PREFACE

This book is designed to meet the large and growing demand for a guide to all the mass of literature bearing on the Montagu-Chelmsford Report on Indian Constitutional Reforms. The publishers have availed themselves of this opportunity to present in chronological order full text of the Congress-League Scheme and other important documents as the Memorandum of the Nineteen, Sir William Wedderburn's Memorandum, Lord Islington's Scheme, Gokhale's Scheme, the Aga Khan's Scheme, the Declaration of August 20th and the Indo-British Scheme. A summary of the Montagu-Chelmsford Scheme is also reprinted from the Report. In the chapter entitled, "Some Constructive Criticisms," care has been taken to see that the views of representative leaders of public opinion, on different features of the scheme, are collected. In view of the huge pile of literature that has grown on the subject of the new reforms it is hoped that the reader will welcome this handy volume.
