operation with British troops, 79; increasingly employed outside India, 110; fine record during the Great War, 158-61; effect of war experiences, 185; Esher Committee Report, 245; the Indian case for "Indianization," 277, 281.
 Aryans, the first "white" ruling race in India, 14, 15.
 Asoka, Emperor, reign of, 30, 32.
 Asquith, Mr., British Prime Minister, 159, 161.

Aurangzeb, the Emperor, 38, 49, 57, 58 (see Moghul Empire).
 Ayerst, Lt., murder of, at Poona, 101.

B

Baber, founder of the Moghul Empire, 36.
 Baku, Pan-Asiatic Congress at, 267.
 Banerjee, Sir Surendranath, 118, 260.
 Baroda, Native State of, 69, 70.
 Beaconsfield, Earl of (see Disraeli).
 Benares, Hindu University of, 153, 292.
 Bengal:—partition, 116-20, 142, 156; first revolutionary movement, 120-4; Western education, 116, 125, 129-36; fragmentation of land, 171; Tenancy Act, 177; permanent settlement, 181; Provincial Council, 257, 284, 285; revival of revolutionary movement, 268-70; Ordinance of 1924, 270-1, 285.
 Bentinck, Lord William, Governor-General:—introduction of Western education, 74; suppression of Sati, 77, 93.
 Berlin, Treaty of, 218.
 Besant, Mrs., 161, 162, 165, 166, 308.
 Bethune College for Women, 149.
 Blckett, Sir Basil, Finance Member of Government, 252, 284.
 Bolshevism, Russian:—the menace to India, 124, 261, 266, 267; appeal to Indian labour and to the ryots' land hunger, 268; connection with Indian revolutionists, 268-70; reversion to Tsarist policy of expansion in Asia, 303.
 Bombay, 58, 87, 168, 189, 194, 197, 204, 276.
 Bonnerji, W. C., first President of Indian National Congress, 89.
 Brahmans (see Hinduism).
 Brahman party in Madras, 244, 255, 294, 295.
 Brahma Samaj, Hindu reform movement, 74, 75, 150.

British Indians in colonies and Dominions:—absence of colour feeling during first period of British rule, 77; its growth in other parts of the Empire, 77, 78; the origin of Indian emigration to the Colonies, 200, 201; the treatment of Indians in the Transvaal before the Boer war, 201; anti-Asiatic Legislation under the British flag after the Boer war, 201; Gandhi's campaign of passive resistance in South Africa, 201, 202; Lord Hardinge's sympathy, 202; Indian feeling, 202-3; truce during the Great War, 202, 204; Imperial Conference of 1921, 261; Mr. Shastri's mission, 262-6; anti-Indian measures in Kenya, 262-4; the "colour-bar" extended in South Africa, 264; Lord Reading's remonstrances, 265; Mr. Shastri's argument for Dominion Self-Government in India, 265, 266.

British rule (or raj):—establishment of, 2, 7, 8-10, 59, 60, 65-7, 78, 79; Parliamentary control, 62-4; principle of trusteeship, 64, 65; in relation to Native States (q. vide), 70, 71, 164, 314, 336; relations between ruling and subject races, 76, 78-81, 83-7, 92, 109-13 (see also Swaraj), 326-8; pre-Mutiny idealism, 82; growth of bureaucracy under Crown Government, 83; educational policy, 72-7, 123-32, 141-5, 153; 154; first Indian National Congress, 89-92; estrangement of Western-educated classes, 83-6, 105 (see also Non-Co-operation and Swaraj); Lord Curzon's Viceroyalty, 114-18; Morley-Minto Reforms, 155, 156, 232; varying reactions of the Great War, 157-62, 185; British declaration of Policy, 163, 236, 237, 331; Montagu-Chelmsford Report, 164, 165, 167, 329; the Act of 1919 (see Parliament); the King-Emperor's message, 225, 281; the new Constitutional Charter, 225; Dyarchy in the Provinces, 227-9 (see also Dyarchy); the position of the Central Government and the British rule (or raj)—cont.

Viceroy's power of "certification," 229, 230, 305; the rights of the Native States untouched, 235; Lord Reading's Viceroyalty, 246-54, 270; attitude of new Legislatures, 244-60, 273, 284, 285 (see also Swaraj); Indianization of Public Services, 274-7, and of the Army, 277-81; grant of fiscal autonomy (see Protection and Swadeshi); financial policy (see Finance); agricultural policy, 313, 314, 317-22, 335, 336 (see also Rural Population); Dominion Self-Government as the goal, 120, 330-4; a great and continuing experiment, 338; a fresh period of transition, 339; the future, 341, 342.

Buddhism, 30, 40.

Burke on Parliament's trusteeship for India, 64.

Bupendranath Basu, Mr., 275.

Buxar, battle of, 60.

C

Calcutta, former capital of India, 73, 112, 117, 168, 283, 306.

Calcutta, University of, 125, 129-36, 141.

Caliphate movement:—alliance with Ghandi's Non-Co-operation movement, 217; the brothers Mohammed and Shaukat Ali, 220, 221, 223, 224, 289, 290; hatred of England, 220, 221; deputation to London, 221; fraternization with Hindus, 205, 220, 223, 224; Mohammedan migration into Afghanistan, 222; Moplah atrocities, 223; Turkey's abolition of Caliphate, 224; collapse of agitation, 224, 289.

Campbell-Bannerman, Mr., British Prime Minister, 120.

Carey, John, 72, 79, 126.

Caste (see Hinduism).

"Certification," the Viceroy's powers of, under new Constitution, 230, 250, 252, 274.

Chaitanya, Hindu mystic, 41.

Chamber of Princes (see Native States).

- Chamberlain, Mr. Austen, Secretary of State, 163, 284.
- Chandavakar, Mr. Justice, 98, 104.
- Chandra Gupta, founder of Gupta Empire, 30.
- Chandragupta, founder of Mauryan Empire, 30.
- Chapekar, Damodhar, 101.
- Charka*, the domestic spinning-wheel (see Gandhi), 173.
- Chauri-Chaura, atrocities at, 216, 250, 268.
- Chelmsford, Lord, Viceroy, 125, 160, 164, 167.
- Child, Sir Josiah, instructions of, to East India Company, 57, 58.
- Chitpawan Brahmans, 5, 98, 101.
- Christianity:—early Christian communities in India, 42; Christian missionaries and Western education, 72; influence of Christian ethics, 73, 74; new orientation of Indian Christians, 296.
- Churchill, Rt. Hon. Winston, 248, 263.
- Clive, Lord, Governor-General, 60, 63, 64, 71.
- Colour-bar in ancient Hindu caste system, 14; in modern times (see British Indians in Colonies and Dominions).
- Co-operative Societies, 177, 178.
- Connaught, Duke of:—opens new Legislatures at Delhi, 225; reference to Punjab tragedy, 210, 245.
- Cornwallis, Marquess, Governor-General, 72.
- Cotton duties, 109, 189-91, 284.
- Crewe, Marquess of, Secretary of State, 239.
- Crimean War, 217.
- Curzon of Kedleston, Lord:—Viceroy of India, 114; great Delhi Durbar of 1902, 109, 115; Partition of Bengal, 116-19, 156; his educational policy, 140-2; the 1917 Declaration of Policy, 163.
- D
- Dalhousie, Marquess of, Governor-General, 67, 81, 82, 149, 314.
- Das, C. R., Swarajist leader, 29, 269, 270, 271, 273, 285, 286, 288, 291, 306, 330. (See also Gandhi and Swaraj.)
- Dayananda, Swami, founder of Arya-Samaj, 94-6.
- Deccan College at Poona, 75.
- Delhi, the seat of Mohammedan Power, 36; Moghul Capital, 54; Capital of British Indian Empire, 156; Satyagraha riots, 207; opening of New Legislatures, 225; Hindu Mohammedan riots, 292.
- Dharma*, the law of righteousness, 23, 25. (See also Hinduism.)
- Disraeli (Earl of Beaconsfield), 85, 340.
- Diwanee*, grant of, to East India Company, 60.
- Dravidian populations, 5, 31.
- Duff, Dr. Alexander, pioneer of Western Education, 72, 73.
- Dufferin, Marquess of, Viceroy, 89, 91.
- Dupleix, fight for French dominion in India, 60.
- Dutch struggle for East Indian trade, 57.
- Dutt, R. C., on the dark days of Hinduism, 30, 31.
- Dyarchy:—created under new Constitutional Charter, 228; conflicting practice, 255; under cross-fire, 257, 258; financial difficulties, 258; unreasoning pessimism, 258; practical achievements, 259; Provincial autonomy and Dyarchy in Central Government, 308-10.
- Dyer, General, his action at Amritsar, 207-9.
- E
- East India Company:—Queen Elizabeth's Charter, 44; early struggles, 56; consolidation under Queen Anne, 57; policy as trading corporation, 57, 58; relations with Moghul Empire, 57, 59, 60; transition to ruling power, 59-62; Parliamentary control, 62-5; Alliances with Native States, 66, 67; periodical renewal of Charter, 80, 126; dissolution after the Mutiny, 80.
- Education:—Introduction of Western education, 72; Macaulay's Minute, 73; Indian response, 73-7; influence of the great Education—cont.

Orientalists, 79, 80; Parliamentary enquiry, 126; Sir Charles Wood's dispatch, 126; creation of Indian Universities, 128; Educational Service, 129, 131, 132; the fetish of Examinations, 129, 131; quantity v. quality, 131; Lord Ripon's Commission, 131; the bhadralok influx, 132, 133; the private-venture schools, 133-6, 138; drawbacks of teaching in English, 136-8; growth of intellectual proletariat, 139-40; Lord Curzon's educational policy, 140-3; "the tree of knowledge of good and evil," 142-6; Mohammedans and Western education, 147-8; female education, 149-52; primary education, 126, 128, 131; Sir Thomas Sadler's Commission, 125-31, 134-6; education a "transferred" subject under the Reforms, 153; a national problem, 154.

Edward VII, King-Emperor, visits India as Prince of Wales, 84.

Elphinstone, Sir Mountstuart, Governor of Bombay, 75.

Elphinstone College, 75.

Esher, Viscount, Report of Army Committee, 245.

Eyar, Sir Subramanya, 213.

F

Famines:—in Moghul times, 48-50; under British rule, 50, 109, 182, 183.

Fattipur Sikri, 54.

Finance:—land revenue, 38, 174, 318; currency and exchange, 109, 190, 318; heavy deficits after the war, 192, 245, 249, 252; military expenditure, 245, 246, 279-81, 316; total indebtedness of India, 315, 316; financial relations between Central and Provincial Governments under the new constitution, 231, 258, 280, 309, 317 (see also Free Trade, Cotton Duties, Salt Tax, Fiscal Autonomy and Protection).

Fiscal autonomy: demand for, 245; effect of concession, 281, 282.

Fisher, Rt. Hon. Herbert, 239.

Forestry, 182, 320.

Fox's abortive Government of India Bill, 64.

France and the struggle for the trade of the Indies, 59, 60.

Free trade, 188, 282.

G

Gandhi, "Mahatma":—"Back to the Vedas," 11, 12, 260; Hindu saint and sage, 200; call to South Africa, 201; services during Boer War, 201; organizes British Indian campaign of passive resistance, 202; attitude during Great War, 203-4; opposition to Rowlatt Acts, and vow of Satyagraha, 204-7; the Punjab disturbance, 207-10; Non-Co-operation and Swaraj, 211-13; influence with the masses, 213-16; alliance with the Mohammedan Caliphate movement, 217; visit to Lord Reading, 246; boycott of the Prince of Wales's visit to India, 215, 246, 247; failure to restrain his followers from violence, 215, 216; imprisonment and release, 250; waning influence, 251, 286, 293; Charaka and Khaddar propaganda, 173, 212, 286, 287; attitude towards caste and "untouchability," 26, 293, 294, 298; chief mourner at Mr. C. R. Das's funeral, 306; varying attitude towards British rule, 321.

George V, King-Emperor: 156; visits India in 1905 as Prince of Wales, 119; holds Imperial Durbar at Delhi as King-Emperor, 156; Royal message to Indian Legislatures, 225.

Germany:—unification of, 87; friendship with Turkey, 219; brings Turkey into the Great War, 220; abortive attempts to make trouble in India, 159.

Gokhale, G. K.:—attitude towards British rule and Western influence, 107, 108, 118; his long fight for compulsory education, 128, 153; premature death, 162; Royal Commission on Public Services, 239, 275.

Gold, the hoarding of, 53, 59, 176.

Greco-Turkish war of 1897, 219.

Gupta, Birendranath, 123.
Gwalior, Native State of, 69.

H

Hailey, Sir Malcolm, Governor of Punjab, 300.
Hardinge, Lady, 157, 159.
Hardinge, Lady, Medical School at Delhi, 152.
Hardinge of Penshurst, Lord, Viceroy, 125, 160, 161, 177.
Hastings, Warren, Governor-General, 63, 64, 72.
Hinduism :—Great antiquity of, 2, 6, 11; its fluidity as a religious system, 12; origin and evolution of caste, 14-19; supremacy of the Brahman, 16, 22, 25-9; marriage laws, 20, 21; "untouchability," 18-20, 293, 294; doctrine of Karma, 23, 24, 99, 172; Dharma, the law of righteousness, 23, 25; early marriages, 24, 170; continuity of Hindu family, 24, 25; tenacity of caste traditions, 26-9; failure to build up an Indian nation, 29-34; vitality under Mohammedan domination, 40-3; influence of Western education, 72; social and religious reform movements under British rule, 73-7, 102; orthodox reaction, 98-9; revivalist movements, 106; basis of Swaraj movement (see Swaraj and Gandhi); wave of fraternization with Mohammedans (see Mohammedans); revival of sectarian antagonism, 291-6; Sangathan and Shuddi anti-Mohammedan organizations, 292; Swaraj conflict with Western civilization, 329-34.
Holland, Sir Thomas, Chairman of Industrial Commission, 192.
"Home Rule League" launched by Mrs. Besant, 161, 162.
Hume, Mr. A. O., and Indian National Congress, 89.
Hyderabad, Nizam of, 66, 69, 175, 223.

I

Ilbert Bill, 87, 88, 110.
Imperial War Councils, 68.

Inchcape, Lord, Retrenchment Committee, 249, 279.
Industrialization of India (see Indian Labour and Fiscal autonomy).
Industries and Labour, Department of, 245.
Indian Army (see Army).
Indian "Labour":—importation of Western industrialism, 189, 191; growth of a new industrial population, 193; congestion in new manufacturing centres, 194; Labour legislation, 195, 254; female and child labour, 195, 196; Trades Union Movement, 196-7; Gandhi's influence, 197; Labour troubles and strikes, 215; Department of Industries and Labour created, 245; a field for Bolshevik propaganda (see Bolshevism).
Indian Legislatures:—Earlier Legislative Councils, 102; Councils under Morley-Minto Reforms, 155, 156, 227, 232; Reformed Legislatures under Act of 1919, 227; Council of State, 230, 249; All-India Legislative Assembly, 229-56, 244-55, 259, 273-4 (see also Swaraj); Provincial Councils, 228-33, 255, 257, 284, 285; constituencies and franchise, 233, 235.
Indian National Congress:—Foundation of, 86-9; first profession of faith, 90, 91; indifference to social reforms, 102; political grievances, 103; growth of hostility toward government and official distrust, 104, 105; demand for Dominion Self-Government, 120; violence at Surat session, 156; revival of extremism during the Great War, 161, 163; accession of Mohammedan extremists, 220 (see also Non-Co-operation and Swaraj).
Indian Press, 85, 99, 103, 111, 119, 120, 161, 248, 270, 330.
Indian Public Services:—under East India Company, 60, 63; Parliament and the admission of Indians, 81; after the transfer to the Crown, 83, 84; Lord Lytton on British promises, 85, 86; Indian demands for larger share, 87; Public Services Commission, 1886-7, 102, 131, 132; hostile Congress criticism, 104, 237; Gokhale's tribute to British members of the Services, 108, 237; during first outbreak of revolutionary terrorism, 120-3; Royal Commission, 1912-15, 239, 242; British Declaration of Policy in 1917, 126, 274; "Indianization," 237-42; Superior Services Commission, 1923-4, 242, 251; Mr. Lloyd George's "steel frame" speech, 248; debate on Commission's Report, 274-5; British recruitment, 242-4; Progress of "Indianization," 326; fine record of British administration, 337.

Indian Public Services—cont.
Indian Sociologist, The, Anarchist organ, 122.
 Indore, Native State of, 69.
 Influenza, appalling epidemic of, 183.
 Islam (see Mohammedans).
 Italian national unity, 87.

J

Jackson, "Pundit," murder of, 122.
 Jamshidpur, new industrial city, 194.
 Japanese victories over Russia:—effect on India, 113-15, 186.
 Jehanghir, the Emperor, 40, 44 (see Moghul Empire).
 Jones, Sir William, Sanskrit scholar, 79.

K

Kabir, influence of Islam on, 41.
 Kali, cult of, 11, 27, 77, 96, 117, 120, 124.
 Kalikat, 117.
 Karma, the Hindu law of, 23, 24, 99, 172 (see Hinduism).
 Kashmir, Native State of, 70.
 Kenya, British Indians in: anti-Asiatic Legislation, 262, 263; bitterness in India, 263, 264; Government of India protests, 265; Mr. Shastri's attitude, 265, 266; repercussion in Indian Legislative Assembly, 273.
Kesari, The, Tilak's organ, 121.
 Keshab Chundra Sen, Hindu religious reformer, 74.

Khaddar, home-spun cloth (see Gandhi), 173.
 Kingship, Indian reverence for, 119, 156, 246, 247.
 Kitchener, Earl of, 118, 158.
 Krishna, cult of, 41.
 Krishnavarama, Shyamji, 122.
 Kshatrya caste, 15.
 Kulin Brahmans, 21.
 Kutb-ud-Din establishes Mohammedan power at Delhi, 36.
 Kut, surrender of, 160.

L

Land revenue:—under the Moghuls, 38, 39, 47; under British rule, 174-6, 318.
 Landlords, absentee, 209.
 Lansdowne, Marquess of, Viceroy:—attitude towards Indian National Congress, 91; passes Age of Consent Bill, 99; India Councils Act of 1892, 102, 156.
 Lausanne, Treaty of, 222.
 Leys, Dr. Norman, on land policy in Kenya, 264.
 Lloyd, Sir George, Governor of Bombay, 194, 196, 207.
 Lloyd George, Mr., British Prime Minister, 248, 284.
 Law, Narindra Nath, 33.
 League of Nations, 65, 195, 265, 281, 323.
 Lytton, 2nd Lord, Governor of Bengal, 270, 285.
 Lytton, 1st Lord, Viceroy, 84, 85.

M

Macaulay, Lord, 73, 75, 79, 93, 124 (see also Education).
 MacDonald, Mr. Ramsay, 239, 288.
 McCardie, Mr. Justice, 209.
 Madras, 58, 74, 75, 158, 244, 294, 295.
 Madras, Christian College, 75.
 Mahrattas:—first revolt of, against Mohammedan domination, 42; resistance to British rule, 66; national and religious sentiment, 116 (see also Tilak).
 Malabari, A. P., Indian reformer, 89.
 Malta, Indian troops dispatched to, 217.
 Marris, Sir William, Governor of the United Provinces, 290.

- Marshman, J. C., 72, 126.
 Mayo, Earl of, Viceroy, 313.
 Max Müller, 6, 79.
 Mecca, 217.
 Mehta, Sir Pheroze Shah, 89.
 Minto, Earl of, Viceroy, 155 (see Morley-Minto Reforms).
 Moghul Empire (see Mohammedans) foundations laid by Baber, 36; Akbar's dreams of Indian unity, 37, 38, 39; his administration, 38, 39; retrogression under his successors, 39, 40; Mahratta rebellion, 40; relations with East India Company, 44, 56, 60; decline and fall, 55, 57-60, 62; splendour of Moghul Court and misery of Indian people, 45-54.
 Mohammedans:—their numbers and influence, 35; first incursions from Arabia and successive invasions from Central Asia, 36; seat of empire first established in Delhi, 36; great period of domination under Moghul Empire (q.v.) 37-60; followed by long period of torpor, 73; share in the Mutiny, 94, 217; attitude towards Western education, 147; aloofness from Congress and other Hindu political movements, 88; All-India Moslem League, 219, 290; fear of Hindu ascendancy, 293; "Young Mohammedans" in contact with Hindu extremists, and with "Young Turks," 220; unwavering loyalty of Mohammedan troops during Great War, 161; renewal of pro-Turkish agitation after the War, 221; the Caliphate movement (q.v.); alliance with Gandhi's Non-Co-operation movement (q.v.); wave of fraternization with Hindus for Swaraj, 223, 224; the Moplah rising, 223; abolition of the Turkish Caliphate, 224; flight from Swaraj, 289-92; Tabligh and Tanzim anti-Hindu movements, 292-4; distrust of Hindu Swaraj, 293.
 Mohan Malavya, "Pandit," 276.
 Mongolian infiltration, 5.
 Montagu, the Rt. Hon. Edwin, Secretary of State, 163-5, 221, 248.
 Montagu-Chelmsford Report, 165, 167, 240.
 Mookerji, Dr. R., 33.
 Moplah rising, the, 223, 292, 311.
 Morley, John (Lord Morley), Morley-Minto Reforms, 155, 206, 227, 233, 243, 324.
 Motilal Nehru, Mr., disciple of Gandhi, 213, 276.
 Mozumdar, A. C., President of National Congress, 162.
 Muddiman, Sir A., Home Member, 275.
 Munro, Sir Thomas, Governor of Madras, 74; minute on Western education, 74; views on England's mission in India, 76, 115, 337.
 Mutiny, the great, 67, 82, 93, 94, 112, 128, 162, 199, 217.
 Mysore, Native State of, 68; Tippu Saheb, Sultan of, 66.
- N
- Nabha, Maharajah of, 299.
 Nadir Shah, Persian invader, 49.
 Nair, Sir Sankaran, 294.
 Nampudri Brahmans, 19.
 Nana Sahib, 94.
 Nanak, the first Sikh Guru, 41, 297.
 Naoroji, Dadabhai, Congress leader, 88, 105; first Presidential address to Congress, 89-91.
 Native States:—distinct from British India, 8, 9, 68, 69, 71; treaty rights and obligations, 66-68; area and population, 69, 70; position of Princes and Ruling Chiefs, 68, 69; Chamber of Princes, 225, 235; "certification" by Lord Reading of Press Bill for their protection, 205, 305; attitude towards Swaraj, 304-306; reasoned loyalty, 338.
New India, Mrs. Besant's organ, 161.
 Nihilists, the Russian, 120, 124.
 Non-Co-operation Movement (see Gandhi and Swaraj).
 North, Lord, Regulating Act, 62.
- O
- Ocean routes to India, discovery of, 43.
 O'Dwyer, Sir Michael, Lt.-Governor of Punjab, 209.

Olivier, Lord, Secretary of State for India, 270.

Oudh, annexation of, 67; land-lordism in, 175.

P

Panchayat, caste, council of elders, 28, 29.

Panipat, battle of, 37.

Pan-Islamism in India, 218, 219.

Paris Peace Conference, 1919, 69.

Parliament:—constitutional control over Indian affairs, 8, 64; Lord North's Regulating Act, 63; Pitt's Government of India Act, 63-6; renewals of Company's Charter, 81, 126; periodical enquiries, 81, 163; British Declaration of Policy in 1917, 163, 164; Government of India Act, 1919, 226; devolution and reservation of powers, 226-9; Joint Committee of both Houses, 230, 231, 282; Swarajists and Parliamentary control, 273; assumption on which Act of 1919 was passed, 331-4.

Parsees, the, 87-9, 105.

Pax Britannica: effect upon growth of population, 170; the supreme boon conferred by British rule, 338.

Pelsart, Dutch writer, 51.

Persia; the Anglo-Russian Agreement, 219, 220; and Soviet Russia, 266.

Pitt's Government of India Act, 63-6, 226.

Plague (bubonic), 101, 109, 183, 194.

Plassey, battle of, 60.

Poona Brahmans, 94, 98, 107, 212.

Portuguese, the:—discover Cape route, 43; rise and fall of Portuguese power, 43, 56.

Population of India, 3, 167, 170, 335, 338 (see also Rural and Urban population).

Prirhana Samaj in Western India, 75.

Prince of Wales's, H.R.H., visit to India, 1921-2, 214, 246, 247.

Protection, 198, 282, 283 (see also Swadeshi).

Public Services (see Indian Public Services).

Punjab, the:—cradle of Hinduism, 6; seat of Mohammedan power, 36-40; influence of Arya Samaj, 95; disturbances during the Great War, 159; heavy recruitment into the Indian Army, 165; indebtedness of landowners, 176, 177; growth of Co-operative Societies, 178; tragic events in 1919, 206-11, 245, 289, 311; disorderly Sikh reform movement and Ahali riots (see Sikhs); solution by legislation, 300.

Q

Qanoon-e-Islam, The, 217.

Queen Mary:—visits India as Princess of Wales, 119; as Queen, 156.

Queen Victoria (Empress of India), 67, 84, 85, 101, 108.

R

Racial feeling between Indians and Europeans:—relative absence of, before the Mutiny, 77, 78; effects of Ilbert Bill agitation, 87, 88, 110; and of Japanese victories over Russia, 113, 115; the Partition of Bengal (q.v.), the Punjab tragedy, 211 (see also British Indians in Colonies and Dominions, Gandhi, Caliphate movement and Swaraj).

Racial and sectarian rivalry amongst Indian communities, 3, 337, 338 (see also Mohammedans, Sikhs and Swaraj).

Railways, 82, 169, 184, 188, 315, 319.

Ram Mohun Roy, founder of Brahma-Samaj church, 73.

Ramakrishna, Hindu ascetic, 96.

Ramanada, contact of, with Islam, 41.

Ramanuja, influence of, on Hindu thought, 41.

Rand, Mr., murder of, at Poona, 101.

Rawlinson, Lord, Commander-in-Chief, 249.

Reading, Earl of, Viceroy, 246, 248, 252, 254, 270.

Reay, Lord, Governor of Bombay, 89.

- Ripon, Marquess of, Viceroy, 128, 131.
- Roe, Sir Thomas, Embassy to Delhi, 44.
- Ronaldshay, Earl of, Governor of Bengal, 27, 28, 111.
- Rowlatt Acts :—agitation against (see Gandhi and Satyagraha); repeal of, 248, 270.
- Rowlatt, Mr. Justice, 204.
- Rural population :—general characteristics, 4; immense preponderance over urban population, 168; poverty and ignorance, 168; rapid growth under British rule, 170; fragmentation of land, 171; conditions of life, 171, 172; indebtedness, 173-7; Co-operative Societies, 177, 178; religious obstacles to progress, 180; sufferings from famines, 47-50, 106, 182; bubonic plague, 101, 109, 183; great influenza epidemic, 183; Montagu-Chelmsford Report, 167, 182, 183; effects of the Great War, 185; recruitment for urban industries, 193; Gandhi's magnetic influence, 213, 214; "civil disobedience," 216; agrarian movements, 175, 216; misery under Moghul rule, 46-50; wave of disaffection in the Deccan, 100, 101; and in Bengal (see Partition of Bengal), 117-21; land revenue, 39, 161, 176; systems of land tenure, 175; attitude towards British raj, 180-6, 312-14, 321, 322, 335.
- Russia :—Russian Nihilists and Indian extremists, 114; Tsarist ambitions in Asia, 266, 303; defeated by Japan, 112, 113, 186; Bolshevik propaganda (see Bolshevism).
- S
- Sadler, Sir Thomas, 125, 127 (see Education).
- Sakai, Gopinath, 269.
- Salisbury, Marquess of, and Turkey, 218.
- Sapru, Sir Tej, 308.
- Salt Tax, 249, 252, 284.
- Sati*, self-immolation of Hindu widows, 21, 38, 77.
- Savarkar, Vinayak, 122.
- Serampore College, 72.
- Sèvres, Treaty of, 222.
- Shah Alam, Moghul Emperor, surrenders the Diwance to East India Company, 60.
- Shah Jehan, the Emperor, 39, 40, 47 (see Moghul Empire).
- Shankara, philosophy of, 32.
- Shastri, Mr. Shrinivasa, 262, 263, 265, 266.
- Shiva, cult of, 12, 31.
- Sikh regiments in Indian Army, 297.
- Sikhs :—racial and religious characteristics of, 296, 297; loyalty during the Mutiny and the Great War, 297; religious reform movement, 297; Sikh shrines, 298; Akali violence, 299; communal feeling, 300.
- Sinha (afterwards Lord), 162.
- Slavery, under Hindu and Mohammedan law, 46, 47.
- Social Reform movements :—the flowing tide, 73, 74; the reaction, 98, 101; National Social Conference, 101.
- "Society of India," the, 107.
- Somnath, Hindu temple of, 36.
- South African War :—effect on Indian opinion, 110; Gandhi's services, 201.
- Sudra* caste, 15.
- Swadeshi* :—boycott of British-made goods in the Deccan and in Bengal, 118; revival with the Non-Co-operation movement, 213, 283; translated into demand for protection, 198, 283, 284.
- Swaraj* :—two millenniums of ancient Hindu Swaraj, 29-34; Congress demand for Swaraj as Dominion Self-Government, 120; "Home Rule League" started during the Great War, 162; Gandhi's conception of Swaraj, 212, 215; Non-Co-operation campaign, 211-16, 261; Caliphate movement and Mohammedan fraternization, 216-17; abstention of Swaraj party from first general elections, 211, 225, 253; the King-Emperor's promise of Swaraj within the Empire, 225; failure of Gandhi's political leadership, 250, 260, 293; formation of new Swaraj party inside the Councils, 260, 272, 273, 288; spirit of revolt against Western civilization, 10, 11, 226, 286, 328-331; reaction against Swaraj, anxieties as to internal peace and external security, 301-3; attitude of Native States, 304-6; conflict of communal interests, 289, 290-296; conflict with fundamental conception of British Commonwealth of Nations, 332-4.

Swaraj—cont.

T

- Taj Mahal, cost of, 54.
 Tantricism, Left-handed, 13.
 Tata Brothers, steel and iron works, 194.
 Thuggism, suppression of, 77.
 Tilak, Bal Gangadhar :—campaign of, against Age of Consent Bill, 99; influence of, over Mahrattas, 98-101; and the Poona murders, 102; and Hindu orthodoxy, 99, 106; and Partition of Bengal, 119; hails the bomb as "an amulet," 122; trial and conviction of, 121; during the Great War, 161, 162; death of, 212.
 Timur the Lame invades India, 36.
 Tippu Saheb, Sultan of Mysore, 69.
 Tod, Colonel, author of Annals of Rajasthan, 79.
 Travancore, Native State of, 68.
 Trevelyan, Sir Charles, 126.
 Tukram, follower of Tulsi Das :—influence amongst Mahrattas, 42.
 Tulsi Das, religious teacher and poet, 42.
 Turkey :—British policy and its effects in India, 217-20; pro-Turkish propaganda before the War, 220; renewal after the War (see Caliphate movement).

U

- United Provinces, 177, 290.
 Urban population :—conditions under Moghul rule, 50-5; small proportion to rural population, 167, 168; but in much closer contact with Western influences (see Education and Indian National Congress); effects of industrialization (see Labour), 187,

Urban population—cont.

191-5; distress after the Great War, 194; Gandhi's influence, 215; representation in the new Legislatures, 232-4 (see also Swaraj).

V

- Van Twist, Dutch merchant, 48.
 Vasco da Gama discovers the Cape Route, 43.
 Vedantic philosophy, 41.
 Viceroy of India :—constitutional position of, 8; powers under Act of 1919, 230.
 Vijayanagar, Hindu Kingdom of, 53.
 Virgi Vora, great Indian capitalist, 51.
 Vishnu, cult of, 12, 31, 41, 94.

W

- Wedderburn, Sir William, M.P., 89.
 Western education (see Education).
 Whyte, Sir F., Speaker of Indian Legislative Assembly, 255.
 Wilkins, C., translator of Baghvatgita, 79.
 Willingdon, Lord, Governor of Bombay and afterwards of Madras, 255.
 Wilson, H. H., Sanskrit scholar, 79.
 Wood, Rt. Hon. E., Viceroy Designate, 342.
 Wood, Sir Charles, 126, 128.
 Wyllie, Sir W. C., assassination of, 122.
 World War (or the Great War), 70, 184-6, 191, 342.

Y

- "Young Mohammedans," Indian and "Young Turks," 220.
Yugantar, the revolutionist organ, 120.

Z

- Zenana*, the, and position of Indian women, 43, 112, 149-51 (see also Hinduism and Mohammedans).
 Zia-ud-Din, Dr., Principal of Aligurh, 290.
 Zoroastrianism, 88.