INDEX TO RECOMMENDATIONS.

PARA.		PAGE
CHAPTER I.—INTRODUCTION.
20.	When surveys of the kind attempted by the committee are made they should be made by stationing at convenient centres investigators who would make regular visits on the same day of every week to each of a number of surrounding villages, keeping a record of borrowings and expenses as they take place ... ..	11
CHAPTER V.—SHORT-TERM CREDIT FOR AGRICULTURE.
145.	In regions in which credit is generally available in the ordinary form through banks, co-operative societies, Chettiers or other private lenders, Government's advances under the Agriculturists' Loans Act should be restricted to assistance in cases of widespread distress ... ..	72
177.	(i) The most useful immediate measures for the improvement of agricultural finance are the improvement of agricultural technique and the improvement and extension of the co-operative system ... ..	86
	(ii) These imply amongst other things the use of improved and uniform seed, improvements in the public health and education as well as the improved financial machinery proposed in Chapter XIX to give better access to the general credit supply ... ..	86
	(iii) See the recommendation of paragraph 403 ... ..	86
178.	Regulation of the circumstances of tenants is necessary as a preliminary to the improvement of their financial facilities ...	87
CHAPTER VI.—LONG-TERM CREDIT FOR AGRICULTURE.
189.	Mortgaged land should not be refused as security for a loan under the Land Improvement Loans Act, but Government should take a mortgage of such land with the priority conferred by section 7 of the act, the rights of existing mortgagees being properly safeguarded by better arrangements for publishing and serving notices under section 5 ... ..	92
191.	(i) The Burma Land Improvement Rules should be re-drafted and the policy on which they are based should be fully explained in the departmental directions ... ..	93
	(ii) After that fresh efforts should be made to bring the facilities to the knowledge of cultivators ... ..	93
192 to 194.	Joint-stock and co-operative land-mortgage banks are both desirable, each suiting a different class of land-owners ... ..	93
200.	The land-mortgage banks should endeavour to strengthen the short-term co-operative credit system as much as possible ... ..	98
202.	Government should guarantee the interest on debentures of land-mortgage banks (Minority dissent) ... ..	99
204.	Debentures of land-mortgage banks should be declared suitable for the investment of trust-moneys (Minority dissent conditionally) ... ..	99
205.	Interest on debentures of co-operative land-mortgage banks (but not joint-stock land-mortgage banks) should be exempt from income-tax (Minority dissent) ... ..	100

CHAPTER VII.—CREDIT FOR MARKETING AGRICULTURAL PRODUCE.
PARA.	PAGE
209. A way should be sought to give a transferable title to holders of State land ... ..	101
238. A possibility of improvement in the marketing of paddy may be found in the development of sales by samples brought in by cultivators to a convenient centre where the present jungle-broker might become a commission-agent. ... ..	110
239. (a) Uniformity of grain should be encouraged ... ..	110
(b) Co-operative societies should control their members with respect to the types of paddy grown and the use of selected seed and adulteration of the harvest ... ..	111
242. The Agricultural Department should not be distracted from its field-work to organise regulated markets for crops ... ..	112
CHAPTER VIII.—CREDIT FOR INTERNAL TRADE.
277. The employment of usance bills of exchange should be encouraged; see also paragraph 339 in Chapter XIa and the recommendations of Chapter XIX ... ..	125
CHAPTER IX.—CREDIT FOR INDUSTRIES.
291. The financing of cottage industries is best done through Chettiars or professional moneylenders working on similar lines or co-operative societies ... ..	133
292, 293. The time for an industrial bank (to supply capital for an indefinite period) in Burma is not yet ripe; current finance can be provided by the banks proposed in Chapter XIX and the Chettiars and other banks and money-lenders ... ..	133
298. Rice-millers must have sufficient resources to obtain current finance as well as fixed capital before beginning the business and must provide for depreciation of plant and keep proper accounts ... ..	136
300 to 302. Care is required in planning the development of supplementary occupations for practical agriculturists who are owners or tenants ... ..	137
303. (i) In the wet zones the cultivator who is an owner or tenant with a full-sized holding requires his spare time for recuperation; in the drier zones where more time is available development should be in the direction of occupations closely related to the agriculture ... ..	138
(ii) The period of physical recuperation required by agriculturists should be used for self-culture, largely of an artistic character ... ..	139
(iii) Travelling adult schools and short courses on such subjects as agriculture and housewifery should be provided ... ..	139
304. The problem of occupations for agricultural labourers is rather to provide whole-time employment for an unemployed part of the labourers than to provide part-time employment for all ... ..	139
305. (i) Industries to absorb agricultural labourers should be sought amongst those that would utilise agricultural or forest products which are now wasted or are of too low grade to get a profitable price when used for other purposes ... ..	140
(ii) The recommendations of the Technical and Vocational Education Committee, 1927, should be taken up again ... ..	140
CHAPTER X.—MISCELLANEOUS CREDIT.
312. Government should pay its menials and lower division clerks weekly as an example to induce other employers to adopt the same plan ... ..	143
313. Banks might consider experimenting with personal loans on a plan like that used in New York by the National City Bank ... ..	144

CHAPTER XI.—CREDIT INSTRUMENTS AND DOCUMENTS OF TITLE.

PARA.	PAGE
343 to 345. Stamp-duty on usance bills and promissory-notes up to nine months usance should be reduced ... ..	156
345. Stamp duty for bills of more than nine months should be the same as for a bond ... ..	157
349. Definition of bill of exchange in the Indian Stamp Act should be amended ... ..	157
350. The Negotiable Instruments Act should be made to apply in full to bills of exchange in a language indigenous to Burma ... ..	158

352. Standard bill-forms in English and Burmese should be provided for optional use ... ..	158

CHAPTER XII.—REMITTANCE.

361. Savings-bank depositors should be allowed to credit or debit money orders to their accounts ... ..	162
362. Money-order forms should be enlarged ... ..	162
368. Balances of some surplus sub-treasuries should be reported to Rangoon more frequently ... ..	164
384. Postal-orders for internal remittance in India or Burma should be issued ... ..	169
389. Letters of credit should be issued and paid by post-offices at district headquarters subject to transfer of the work to a bank when feasible ... ..	171

CHAPTER XIII.—CO-OPERATIVE CREDIT.

392, 405. Co-operative societies should hold fast to sound business methods, cure the defects which the committee describes as the principal causes of the recent crisis, avoid locking up capital in long-term loans and endeavour to collect local deposits both from members and from non-members ... ..	172
393, 398. Loans repayable at next harvest should be the principal business of primary societies. Other loans should be forbidden except loans to buy plough-cattle in societies where the members usually employ only one or two yoke ... ..	173
394 to 398. All loans to be more adequately controlled; purposes to be stated in specific detail; loans to be given in instalments as required and promptly and vigorously recovered ... ..	173
395. Committees of societies to meet frequently; societies to be confined to small areas; number of societies to be limited to those that can be supervised and trained thoroughly ... ..	174
396. Societies should keep separate accounts of loans for which the time of repayment has been postponed ... ..	174
398. The credit of every member who manages his affairs extravagantly or does not treat his plough-cattle in the best way should be restricted ... ..	175
400, 401. Official control of societies is generally inadvisable; control should rather be by societies over themselves and by central banks ... ..	175
403. The question of legislating to permit the creation of an "agricultural charge" should be examined ... ..	176
408. Central banks which can make arrangements for liquid resource should be free to accept current accounts without restriction (Minority dissent) ... ..	178
409. Urban banks should be permitted to accept current accounts subject to certain conditions ... ..	180

PARA.	PAGE

413. (i) Present exemptions of co-operative societies from stamp-duty and registration-fees should continue ... ..	181
(ii) An additional exemption should be given for the stamp-duty on arbitrators' awards ... ..	181
414. Present rules relating to income-tax upon the income of societies and upon payments made by societies to continue with the additional exemptions from tax of—
(a) interest on securities held by a co-operative society and issued by Government or a local authority.
(b) interest paid by a co-operative society on debentures issued by it.
(Minority dissents on both points and makes comprehensive alternative proposals.) ... ..	181
417. Public funds should be allowed to be deposited with co-operative banks. ( Minority dissent with respect to current accounts; see paragraph 408. ) ... ..	183
420. (i) Closer connection between co-operative banks and the general banking system should be striven for ... ..	184
(ii) Co-operative banks should aim at conferring a higher degree of liquidity upon their paper for discount with other banks ... ..	184
(iii) Rates of interest on deposits in co-operative banks should be reduced as soon as possible ... ..	184
421, 422. Government should not supply working capital on a large scale for co-operative banks as a permanent arrangement. ( Dissent as to the early contraction of the assistance now given as a temporary measure in a crisis. ) ... ..	185
423. The desirability of appointing a committee on co-operation for all India should be considered ... ..	185
CHAPTER XIIIa.—INDIGENOUS BANKING.
No recommendations ... ..	...
CHAPTER XIIIb.—THE CHETTIAR SYSTEM.
518. Those Chettiars who accept deposits payable on demand should make provision for liquid resources in some way less likely than their present methods to become useless in a crisis (Chettiar member dissents) ... ..	231
520. Possibly a bill of exchange payable on the day after presentation should be given a distinctive name and the First Schedule to the Stamp Act amended accordingly ... ..	232
521, 523. Chettiars should make stricter enquiry into the title of agricultural land mortgaged to them and should be more strict in collecting the land-revenue receipts every year and retain them till the loan is repaid ... ..	233
554. The Commissioner of Income-tax should take steps to ensure early return of account-books borrowed by income-tax officers from Chettiars for checking the accounts ... ..	244
555. The income-tax of Chettiars should be collected when repayments are being received, and should possibly be collected in two or more instalments ... ..	244
558. The Income-tax Department and the Nattukkottai Chettiars' Association should endeavour to work out jointly a more satisfactory system for the assessment of Chettiars, and Government should place a suitable officer on special duty for the purpose ... ..	245

629. Standard forms of endorsement in Burmese for government promissory-notes should be prescribed and Burmese signatures accepted ...	284
634. The post-office rules with respect to government securities should be designed with a view to facilitating transactions in government securities by all small investors and not merely to provide facilities for savings-bank depositors ...	285
634. 635. The post-office should undertake to sell government securities for any person, whether a savings-bank depositor or not, up to Rs. 2,000 nominal value in one calendar year, although the holder may not have bought through the post-office, for securities bought through the post-office there should still be no limit ...	285
637. (a) Every savings-bank post-office should accept for safe custody government promissory-notes and stock-certificates up to a total nominal value of Rs. 30,000 without liability to income-tax and without reference to the manner of purchase ...	286
(b) Deposit of government securities with the post-office for safe custody should not confer exemption from income-tax, but the interest upon securities so deposited should be paid without deduction of tax at source ...	286
(c) The income-tax department should make its own arrangements for assessing the interest, and should be permitted to inspect the post-office records of deposits for the purpose ...	286
638. (a) Persons depositing government securities with the post-office should be required to maintain a savings-bank account to which the interest on the securities should be credited ...	287
(b) Post-office Rule 49 should be amended by adding a provision that no interest will be paid while no savings-account is maintained ...	287
(c) In case of the death of a depositor of government securities his executor should be allowed to have a savings-account for the estate until the securities are transferred to new holders ...	287

PARA.	PAGE
641. (i) Government should not undertake life-insurance business for the public, but should help the development of life-insurance by improvement of vital statistics and should set an example to other employers by granting facilities for remitting premia deducted from salary bills of employees of grades in which banking accounts are not usually kept	288
(ii) Other employers should also arrange to pay insurance premia by deductions from salary bills for employees who have no banking accounts	288
643. Government should allow local funds to place money on fixed deposit or savings-account with banks, and should experiment with allowing deposits of such funds on current account	289
644. Local bodies having current accounts with banks should be encouraged to pay their employees of suitable grades by individual cheques	289
646. Government's borrowings should be arranged principally to suit the smallest investors and the banks and insurance companies	290
647. A National Thrift Committee should be established	291

CHAPTER XVII.—LEGISLATION AND ADMINISTRATION.

652. In each law the definition of bank or banker should be adapted to the special objects of the law	293
