

PUBLIC PERSONNEL PROBLEMS

From the Standpoint of the Operating Officer

By LEWIS MERIAM

THIS is not another book dealing exclusively with the merit system and civil service control. Its objectives are (1) to attempt to see public personnel administration as a whole, (2) to view it primarily but by no means exclusively from the standpoint of an operating officer immediately responsible for getting a specific task done, and (3) to deal with the subject as simply and as realistically as possible, making free use of illustrative cases. It is not designed to make, or attempt to make, personnel technicians but rather to promote better understanding of the broad problems of personnel in American governments. Discussions of techniques and technical problems are not carried further than seems necessary to give that understanding.

PUBLIC WELFARE ORGANIZATION

By A. C. MILLSPAUGH

THIS timely study is included on the lengthening list of publications by which the Institute for Government Research of The Brookings Institution is contributing to popular understanding of governmental activities. In this comprehensive volume, problems of administration are approached realistically through the critical analysis of conditions in the field of public welfare administration.

Profiting by his experience as an administrator and as a participant in several state surveys, Dr. Millspaugh has written a book which, because of its wealth of information, its clarity of presentation, and its critical frankness, will appeal alike to political scientists, sociologists, public welfare administrators, social workers, and other leaders of opinion.

THE BROOKINGS INSTITUTION

The Brookings Institution—Devoted to Public Service through Research and Training in the Social Sciences—was incorporated on December 8, 1927. Broadly stated, the Institution has two primary purposes: the first is to aid constructively in the development of sound national policies; and the second is to offer training of a super-graduate character to students of the social sciences. The Institution will maintain a series of co-operating institutes, equipped to carry out comprehensive and inter-related research projects.

The responsibility for the final determination of the Institution's policies and its program of work and for the administration of its endowment is vested in a self-perpetuating board of trustees. The trustees have, however, defined their position with reference to the investigations conducted by the Institution in a by-law provision reading as follows: "The primary function of the trustees is not to express their views upon the scientific investigations conducted by any division of the Institution, but only to make it possible for such scientific work to be done under the most favorable auspices." Major responsibility for "formulating general policies and co-ordinating the activities of the various divisions of the Institution" is vested in the president. The by-laws provide also that "there shall be an advisory council selected by the president from among the scientific staff of the Institution and representing the different divisions of the Institution."
