REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE

I, the Chairman of the Joint Committee to which the Bill* to provide for the more effective prevention of certain unlawful activities of individuals and associations and for matters connected therewith was referred, having been authorised to submit the report on their behalf, present their Report, with the Bill as amended by the Committee, annexed thereto.

2. The Bill was introduced on the 31st May, 1967. The motion for reference of the Bill to a Joint Committee was moved in Lok Sabha by Shri Y. B. Chavan, the Minister of Home Affairs, on the 10th August, 1967 and adopted on the same day (Appendix I).

3. Rajya Sabha discussed the said motion on the 14th and 16th August, 1967 and concurred therein on the 16th August, 1967 (Appendix II).

4. The message from Rajya Sabha was published in the Lok Sabha Bulletin, Part II, dated the 18th August, 1967.

5. The Committee held five sittings in all.

6. The first sitting of the Committee was held on the 12th September, 1967 to draw up their programme of work. The Committee at this sitting decided to hear the Attorney-General of India on the constitutional aspect of the Bill. At this sitting the Committee also decided to issue a Press Communique inviting memoranda on the Bill from the interested parties etc.

7. Two memoranda were received by the Committee from the Delhi Bar Association, Delhi and the Delhi Administration on the Bill which were circulated to the members.

8. At their second sitting held on the 16th October, 1967, the Committee heard the evidence given by the Attorney-General of India. The Attorney-General was requested by the Committee to express his opinion on the vires of the Bill and also on the question whether the restrictions proposed to be imposed by the Bill on the fundamental rights of speech and expression, assembly and to form associations or unions were reasonable. The Attorney-General was of the opinion that the proposed legislation came clearly within the ambit of clauses (2) to (4) of article 19 of the Constitution and as such the Bill would not be capable of being challenged as unconstitutional. He also was of the opinion that the restrictions which have been proposed to be imposed by the Bill on the

*Published in Gazette of India, Extraordinary, Part II, Section 2, dated 31st May, 19 7.

Fundamental rights of individuals and associations were reasonable restrictions within the meaning of clauses (2) to (4) of article 19 of the constitution. He held the view that having regard to the situation prevailing at present in some parts of the country, some kind of legislation of the proposed nature was necessary. According to him, the subject matter of the proposed legislation is not covered by any existing law and as such the proposed legislation is not a superfluous or over-lapping one. The Attorney-General, however, considered that some sort of safeguard ought to be provided in the Bill in respect of the powers which have been given to the Government to extend the period of the ban on an unlawful association by means of a notification.

9. The Committee have decided that the evidence given before them should be printed and laid on the Tables of both the Houses in extenso.

10. The Committee considered the Bill clause-by-clause at their third and fourth sittings held on the 17th and 18th October, 1967 (both in the forenoon and afternoon).

11. The Report of the Committee was to be presented on the 13th November, 1967. As this could not be done the Committee requested for extension of time for presentation of their Report upto the 20th November, 1967, which was granted by the House on the 14th November, 1967.

12. The Committee considered and adopted the Report on the 12th November, 1967.

13. The observations of the Committee with regard to the principal changes proposed in the Bill are detailed in the succeeding paragraphs.

14. Clause 2—The Committee are of the opinion that since the expression "sovereignty and integrity of India" has been used in the Constitution (Sixteenth Amendment) Act, 1963, that expression should be used as a whole and should not be split up into two so that the implications of that expression may not be lost. Items (ii) and (iii) of sub-clause (f) have, therefore, been combined into one.

The other changes made in sub-clauses (a), (d) and (g) of the clause are of a drafting nature.

15. Clause 4—The Committee consider that where a notification issued under sub-clause (1) of clause 3 has been referred by the Central Government to the Tribunal for adjudication, the Tribunal must decide the matter within some time limit. The Committee have, therefore, amended sub-clause (3) to provide for a maximum period of six months from the date of issue of the said notification, within which the Tribunal must decide the matter referred to it.

The other amendment made in sub-clause (3) is to make the intention clear.

16. Clause 5—The Committee are of the view that in order to inspire confidence of the public in the Tribunal and from the point of administrative convenience, the Tribunal should consist of a sitting Judge of a High Court.

The clause has been amended accordingly.

17. Clause 6—The Committee are of the opinion that it was not desirable that the Government should have the power to continue the ban on unlawful association without a fresh judicial determination with regard to such continuation.

Proviso to sub-clause (1) has, therefore, been omitted.

18. Clause 7—The amendment made in sub-clause (1) is clarificatory in nature. The Committee feel that investigation under this clause should only be entrusted to an officer belonging to a Gazetted rank.

Sub-clause (2) has been amended accordingly.

Amendment in sub-clause (5) is of a consequential nature.

19. Clause 8—The Committee are of the view that articles used in the ordinary course of living or articles of a trivial nature should not be listed as moveable properties and that near relatives of any person, who is a resident of a prohibited place, should be exempted from the provisions of sub-clause (4). The Committee also consider that under sub-clause (4) the District Magistrate himself and not any officer authorised by him should issue an order and further under sub-clause (6) police officer not below the rank of sub-inspector should have the power to carry on searches etc.

Sub-clauses (2), (4) and (6) of this clause have been amended accordingly.

20. Clause 10—In view of omission of proviso to sub-clause (1) of clause 6 which in effect restricts the operation of notification issued under that clause to two years without fresh notification, the Committee consider that the ends of justice will be met if the punishment provided under this clause, for being a member of an unlawful association, is reduced from three years to two years.

The clause has been amended accordingly.

21. Clause 12—In view of the reasons given for reduction of term of punishment under clause 10; the Committee have also decided to reduce the punishments provided under sub-clauses (1) and (2) of this clause from three years to one year. The other amendments in sub-clauses (1) and (2) are of a drafting nature.

Consequent to insertion of a new clause, namely, clause 14, sub-clause (3) has been omitted.

22. Clause 13—Sub-clause (1) and (2) have been amended to reduce the punishments from ten and seven years to seven and five years respectively.

23. New Clause 14—The Committee feel that all offences under the Act should be made cognizable irrespective of the maximum period of imprisonment provided thereunder.

A new clause has, therefore, been added for the purpose.

24. (Original Clause 15)—It was stated on behalf of Government that as in the case of parent associations, in the case of succeeding associations also all the processes envisaged under the Act will be initiated and gone through before declaring it unlawful.

The Committee consider that since the Government proposes to take all the steps afresh in such a case, this clause is a superfluous one and as such its retention is not necessary. The clause has, therefore, been omitted.

25. Clause 18—The word 'Central' has been omitted in sub-clauses (1) and (2) to cover both the Central and the State Governments within the scope of this clause.

26. The Joint Committee recommend that the Bill as amended be passed.

Joint Committee

MINUTES OF DISSENT

I

I am totally opposed to the Bill. In spite of the weighty opinion of the Attorney-General of India that the Bill is a permissible legislation under exception to Article 19 of the Constitution, I still consider that the Bill contains provisions curtailing the Fundamental Rights guaranteed by the Constitution. I do not agree that the restrictions are reasonable within the meaning of Article 19. True, clauses to Article 19 do not prevent the State from making any law, in so far as such law imposes reasonable restriction on the exercise of any right conferred by the said Article in the interest of sovereignty and integrity of India.

2. The wording of the clauses to Article 19 has to be carefully noted especially the words "Nothing..... prevent" and the words "imposes reasonable restrictions".

3. The State is not prevented from making the necessary legislation in the interest of sovereignty and integrity of India. The Hon. Home Minister while introducing the Bill has not made out a case regarding any threat to the sovereignty and integrity of India. If there is no such case, the Government certainly is prevented from bringing forward such legislation.

4. Again, the question whether the restrictions are reasonable has to be gone into very carefully. The wording of section 2 which defines unlawful activity is so wide that any honest expression or suggestion even for a peaceful settlement of a border dispute might come within the mischief of the provision. One can understand violent activities by a group of persons with the intention of bringing about the cession of a part of India or the secession of a part of the territory of India to be unlawful but words spoken or written or mere signs etc. are now within the purview of "unlawful activity". This will result in stifling honest opinion and criticism.

5. A notification issued under section 3 and confirmed by the Tribunal remains in force for a period of 2 years. This is a real threat to the right of organisation. A notification after confirmation by the Tribunal should have validity only for a period of six months. The powers to prohibit the use of funds (section 7), to notify places (section 8), to conduct search [section 8(6)] and the penalty imposed under Chapter III are all excessive and drastic and not required under conditions now existing in the country.

6. Further, in a big country like ours where free and full development of various nationalities has yet to take place and where the so called "backward classes and tribes" have yet to advance, a legislation of this type can only help to create suspicion and mistrust among such people and may prove even disruptive.

II

यह बड़ा सराहनीय उद्देश्य है कि देश की एकता, अखण्डता तथा प्रभुसत्ता को बनाये रखने का ध्यान रखा जाये परन्तु यह विधेयक, जिस रूप में यह संयुक्त समिति से आया है, सत्तारूढ़ दल के अधिकारों में एक और अधिकार बढ़ाने के लिये ही है जिससे कि देश में उसके विरुद्ध जो तनाव बढ़ रहा है उसे वह रोक सके। इस कानून को बनाने में सरकार का उद्देश्य भारत की प्रभुसत्ता और क्षेत्रिय अखण्डता को बनाये रखने और उसकी रक्षा करने का नहीं है अपितु अपने को सत्ताहीन होने से बचाने के लिए है।

2. किसी भी देश ने, स्वतन्त्र होने के बाद, स्वेच्छापूर्वक इतना अधिक क्षेत्र नहीं खोया है जितना कि भारत ने कांग्रेस शासन के अधीन पिछले बीस वर्षों में। सत्तारूढ़ दल के सदस्यों के लिये देशभक्ति और राष्ट्रीयता के अर्थ समय-समय पर, स्थान स्थान पर और व्यक्ति-व्यक्ति के संदर्भ में बदलते रहे हैं। भारत के पहले प्रधान मंत्री ने अपनी इच्छा से, संसद् से भी परामर्श लिये बिना ही, बेरूबारी क्षेत्र पाकिस्तान को देने के लिये संधि कर ली। दूसरे प्रधान मंत्री ने भी, चाहे दबाव में आकर ही सही, हमारे राज्य का काफी बड़ा भाग, ताशकन्द में पाकिस्तान को बदले में दे दिया। क्या पहले दो प्रधान मंत्रियों के ये कार्य भारत की राष्ट्रीय प्रभुसत्ता और क्षेत्रीय अखण्डता को बनाये रखने के लिए थे ? कोई भी नहीं जानता कि भारत की तीसरी प्रधान मंत्री अन्तराष्ट्रीय शान्ति को खरीदने के अपने उत्साह में, राज्य क्षेत्र के रूप में पाकिस्तान और चीन को क्या कीमत चुकायेंगी।

3. मेरा यह दृढ़ विश्वास है कि जब तक संसद् द्वारा बनाये गये कानूनों को, जिनका पहले ही बाहुल्य है, उनकी भाषा और भावना दौनों दृष्टिकोणों से, कार्यान्वित नहीं किया जाता, तब तक चाहे कितने ही कानून बनाये जायें राष्ट्र की एकता एवं अखण्डता बनाये रखने में सरकार को कोई सहायता नहीं मिलेगी।

4. वर्तमान विधेयक द्वारा जिन दैत्याकारी शक्तियों की मांग की गई है, वे संविधान के अनुच्छेद 19(2)(3) तथा (4) के अन्तर्गत निहित "भारत की प्रभुसत्ता तथा खण्डता के हितों के लिये" उचित प्रतिबन्ध नहीं कही जा सकती। विधेयक के साथ संलग्न 'उद्देश्यों तथा कारणों के विवरण' से भी सरकार द्वारा इतनी विशाल शक्तियां प्राप्त करने का औचित्य प्रतीत नहीं होता। इस विधेयक से इन परम्परागत न्याय सम्बन्धी सिद्धान्तों की भी अवहेलना होती है कि किसी व्यक्ति को स्वयं उसके द्वारा किये गये अपराध पर ही दण्ड दिया जा सकता है "संबंधों द्वारा हुए अपराध" पर नहीं। इस प्रकार के अपराध की धारणा राष्ट्र की सुपक्षा निकट भविष्य में गम्भीर विपत्ति की अवस्था में ही न्यायोचित है और इस अवस्था से निबटने के लिये संविधान में पर्याप्त उपबन्ध है। यदि इस विधेयक को, संयुक्त समिति द्वारा की गई सिफारिश के रूप में विधान का रूप दे दिया तो क्या सरकार ये शक्तियां उन संस्थाओं और अनेकों "मोर्चों" के विरूद्ध प्रयाग करेगी जो खुले आम राजद्राह और अलगाव का प्रचार करते हैं ? सच तो यह है कि सत्तारूढ़ दल "भारत की प्रभुसत्ता तथा अखण्डता" बनाये रखने के लिये इतना इच्छुक नहीं है जितना वे अपने दल की प्रभुसत्ता और एकता बनाये रखने के लिये है। डर यह है कि ये असीम

शक्तियां उन दलों के विरुद्ध काम में लाई जायेंगी जो भारत भूमि के पूर्ण एकीकरण और एकता, के समर्थक हैं। शासक दल अपनी सत्ता, जो उसके हाथों से धीरे धीरे निकलती जा रही है बनाये रखने के लिये ऐसे कानून बनाने के लिये इच्छुक रहती है जो राष्ट्र हित में न हों और जिनसे दलगत उद्देश्यों की पूर्ति हो। यह विधेयक इस बात का एक ज्वलन्त उदाहरण है।

5. विधेयक के खण्ड 5 में एक न्यायाधिकरण स्थापित करने की व्यवस्था है जो यह निर्णय करेगा कि अधिसूचित किसी संस्था को अवैध घोषित करने के लिये न्यायोचित आधार है या नहीं। यह सर्वविदित है कि इस देश में न्यायाधिकरण सफल नहीं रहे हैं। उन्हें जन-साधारण का विश्वास और सम्मान प्राप्त नहीं हुआ है। यह स्थिति नहीं है कि उनकी निष्पक्षता के बारे में सन्देह न किया जाता रहा हो। इन न्यायाधिकरणों के लिये न तो सिविल प्रक्रिया संहिता आवश्यक है और न दण्ड प्रक्रिया संहिता ही। नैसर्गिक न्याय के सिद्धान्तों का भी वे सम्मान नहीं करते। अतः कोई संस्था विशेष अवैध संस्था है या नहीं, इस बारे में अन्तिम निर्णय करने का काम उच्च न्यायालय को सौंपा जाना चाहिये न कि सरकार द्वारा नियुक्त न्यायाधिकरण को। जब तक इसकी प्रक्रिया सरकार द्वारा निर्धारित की जाती रहेगी और सरकार को न्यायाधिकरण के सदस्यों के चयन का अधिकार प्राप्त रहेगा, तब तक इस बात से कोई अन्तर पड़ने वाला नहीं है कि न्यायाधिकरण का सदस्य एक वर्तमान न्यायाधीश है या कोई अन्य बाहरी व्यक्ति है, हालांकि किसी अन्य बाहरी व्यक्ति की अपेक्षा एक न्यायाधीस को जनता का अधिक सम्मान प्राप्त होगा। मेरा यह दृढ़ विश्वास है कि इस प्रकार के विषयों को न्यायाधिकरणों के लिये न छोड़ा जाये। इस तर्क में कोई जान नहीं है कि उच्च न्यायालयों में पहले ही अत्याधिक काम है क्योंकि यदि अधिकारों का प्रयोग ठीक प्रकार से केवल भारत की प्रभुसत्ता तथा क्षेत्रीय अखण्डता बनाये रखने के लिये किया गया तथा उसका प्रयोग किसी अन्य बाह्य प्रयोजन के लिये नहीं किया गया तो इस अधिनियम के अन्तर्गत मामले अधिक नहीं होंगे। इस विधेयक के अन्तर्गत इस प्रस्तावित न्यायाधिकरण की आड़ में सरकार द्वारा तानाशाही अधिकार प्राप्त किये जा रहे हैं।

6. इस विधेयक के खण्ड 19 के अन्तर्गत जिस सीमा तक शक्ति का प्रत्यायोजन प्रस्तावित है वह आपत्तिजनक है। इस खण्ड में यह व्यवस्था की गई है कि धारा 7 और 8 के अन्तर्गत केन्द्रीय सरकार गैर-कानूनी संस्था की धन-राशियों के उपयोग पर रोक "लगाने" तथा जिन स्थानों को गैर-कानूनी कार्यवाहियों के लिये प्रयोग किया जा रहा हो उनकी घोषणा करने का अधिकार केवल राज्य सरकारों को ही न देगी बल्कि राज्य सरकारों को भी यह अधिकार होगा कि वे यह अधिकार आगे अपने अधीनस्थ "किसी व्यक्ति" को पुनः प्रत्यायोजित कर दे और यह निर्धारित नहीं किया गया है कि ऐसा व्यक्ति कम से कम किस श्रेणी का होगा अथवा उसका शासकीय स्तर क्या होगा।

7. मेरा विचार है कि संयुक्त समिति द्वारा प्रतिवेदित रूप में वर्तमान विधेयक असफल रहेगा और उससे वे समस्यायें हल नहीं होंगी जिनको हल करने के लिये यह विधेयक लाया गया है।

[English translation of pages xi & xii]

It is a very laudable object that unity, integrity and sovereignty of the country is ensured but the Bill, as it has emerged from the Joint Committee, only seeks to add one more power to the elbow of the party in power in order to enable it to check the growing tension against it in the country. The motive of the Government in getting this law passed is not to maintain and protect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of India but to protect itself from going out of power.

2. No country has, after gaining independence, ceded so much of territory voluntarily as India has done during the last twenty years under the Congress rule. For the members of the ruling party the meanings of patriotism and nationalism differ from time to time, from place to place and from person to person. The first Prime Minister of India, on his own, without even consulting Parliament, made a treaty for handing over Berubari to Pakistan. The second Prime Minister also, may be under duress, bartered away large chunks of our territory to Pakistan at Tashkent. Were these acts of the first two Prime Ministers of India for the preservation of national sovereignty and territorial integrity of India? Certainly not. No body knows what price the third Prime Minister of India would, in her enthusiasm for purchasing international peace, pay to Pakistan and China in terms of territory.

3. It is my firm belief that unless the laws enacted by Parliament, already in abundance, are faithfully implemented both in letter and spirit no amount of legislative enactments would help the Government in maintaining the unity and integrity of the nation.

4. The draconian powers sought to be assumed under the present Bill could not be justified as reasonable restrictions "in the interests of the sovereignty and integrity of India" as envisaged under Article 19(2), (3) & (4) of the Constitution. Even the "Statement of Objects and Reasons" appended to the Bill does not justify assumption of such vast powers by the Government. The Bill throws overboard the traditional juristic principles that a person may be penalised only for his personal guilt and not for "guilt by Association". The concept of "guilt by Association" could be justified only in conditions of grave imminent peril to the nation's security and to deal with such a contingency the Constitution contains adequate provisions. If the law is enacted as has been recommended by the Joint Committee, will the Government use its powers against those institutions and numerous "fronts" which openly preach sedition and secession? The fact remains that the party in power is not so much interested in the maintenance of "sovereignty and integrity of India" as they are in building up "sovereignty and integrity of their own party". There is a lurking fear that these sweeping powers will be used against those parties which stand for the complete unity and integration of Bharat Bhumi. The ruling party in order to retain power, which is slowly slipping from its grip, is always eager to enact laws intended to be used not for national interest but for party ends and this Bill provides a glaring instance.

5. Clause 5 of the Bill seeks to set up a tribunal for adjudicating whether or not there was sufficient cause for declaring a notified association as an unlawful association. As is very well known, tribunals in this country have been a failure. They have not commanded the confidence and respect of the people. Their impartiality has not been beyond doubt. For these tribunals neither Civil Procedure Code nor Criminal Procedure Code are necessary. They will not have regard even for principles of natural justice. Therefore, the machinery for making a final decision whether a particular organisation is an unlawful association or not should have been left to the High Court instead of to a Tribunal appointed by the Government. So long as its procedure is determined by the Government and the Government has power to pick and choose the personnel of the Tribunal, it makes little difference whether the Tribunal is manned by a sitting judge or an outsider, although the former will tend to command greater respect of the people than the latter. It is my firm belief that matters like this should not be left to Tribunals. The plea that High Courts are already burdened with overwork does not carry conviction because the cases under this Act would not be much, if the powers are judiciously used only for the maintenance of sovereignty and territorial integrity of India and not for some ulterior purposes. The proposed Tribunal under the Bill would be only a smoke screen behind which the dictatorial powers are being sought for the Government.

6. The extent of delegation of power contemplated under Clause 19 of the Bill is objectionable. It seeks to authorise not only the Central Government to delegate power "to prohibit the use of funds of an unlawful association" and "to notify places used for the purpose of an unlawful association" under Section 7 and 8 to the State Governments but also the latter are being empowered to redelegate that power to "any person" subordinate to the State Government without laying down or specifying any minimum rank or official position which such person must hold.

7. I feel that the present Bill as it has been reported by the Joint Committee will be a failure and cannot solve the problems which it is intended to solve.

PRAKASH VIR SHASTRI

NEW DELHI;

III

I oppose this drastic measure as unnecessary at the present juncture. As far our party is concerned we are unmindful of this legislation but I would ask those who lend their support to this Bill, when we have repulsed the Pakistan aggression and Chinese invasion, we have managed without a legislation of this type. But why this bill is required so urgently? This Bill, as agreed by the Attorney-General brings within its mischief anything honestly spoken as an opinion even a theoretical and idealistic discussion for a peaceful settlement with our disputed neighbours. This measure places restrictions which are unreasonable on the exercise of the freedom of speech, expression and association.

2. The provisions of this Bill, which put the burden of proof on the persons or associations concerned in an abnormal judicial process. The Bill is liable to be misused by the persons in authority against their political opponents and thus drastic measure is unwarranted, ill-timed and unnecessary at this time when we need unity in everything.

IV

The explanations offered by the Government during the course of the discussion in the Joint Committee have not persuaded me to change my view that this Bill is not only not necessary but positively harmful. This Bill marks a stage in India's steady march towards authoritarianism.

2. The purpose of the Bill is ostensibly to curb activities of a secessionist character and prevent propaganda in favour of cession of parts of Indian territory to foreign powers.

3. But the Government's parleys with secessionist groups give a lie to this. As far as cession is concerned, it is not any "individuals and associations" who have been responsible for acquiescing in the occupation of large chunks of Indian territory by China and Pakistan but the Government and the ruling party themselves. The ceasefire in Kashmir in 1948-49, occupation of Kailas, Mansarover and Minsor by the Chinese, encroachments by Pakistan in the Lathitilla—Dumabari area and Chinese aggression in Longju, Barahoti and Ladakh regions and the Government's submissive policy in relation to these violations of our sovereignty and territorial integrity show that they have no moral justification for introducing this Bill. Their refusal to accept my amendment seeking to authorise the citizen to prosecute government agents/authority for supporting cession of Indian territory, whether in fact or in law or both, reveals the Government's real intentions in this regard.

4. Coming to those provisions of the Bill which the Government refused to modify, let me state that I am opposed to the provise to section 3 (3) of the Bill conferring on the Government the right to declare an association as unlawful without first going before the Tribunal. I also cannot support the proviso to section 3(2) empowering the Government to withhold reasons. I am also opposed to the two year period prescribed in section 6(1) for the operation of the notification.

5. Although the rigour of the punishments has been somewhat reduced in the Bill as reported by the Joint Committee, I feel that these provisions need to be further liberalised.

6. It would be better if the Tribunal for the purposes of this Bill would be a bench of the High Court.

The Bill, even as amended in Committee, is like the curate's egg, good in parts. But an egg good in parts is a bad egg. The Bill suffers from two opposite defects it attempts too much and at the same time does not include enough. It tries to legislate against secession. Secession is a fact not a right conceded or accepted in or for any State. Argument is possible against any speaking or writing on secession as was done by Daniel Webster against Calhoun in the U.S.A. And when secession occurred as a matter of fact it was fought in a war and subdued and ended. It was conceded by the Attorney-General at the second meeting of the Joint Committee that opinion or argument in favour of secession would not come under the condemnation of the Bill, only incitement to secession. And that can be proceeded against under the provisions of the Indian Constitution which defines what constitutes the Union Territory (Articles 1, 2 & 3) and Indian Penal Code (section 141) which prohibits unlawful assembly. And the fact of secession would be met by action by the Army.

2. The Bill suffers from the defect of deficiency. Only two chief kinds of unlawful activities are to be proceeded against—secession and disruption of the country as defined in the Indian Constitution (Articles 1, 2 & 3). The other kind of unlawful activity legislated against by the Bill, overthrowing the Government by law established is provided against in the Indian Penal Code (sections 121 and 121A). But no provision is made against those activities which consist in preaching (with incitement to action) a doctrine which repudiates the fundamental constitutional principles embodied in the Constitution of India which is the supreme law of the country, i.e. the doctrine and practice of the Communist Party. In fact all the unlawful activities provided against in the Bill are prohibited either by the Constitution or the criminal law of the country. The Bill therefore is a work of supererogation.

3. Nor have some of the amendments made in Committee been an improvement. For instance, in clause 5 which deals with the constitution of the Tribunal, the Chairman who under the original Bill was to be a retired judge of a High Court is under the amendment to be replaced by one who is a sitting judge of the High Court. The argument used in favour of the amendment was that a retired judge could not be as impartial and independent as a sitting judge—as if a judge's habit and practice of independence and impartiality would be lost immediately he retired.

We have gone through the report of the Joint Committee carefully. We tried our best to modify the Bill as far as possible during the stage of consideration in the Joint Committee and we must say that changes accepted by the Committee have substantially improved the Bill.

2. Although clause 5 as amended by the Committee is distinct improvement, we are not satisfied only with this change. The present change states that a Tribunal consisting of one person who will be a sitting judge of a High Court would be appointed. In spite of the fact that a time-limit has been put for a decision by the Tribunal, we feel that on such fundamental matters like this which will deal with the justification of curbing the right of an association to function legally, it is always better that the final decision be let with the High Court. A Bench of the High Court would inspire greater confidence and the parties concerned would be able to get better legal advice and assistance. We would therefore suggest a further change.

3. After giving full consideration to all aspects of the question, we are not convinced that such a bill is at all necessary. The fundamental right of association should not be curbed on such flimsy grounds and the Executive should not be vested with such arbitrary powers. We admit that any trend or movement which tentamounts to the disintegration or threatens the sovereignty and territorial integrity of the country must not be permitted and in no case any person or association should be permitted to indulge in activities for the cession of a part of the territory of India or for the seccession of a part of our territory from the Union of India. This would be more than a treasonable act. But the powers already vested in the Executive in different Acts are, according to us, sufficient to deal with any such contingency. The real difficulty is that these powers are not being exercised in the proper manner and at the proper time in the interest of the nation.

4. Under the circumstances, we feel that such a measure is unnecessary and unwanted and the Parliament would do well to reconsider the entire position.

NEW DELHI;
The 18th November, 1967.

The Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Bill, 1967 has undergone some changes in the Select Committee; but the Bill has remained basically the same as was introduced in the Lok Sabha.

2. It is wholly an obnoxious Bill, and cloaths the executive with powers to declare Associations unlawful which can be used by the Party in power against Political parties which challenge its rule.

3. Ostensibly, the Bill seeks to prevent organised activities aimed at (1) cessation of any part of the country; and (2) cessation of any part of the country to a foreign power.

4. As far as the question of cessation is concerned, the passing of this Bill is not in any way going to help the solution of the issue where it has been raised as in Nagaland or the Mizo Hills. As for Kashmir, it is equally political question. The demand has not been raised anywhere else. The D.M.K. of Tamil Nad which had the aim of a separate Sovereign Dravida Nad, had given up this demand and is now running the State Government.

5. The unity of this multilingual country was forged during the struggle against British rule, and if this great heritage is not taken forward to further cement the unity of the country and its people speaking different languages, the causes are to be looked for in the policies pursued by the Government in regard to economic development, languages and administration. If these policies are persisted in, centrifugal forces will certainly get strengthened which cannot be fought by repressive laws. These forces can only be fought by pursuing different policies.

6. As for the second object, viz., prevention of cessionist activities, no one desires the cession of any part of the country to a foreign power. If today, a part of Kashmir is under occupation of Pakistan and Aksai Chin is under occupation of China, it is not because of the desire of any one in this country. It is the Government of India that is solely responsible for this state of affairs. The reality is, that whatever might be on paper, in actual physical terms, it is the Government of India that has ceded these areas. The Government has offered many times a 'No war Pact' with Pakistan, which means that the Government of India is not going to attempt to wrest the area from Pakistan by military means. Not only that, it is known that in the talks with Pakistan in 1963, our Government actually offered to settle the international boundary at the present cease-fire lines. Had such a settlement come about, one may question the wisdom of the Government of India, but cannot accuse it of treachery, because the offer was made in good faith in the best interests of the country, as the Government conceived.

7. If it is correct for the Government to make such an offer and seek a particular settlement of a border dispute with a neighbouring country, it cannot be penalised in the case of a political party or an association. This is exactly what the Bill seeks to do.

8. Constitutionally also, this Bill, if enacted, would infringe the provisions of the Constitution. The provisions of the Bill go beyond the purview of the reasonable restrictions on fundamental rights contemplated in the Constitution.

9. In this connection, the evidence of the Attorney-General, before the Joint Committee has great relevance. Some of us in the Joint Committee wanted a number of jurists to be examined on the constitutionality of the provisions of the Bill. But the Home Minister opposed it and agreed to examine only the Attorney-General and the majority of the Committee concurred with him. Hence, he alone was examined.

10. It is true that in his opening statement before the Committee Shri C. K. Daphtary said:

"I think it is permissible legislation under the exceptions to Article 19 of the Constitution."

But his answers to questions do not bear this out. I am giving below the relevant extracts from the record of the evidence.

11. I had quoted some instances of the Supreme Court in regard to "reasonable restrictions" and had asked him how he could call the restrictions provided for in this Bill reasonable. In answer to that, Shri C. K. Daphtary stated:

"Shri C. K. Daphtary: May I answer, though it is not easy to answer. Let me start with the Judgement first. That was in 1952. The outlook on fundamental rights and what is reasonable or proper protection, has, as you are aware, gone through a series of changes in that particular court. There was a time in the beginning when the fundamental rights were quite firm. There came a period when they were eroded and gradually Article 14 almost ceased to exist. Then again came a period when the fundamental rights were put up firmly and everything was tested. Perhaps we are again coming to a period when they will not be looked at seriously as before. The dicta has varied from period to period. There was a time when everything was looked upon very strictly. There was a period when the court was inclined to be much more generous in its looking upon the adequacy of safeguards."

What does all this boil down to? The Attorney-General feels that if the Constitution "was looked upon very strictly," the restrictions imposed in this Bill cannot be construed as reasonable, but he hopes that although just now we are in a period wherein "the fundamental rights were put up firmly and everything was tested. Perhaps we are coming to a period when they will not be looked at as seriously as before."

12. It is only on this assumption, that he was able to say that the restrictions are reasonable. What basis there is for this astrological forecast of the behaviour of the Supreme Court, he did not tell the Committee. At any rate, Parliament can go only on the basis of what is the present position of the Fundamental Rights, and cannot undertake legislation on the basis of such astrological forecasts of the future behaviour of the Supreme Court. If it should do so, then it should take advice on constitutional questions not from the Attorney-General, but from the astrologers, and there must be a Ministry of Astrology in Government.

13. Then again, the Attorney-General was questioned regarding the scope of Section 2(f)(i). Both in his opening statement and in answer to questions by some Members that the wording of the section means that an expression of opinion will not come under the purview of the Bill, but only any incitement to action will be actionable. I then pursued this matter with him and am giving below the relevant portions of the questions and answers :—

"Shri P. Ramamurti: You will see sub-clause (3) of section 13 says:—

> 'Nothing in this section shall apply to any treaty, agreement or convention entered into between the Government of India and the Government of any other country or to negotiations therefor carried on by any person authorised in this behalf by the Government of India.'

Therefore the Government of India is authorised to negotiate with any other country even for the purpose of cession of a part of our country or territory purely from a political point of view. Now, you said, an expression of opinion is not barred. Supposing, a political party thinks that the policies that the Government of India is persuing in a certain border dispute is not correct and, therefore, it thinks that there must be a political settlement which may be 'give and take', while an expression of opinion by an individual is considered to be correct, but a political party, in the interest of the country and genuinely thinking it to be in the interests of the country, in view of the power which the Government is authorised to exercise, in order to make the Government do that thing, it tries to mobilise the people, it tries to canvass support for the public opinion, will that be penalised under this Act?

Shri C. K. Daphtary: As I understand it, if you express an opinion collectively or singly, provided it is an opinion.

Shri P. Ramamurti: It is a question of acting when you say 'it incites other people', when it asks the Government of India to act in this particular manner. Therefore, it is wrong to ask the Government to do a particular thing which the Government is entitled to do under this Act. This Act provides that the Government of India can enter into negotiations etc. and act in a particular manner. How do you say that it is reasonable?

Section 13 is very clear that the Government can act. If I ask the Government to act—after all democracy means popular opinion—and the popular opinion asks the Government to act in a particular way, how is that wrong? For me to mobilise public opinion to go in a particular way, is not considered unlawful.

Shri C. K. Daphtary: The wording used is: "which is intended or supports any claim to bring about on any grounds whatsoever the cession and the rest.

Shri P. Ramamurti: Without supporting any claim—I need not support any claim—but in the interests of peace and in the interests of our country.

Shri C. K. Daphtary: The party collectively expresses an opinion; you meet together and say 'we express the opinion'.

Shri P. Ramamurti: Political parties in this country function not only among its members, in a democracy the political parties go to the people, ask their opinion, give their opinion, and ask the people to express themselves in favour of that. That means something going and inciting people to act in a particular way. Therefore, if we incite the people in a way as provided for under section 13, then you say: 'You can express an opinion, but you cannot ask the people to do that'. Then it becomes an offence. How is it a reasonable restriction? I can understand your saying 'you cannot question the territorial integrity' correct, I do not question. But in a particular set of circumstances, I may consider it to be in the interest of my country that a particular dispute must be resolved in a particular way, and that is provided for under the Bill itself. Under the Bill itself, the Government may do that. And if I ask the Government to act in that particular way, which is provided for and which is not unlawful, and I mobilise the people of the country for that purpose, then you will say 'you are inciting people. It is not merely an expression of opinion. Therefore, you are liable to be punished under this law'. How is it a reasonable restriction when I do something? If the Government is prohibited from doing anything, there I can understand your saying 'you could do that', but the Government is empowered with these powers.

Shri C. K. Daphtary: Why do you put into the Constitution 'integrity and sovereignty of India'. It is to preserve it.

Shri P. Ramamurti: But the Government in certain circumstances is authorised to do certain things. Therefore, in a democracy, people can certainly ask the Government to do a thing in a particular way. How is it unlawful?

Shri C. K. Daphtary: I agree. It did not strike me then.

Shri P. Ramamurti: Yes, he agrees.

At last, the Attorney-General had to agree that such restrictions are not reasonable.

14. Suppose at a general election, a political party decides to raise the issue of a political settlement of our border disputes as a major issue and defeat the ruling Party on that issue. It is perfectly a lawful and democratic procedure. The Bill would prevent it. The unreasonableness of the restrictions, thus become patent.

15. The Bill, therefore, is constitutionally improper. Politically it is inexpedient and will not serve the purpose of fighting centrifugal forces.

16. On the other hand it will become a weapon in the hands of the ruling Party to unscrupulously fight its opponents.

17. I, therefore, urge the dropping of the Bill.

जैसा कि विधेयक के उद्देश्य व करण में दिया गया है कि यह विधेयक राष्ट्रीय एकीकरण और क्षेत्रीयता समिति के सर्वसम्मत सुझाव पर आधारित है, पर यह याद रखने योग्य है कि उस समिति का सुझाव विशिष्ट परिस्थितियों पर आधारित था जब कि मद्रास के एक बड़े राजनैतिक पक्ष ने स्वतंत्र द्रविड़नाड की मांग की थी, अब तो इस पक्ष ने वह मांग छोड़ दी है, इस कारण हम विरोध पक्ष के लोगों का मत रहा है कि इस प्रकार के कानून की अब कोई आवश्यकता नहीं रही। हमें आशंका है कि इस कानून से सरकार को ऐसे विशेष अधिकार प्राप्त हो जायेंगे जिनके दुरुपयोग की बहुत बड़ी संभावना है।

2. हम स्वीकार करते हैं कि आपात्कालीन स्थिति में राष्ट्रहित की दृष्टि से इस प्रकार के कानून की आवश्यकता हो सकती है, तथा देश द्रोह को स्पष्ट परिभाषा करके उसे एक दण्डनीय अपराध स्वीकार किये जाने वाला एक स्थायी कानून बनाया जाना चाहिये परन्तु इस विधेयक के लिये हम सहमत नहीं हो सकते जिसमें राष्ट्र विरोधी कार्य की लचीली परिभाषा करके सरकार के सहन न होने योग्य किसी भी काम को लपेट में लिया जा सके। हमें आशा थी कि प्रवर समिति इस विधेयक के दुरुपयोग की संभावनाओं को रोकने की व्यवस्था करेगी, पर इसमें यह असफल रही है। अतः इस विमति-पत्र द्वारा हम बहुमत के प्रतिवेदन से असहमति प्रकट करते हैं।

3. जब विधेयक की विभिन्न धाराओं पर विचार हो रहा था तब हमने सुझाव दिया था कि धारा 2 (एफ) में गैरकानूनी कार्य की व्याख्या इतनी स्पष्ट रखी जाय कि सरकार द्वारा उसका मनमाना अर्थ न लगाया जा सके। मूल विधेयक में इस उपधारा के तीन उपभाग थे। पहले में पृथकता की कार्यवाहियों के लिये व्यवस्था थी, जब कि दूसरे उपभाग में देश की प्रभुसत्ता को किसी भी कोने में चुनौती को गैरकानूनी माना गया था तथा तीसरे में देश की एकता को चुनौती देना दण्डनीय था। यद्यपि अब उपधारा दो व तीन को मिला कर तथा संविधान की भाषा के अनुसार ही प्रभुसत्ता व अखंडता का उल्लेख कर मूल विधेयक में काफी सुधार कर दिया गया है, फिर भी हम यह आवश्यक समझते हैं कि 'अखंडता' (Integrity) शब्द के पूर्व 'क्षेत्रीय' (Territorial) शब्द अवश्य जोड़ दिया जाना चाहिए। अन्यथा 'अखण्डता' (Integrity) शब्द की व्याख्या होनी चाहिए क्योंकि आजकल यह शब्द अनेक अर्थों व भावों को व्यक्त करने के लिए प्रयोग किया जा रहा है।

4. धारा 3 में दो उपबन्ध हैं जिनसे हम सहमत नहीं हो सकते। धारा (2) का उपबन्ध सरकार को अधिकार देता है कि वह अपनी विज्ञप्ति में जनहित के नाम पर चाहे, तो उन तथ्यों को प्रगट न करे जिनक आधार पर संगठन को गैर कानूनी घोषित किया गया है। हमारी यह मान्यता है कि जनसाधारण को संतुष्ट किये बिना तथा अपने निर्णय को खरा दिखाये बिना सरकार को यह अधिकार नहीं दिया जाना चाहिए। इस उपबन्ध के द्वारा सरकार को दी गई संरक्षण से अन्ततोगत्वा कानून का दुरुपयोग ही होगा।

5. धारा 3(3) का उपबन्ध तो और भी अधिक आपत्तिजनक है। इसका लाभ ले कर इस कानून में न्यायाधिकरण के लिए की गई व्यवस्था द्वारा रोके जा सकने वाले अन्याय को ही सरकार टाल जायगी। सरकारी आज्ञा को लागू करने के पूर्व अधिकरण की स्वीकृति की अनिवार्यता को ही समाप्त कर दिया गया है।

6. अधिकरण के गठन के संबंध में भी हमारी मान्यता है कि इसमें तीन सदस्य होना चाहिए जिनमें से अध्यक्ष सर्वोच्च न्यायालय का तथा शेष दो उच्च न्यायालय के न्यायाधीश होने चाहिए। एक सदस्यीय अधिकरण पर पक्षपात के आरोप लगाये जाने का भी भय है जिसका अर्थ न्यायाधीश पर व्यक्तिगत आक्षेप भी होगा, जिसे दुर्भाग्यपूर्ण माना जाना चाहिए। तीन सदस्यीय व्यवस्था से इसका निराकरण संभव है।

7. गैर कानूनी कार्यों के लिए लम्बी सजा की व्यवस्था भी अतर्कसंगत है। धारा 13 में गैर कानूनी कार्य करनेवाले को 7 वर्ष तक के कारावास का प्रावधान है। पर धारा 6(2) के द्वारा केन्द्र सरकार अपनी इच्छा से गैर कानूनी घोषित करने की अपनी आज्ञा को रद्द कर सकती है। वैसे भी न्यायाधिकरण द्वारा सरकारी आज्ञा को उचित माने जाने के बाद भी 2 वर्ष बाद स्वयमेव आज्ञा निरस्त हो जाती है। अतः विधेयक में ही इस बात की व्यवस्था होनी चाहिए कि आज्ञा की समाप्ति के साथ ही वे सभी व्यक्ति जो इस कानून के अन्तर्गत बंदी हों, उन्हें भी मुक्त कर दिया जाय।

8. धारा 13 की उपधारा (3) से भी हमारा मतभेद है। जो कार्य किसी व्यक्ति अथवा संगठन द्वारा किये जाने पर गैरकानूनी माना जाय, उसी कार्य के लिए इस उपधारा के अधीन सरकार को दोषमुक्त किया गया है। यह तर्क दिया जाता है कि सर्वोच्च सत्ता को यह अधिकार प्राप्त होना चाहिए कि वह अपनी भूमि के संबंध में सौदे कर सके। हम इसका विरोध करते हैं। हमारे देश का संविधान तो संसद् को भी यह अधिकार नहीं देता। संविधान की धारा 1 में जहां देश की सीमाओं का उल्लेख है वहां भी क्षेत्र जोड़ने का प्रवाधान है, तोड़ कर अलग करने का नहीं। पर यदि यह अधिकार सर्वसत्ता सम्पन्नता का अभिन्न अंग माना भी जाता हो तो भी इस अधिकार को संसद को ही देना होगान कि सरकार को। अतः सरकार यदि कोई भी ऐसा काम करना चाहती है (जो धारा 13(3) के न होने पर गैर कानूनी कार्य माना जा सकता है) तो उसके लिए अनिवार्य होना चाहिए कि उस पर संसद की पूर्व स्वीकृति ली जाय।

9. अन्त में हम इतने महत्व के प्रश्न पर राज्य सरकारों की राय न लिए जाने की निन्दा करते हैं। यह अत्यन्त आश्चर्य का विषय है कि प्रवर समिति को भी इस बात पर रजामन्द कर लिया गया कि राज्य सरकारों के राय की अवश्यकता नहीं है जब कि राज्य सरकारों के सहयोग पर ही इस कानून का सफल कार्यान्वयन बहुत हद तक निर्भर करता है।

10. अपने इस मत के आधार पर हम चाहते हैं कि सरकार इस विधेयक को वापिस ले। हम फिर दोहराते हैं कि राष्ट्र विरोधी कार्यों की रोक थाम के लिए स्पष्ट रूप से देशद्रोह को रोकने वाला एक स्थायी कानून बनाया जाना जाहिए।

[English Version of the above]

It has been stated in the Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Bill that this bill is based on the unanimous suggestion of the Committee on National Integration and Regionalism. But it should be remembered that this suggestion was based on specific circumstances when a major political party of Madras had demanded an Independent Dravidnad. Now therefore when they have given up this demand, we, of the Opposition, are of the opinion that this kind of legislation will be of no use now. We are afraid that Government would be saddled with such special powers through this legislation as are most likely to be abused by Government.

2. We admit that in an emergency, such a law could have been needed in the national interest and that a permanent law should be enacted which acknowledges unpatriotic activities as a punishable offence after clearly defining it. But we cannot agree to this Bill wherein any such activity which is not tolerable to Government could be called to account by giving an elastic definition of anti-national activity. We hoped that the Joint Committee would provide for the prevention of the scope for misuse of this Bill but the Committee has failed to do so. Therefore, we express our disagreement with the report of the majority through this Minute of Dissent.

3. At the time of clause-by-clause consideration of this Bill, we had suggested that the definition of unlawful activity in section 2(a) should be so specified as to prevent the Government from attaching whatever meaning to it they liked. There were three parts of this sub-section in the original Bill. The first part contained provisions regarding separatist activities, whereas, in the second part, challenge to country's sovereignty was accepted as illegal and in the third part, it was penal to challenge country's unity. Although, sufficient improvement has been made in the original Bill by combining the second and third parts and making a mention of sovereignty and integrity according to the language of the Constitution, even then we consider it necessary that the word 'territorial' must be prefixed to word 'integrity' therein. Otherwise the word 'integrity' should be clearly defined because these days this word is being used to convey different meanings and emotions.

4. We cannot agree to two provisions of section 3. The provision of sub-section (2) empowers Government not to disclose any fact which it considers to be against the public interest to disclose on the basis of which any association has been declared unlawful. We maintain that such power should not be given to Government without satisfying the people and without justifying their decision. This law would only be abused ultimately by shielding Government under this provision.

5. The provision made in section 3(3) is still more objectionable. Taking its advantage, the Government would come in the way of the removal of injustice by the tribunal for which a provision has been made in the Bill. The obligation of the tribunal's approval before the enforcement of the Government Order has been nullified.

6. In regard to the constitution of the tribunal also we maintain that it should consist of three members with the Chairman as the judge of the Supreme Court and the remaining two members as the judges of High Courts. Besides, it is also feared that there would be allegations of favouritism against the one-member tribunal which would also mean personal attack on the judge which should be considered unfortunate. This fear can be eliminated by making a provision for three-member tribunal.

7. The punishment for longer period for unlawful activities is also unreasonable. In section 13, a provision for imprisonment upto seven years has been made for the persons indulging in unlawful activities. But under Section 6(2) the Central Government can, on its own accord, cancel its own order declaring an association to be unlawful. Otherwise also, Government order ceases to operate suo motu after the expiry of two years even when approved by the tribunal. Therefore, it should be provided in the Bill itself that all the persons imprisoned under this law should be released as soon as the order ceases to operate.

8. We differ also in regard to sub-Section (3) of Section 13. Under this Section, the Government has been exempted from being charged with unlawful activities while any person or association can be declared unlawful if they indulge in any such activities. An argument is advanced that the Supreme power should have the right to enter into transactions in regard to its territory. We oppose this argument. The Constitution of our country does not give this right even to the Parliament. Even in Article 1 of the Constitution which refers to the territory of India, there is a provision for including some territories and not to dismember and separate the same. But even if this right is considered to be an integral part of Sovereign Power, then it has been given to the Parliament and not to the Government. Therefore, in case, Government want to embark upon any such activity which could be considered to be unlawful in the absence of Section 13(3), the prior approval of the Parliament should be made compulsory.

9. Finally, we disapprove the fact of not taking the opinion of the State Governments on the question of such a great importance. It is very strange that the Select Committee was also made to agree that there was no need for the opinion of the State Governments while the successful implementation of the law, to a very large extent, depends upon the cooperation of the State Governments.

10. On the basis of these views of ours we would like the Government to withdraw this Bill. We reiterate that in order to check the anti national activities, a permanent comprehensive legislation to stop treason should be enacted.

SECRETARIAT

Shri M. C. Chawla—Deputy Secretary.

2. The Committee first considered whether any evidence should be taken on the Bill. Some Members felt that certain provisions in the Bill appeared to impinge on the Fundamental Rights provided in the Constitution and suggested that the Committee might hear the views of the (i) Attorney-General of India; (ii) Solicitor-General of India; and (iii) Shri H. M. Seervai, Advocate General of Maharashtra. After some discussion it was decided that the Attorney-General should only be sent for.

On the question of the vires of the Bill the Chairman referred the Committee in this connection to the following ruling given by the Speaker:

> "It is not for Chair to decide the vires of a Bill. The House also does not take a decision on the question of vires of a Bill. It is open to members to express any views in the matter and in the light of that, instead of taking a decision separately on the vires of the Bill they could take such decision as they deem fit on the motion before the House with regard to the Bill." [L.S. Debates, 22-4-63 cc. 11211-12.]

3. Earlier, Sarvashri Madhu Limaye, P. Ramamurti and S. M. Banerjee gave a formal notice of the following motion seeking to call for the 3 legal experts referred to above:

> "I formally move that Shri S. V. Gupte, Solicitor General of India and Shri H. M. Seervai, Advocate General, Maharashtra may be heard in connection with the constitutionality and original clauses of the Bill. The Attorney-General of India may also be called as a witness in case his appearance is not against the Constitutional provisions."

But on the Joint Committee agreeing to hear the Attorney-General of India only, they did not press it.

4. On a point being raised about the scope of the examination of the Attorney-General, the Chairman referred to Rule 273 and pointed out the procedure for examining the witness. It was decided that the Attorney-General should be examined only on the constitutional aspect of the Bill.

5. It was then decided to issue a Press Communique inviting memoranda on the Bill from interested parties etc. by the 29th September, 1967 at the latest (Annexure).

6. The Committee also decided that it was not necessary to address any communication to the State Governments inviting their comments and suggestions on the Bill.

7. On the point whether a date might be fixed by which amendments should be sent, an objection was raised by Shri S. N. Dwivedi who contended that it should be left open to the Members to give notice of amendments from day-to-day, as the Committee proceeded with the Bill. It was, however, explained that while Members could give notice of amendments one day before the Committee took up the Bill clause-by-clause and also on the same day with the permission of the Chairman as laid down in Rule 300, it would facilitate their consolidation and circulation not only to the Members but also to the Ministries of Home Affairs and Law, if these could be given a few days before the Committee met. This also applied to the Government amendments. It was then decided that, as far as possible, notices of amendments should be given by the 13th October, 1967.

8. The Committee then decided to sit daily from 3.00 p.m. from the 16th October, 1967 onwards to hear the Attorney-General of India and thereafter consider the Bill clause-by-clause.

9. The Committee then adjourned.

(ii) Page 2, line 6,—

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

4. Clause 3.—The clause was discussed at some length by the Committee in the light of a number of amendments moved in respect of proviso to sub-clause (3) of this clause. The Minister-in-charge, however, gave an assurance that the proviso would be resorted to in absolutely extraordinary situations.

The clause was then adopted without amendment.

5. Clause 4.—In regard to this clause it was suggested that some time limit should be fixed within which the Tribunal must decide the matter referred to it.

The Committee then accepted the following amendments:—

for "in the prescribed manner" substitute—"in the manner specified in section 9"

(ii) Page 3, line 38,—

after "as expeditiously as possible", insert—

"and in any case within a period of six months from the date of the issue of the notification under sub-section (1) of section 3".

The Clause, as amended, was adopted.

6. Clause 5.—In order to create confidence of the public in the authority envisaged under the Bill for the purpose of adjudicating whether or not there was sufficient cause for declaring an association unlawful, the following alternatives were suggested:—

(i) that the power of adjudication should vest in High Courts; or

(ii) that the Tribunal should consist of a sitting Judge of a High Court, instead of Retired High Court Judges or of persons qualified to be the Judges of High Courts.

After considerable discussion the following amendments were accepted:—

"of one person, to be appointed by the Central Government; Provided that no person shall be so appointed unless he is a Judge of a High Court.

(2) If, for any reason, a vacancy (other than temporary absence) occurs in the office of the presiding officer of the Tribunal then, the Central Government shall appoint another person in accordance with the provisions of this section to fill the vacancy and the proceedings may be continued before the Tribunal from the stage at which the vacancy is filled."

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

7. Clause 6.—The Committee felt that it was not desirable that the Government should have the power to continue the ban on unlawful associations more or less indefinitely without any judicial determination. The following amendment was, therefore, accepted:—

Omit lines 28 to 32.

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

8. The Committee then adjourned to meet again on Wednesday, the 18th October, 1967 at 10.00 hours to continue clause-by-clause consideration of the Bill.

2. The Committee resumed clause-by-clause consideration of the Bill.

3. Clause 7.—In regard to sub-clause (1), some members suggested that personal accounts of the persons indulging in unlawful activities should be frozen so as to prevent their use for unlawful activities, others said this would cause harassment to the individuals and their families.

The Minister-in-charge stated by way of elucidation that the restriction was intended to apply for freezing the funds which were intended to be used for unlawful activities. It was not contemplated to apply this restriction so as to deprive such person from the use of personal accounts for legitimate purposes.

The Committee were of the opinion that the investigation under the clause should only be entrusted to an officer belonging to a Gazetted rank.

The Committee then accepted the following amendments:—

(i) Page 6, lines 13-14,— for "in such manner as may be prescribed", substitute "in the manner specified in sub-section (3)"

(ii) Page 6, line 17,—
for "officer" substitute "Gazetted officer"

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

4. Clause 8.—The Committee were of the view that articles used in ordinary course of living should not be listed—and that near relatives of any person who is a resident of a prohibited place, should be exempted from the provisions of sub-clause (4).

The Committee, therefore, accepted the following amendments:—

(i) Page 7, line 22,

after "Movable properties", insert—

"(other than wearing apparel, cooking vessels, beds and beddings, tools of artisans, implements of husbandry cattle, grain and foodstuffs and such other articles as he considers to be of a trivial nature)".

(ii) Page 7, lines 30-31,—

Omit "or any officer authorised by him in writing in this behalf"

(iii) Page 7, after line 34, insert—

"Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to any near relative of any person who was a resident in the notified place at a date of the notification".

(iv) Page 8, line 1,

after "police officer" insert "not below the rank of Sub-Inspector"

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

5. Clause 9.—Some members suggested that a right of cross-examination should be specifically provided in the Act regarding the evidence led by affidavit and not be left to the discretion of the Tribunal.

It was explained that under Order XIX of the Civil Procedure Code if a party bonafide desires for production of a witness for cross-examination, the court shall have to grant the request to cross-examine the witness.

The clause was then adopted without amendment.

6. Clause 10.—The Committee considered that since it had been decided that the notification declaring an association unlawful would remain in force for only two years, the punishment for being a member of an unlawful association under this clause would be reduced from three years to two years.

The following amendment was accordingly accepted:—

for "three" substitute "two".

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

7. Clause 11.—The clause was adopted without amendment.

8. Clause 12.—The Committee decided to reduce the punishments for offences under this clause and accepted the following amendments:—

(i) Page 9, lines 13 and 14,—

for "in respect of which a prohibitory order has been", substitute "in contravention of a prohibitory order in respect thereof".

(ii) Page 9, line 16,—

for "three years" substitute "one year";

(iii) Page 9, line 17,— after "Whoever" insert "knowingly and wilfully",

(iv) Page 9, line 20,—

for "three years" substitute "one year"

(v) Page 9, omit lines 21-23.

The Clause, as amended, was adopted.

9. Clause 13—The Committee having decided to reduce the punishments for unlawful activities laid down in sub-clauses (1) and (2) of this clause, accepted the following amendments therein:—

(i) Page 9, line 28,
for "ten" substitute "seven".

(ii) Page 9, line 34,—for "seven" substitute "five"

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

10. The Committee then discussed at some length the implications of an amendment to sub-clause (3) of clause 13 which sought the prior approval of Parliament before any exemption to any treaty, agreement or convention being entered into between the Government of India and the Government of any other country or to any negotiations therefor carried on by any person authorised in this behalf by the Government of India was given. A view was, however, held by some members that the prior approval of Parliament would frustrate all efforts of negotiations by the Government of India with other countries and would thus make the administration by Government difficult. All that was sought for in such cases was that Parliament must put its seal on any such treaty, agreement or convention before it could be implemented. The Committee, however, did not accept the proposed amendment.

11. New Clause 13A—The Committee felt that all offences under the Act should be made cognizable irrespective of the maximum period of imprisonment provided thereunder.

The Committee then adopted the following new clause:—

Offences to be cognizable 5 of 1889

"13A. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, an offence punishable under this Act shall be cognizable."

12. Clause 14.—The clause was adopted without amendment.

13. Clause 15—The Committee were of the opinion that all the processes envisaged under this Act should be initiated even in respect of succeeding association as in the case of parent association, and therefore, the retention of this clause was not necessary.

The clause was accordingly omitted.

14. Clauses 16 and 17.—The clauses were adopted without amendment.

15. Clause 18.—The following amendment was accepted:—

Omit "Central".

The clause, as amended, was adopted.

16. Clauses 19 to 21.—The clauses were adopted without amendment.

17. Clause 1, the Title and the Enacting Formula were adopted without amendment.

18. The Chairman then drew the attention of the members of the Committee to the provisions of Direction 87 of the Directions by the Speaker under the Rules of Procedure regarding minutes of dissent.

19. The Committee directed the Legislative Council to correct the patent errors and to carry out amendments of consequential nature in the Bill and to submit an attested copy thereof, as amended, by Saturday, the 28th October, 1967 at the latest.

20. The Committee also decided that the evidence given by the Attorney-General before the Committee should be printed and laid before the Houses.

21. The Committee then adjourned to meet again on Sunday, the 12th November, 1967 at 11.00 hours to consider their draft report.

On a suggestion being made by some members, that as there would be very little time available to them to give their minutes of dissent in case the report was to be presented to the House on the following day viz, the 13th November, 1967, as scheduled, it was decided to ask for an extension of time for a week in this behalf.

The Committee then authorised the Chairman to move a motion in the House for extension of the time upto Monday, the 20th November, 1967 for the presentation of the report.
