CONTENTS

(Pamphlets on Village Industries, and Rural Reconstruction.)

Why the Village Movement?

(A plea for a new economic order in India)

J. C. KUMARAPPA

Organiser & Secretary, All India Village Industries Association.
WARDHA, C. P.

1956
RAJAHMUNDRY

PUBLISHED BY THE HINDUSTAN PUBLISHING CO. LTD.,
PRINTED BY THE RAZAN ELECTRIC PRESS
RAJAHMUNDRY
S. INDIA

Price Inland As. 8, Foreign 1 Sh.
X91.2
G6
13200
CONTENTS

Part I.
HISTORICAL BACK-GROUND

CHAPTER I
Stages of Evolution

The urge for activity in the animal kingdom.

CHAPTER II
Western Economic Organisations

CHAPTER III
Eastern Economic Organisation

Part II
MODERN SITUATION
CHAPTER IV
Natural Order

Supply and demand in nature. In agricultural civilization helping nature. Bespoken manufacture.

CHAPTER V
The Place of Women

Different endowments of men and women and consequent difference in economic functions. Woman as a demand creator. Position of women in the pack type and the herd type. As discriminating consumers.

CHAPTER VI
International Strife

Part III
THE SOLUTION
CHAPTER VII
Industrialisation
Co-ordination of agriculture and handicrafts. Division of labour. Human factor. 'Unemployment' Production as a means of distributing wealth. Interest of the producer. Work as education. Planned economy, leisure, capital and centralised power, Markets.

CHAPTER VIII
Function of Work
Work as practical religion. Three kinds of activities — Activity under external order resulting in drudgery and slavery; activity for its own sake — sports; and activity with a self chosen purpose leading to development of personality. Work and culture. Leisure. Inventions. Work as means of wealth distribution. Work to aim at development of worker.

CHAPTER IX
Present Programme
Agriculture. Pressure on land. Subsidiary and cottage industries to relieve pressure. A.I.S.A. and
A. I. V. I. A. Broad-based production for village needs. Kind of industries recommended. Foreign raw material. Curio trade. Help that women can give.

CHAPTER X

International Peace