NOTE BY THE PUBLISHERS.

THE following letters were addressed to the Rev. Dr Tweedie, Convener of the Free Church of Scotland's Foreign Mission Committee, and, being printed from time to time as soon as each was received, they were not only perused by many readers, but a very general desire was expressed for their republication in a collective form. To that desire the writer having kindly assented, the series is now brought together continuous and entire.

In passing through the press, it was impossible to secure for the work the benefit of the author's revision; but even with the most fastidious critic it is scarcely anticipated that any apologies will be needful on that account; whilst the majority of readers will prefer these Calcutta despatches just as they arrived, tense with the emotions, and all aflame with the tidings of that terrible season. It was at first believed by some that Dr Duff had exaggerated the nature of the Indian crisis; but each successive mail has only proved that he had sagaciously estimated aright both the depth and the diffusion of the revolt.

However rapidly the letters may have been written, there is nothing hasty or extempore in the views and opinions which they embody. These are the ripe result of thirty years. The statesman and the fair-minded Englishman will value them as the deliberate judgment of one who has possessed opportunities of observation almost unequalled; and to the Christian reader they will carry peculiar weight, as the testimony of one who has made life-long sacrifices for the sake of the gospel in India, and who, in the hands of the Most High, has been the means of inaugurating a singularly promising and successful scheme for India's moral and spiritual elevation.
