ADVERTISEMENT.

THE consideration of Sir WILLIAM JONES, as a man of Genius, his uncommon proficiencie in general learning, and his unrivalled attainments in the learning of the East, having unitedly called for an Edition of his Works, these Volumes are added to make them complete.

The PUBLICK need not be told, that to him the ASIATICK SOCIETY owes its existence; and, as it was constituted under his auspices, so, to his superintendance it is indebted for the celebrity it now enjoys, and the incalculable advantages it cannot fail to confer. Exclusively of the Papers which were delivered by the PRESIDENT in it, there is more than reason to suppose, many others were indebted to his pen; and as the greatest part of these papers were produced whilst he continued to preside, they in a special manner are appropriate to him. At least, thus far they certainly are, as ascertaining the extent which he witnessed of his own institution, and what it drew from his influence and personal exertions, in conjunction with the Members who placed him at their head.

Under this impression, the Purchasers of the Works of this inestimable Man, will consider the subsequent Volumes as a necessary Addition.
