ANNUAL STATISTICAL REPORT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENT, 1921-22.

INTRODUCTORY.

LOCAL government as distinct from the activities of the General Government is carried out by a miscellany of local authorities constituted under various Acts of Parliament, and such government is practically universal throughout the whole Dominion. The functions of these various local governing bodies are defined in the respective Acts which allow of their constitution. On the 31st March, 1922, the number of such bodies which were more or less actively functioning was 422, made up as follows: Counties, 121; boroughs and cities, 117; independent town districts, 35; dependent town districts, 31; road districts, 59; river protective districts, 36; electric-power districts, 14; harbour districts, 41; land-drainage districts, 54; water-supply districts, 6; city and suburban drainage districts, 3; tramway districts, 3; local railway districts, 2.

There has been rapid decrease in the number of road districts during the last few years, while the number of power districts which are beginning to operate is increasing.

The matter contained in this Report falls into three divisions. Subsection A deals with general and valuation statistics, Subsection B with the results of polls on rating on unimproved values, and Subsection C with statistics furnished by the various local bodies throughout the Dominion. The last subsection comprises the main portion of the Report, and provides an analysis of the financial and kindred activities of local bodies under the heads of "Indebtedness," "Liabilities and Assets," "Loan Charges," "Ratepayers and Rateable Properties," "Receipts and Payments," "Employees and Wages," "Licensed Houses and Licenses," "Lengths of Roads," and "Building Permits."

A study of the finance of local governing bodies from their incipient stages to the present time reveals a process of evolution from a state of semi-dependence on the central Government to a stage where, with the exception of subsidies on rates and occasional grants for special works, all expense is borne locally, and local authorities at the present time bear the greater part of the expense of their own activities. The credit of the State is still available for the benefit of those local bodies requiring loans, and, although such assistance is given as occasion arises, local bodies are to all intents and purposes self-supporting.

A perusal of the tables contained in the Report elicits the information that by far the greater part of the revenue of local bodies is expended on public works. Pari passu with the development of the local authority, notably the borough, has grown the tendency to extend its activities to public-utility trading concerns, such as tramways, gas- and electric-supply works, which, being of the social monopoly type of industry, are pre-eminently suitable for municipal undertaking.

The sources from which the various classes of local bodies secure the moneys necessary to exercise their functions vary greatly according to the nature of the statutory duties of the local body concerned. Generally, however, receipts fall under one of three main classes—viz., (i) rates, (ii) licenses and fees, and (iii) receipts which cannot properly be regarded as revenue. These three classes are dealt with in detail further on, where the nature and relative importance of each is more particularly referred to.

The order of the descriptive matter which is given follows closely the order of the statistical tables contained in the Report.

GENERAL AND VALUATION.

GENERAL.

The initial table in the Report contains an informative summary of area, population, valuations, and numbers of holdings and live-stock in the Dominion by counties, inclusive of their interior boroughs and town districts. The total area of New Zealand is there given as 101,938 square miles, but the figure is exclusive of many adjacent islets, the additional area of which make the total area of the Dominion proper 103,284 square miles. Similarly, the estimated population of New Zealand proper at the 1st April, 1922, (exclusive of Maoris) was 1,248,216, or 5,190 more than is indicated in the table referred to.

It does not necessarily follow that counties of a comparatively large area are of corresponding importance from a productive and industrial aspect. Fiord is an outstanding example, where an area of 3,059 square miles has a gross capital value of only £144,292. Again, some smaller counties which include in their areas the larger towns owe their high valuations to the industrial factors, while in counties carrying large numbers of live-stock high valuations are due to the suitability of the area concerned for primary production.

The average capital value of the Dominion per square mile is £5,341, and this affords a general standard of reasonable accuracy for which the relative importance to the Dominion of the various counties may be measured.

VALUATION OF LAND.

The valuation tables included in this publication have been compiled in the Valuation Department, and are brought up to the 1st April, 1922. Consequently where adjustments in boundaries of districts have been made effective as from the 1st April (a customary date) they are included in these tables.

General valuations of land for the whole of New Zealand were made periodically up to the year 1897-98. Since that year no general valuations for the Dominion have been made, but portions are revalued from time to time. The figures in this Report, therefore, represent general valuations up to 1897 only, while for subsequent years the figures have been revised to include the latest valuations of small divisions. The values are given on both a gross and rateable (net) basis. The item "gross value" means the value of all property, whether any of such property is exempt from local rating or not. The term "rateable value" signifies the net value, or, in other words, the value of only those properties which are subject to local rating. The difference between the figures shown as gross and rateable respectively relates to unoccupied Crown lands, churches, schools, and other lands which are exempt from local rating.

A summary of gross valuations in the Dominion is given on page 4 of this Report; a summary of rateable values for the year 1921-22 is as follows:—

RATING ON UNIMPROVED VALUE OF LAND.

A complete list showing the results of polls under the Rating Act up to the 31st March, 1922, is given on page 33. It should be remembered, however, that some local authorities automatically adopt rating on unimproved values. For example, a town district, borough, or other county, formed from part of a county which itself rates on unimproved values, automatically rates on the system in force in the county; also two boroughs amalgamating adopt the system in force in the district with the greater population, unless their Councils agree to the contrary.

In order to supplement the list published on page 33 a note is given below of those local districts which have held a poll (including polls for rescission of the existing method of rating on the unimproved value) during 1922-23. This covers all notifications in the New Zealand Gazette up to the 31st March, 1923.

Rating on improved values is exceedingly more popular in boroughs than in any other class of local district, and on a population basis about 60 per cent. of town dwellers are rated on the unimproved value of property. Taking the population of all districts rating on the unimproved value as a percentage of the total population of the Dominion, it is found that nearly half of the people of the Dominion are rated on unimproved values. The precise details in this connection may be gleaned from the following table, which deals with the position as at the 1st April, 1922. As, however, the system when carried does not operate until the 1st April following the date on which the result of the poll is gazetted, it will be obvious that the position set out in the table somewhat understates the case in so far as actual polls taken are concerned.

* Exclusive of 5,190, the population of several adjacent islets.

In addition to the foregoing, the Pelorus Road District, which forms part of the Marlborough County, also rates on the unimproved value. The population of the road district concerned at the census of April, 1921, was 1,699, and accordingly the total population shown on the above table as rated on unimproved values should be increased by a similar figure.

LOCAL BODIES' INDEBTEDNESS.

GROSS DEBT.

The tables given on pages 36 and 37 show over a series of years the indebtedness and annual charge thereon for all local bodies in the Dominion. The growth of the debt has tended to increase at such a progressive rate that a review of the position as revealed by the figures is not without interest to those concerned with the question of local indebtedness.

The gross indebtedness of local governing bodies on account of outstanding loans has increased in the twenty years 1901-2 to 1921-22 from £7,839,695 to £30,266,204, exclusive of moneys borrowed from the Government, which represented a further gross indebtedness of £6,939,335 at the 31st March, 1922, made up as follows: Inscribed debt (i.e., debentures under the Roads and Bridges Construction Act, 1882, converted, and amounts borrowed from the Treasury under the Government Loans to Local Bodies Acts), £2,381,790; and loans from the New Zealand State Advances Office, £4,557,545. It will be seen accordingly that the total gross indebtedness of all local bodies at the 31st March, 1922, aggregated £37,205,539. The corresponding net indebtedness was £32,443,639, but it is on the greater amount, of course, that all interest and kindred charges must be calculated.

On the total gross debt of £37,205,539 as detailed above there were interest and sinking-fund charges amounting to £2,133,764. Sinking-fund payments, while essentially different in their nature from interest payments, have nevertheless to be paid from the pocket of the ratepayer in the form of special rates. The total annual debt charge on each class of local liability on the 31st March, 1922, was as follows: Interest on debentures and stock, £1,462,039; sinking fund on debentures and stock, £295,505; charges on State Advances loans, £287,029; and on inscribed debt due to the Treasury, £89,191: a grand total of £2,133,764.

GROWTH OF GROSS LOCAL INDEBTEDNESS.

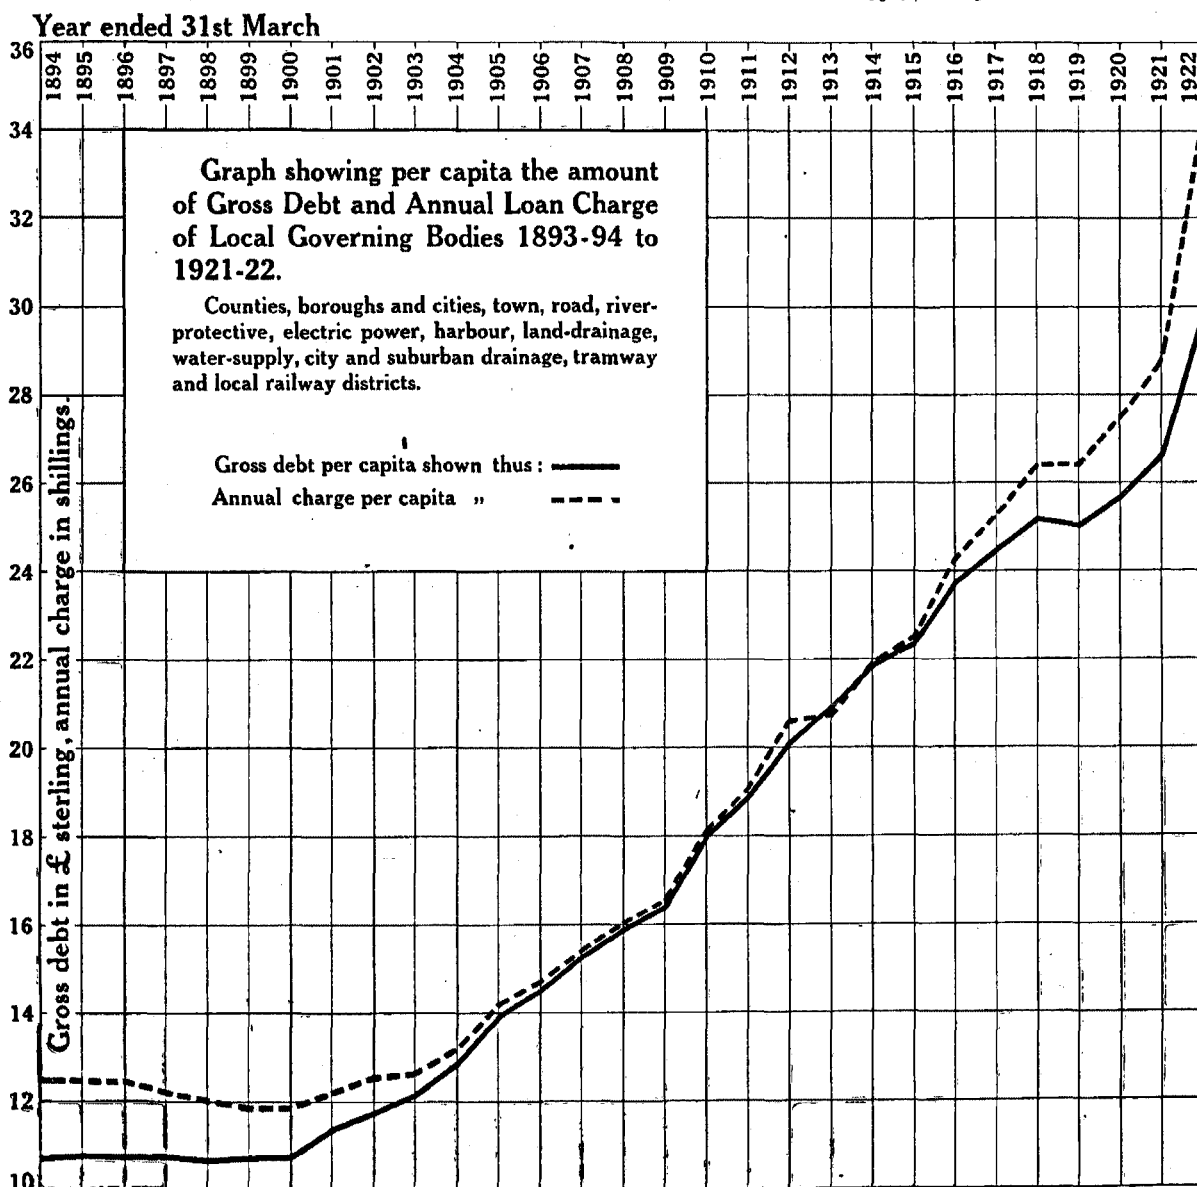

In order to bring out clearly the position of the growth of local indebtedness and charges thereon, a table is now given showing the rates per head for each of the years 1893-94 to 1921-22. This provides an analysis from which the growth of the debt can be readily gauged.

Embodying the above figures in a diagram the result is as follows:—

DIAGRAM SHOWING GROWTH OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES' INDEBTEDNESS, 1893-94 TO 1921-22.

The diagram given has been constructed to show the gross debt per head in pounds sterling and the annual charge per head in shillings. It will be apparent, therefore, that if the dotted line indicating the annual charge coincided with the continuous line representing the gross debt, the rate per cent. of the annual charge would show as one shilling to the pound, or exactly five per cent. In so far, therefore, as the dotted line departs from the continuous line so much also does the rate of the annual charge shown vary above or below 5 per cent. per annum.

It will be seen that since 1900 there has been an uninterrupted increase in the amount of local bodies' debt. The important fact to note, however, is that the increase as brought out by the diagram on the preceding page is delineated on a per capita basis, and so presents a much more accurate view than would a mere tabulation of the figures relating to the gross amount of the debt. The rate per head of gross local indebtedness rose from £10 14s. 10d. in 1900 to £29 16s. 2d. in 1922; or, in other words, the rate trebled in the twenty-two years under review.

From 1920-21 to 1921-22 the gross local indebtedness increased from £32,465,048 to £37,205,539. This represents by far the greatest increase in any one year yet recorded, and amounts to no less than £3 3s. 6d. per head of the population. The reason for this phenomenal addition to local indebtedness is almost entirely due to the activities of Electric-power Boards, and it is quite feasible that the next decade will witness further large additions to the local debt on this account.

Consideration of the above facts raises the question of interest and sinking-fund charges. Loans must be paid for, and increasing loans mean increasing charges to be paid by the borrower. In general, the dotted line showing the annual charge follows closely the line showing the trend of the gross debt. It is noteworthy, however, that increased rates of interest have since 1915 caused a corresponding further increase in the per-head rate of the annual charge. In 1900 the rate was only 11s. 11d. per head, but in 1922 this had increased to £1 14s. 2d., having increased by 5s. 4d. during 1921-22 alone. Further remarks of a cognate nature are contained overleaf under the head of Receipts from Rates.

NET DEBT.

Turning now to the net indebtedness of local bodies on account of outstanding loans, it is found that there has been an increase in the twenty years 1901-2 to 1921-22 from £7,016,632 to £27,018,370, exclusive of money borrowed from the Government, which represents a further indebtedness of £5,425,269 made up as follows: Inscribed debt (debentures under the Roads and Bridges Construction Act, 1882, converted, and amounts borrowed from the Treasury under the Government Loans to Local Bodies Act), £1,328,174; and loans from the New Zealand State Advances Office, £4,097,095. The total net debt of local bodies on the 31st March, 1922, was therefore £32,443,639.

ASSETS AND LIABILITIES.

The next table to which attention is drawn is that on page 38, which summarizes the assets, liabilities, loans, &c., of each class of local authority as at the end of the financial year 1921-22. It should be remarked here that the figures shown under the head "Other Assets" are taken from the respective balance-sheets, but are nevertheless far from complete. In quite a number of instances no assets whatever are shown, while in the majority of cases nothing is included for the reserves held. The totals under the head "Other Assets" can therefore be taken only as a very approximate indication of the property held in addition to the actual cash assets. The same remarks apply, mutatis mutandis, to the column "Other Assets" on pages 39-46. With a view to securing statistical accuracy local bodies should take the appropriate steps to rightly show in the annual statistical return the value of all assets.

The totals as at 31st March, 1922, under the various heads of assets and liabilities compare as follows with the preceding year, which is given in parenthesis: Cash assets, £5,485,357 (£3,850,890); other assets, £36,035,779 (£32,696,010); Loans (excluding Government loans and those from the State Advances Office), £27,018,370 (£23,230,084); Loans (net indebtedness) from the State Advances Office, £4,097,095 (£3,492,374); Inscribed debt, £1,328,174 (£1,415,567); other liabilities, which include also bank overdrafts, outstanding accounts, &c., £1,056,288 (£934,375).

LOANS RAISED IN NEW ZEALAND AND ABROAD.

Of considerable interest is the table on page 63, which shows the amount of the loans raised locally and abroad at various rates of interest. Of a total indebtedness (other than loans from the Government) of £30,266,204 as at the 31st March, 1922, £21,196,094 was raised in New Zealand and £9,070,110 abroad. The following table, which covers a period of ten years, 1912-13 to 1921-22, demonstrates the increasing tendency on the part of local governing authorities to borrow locally:—

TABLE SHOWING LOANS RAISED IN NEW ZEALAND AND ABROAD.

Financial Year.	Raised in New Zealand.	Raised Abroad.	Total Indebtedness.	Interest.	Average Rate per Cent.
1912-13	£ 10,134,782	£ 7,348,550	£ 17,483,332	£ 787,827	4.51
1913-14	10,106,082	8,817,400	18,923,482	855,063	4.52

1915-16	12,793,543	7,960,620	20,754,168	918,511	4.57
1916-17	13,218,617	8,214,155	21,432,767	983,408	4.59
1917-18	14,096,187	8,164,350	22,260,537	1,034,272	4.64
1918-19	14,749,763	7,923,940	22,673,712	1,048,999	4.63
1919-20	16,854,725	7,753,579	24,608,295	1,137,057	4.62
1920-21	17,737,891	8,449,090	26,186,960	1,221,549	4.66
1921-22	21,196,094	9,070,110	30,266,204	1,462,039	4.83

The rapid increase of recent years in the proportion of locally raised loans is no doubt in a measure due to the statutory encouragement given to lenders to take up this form of investment. The income from debentures issued by local authorities carries a less rate of income-tax than similar debentures issued by companies, and local authorities secure a corresponding advantage in offering their securities to the public.

A column has been added to the table above showing the average rate of interest per cent. It may be mentioned that since the "nineties" the average rate has fallen each year up to the beginning of the war period; it was £5.49 per cent. thirty years ago, and had dropped to £4.48 in 1914-15. Since the latter date, however, a steady hardening of the average rate has been apparent.

RATES STRUCK.

On pages 80 et seq. are given tables showing the number of ratepayers and rateable properties in the various districts of the Dominion, together with details of the rates struck. Rates are of two classes—(1) separate, and (2) special. Separate rates are again divided into "general" and "particular." General separate rates are levied for the construction, maintenance, &c., of any public work, for the acquisition of land and buildings, or for engaging in any undertaking for the benefit of the whole or part of a local district. Particular separate rates are levied in respect of water-supply, lighting, sanitation, libraries, &c. Special rates are those levied to secure the repayment of loans. Separate (general and particular) rates bring in about two-thirds of the total revenue from rates, and special rates account for approximately one-third.

In connection with the tables it should be noted that the position of the various local authorities appearing on the pages referred to above is given as at the 31st March, 1922. In this respect differentiation should be made from the valuation tables on pages 4-32, which are given as at the 1st April, 1922.

The term "various" used on pages 80-94 indicates that in various ridings or parts of districts the rates struck are not uniform. In some instances the variation is indicated, but in others the detail is too numerous to be particularized.

RECEIPTS AND PAYMENTS.

Except in the case of certain Harbour Boards whose own financial year is taken the statistical detail given relating to financial activities is for the year ended 31st March, 1922. The exceptions to this rule are given at the head of page 36.

RECEIPTS.

Summary tables are given on pages 95-97 which provide a conspectus of total receipts of local districts for each of the years 1881-82 to 1921-22.

RECEIPTS FROM RATES.

Local governing bodies received by way of rates in the financial year 1921-22 a total amount of £15,341,589, of which £2,501,949 consisted of general rates and £1,277,946 of separate and special rates. The sum of £105,365 was raised by licenses and £171,625 by other taxes making altogether £4,056,885, as compared with a total of £3,813,910 for the preceding financial year. The following table gives over a series of years the equivalent rates per head of the mean European population:—

TABLE SHOWING TAXATION BY LOCAL BODIES ON REVENUE FROM RATES, LICENSES AND OTHER TAXES, 1902-3 TO 1921-22.

1912	1,790,983	1 15 1	1922	4,056,885	3 5 10

The figures above relating to rates per head of the population denote a marked increase over the twenty years; they, in fact, supplement what has been said earlier and what has been brought out diagrammatically in connection with the rapid increase in the rate of indebtedness. The figures per head for 1922 are just on two and one-half times as great as they were in 1903.

The summary of all receipts for the year 1921-22 given on page 95 reveals the fact that the total revenue of the local bodies for the financial year was £9,854,677, and they also received a sum of £5,486,912 which could not properly be termed "revenue," making together a grand total of receipts amounting to £15,341,589.

LICENSES, TOLLS, RENTS, ETC.

As suggested above, rates are not the only form of taxation, though, of course, they are the principal individual source. Local authorities derive a certain amount of revenue from publicans', auctioneers', hawkers', bootblacks', and kindred licenses, abattoir fees, dog-taxes, tolls, &c. Many licenses, however, are imposed not so much with the object of raising revenue as with a view to prohibiting the exercise of any particular calling without the sanction or consent of the controlling local authority.

Sources of revenue not classed as taxation are—rents, fines, and penalties; market dues, sales of material, sales of light and power, tramway receipts, interest on deposits, wharf dues, &c.

RECEIPTS FROM THE GENERAL GOVERNMENT.

Ordinary revenue (see page 97) received from the Government comprised—Rates on Crown and Native lands, £7,990; timber and flax royalties, £5,197; goldfields revenue and gold duty, £17,095; fees and fines, £3,729; subsidy on rates, £200,722; one-third receipts from lands sold on deferred payment and perpetual leases, £44,381; one-fourth of rents from small grazing-runs £6,068; other, £32,348: a total of £317,538, as compared with a total of £302,992 for the preceding financial year.

A further class of receipts from the General Government is provided by loans under the various Government Loans to Local Bodies' Acts and from the New Zealand State Advances offices. These are dealt with in the next paragraph.

RECEIPTS NOT REVENUE.

Compared with earlier years there has been an enormous increase in the revenue of local authorities under this head. In 1921-22 the amount was £5,486,912, while for 1920-21 the corresponding figure was £3,429,662, so that an increase of more than two millions is in evidence. This increase is almost wholly confined to boroughs, and it is of interest accordingly to compare for boroughs the heads under which these additional moneys have been received. The main items are given herewith (with the figures for the preceding year in parentheses): Government loans, £505,805 (£394,853); other loans, £2,184,849 (£545,162); Government grants, £26,686 (£80,513); other sources, £306,270 (£240,534); total, £3,023,610 (£1,261,062). The main increase is in loans other than from the Government. The effect of this large increase on the amount of local taxation has been touched on earlier.

EXPENDITURE AND PAYMENTS.

The total expenditure of local governing bodies over a period of years is given on page 95. The amount in 1921-22 was £15,091,875, as compared with £12,761,690 for the previous year and £6,796,314 for the last pre-war year, 1913-14.

A summary of the principal expenditure for each class of local authority is given on page 96. For 1921-22 the totals for all local bodies compared as follows with the preceding year (given in parentheses): On public works, £10,867,810 (£9,219,384); on hospitals and charitable aid, £526,201 (£456,381); on management, £766,251 (£724,256); on interest on loans and overdrafts, £1,758,815 (£1,452,230); and on other payments, including sinking-fund payments and repayments of loan-money, £1,172,798 (£909,439).

MANAGEMENT EXPENSES.

Of the total expenditure in 1921-22 of £15,091,875 it will be seen that £766,251 was utilized on the management of the activities of the various local authorities. There is reason, however, to believe that this sum does not include in every case all such charges, and in particular the expenditure on engineer's salaries, which is in some instances charged up to particular works. Steps are being taken to ensure in future that the term "salary, honoraria, &c.," used in the statistical form of inquiry will include all payments of this nature, and thus enable a true estimate to be made of the percentage of money paid for administrative and management expenses.

The following table gives the expenses of management for the main classes of local authorities. They may be regarded as a good basis of comparison, and where the administrative costs of an individual local body exceed the average given it is reasonable to assume that in the absence of special circumstances they are too high.

TABLE SHOWING PERCENTAGES OF MANAGEMENT EXPENSES UNDER VARIOUS HEADS, 1921-22.

Town Districts (independent)	14.80	6.59	6.72
Harbour districts	12.09	8.34	8.33

There is in general for 1921-22 a slight reduction on the costs of administration as compared with 1920-21.

EMPLOYEES AND WAGES.

Since 1914-15 the Census and Statistics Office has obtained from the various local governing bodies particulars of the numbers of employees and rates of remuneration. These figures afford a valuable indication of the extent to which earnings have increased during recent years. Full details for 1921-22 are published on pages 139-157 of this Report, and a summary is also given on page 145.

Utilizing the summarized figures for the years 1914-15 to 1921-22, tables have been compiled showing for the staffs of local governing authorities the average rates of wages paid. Two sets of figures are given below—viz., (i) for employees engaged on administrative duties, and (ii) for other employees, the great majority of whom may be regarded as unskilled. The figures showing average remuneration received in each year have also been adjusted to indicate the effective wage-increase as modified by the movement of the retail prices of foodstuffs.

RATES OF SALARIES OF ADMINISTRATIVE STAFFS.

The first table given shows the average rates of salaries of administrative and clerical staffs over a period of eight years. Permanent employees occupied for the whole of their time comprise the greater part of the table. In addition, part-time and casual employees are also tabulated. The average salary of full-time permanent employees was £191 5s. 6d. in 1914-15 and £287 18s. 1d. in 1921-22. Taking an average of all employees, which includes casual and part-time officers, the rates were £163 16s. 5d. in 1914-15 and £251 13s. 11d. in 1921-22. The averages for each of the eight years are now given:—

RATES OF WAGES OF UNSKILLED EMPLOYEES.

Similar information to the preceding is now given for unskilled labour. Here again full-time employees are in the majority, but it should be noted that the average number of casual employees is considerable. For this reason an average of all employees in this group is perhaps a better indication of the general rate of wages paid. The figures for each of eight years are—

The average wage of full-time permanent labourers was £151 17s. 10d. in 1914-15 and £245 0s. 2d. in 1921-22. Taking an average of all employees, which includes casual and part-time hands, the rates were £141 2s. 7d. in 1914-15 and £234 9s. 8d. in 1921-22.

EFFECTIVE SALARIES AND WAGES.

To ascertain just what the above general rates of increase represent in effective remuneration it is necessary to take into consideration the movement in the retail prices of foodstuffs since 1914. It is not proposed to here enter into a detailed discussion on this point, but merely to indicate broadly the general effect of the fluctuating value of the sovereign. To consummate this a table is given in which the average rates of remuneration as compiled above are compared with rates based on retail price index changes since 1914-15. This comparison is made for (i) permanent employees and (ii) total employees only. The comparisons in the table below speak for themselves, but it may be noted that effective wages and salaries of local authorities' employees have in general increased at a greater rate than retail prices as based on the movement in the prices of foodstuffs, and published in the Monthly Abstract of Statistics.

ROADS IN THE DOMINION.

The compilations on pages 167-172 represent the result of the second annual collection of these figures. The figures given vary in some cases considerably from those published relating to the year 1920-21. These variations are the result of steps taken by several local authorities to ascertain accurately the length of roads under their control, but it is apparent that some of the figures supplied for 1921-22 can be accepted as estimates only.

In the returns for the year 1922-23 information is also being asked as to the number and length of bridges in the Dominion.

LEGISLATIVE.

Recent statutory provisions affecting local authorities may be summarized as follows:—

Finance Act (1921, No. 5).—Part IV (Local and Public Bodies' Loans) contains a number of miscellaneous provisions affecting loans raised by local and public bodies. The only ones of general importance are—Section 11, enabling the Minister of Finance to vary, in respect of rate of interest or duration, the conditions subject to which these bodies are authorized to borrow moneys; section 12, which modifies the provisions (sections 77, 81, and 82 of the Local Bodies' Loans Act, 1913) as to guarantee by the Government of loans raised by local authorities; section 13, which authorizes local authorities, with the consent of the Governor-General in Council, to borrow moneys on terms requiring repayment by instalments; and section 14, which enables the Minister of Finance to authorize Borough Councils to pay increased rates of interest on their bank overdrafts.

Local Bodies' Loans Amendment Act (1921, No. 10) amends in various particulars the Local Bodies' Loans Act, 1913. Section 2 extends to five years the time within which the authority to borrow moneys conferred on local authorities by ratepayers may be exercised. Section 4 contains provisions with respect to the exercise by local authorities of the power to hypothecate or mortgage debentures. Section 5 amends the provisions of the principal Act as to investment of sinking funds held by the Public Trustee. Section 6 makes extensive amendments of section 11 of the Finance Act, 1921, which authorizes the modification of the conditions subject to which a local authority may be empowered to borrow moneys. Section 7 extends Part IV of the principal Act as from the 1st April, 1921, by authorizing the guarantee by the State of a portion as well as the whole of a loan.

Local Bodies' Finance Act (1921-22, No. 36) was passed to provide for and limit borrowing by local authorities for revenue purposes. Section 3 limits to the extent provided therein the power of local authorities to borrow moneys in anticipation of their revenues, and section 4 prescribes the authorities under which they may borrow for any purpose. Sections 5 and 6 make special provisions requiring local authorities to render to the Minister of Finance statements of their liabilities as at the 31st March, 1922, in respect of moneys borrowed in anticipation of revenue, and empowers them to borrow moneys for the discharge of such liabilities. Section 7 empowers the Minister of Internal Affairs to authorize local authorities to borrow moneys under exceptional circumstances—for example, for the purpose of repairing damage by flood, earthquake, or fire. Section 9 requires local authorities to provide for ordinary expenditure for any year out of revenue for that year.

Harbours Amendment Act (1921-22, No. 52) amends the Harbours Act, 1908. Section 2 extends the powers of Harbour Boards by empowering them to provide waiting-rooms, reading-rooms, dining-rooms, and meals for waterside workers, and to make by-laws in respect thereof. Section 4 grants special powers of leasing to the Governor-General in respect of foreshore lands below high-water mark not required for harbour purposes.

Finance Act (1921-22, No. 72).—Part IV (Local Authorities and Public Bodies): Section 34 increases the rating-powers of Town Boards. Section 39 empowers local authorities to borrow moneys to discharge existing liabilities for the acquisition of land. Section 40 directs the appointment of a Commission to inquire as to the loss of revenue suffered by local authorities from the operation of the Forests Act.

Local Bodies' Loans Amendment Act (1922, No. 4).—By section 7 a loan raised to extinguish antecedent liability may include the cost of raising such loan.

Land Drainage Amendment Act (1922, No. 5) amends the principal Act of 1908. Section 4 provides that a district may be abolished where no trustees are holding office. The voting-powers of ratepayers in districts where rates are levied on a graduated scale are set out in section 7, and section 12 amends the limit of maximum rates that may be levied.

Electric-power Boards Amendment Act (1922, No. 26) contains amendments of the principal Act of 1918, mostly of an administrative character.

Harbours Amendment Act (1922, No. 30).—Section 3 authorizes any Harbour Board affiliated to the Harbours Association to pay out of its Harbour Fund the annual subscription and the travelling-expenses of representatives attending conference meetings. The principal Act is amended by section 16, and a Board may levy rates to the extent of 2s. 6d. per ton of goods shipped, as against 2s. per ton formerly. Section 20 increases the harbourmasters' fees, port charges, and pilotage rates payable under the Fifth Schedule of the Act of 1908.

Finance Act (1922, No. 51).—By section 43 the Valuer-General may at any time amend a valuation roll by reason of particular circumstances affecting the valuation. Section 25 validates contributions to the Sir Arthur Pearson Memorial Fund if made prior to the 31st December, 1923.

Rating Amendment Act (1922, No. 45).—Section 2 extends the time of two years laid down in the Rating Act, 1908, for the recovery of rates to three years. Section 3 permits local authorities to allow a rebate of 5 per cent. for prompt payment of rates.

REGULATIONS AFFECTING LOCAL GOVERNING BODIES.

Regulations under the Municipal Corporations Act, 1920, the Census and Statistics Act, 1910, and the Counties Act, 1920, were published in the New Zealand Gazette of the 9th May, 1923 (pages 1293 to 1321), prescribing the form of annual statistical return required to be furnished by local authorities, and rendering it obligatory for the returns to be furnished to the Census and Statistics Office by the 30th June in each year. As a matter of fact, however, statistics relating to local governing bodies have been collected and published in the Annual Statistics of New Zealand for close on fifty years past, and the regulations published merely clothe in legal garb a system that has been in operation practically since the abolition of the provinces. Beyond a few minor alterations necessitated by the natural expansion of the Dominion's local affairs, the forms set out in the schedules to the various regulations are the same as those that have been in use for several years. The regulations published prescribe the forms in which the statutory power to call upon local authorities to supply the particulars required is to be exercised, and it is hoped that as a consequence the publication of the Annual Report on Local Government will in future be considerably expedited, and made available to the public much earlier than hitherto.

MUNICIPAL HANDBOOK.

It may be mentioned here that the Census and Statistics Office publishes biennially a "Municipal Handbook." The last edition related to the year 1919 and was published in 1920, but this issue is now out of print. For reasons of economy no issue appeared in 1921, and the Census and Statistics Office now has in hand the compilation of the next issue, which will be known as 1924, and should be available for distribution early in January of that year. This issue will contain particulars of the activities of cities and boroughs, town districts, and harbour districts for the year 1922-23, and the descriptive matter will be brought right up to date. In addition to a certain number of statistical tables the "Handbook" will give particulars of practically all activities of cities, towns, and harbours, including details of municipal undertakings, means of communication, water-supply, lighting, drainage, libraries, town labour, statutory half-holiday, port charges, means of handling goods, &c. The personnel of Councils and Boards and the names of the chief officers are also shown. The charge for the "Municipal Handbook" will be 3s. 6d., and requisitions for copies should be addressed to the "Government Statistician, Wellington."

INQUIRIES.

Any communications with respect to matters contained in this Report should be addressed to the "Government Statistician, Wellington, New Zealand."

SUBSECTION B.—RATING ON UNIMPROVED VALUE.

NOTE.—This table should be read for what it purports to be—namely, the result of polls taken. It does not include the names of districts rating on unimproved values, which by statute automatically adopt the system. For example, a town district, borough, or another county formed from part of a county which rated on unimproved values automatically rates on the system in force in the county; also two boroughs amalgamating adopt the system in force in the district with the greater population, unless their Councils agree to the contrary.

* The amounts of present indebtedness shown in this column are not strictly in accord with the provisions of statute, by which the full amounts originally inserted remain a liability of the local bodies concerned, pending payment of the last half-yearly instalments. For the years 1910-11 and preceding years the amounts of present indebtedness shown are the total amounts originally inscribed and still outstanding, less the amounts accrued in connection with the sinking fund constituted under the Acts. For the years 1918-19 onwards the amounts shown have been obtained by an actuarial calculation based on the assumption that the half-yearly payments include sufficient principal to extinguish the loan on maturity. For the years 1911-12 to 1917-18 inclusive the amounts have been interpolated using Lagrange's formula.

* By statute the full amount originally inscribed remains a liability of a local body until the last half-yearly instalment has been paid. Hence, for purposes of computing the net indebtedness of individual local bodies, total amounts originally inscribed at the Treasury and still outstanding are taken. If, however, the payments thereunder are regarded as being made partly in extinction of the loan as well as in payment of interest thereon, then by actuarial computation it is estimated that the present indebtedness of all counties on inscribed debt as at 1st February, 1922, was £701,124, yielding a net loan indebtedness for counties of £4,114,356, and a total net liability of £4,284,919.

* By statute the full amount originally inscribed remains a liability of a local body until the last half-yearly instalment has been paid. Hence, for purposes of computing the net indebtedness of individual local bodies, total amounts originally inscribed at the Treasury and still outstanding are taken. If, however, the payments thereunder are regarded as being made partly in extinction of the loan as well as in payment of interest thereon, then by actuarial computation it is estimated that the present indebtedness of all counties on inscribed debt as at 1st February, 1922, was £701,124, yielding a net loan indebtedness for counties of £4,114,356, and a total net liability of £4,284,919.

* By statute the full amount originally inscribed remains a liability of a local body until the last half-yearly instalment has been paid. Hence, for purposes of computing the net indebtedness of individual local bodies, total amounts originally inscribed at the Treasury and still outstanding are taken. If, however, the payments thereunder are regarded as being made partly in extinction of the loan as well as in payment of interest thereon, then by actuarial computation it is estimated that the present indebtedness of all boroughs on inscribed debt as at 1st February, 1922, was £507,306, yielding a net loan indebtedness for boroughs of £18,051,060, and a total net liability of £18,525,688.

* By statute the full amount originally inscribed remains a liability of a local body until the last half-yearly instalment has been paid. Hence, for purposes of computing the net indebtedness of individual local bodies, total amounts originally inscribed at the Treasury and still outstanding are taken. If, however, the payments thereunder are regarded as being made partly in extinction of the loan as well as in payment of interest thereon, then by actuarial computation it is estimated that the present indebtedness of all boroughs on inscribed debt as at 1st February, 1922, was £507,306, yielding a net loan indebtedness for boroughs of £18,051,060, and a total net liability of £18,525,688.

* By statute the full amount originally inscribed remains a liability of a local body until the last half-yearly instalment has been paid. Hence, for purposes of computing the net indebtedness of individual local bodies, total amounts originally inscribed at the Treasury and still outstanding are taken. If, however, the payments thereunder are regarded as being made partly in extinction of the loan as well as in payment of interest thereon, then by actuarial computation it is estimated that the present indebtedness of all Water-supply Districts on inscribed debt as at 1st February, 1922, was £565, yielding a net loan indebtedness for Water-supply Districts of £9,411, and a total net liability of £9,436.
