ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The author wishes to express his sincere gratitude and appreciation to his guide, Professor D.R. Gadgil, Director, Gekhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Poona, India, for his keen criticism and stimulating advice throughout the entire period of preparation of this thesis. The author owes him everlasting obligation for his generosity and patience in giving his time for the difficult task of reading the manuscript again and again and making suggestions for improvements both in substantive matter and mechanics of composition.

Deep gratitude is expressed to the displaced persons residing at the Pimpri Refugee Camp (now a permanent colony) and Poona Corporation and Cantonment areas for their whole hearted cooperation and help in providing the necessary data and affection shown to the author during his stay in the camp.

Heart felt thanks are expressed to my Professor Mr. P.N. Mathur and colleagues, especially Dr. M.V. Namjoshi, of the Gekhale Institute of Politics and Economics, Poona, for their help and encouragement without which it would not have been possible to complete this task.
