The Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics

The Edge

Conceived in 1930, as a centre for higher learning and research in economics, Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics, has evolved into a premiere institute for advanced study and research. The Institute is privileged to host a faculty who has distinguished themselves as academicians, researchers, policy makers and consultants of the highest order. The faculty members are at the forefront of research in diverse fields of theoretical and empirical economics. The combination of an experienced and highly qualified faculty, a dynamic curriculum and the state of the art academic infrastructure helps equip our students with analytical skills and emotional intelligence. This helps the students in dealing successfully with the complexities of a dynamic socio economic environment. It is these capabilities that enable the students of the Institute to have an edge on any issue, hence enabling them to contribute to the success of any organization.
