

THE COMPARATIVE STUDY OF
COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS.
OUTLINE OF A PROGRAM AND A PROJECT

THE COMPARATIVE STUDY OF COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

Outline of a Program and a Project

The Bureau of Applied Social Research
Columbia University

June 1951

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	Page
INTRODUCTION : The General Plan	1
PART I : The Mass Media	4
1. Distribution of media	4
2. Accessibility of media	5
3. Innovations in media	6
4. Prestige of media	6
5. Tastes and preferences	7
6. Standards of performance	8
7. Building audiences	9
8. The social context	10
PART II : The Oral Tradition	11
9. Opinion leaders	11
10. Opinion and power	12
11. Occupations	12
12. The family	13
13. Special groups	14
14. Special channels	14
15. Social style	15
16. Variety of needs	16
PART III : News, Views, and Opinion	17
17. Social variants	17
18. Religious-philosophical variants	18
19. Images of the world	18
20. "Boomerang effects"	19
21. News capacity	20
22. "Propaganditis"	21
23. Images of America	21