

Dhananjayrao Gadgil Library

GIPE-PUNE-015168

Y: 4353: 67.2. M78t

B0.1-B0.2

15168

REPORT OF THE
INDIAN FAMINE COMMISSION.

PART I.
FAMINE RELIEF.

Presented to Both Houses of Parliament by Command of Her Majesty.

LONDON:
PRINTED BY GEORGE EDWARD EYRE AND WILLIAM SPOTTISWOODE,
PRINTERS TO THE QUEEN'S MOST EXCELLENT MAJESTY.
FOR HER MAJESTY'S STATIONERY OFFICE.

[C.—2591.] Price 5s.

1880.

COMMISSION of INQUIRY on INDIAN FAMINES, appointed by the Govt.
of INDIA, 16th May 1878.

Gen. R. STRACHEY, R.E., C.S.I., F.R.S., President.

JAMES CAIRD, C.B., Member of the English Enclosure and Copyhold Commission.

Hon. H. S. CUNNINGHAM, Judge of the High Court, Calcutta.

G. A. BALLARD, Madras Civil Service.

G. H. M. BATTEN, Bengal Civil Service.

L. B. PEILE, C.S.I., Bombay Civil Service.

C. RANGACHARLU, C.I.E., Controller of His Highness the Maharaja's Household, Mysore.

MAHADEO WASADEV BARVE, Karbari of the Kolhapur State.

C. A. ELLIOTT, C.S.I., Bengal Civil Service, Secretary.

} Mems

N.B.—Mr. BALLARD was replaced by Mr. H. E. SULLIVAN, of the Madras
Service, in January 1879.

Mr. BATTEN terminated his connection with the Commission in April

Messrs. RANGACHARLU and BARVE ceased to be members of the Commission in October 1879, in consequence of their inability to accompany the other members to England.

Y:4353:67.2.M78t
Bo.1 - Bo.2
15168

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

PART I.

Preliminary.

1. Secretary of State's Despatch directing appointment of Commission.
 2-19. Government of India; Instructions to the Commission.
 20-21. Proceedings of the Commission, and plan of Report.
 22-23. Geographical sketch of India, with details of Provinces.
 24. Population.

Rain-fall.

25. All India famines caused by drought.
 26. Supposed periodicity of fluctuations in rainfall.
 27. Want of sufficient evidence on the subject.
 28. Distribution of the rain over the year.
 29. Extent of rain-fall in different parts of India.
 30. The chief zones of rain-fall.
 31. Parts of the country secure from drought.
 32. Parts of the country most subject to drought.
 33. Importance of the extension of meteorological knowledge among officials.
 34. And among all classes in India.

History of past Famines.

35. Famines of last century.
 36. Famine of 1802-4.
 37. Famine of 1807 in Madras.
 38. Famine of 1812-13 and 1824-5 in Bombay and Madras.
 39. Famine of 1833 in Madras.
 40. Famine of 1837-8, North-Western Provinces.
 41. Famine of 1854, Madras.
 42. Famine of 1860-61 in North-Western Provinces and Rajputana.
 43. Famine of 1866-67, Madras.
 44. " " Orissa.
 45. " " Behar.
 46. Famine of 1868-69, Area affected.
 47. " " Rajputana and Central India.
 48. " " North-Western Provinces and Punjab.
 49. " " Central Provinces and Bombay.
 50. Famine of 1873-74, Behar.
 51. " " North-Western Provinces and Oudh.
 52. Secretary of 1875-76.
 53. Famine of 1876-78, its Extent.
 54. " " Policy of famine relief.
 55. " " Bombay.
 56. " " Mysore.
 57. " " Madras.
 58. " " The English charity.
 59. " " Hyderabad.
 60. " " The North-Western Provinces.
 61. " " The Punjab.

The Characteristics and Consequences of Famines.

- Para.
 69. Chronological list of famines.
 70. Synoptical view of famine chronology.
 71. Famine statistics.
 72. The number of famines and the intervals between them.
 73. Liability of different provinces to drought.
 74. Irregularity of the recurrence of droughts.
 75. Probable greatest area of famine and extent of relief.
 76. Relation between drought and duration of famine.
 77. What loss of the harvest produces famine.
 78. Effects of scarcity on prices.
 79. Estimate of the cost of relief given in past famines.
 80. Effects of scarcity on the death-rate.
 81. Mortality during the famine of 1876-8, and in the last 30 years.
 82. Relation of famine mortality to normal mortality.
 83. The possibility of saving life in time of famine.
 84. Recuperative power of the country.

General Considerations affecting the Administration of State Relief.

85. Certainty of the recurrence of famine.
 86. Historical sketch of the views of Government in respect of famine relief.
 87. Earliest views as to relief and interference with trade.
 88. Impossibility of giving relief efficiently.
 89. First attempt to relieve distress by public works.
 90. Relief measures adopted in 1837-8.
 91. More elaborate measures in 1860-1.
 92. Failure of the administration in Orissa in 1865-6.
 93. Increased activity in 1868-9.
 94. Energetic efforts made for relief in 1873-4.
 95. Financial effects of these relief measures.
 96. More serious financial effect of the famine of 1876-7.
 97. Modification of relief principles adopted in Behar.
 98. General enforcement of those principles.
 99. Financial provision for meeting the cost of the famine.
 100. Famine relief no cause of financial embarrassment.
 101. No former procedure as to famine relief to be altogether regarded as a precedent;
 102. But principles can be laid down based on past experience.
 103. Want of diversity of occupations in India.
 104. Effects of density of the population.
 105. Obligation of the State to give relief in time of famine.

Para.		Para.
106.	Obligation extends to the giving relief against other great calamities. ✓	148.	Object of the system.
107.	Necessity of administering famine relief so as not to check thrift and self-reliance,	149.	Nature of the organization.
108.	Or impair the structure of society.		V.— Food Supply.
109.	The classes that suffer from famine.	150.	Intervention of Government.
110.	How to ascertain the proper objects of State aid.	151.	Government prohibition of export.
111.	Labour test.	152.	Government importation of food.
	Practical Recommendations.	153.	Activity of private trade in India.
112.	The main principles of famine relief.	154.	Extension of railways.
	I.— Improved Administration and Statistics.	155.	Ability of the country to feed itself.
113.	A famine code to be prepared.	156.	Estimate of maximum famine demand and available supply.
114.	Financial control.	157.	Exports and possible imports.
115.	Necessity of a separate department,	158.	Probabilities of the future.
116.	To be called the Agricultural Department.	159.	Cases in which interference is admissible: (1.) Provision of food required for relief works and gratuitous distribution; (2.) Stimulus to trade where it is sluggish; (3.) Intervention by Government where trade fails to act, (4.) or refuses to sell.
117.	Organisation for famine relief.	160.	Proposal for Government storage.
118.	Appointment of a Famine Commissioner.	161.	Its probable cost.
119.	Special activity required.	162.	Economical difficulties and dangers.
120.	Co-operation of all departments.	163.	Bad effects on the people, and on trade.
121.	Need of improved agricultural, vital, and economic statistics.	164.	Sufficiency of private storage.
122.	Reform among the village accountants.		VI.— Suspension of Revenue and Loans to the Landed Classes.
123.	Supervisors of village accountants.	165.	Duties of Government to the landed classes.
124.	Special officers in each district to supervise statistics.	166.	Suspension of the land revenue.
125.	The Director of Agriculture.	167.	Suspension of rent.
	II.— Provision of Relief for the Able-bodied.	168.	Remission of revenue.
126.	The first effect of drought is to stop the demand for labour and raise prices.	169.	Loans to the landed classes.
127.	Duty of the State to come forward as an employer of labour.		VII.— Local Financial Responsibility.
128.	Nature and locality of the relief works.	170.	Localization of the cost of famine relief.
129.	Management of relief works.	171.	Advantages of this principle.
130.	Position of the collector in relation to the Public Works staff.	172.	Difficulty of working this principle in respect to different provinces.
131.	The wage and the task.	173.	And to the character of the men concerned in working it.
132.	Piecework.	174.	Modified application of the principle.
133.	Reasons for the above conclusions.	175.	Sufficiency of this system.
134.	Miscellaneous arrangements connected with relief works.	176.	How far provincial revenues can meet expenditure,
135.	Indications to be drawn from progress of relief works.	177.	Or be used to guarantee interest on protective works.
136.	Relief works at different stages of famine.	178.	Employment of local funds to extend communications.
	III.— Gratuitous Relief.	179.	Application of this suggestion to Madras and Bombay.
137.	Gratuitous relief the duty of the State,	180.	Financial responsibility cannot be extended to areas smaller than a province;
138.	To be carried out by the officers of Government.	181.	But executive responsibility can and should be extended.
139.	Two systems of gratuitous relief.		VIII.— Miscellaneous.
140.	Preferability of relief in villages.	182-183.	Amount of food required.
141.	Safeguards with which village relief should be worked.	184.	Employment of artisans.
142.	Utilization of village officers.	185.	Orphans.
143.	Details of the village relief system.	186.	Private charity. ✓
144.	Parda-nashin women.	187.	Utilization of public subscriptions at the close of a famine. ✓
145.	Relief-houses.	188.	Treatment of subjects of Native States.
146.	Efficient village relief will prevent wandering.	189.	Migration—(1st) to preserve the cattle;
	IV.— Village Inspection.	190.	„ (2nd) to preserve human life;
147.	Establishment of a system of village inspection.	191.	„ (3rd) aimless wandering.
		192.	How to meet cost of improved administration.
		193.	Conclusion.