ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This study was begun under the guidance of Professor N. V. Sovani at the Gokhale Institute of Politics and Economics. His direction in the early stages of the project and in planning the field survey was invaluable. When Professor Sovani left India on an assignment in Geneva this work was continued and completed under the very able direction of Professor V. M. Dandekar. In spite of his exceedingly busy schedule Professor Dandekar gave freely of his time and advice. I offer my very grateful thanks to both Professor Sovani and Professor Dandekar, not only for their invaluable academic guidance, but also for their kindness, courtesy and understanding at all times.

I have great pleasure in thanking the Board of Directors, staff and my colleagues at the Gokhale Institute, under whose auspices this study was undertaken.

I am grateful to all my teachers, past and present, for their encouragement and confidence in me.

I must thank the Board of Directors of the Scindia Steam Navigation Co. Ltd. for the use of the excellent library and office records.

In the course of the field survey of this project a great number of persons in the shipping and exporting business were interviewed. Without their co-operation this study would have been impossible. They are too numerous to be thanked individually and I know many of them would prefer to be anonymous. I thank them one and all.

I am very grateful to my mother, Mrs. Tehmi Ichaporia, and Mrs. Sarojini Gupte for their assistance in the tabulation and compilation of the statistical material, to Mr. V. N. Inamdar for typing the manuscript and to Mr. B. Desai for helping me with the proof-reading.

A special word of thanks is due to my husband for his encouragement, his optimism and above all his forbearance.
