Population.—The estimated population as of the middle of the fiscal year reported and the population determined by the decennial censuses of January 1, 1920, and April 15, 1910, are shown for each of the 48 States, for each of the geographic divisions, and for the 48 States as a whole. The medial date, as of which the estimate is made, is also shown in the table. The estimated population at the middle of the year is used as the basis of per capita data presented in the tables of this report, because its use results in more accurate statements of per capita financial transactions than would be secured by using the estimated population as of the close of the fiscal period.

The estimates of population shown in the table are based upon the assumption that the increase in the population of any State during the period from January 1, 1920, to the date of the estimate was at the same rate as the increase between the census enumeration of April 15, 1910, and that of January 1, 1920. For Vermont, Mississippi, and Nevada no estimates of population were made, the enumerated population of January 1, 1920, being used for the purpose in this report. These States showed an actual decrease in population between the enumeration of April 15, 1910, and that of January 1, 1920.

Area.—The area of each State and the total area of all the States are shown, as well as the land area and water area.

Rank of States in population and area.—The rank, in both area and estimated population, is shown for each State.

Summary of receipts and payments.—Table 2 presents for the States covered by this report, and for their several funds, a summary of their receipts classified as revenue and nonrevenue and of their payments classified as governmental-cost and nongovernmental-cost. In the column for receipts headed "Revenue" are summarized all amounts that are recorded in the books of the several States as having been received on revenue account other than receipts in error and accrued interest received on the original issue of State debt obligations. They represent amounts of moneys or other wealth received by or placed to the credit of the State governments for governmental purposes, under such conditions that they increase the assets without increasing the debt liabilities or decrease the debt liabilities without decreasing the assets. In the second column for receipts are summarized all other receipts under the heading "Non-revenue." These amounts are included in State accounts and must be set up to secure a complete statement, although they do not result in an increase in the net value of assets. In the column for payments headed "Governmental-cost" are summarized all amounts recorded in the books of the several States as having been paid on account of expenses, interest, and outlays, other than payments in error, payments of accrued interest on investments purchased, and payments for outlays balanced by amounts credited in outlay accounts. In the second column for payments are summarized all other payments under the heading "Nongovernmental-cost." These payments do not result in a decrease in the net value of assets. The receipts and payments summarized as here stated are given in considerable detail in Tables 3, 4, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14, 15, 16, and 17.

Funds of State government.—The wide diversity of State organization is shown, in its principal features, by the list of funds employed in accounting for the services usually provided by the States.

The table shows separately the transactions of the general treasury and those funds which are kept wholly separate from other funds and the transactions of which are usually recorded by State officials in independent systems of accounts. Sinking, investment, and trust funds are, however, always shown separately, whether the State officials record the transactions of these funds corporation bonds held by residents; and all specific taxes upon property, as taxes upon land at a specified amount per acre, taxes upon horses, mules, and other animals at a specified amount per head, taxes on vessels at a specified amount per registered ton, and taxes upon grain at a specified amount per bushel.

Poll taxes.—Under the term "poll taxes" the Bureau of the Census includes all per capita taxes, uniform or graded, whether such taxes are levied as specific amounts against the persons subject thereto or as ad valorem taxes based upon an arbitrary valuation of polls or occupations.

Business and nonbusiness license taxes.—Business taxes are taxes upon business and business activities exacted, with or without the issue of licenses, from persons natural and corporate (1) in proportion to the volume of their business, (2) by reason of the business in which they are engaged, or (3) by reason of some activity which constitutes a part of their business. As here defined, business taxes may be levied with or without reference to measurable or assumed measurable benefits conferred upon or enjoyed by the taxpayers or special expenses imposed by them upon the government.

Nonbusiness license taxes are taxes other than upon business, that are exacted primarily for purposes of regulation, and are collected in connection with the issue of so-called licenses or permits, and are always levied with reference to measurable or assumed measurable benefits conferred upon or enjoyed by the licensee. They include (1) license taxes on dogs, collected from the owners in connection with the issue of licenses or permits to keep such animals for a specified time; (2) general license taxes, or licenses for nonbusiness purposes other than dog licenses and departmental permits, such as licenses to use motor and other vehicles where the license is not required because of any specific business in which they are to be used; and (3) receipts from departmental permits, other than those issued by public service enterprises.

Special assessments and special charges for outlays.—Special assessments are compulsory contributions levied under the taxing or police power to defray the costs of specific public improvements or public services undertaken primarily in the interest of the public. They differ from the general property tax in that they are apportioned according to the assumed benefits to the property affected by the improvements or the assumed benefits to individuals or corporations by reason of the services performed. The amounts shown in the table include all amounts received on account of assessments levied to meet such costs for road construction and maintenance, and for other improvements and services, as had been assessed against the benefited properties.

Special charges for outlays differ somewhat from special assessments. Such a charge is made where the cost of a public improvement, the payment for which is classified as an outlay, is made a charge against the benefited person or property, and the amount of the charge is the amount of the actual cost to the State of an improvement, the charge being made against the owner of the property without any levy against others.

Fines, forfeits, and escheats.—Fines are amounts of wealth exacted from individuals, firms, and corporations under the sovereign power of inflicting punishment as penalties for violation of law; forfeits are amounts accruing to governments in accordance with the terms of contracts as penalties for non-observance of such contracts; and escheats are amounts of money or amounts received from the disposal of property, the owners of which can not be ascertained or located.

Subventions and grants, donations, and pension assessments.—Subventions and grants are amounts contributed by one civil division to its minor civil divisions as an aid or subvention to assist in the support of specified functions. The amounts of subventions received by the States from the Federal

(1) the costs exclusive of those arising from the construction or acquisition of permanent properties or improvements, which are incurred by States on account of services employed, property rented, and materials utilized in connection with the maintenance and operation of government, and the management of trusts; and (2) the losses occasioned by depreciation of so-called permanent properties and otherwise. Expenses are shown under two heads—general departments and public service enterprises—the former being presented by departments in Tables 11 and 12.

Interest charges.—The term "State interest charges" is a designation of interest costs incurred by States for the use of credit capital. All payments on account of such charges are shown in a single column of Table 4, but in Table 14 are shown the amounts paid on each class of debt.

Outlays.—State outlays are the costs of land and other properties and public improvements more or less permanent in character, which are owned and used by States in the exercise of their State functions or in connection with the business undertakings conducted by them. In the column for outlays are shown the aggregates of all payments for the purchase and improvement of land, the erection of new buildings, the acquisition and extension of public service enterprises, the purchase of equipment more or less permanent in character, purchases to increase the collections of libraries, museums, and art galleries, and payments on account of all other acquisitions which add to the number and value of the permanent possessions of the State. Payments for outlays for the general departments are shown separately in Table 15, as are also the total payments for outlays for public service enterprises.

Comparison of revenue receipts and all governmental-cost payments.—Comparisons between revenue receipts and governmental-cost payments are of the greatest significance in State finance. If a State is receiving more from revenue than it is paying for expenses, interest, and outlays, it has a balance which may be applied to reducing indebtedness, while if its payments for expenses, interest, and outlays are greater than its revenue receipts the State is increasing its indebtedness. If it is realizing from revenues enough money to pay for all expenses and interest, but for only a portion of its outlays, it is imposing upon the future a part of the burden of paying for its permanent properties and public improvements.

In the last three columns of Table 4 are shown the results of comparisons between revenue receipts and governmental-cost payments. In the first of these columns is shown the excess of governmental-cost payments over revenue receipts for each of the States in which such payments were in excess of revenue receipts, and in the second column is shown the excess of revenue receipts over governmental-cost payments for each of the States in which revenue receipts were greater. Of the 48 States, 27 made governmental-cost payments in excess of their revenue receipts and 21 realized enough from revenues to meet all their payments for expenses, interest, and outlays and to have a balance available for paying debt.

Comparison of revenue receipts and payments for expenses and interest.—The last column of Table 4 shows the excess of revenue receipts over payments for expenses and interest. The payments for expenses and interest correspond approximately to the costs of a business corporation for maintenance, operating expenses, and interest, except that no allowances have been made for depreciation. Each of the 48 States, received from revenues amounts in excess of payments for expenses and interest.

Comparative summary of revenue receipts and governmental-cost payments of the 48 States for specified years: 1915-1923.—Table I, which follows, shows the aggregate revenue receipts and the aggregate payments for ments, or amounts received by one department, fund, or account, as payments by another.

In Table II the total revenue receipts of Table 3 and governmental-cost payments of Table 4 are separated into net or actual receipts and payments and transfer receipts and payments, and per capita averages are shown for net receipts and payments.

Comparative summary of per capita receipts from principal sources of revenue of the 48 States for specified years: 1915-1923.—In Table IV, which follows, are shown the per capita revenue receipts from the principal sources thereof for the years from 1915 to 1923 for which statistics are available. The revenue receipts which are included in the column headed "All other revenues" are those from special assessments and special charges for outlays, from fines, forfeits, and escheats, from highway privileges, from rents of investment properties and interest, and from earnings of public service enterprises.

While the general property tax is the principal source of revenue in each year as shown by the table, the per capita receipts from this source increased at a lesser rate than did those from each of the other specified taxes. The most marked increase in taxes is that shown by the per capita receipts on account of business and nonbusiness license taxes which increased from $0.95 in 1915 to $3.09 in 1923. Under this heading are included various taxes upon motor vehicles.

DIAGRAM 2.—PER CAPITA PAYMENTS FOR GOVERNMENTAL COSTS, BY PRINCIPAL CLASSES, OF THE 48 STATES FOR SPECIFIED YEARS: 1915-1923

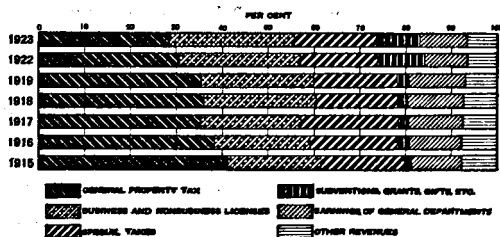

The highest percentage of increase in per capita receipts from any source is that which appears in the receipts on account of subventions and grants, donations, and pension assessments which increased from $0.08 in 1915 to $1.08 in 1923. This is due largely to a marked increase in receipts by States from the Federal Government of grants of money to be expended upon highways and is reflected in a correspondingly high increase in the per capita outlays on account of highways as shown in Table XII.

YEAR	Total	TAXES				Earnings of general departments	Subventions and grants, donations, and pension assessments	All other revenues
		General property	Special	Business and non-business license	Poll
1923	$11.20	$2.22	$2.00	$3.09	$0.08	$1.11	$1.08	$0.82
1922	10.71	2.26	1.81	2.82	0.08	1.08	1.02	0.69
1919	8.89	2.02	1.17	1.57	0.02	0.79	0.16	0.45
1918	8.30	2.02	1.01	1.29	0.02	0.70	0.12	0.41
1917	8.34	1.90	1.06	1.12	0.02	0.61	0.11	0.39
1916	6.57	1.70	0.99	0.98	0.02	0.54	0.14	0.35
1915	6.57	1.58	0.94	0.95	0.02	0.51	0.08	0.35

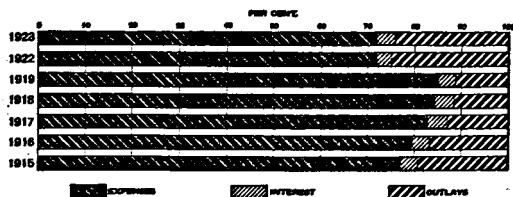

The table discloses for 1923 as compared with 1915 a marked decrease in the proportion of revenue receipts derived from the general property tax and a corresponding increase in that derived from business and nonbusiness license taxes. While the receipts from the general property tax represented the highest percentage of total revenue for each of the years reported the proportion of revenue from this source decreased from 40.6 per cent in 1915 to 28.3 in 1923. Conversely, the proportion of receipts on account of business and nonbusiness licenses increased from 20.3 per cent in 1915 to 27.2 per cent in 1923.

DIAGRAM 4.—PER CENT DISTRIBUTION OF RECEIPTS OF THE 48 STATES FROM THE SEVERAL SOURCES OF REVENUE, FOR SPECIFIED YEARS: 1915-1923

A relatively great increase is shown in the proportion of revenue derived from subventions and grants, donations, and pension assessments, which increased from 1.6 per cent in 1915 to 9.5 in 1923, due principally to the increase in receipts by States of grants of money by the Federal Government for the development of highways.

DIAGRAM 5.—PER CENT DISTRIBUTION OF GOVERNMENTAL-COST PAYMENTS OF THE 48 STATES FOR SPECIFIED YEARS: 1915-1923

Comparative summary of the per cent distribution of governmental-cost payments of the 48 States for specified years: 1915-1923.—Table VI, which follows, shows the per cent distribution of the aggregate governmental-cost payments of the 48 States for the years from 1915 to 1923 for which statistics are available. The table discloses for 1923, as compared with 1915, an increase in the proportion of payments for interest and outlays and a decrease in that for payments for expenses. It is apparent, therefore, that the cost of improvements is becoming a greater relative burden as compared with that of expenses.

Forty-five States reported revenues from the inheritance tax, while only 11 derived revenue from the tax on individual incomes.

The amounts reported in the column "All other," under the heading "Special taxes," were derived chiefly from incorporation or organization taxes, taxes on stock transfer, and on the recording of wills, deeds, and mortgages, and on express, telegraph, and sleeping-car companies.

Receipts from poll taxes.—Twelve States reported receipts from poll taxes, amounting to $6,668,552. If other States levied and collected poll taxes, they were not set up separately in the State reports and are, therefore, included with general property taxes in this table.

Receipts from business taxes.—In 1923 the revenue derived from business taxes, exacted with or without the issue of licenses, amounted to $191,107,579 and constituted 15.3 per cent of the total revenue. They consist chiefly of taxes exacted from insurance and other incorporated companies and of the sales tax on gasoline.

Receipts from nonbusiness license taxes.—The receipts from nonbusiness license taxes are tabulated in two columns, headed "General licenses" and "Permits," the latter including receipts from marriage licenses. With receipts from general licenses have been included the receipts from license taxes on dogs, footnotes indicating the States levying such taxes. The tax on motor vehicles forms by far the most important item among receipts of this class.

revenues and are of infrequent occurrence. Receipts from these sources are shown separately in the table as for expenses and for outlays.

Four States reported receipts from special assessments for expenses. In Massachusetts, Connecticut, and Colorado the amounts tabulated as received from special assessments for expenses are chiefly the costs for highway care and repair assessed to minor civil divisions by the State, and the amount in Oregon is for a forest-fire patrol.

When a State defrays the cost of a public improvement benefiting minor civil divisions and reimburses itself by assessing against each division benefited a proportionate amount of these costs, the amounts so received have been classified in this report as receipts from special assessments for outlays, although they are not in all cases set up as such on the State's books.

In some States there are receipts like those from special assessments for outlays except that they are not collected under that name nor by methods similar to those by which special assessments are collected. Such receipts in compensation for constructing some public improvement are included as special charges for outlays.

Receipts from fines, forfeits, and escheats.—Receipts from fines and forfeits are classified in Table 7 as receipts from court fines and forfeits and from commercial forfeits, or forfeits of bonds and deposits guaranteeing the fulfillment of contracts, the good faith of bids, and the performance of certain acts. Receipts from the latter source are comparatively infrequent in States.

Receipts from subventions and grants.—The total amount received as subventions and grants from the United States Government was $102,426,344, of which 9.8 per cent was for education. The amounts included for education represent contributions made by the Federal Government toward the support of State universities and agricultural and mechanical colleges. Subventions for education were reported for all States. The amounts given in the column headed "All other" represent the contributions of the Federal Government to the States for highways, experiment stations, agricultural extension, child welfare, and for other purposes toward which the State contributed.

Receipts from donations.—The receipts from donations are arranged in three classes: Those for (1) expenses, (2) outlays, and (3) principal of public trust funds. Thirty-eight States reported receipts from donations for expenses, including those for agricultural, educational, charitable, and health activities, teachers' pensions, soldiers' homes, protection and propagation of fish and game, and control of forest fires. Twenty-one States reported receipts from donations for outlays for schools, armories, correctional institutions, and other government buildings and equipment. Receipts from donations for establishing or adding to the principal of public trust funds were reported for 24 States and were for endowment funds for universities and colleges, scholarship funds, and students' loan funds.

Receipts from pension assessments.—The receipts from pension assessments were contributed by the various classes of persons participating in the benefits of the pension funds, as State employees or as public school teachers in States maintaining teachers' retirement and pension funds.

Receipts from highway privileges.—Receipts from highway privileges granted to corporations and individuals are not of frequent occurrence in States. Only five States reported receipts of this nature—Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Indiana, and New Mexico.

Certain receipts from sources other than those above described are classed as departmental, the principal item being amounts received as insurance to cover losses by fire in cases where the repair of fire damage is charged to expense. Receipts from insurance where the repair of damage is charged to outlay are classed as offsets to outlays and are included in the nonrevenue receipts shown in Tables 2 and 16.

Classification of general departmental receipts.—The total amount of the receipts from fees, charges, rents, sales, and allied sources is shown in this table, and its distribution to the divisions of government by which the services were rendered. These divisions correspond to the classification employed in tabulating the general departmental expenses and outlays, as given in Tables 11 and 15.

Payments for general departmental expenses.—In Table 11 are presented statistics showing payments for the expenses of the several States during 1923 for objects or purposes other than the operation and maintenance of public service enterprises, which are here referred to as expenses of general departments. Such payments constitute by far the most important class of payments for the costs of State governments, comprising 71.3 per cent of the total payments for governmental costs, as shown in Table 6. They are given in Table 11 in sufficient detail to show the relative expenses of the several departments and branches of work in each State and to provide data for comparing the expense payments for a given object in one State with the corresponding payments in other States.

These payments, like the receipts in Table 10, are arranged in nine general divisions, to each of which is given a specific designation, and the payments recorded in each of these divisions are subdivided according to specific purpose.

In making comparisons of the data for individual States from Table 11 it should be noted that while the payments shown for the main groups of departments or divisions are fairly accurate, and hence comparable, those for some of the individual objects of expenditure are less exact. Where a segregation of the items of expense for the different functions is not made by the local authorities, it is often difficult or impossible for the agents of the Bureau of the Census to secure correct statistical data. It must not be inferred, therefore, in the case of objects of expenditure here mentioned, that a blank in Table 11 necessarily means that there were no expenditures for the purpose indicated by the column heading.

A large number of States made payments in 1923 for checking the spread of tuberculosis and for the care of patients suffering from that disease. An effort was made to include all payments for expenses of this class among those of the health department as part of the total payments for the prevention and cure of communicable diseases; and for most States these payments are so tabulated, although in several cases some of them are included with payments for outdoor poor relief and for hospitals.

Payments for expenses of miscellaneous financial offices and accounts.—Such payments for financial offices and accounts as could not be assigned to one of the several main headings of the table in the subdivision "Financial" are shown in the column headed "Other financial" and include expenses of sinking fund commissions, budget commissions, boards of finance, and expense of floating loans.

Payments for expenses of miscellaneous general executive offices.—One of the difficulties met with in the compilation of comparable State statistics is the difference in organization of the local governments, involving a distribution of executive powers in a great variety of ways to a number of different offices given various designations.

In the column "Other development and conservation" are shown payments for expenses of water boards or engineers, conservation commissions, topographical surveys, drainage of lowlands, exhibiting State products, advertising State resources, and for the encouragement of manufacturing and other industries.

Payments for expenses of conservation of health, and sanitation.—The amounts shown in the column "All other," under the major heading "Prevention and treatment of communicable diseases," are payments for antitoxin and Pasteur treatments, for examination of barbers, for control of venereal diseases and of epidemics, including quarantine expenses and expenses for the extermination of mosquitoes, and for laboratory and other research expense for the study and prevention of communicable diseases.

In the column "Other health and sanitation" are tabulated the payments for expenses of sanitary engineer, hotel and other sanitary inspection, rural sanitation, water analysis, and health laboratories, and for publicity and education along health lines.

Payments for expenses of highways.—The nature of the amounts shown in Division V of the table is clearly revealed by the column headings. It is desired, however, to call attention to the amounts shown under "Apportionments." In reporting those amounts recorded in State accounts as apportionments to counties or other minor civil divisions for highways, the Census Bureau has attempted to classify as outlay all amounts that were for the construction of highways, and as expense only such amounts as were for the repair and upkeep of highways.

Payments for expenses of charities, hospitals, and corrections.—The column headings in this division of the table indicate clearly the nature of the payments, except those appearing in the two columns under the heading "Other charities." These are chiefly for the care and training of certain classes of defectives and for temporary homes for women and girls.

Payments for education.—Of the total payments for education, $223,242,114, or slightly more than 65 per cent, is shown under "Apportionments." These amounts represent contributions from State revenues, derived from various sources, to counties, cities, and other minor civil divisions for the support of the public schools, and are based upon school population or average daily attendance. The amounts shown in the column "All other," under the heading "Schools," include such miscellaneous educational expenses as those for scholarships, vocational rehabilitation, and for Americanization work.

Payments for recreation.—The payments for recreational facilities fostered by States constitute but a small proportion of expenses of general departments, the greatest amount being for maintenance of parks and reservations, reported by 22 States.

Payments classified as miscellaneous.—In Division IX of Table 11 are shown (1) payments for pensions and gratuities; (2) payments for relief to special classes, which it is desirable to present together even though a part of them might readily be assigned to other divisions of the table; (3) payments for objects which can not properly be assigned to any of the other principal divisions of the table; and (4) payments which with perfect accounting for statistical reports would be distributed to the various other columns.

The amounts shown in the column headed "All other," under the major heading "Relief to special classes," were for miscellaneous pensions and gratuities, including annuities for teachers in those States which have assumed the duties of administering the retirement funds for teachers in the public schools.

The undistributable operating expenses are grouped under two headings: (1) "Printing and stationery" and (2) "All other." The items constituting the second class are payments for supplies purchased for all departments by a purchasing agent and for undistributed insurance, postage, telephone, and freight.

DIAGRAM 6.—PER CAPITA PAYMENTS FOR GENERAL DEPARTMENTAL EXPENSES OF THE 48 STATES FOR SPECIFIED YEARS: 1915-1923

Per cent distribution of payments for general departmental expenses, by object of payment.—Table 13 shows, by principal divisions of the general departmental service, the per cent distribution of payments for expenses, other than of public service enterprises. This distribution represents, broadly, the relative importance of the principal classes of expenses for the several States. For the States as a whole, for 8 of the 9 groups of States and for 39 States individually, the expenditures for schools constituted the largest single item of payments. Expenditures for charities, hospitals, and corrections appear from the table to be next in importance, though they are of chief importance in the New England group and in 2 individual States. The largest percentage of the total expenses of certain States consists of payments on account of highways, and for the States as a whole this item becomes third in relative importance. Expenses on account of general government form an important item in all States, constituting the second or third largest percentage of the total payments for departmental expenses in some of the States.

Comparative summary of the per cent distribution of general departmental expenses of the 48 States for specified years: 1915-1923.—Table XI, which follows, gives a comparative summary of the per cent of governmental-cost payments for the expenses of the general departments represented by those of the principal divisions of such expenses for the years specified. An inspection of the table shows that for each year for which figures are given the expenses for schools constituted more than one-third of the total of departmental expenses.

the various funds of the governments of the States as interest on State securities held by the sinking funds, investment funds, and public trust funds.

From the classification of interest according to the kind of debt obligation on which paid, it appears that 92.1 per cent of the total interest payments was on funded debt, 5 per cent on floating debt, and 2.9 per cent on revenue loans and miscellaneous debt obligations.

The relatively small amount of interest reported as paid by the State of Massachusetts as compared with the debt of that State, as reported in Tables 20, 21, and 22, is due to the fact that the receipts from cities and towns in the metropolitan district on account of interest and the payments of such interest are treated as agency transactions on the part of the State, as is more fully explained in the text to Table 21.

Payments for expenses of public service enterprises.—The nature of these enterprises has been explained in the text discussion of Table 3. Only 13 of the States reported payments for enterprises of this character.

The expenses shown in the column headed "All other" were for ferry in Maine; toll bridges and ferries in Connecticut; home-building association, electric railway, and mills and elevators in North Dakota; a schoolbook publishing house in Kansas; a tobacco warehouse and hay scale in Maryland; a warehouse in North Carolina; a lime plant and irrigation project in Oregon; and land settlement in California.

Payments for outlays.—The payments for outlays included in Table 15 comprise the amounts paid by the several States for the acquisition and construction of more or less permanent properties and public improvements, including payments for additions made to those previously acquired or constructed, but exclusive of payments in error, for the correction of which counterbalancing amounts were later received. In the case of five States—Iowa, Maryland, North Dakota, Vermont, and Wyoming—the payments for outlays shown in Table 15 exceed the amounts shown in Table 4, in the column headed "Outlays," by the amount of those payments for outlays recorded in Table 15 which were offset by receipts from the public on outlay account but which could not be deducted from outlays for the individual department with which they are identified because such outlays were smaller than the offsets. The payments of Table 15 are thus the total payments on outlay account less payments in error and the larger part of payments offset by receipts, while in the preparation of Table 4 it was possible to eliminate the remaining payments offset by receipts on outlay account. Table 4, therefore, shows the governmental-cost payments for outlays, or the amount by which the value of the permanent properties and public improvements was increased as a result of the cash transactions of the year.

Payments for outlays included in the column of Table 15, headed "All other" under the general heading "Protection to person and property," were for lands, buildings, and equipment of protective boards and offices which could not be assigned to any one of the more specific columns of the table.

The payments shown in the column headed "All other," under the general heading "Development and conservation of natural resources," were chiefly for drainage, and development of water resources.

Payments for outlays shown in the column headed "Other health and sanitation" were principally for equipment employed in the study of malignant diseases, water analysis, dairy and food control, and regulation of dentistry.

The payments for outlays shown in the column headed "All other" under the title "Miscellaneous" include those on account of buildings and equipment for purchasing agent and for general stores, for printing offices, and for war memorials.

of the funds are the book values. The figures for real property may represent its cost to the fund or its valuation at a recent appraisal. The data for securities are usually carried on the records of the fund at their face value, profits and losses being recorded only when the securities are disposed of; but if for any State they were reported at cost or at their market value on the last day of the fiscal year, those valuations were used in compiling the table.

Assets in sinking funds.—The sinking funds maintained by States are of two distinct classes, those with and those without investments, the distinction depending largely upon the method of distributing the loads to be carried by these funds. The sinking funds with investments are established and maintained primarily for the redemption of long-term bonds at maturity, the purpose of converting a part of the cash accumulation into securities being to augment the income of the funds by the amount of the excess of the interest on the securities purchased over the amount that would be secured on ordinary bank deposits. The sinking funds without securities are maintained primarily for the amortization of debt obligations by purchase before their maturity, or for the redemption of serial or other bonds maturing in practically equal amounts each year, the purposes of the funds usually being accomplished without the accumulation of assets in large amounts.

Assets in public trust funds.—Public trust funds are established by States for the purpose of conserving and administering moneys and other forms of wealth that come to them by donation, bequest, or otherwise, under such conditions that the recipient becomes a trustee charged with the administration of the fund and with disbursements from it or from income derived from its principal for designated public uses. The usual purposes for which these funds are created are the support of educational activities in schools and libraries, health and hospital services, care of the defective, and pensions for employees of the State government. Table 18 shows the amount of the assets of these funds under four heads—"Cash," "State securities," "Real property," and "Other investments."

Assets in investment funds, and miscellaneous investments.—Under this heading are shown all assets of funds other than sinking and trust funds and all interest-bearing securities and investments other than those of the funds mentioned, including real property used for purposes other than those of the departments and enterprises of the States. Although the term "investment fund" is seldom employed by State officials, it seems to be an appropriate designation for funds of the class here described. The value of real property incidentally acquired and yielding little or no income is included as a miscellaneous investment. In some instances the assets in investment funds consist of bonds or stocks acquired by the State in consideration of financial aid or grants to railroads or other public service corporations; in a few instances they consist of real property temporarily held for securing rents or for the profits that may result from an increase in value; in other cases they consist of bonds or mortgages received in exchange for real property and held as investments awaiting maturity or a favorable market.

In most States reporting investment funds or investments the invested assets are comparatively small, and in some instances they are held only temporarily while awaiting a favorable opportunity for the State to dispose of them, when the proceeds are to be turned over to the general treasury. Funds provided for the purchase, construction, or equipment of buildings or the permanent properties of the State, which are invested during the period of accumulation, are also treated as investment funds. Table 18 shows the amounts of all such funds as are described above.

Assets in private trust funds.—The assets of private trust funds belong to the individuals and corporations in whose interest they are temporarily or

Value of properties of public service enterprises.—Fifteen States reported value for public service enterprises.

For four States—Maine, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and California—the amounts tabulated in the last column of Table 19 are the values of docks and wharves, and for three States—Ohio, Illinois, and Louisiana—canals. The amount shown for Connecticut represents the value of docks and wharves, $1,109,120; toll bridge, $726,000; and ferries, $13,215; for North Dakota, electric railway, $20,000, and mill and elevator, $3,067,421; for South Dakota, cement plant; for Kansas, schoolbook publishing house; for Maryland, tobacco warehouse, $912,000; docks and wharves, $45,000; toll bridge, $587,000; and scales, $10,000; for North Carolina, warehouses; for Tennessee, Victory memorial; for Oregon, irrigation project, $500,000, and lime plant, $20,600.

Gross and net indebtedness of States.—Table 20 shows both the gross and net indebtedness of the several States at the close of the fiscal year reported. The term "gross indebtedness" is here used as the designation of the aggregate of all outstanding debt obligations, and the term "net indebtedness" is used as the designation of the total amounts representing the funded and floating debt, less the assets of sinking funds accumulated for their amortization.

Massachusetts reported the largest per capita net debt in the New England group, the indebtedness having been contracted in part in the interests of certain cities and towns in the metropolitan district, from which the State exacts payments for interest and sinking fund accumulations. The State's indebtedness on account of this district, resting ultimately upon the cities and towns and classed by the State as contingent, constituted almost 60 per cent of the total of the State debt. The largest per capita net debt reported was for Oregon. Nebraska and Kansas reported no funded or floating debt at the close of the year.

Gross debt, total and per capita, at the close of the year for specified years.—The following statement shows the aggregate gross debt, total and per capita, of the 48 States for the years 1915 to 1923 for which statistics are available.

DIAGRAM 9.—GROSS DEBT, AT THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR, OF THE 48 STATES, FOR SPECIFIED YEARS: 1915-1923

Indebtedness classified by character of outstanding debt obligations.—The indebtedness of the States is classified by character of obligation under three principal headings—"Funded or fixed," "Floating," and "Current." The sec-which includes all amounts held in private trust funds and private trust accounts, together with all balances due to other civil divisions on account of moneys collected for them so far as such balances were reported.

Indebtedness classified by creditor.—Under this general heading the total gross debt included in Table 20 is separated into two classes, that which was owing (1) to the public, and (2) to State funds with investments. In the column headed "State funds with investments" is included the par value of all State securities held by sinking, public trust, and investment funds. Of this total debt, $104,222,514, or 7.3 per cent, was held by the three classes of funds mentioned. In the column headed "The public" is included the par value of all other State debt obligations outstanding.

Per capita indebtedness.—In the columns headed "Per capita" there are given the per capita of (1) the total gross debt, (2) the gross debt incurred for general departments, (3) the gross debt incurred for public service enterprises, and (4) the net debt. No segregation of net indebtedness corresponding to that of gross indebtedness was practicable. It should be noted, therefore, that in these figures for the net funded and floating debt the indebtedness on account of public service enterprises is included, and hence, in any comparison of the indebtedness of individual States, it should be remembered that the debts of these enterprises are usually due to the acquisition of properties that have earning capacities sufficient to enable them to take care of the obligations on their account.

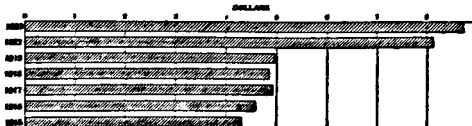

Comparative summary of funded or fixed and floating debt, sinking fund assets, and net debt, for specified years: 1915-1923.—The following table presents for all the States a comparative summary of funded or fixed and floating debt, sinking fund assets, and net debt, total and per capita, at the close of the year for specified years. It will be noted that the net debt has been more than doubled in the period from 1915 to 1923.

DIAGRAM 11.—PER CAPITA NET DEBT, AT THE CLOSE OF THE YEAR, OF THE 48 STATES FOR SPECIFIED YEARS: 1915-1923

The net debt of States as shown in Table 20, however, is gross debt, less only such assets as are held in sinking funds.

Issues of bonds described as "refunding" have been classified according to the purposes for which the debt they replaced was incurred whenever these purposes could be discovered without too extended a search of the earlier records, and the amount tabulated under this heading in Table 21, representing 3.7 per cent of the grand total of funded and floating debt, includes only what could not be so classified.

The designation "funding" is applied to bonds issued to meet unpaid claims, judgments, and outstanding warrants, but the column so headed doubtless includes many obligations that would more properly be classified as issued for refunding. The debt obligations reported as issued for funding purposes amounted in all to 1 per cent of the grand total.

Comparison of funded and floating indebtedness with the value of State properties.—The debt shown as on account of highways and public service enterprises is practically all the debt of States on these accounts, and the debt tabulated for combined or unreported purposes and for funding and refunding is almost entirely debt for departmental properties. This being true, if the debt on highway account ($614,210,472), that incurred for war loans ($8,238,788), and that incurred for public service enterprises and investments ($92,757,500) be ~~deducted~~ deducted from the total debt given in Table 21, the remainder ($495,259,387), or 40.9 per cent of the total, may be considered as debt incurred on account of public properties. The total value of departmental properties in 1923 as given in Table 19 was $1,375,095,695, and the ratio of debt to value was, therefore, 36 per cent. The foregoing percentages take no account of sinking fund assets which at the close of 1923 constituted 21.1 per cent of the outstanding funded and floating debt. If consideration is taken of these assets, the ratio of net funded and floating debt to property value at the close of the fiscal year 1923 was 28.4 per cent. This would indicate that the interests of the States in their permanent properties as proprietors were equal to 71.6 per cent of the value of these properties.

A complete statement of the values of State highways and public improvements is not available, and no comparison between the amount of debt outstanding on account of them and the total value of such improvements can be made. It may be said in this connection, however, that of the total highway debt reported $251,728,000, or 41 per cent, is that of the State of New York alone. The amount of this indebtedness is larger than the values given for the State roads and canals. As offsets to this debt there should be taken into account the unexpended balances in bond funds and the sinking fund accumulations for meeting these bonds.

The value of the public service enterprises of States as given in Table 19 was $82,557,461. The ratio of debt on account of such properties to the value thereof was, therefore, 89 per cent.

Funded and floating debt and revenue loans, classified by rate of interest.—The debt for which statistics are presented in Table 22 comprises the funded and floating debts, which are shown in Table 21, together with the outstanding revenue loans; it is the sum of the indebtedness shown in the first four columns under the heading "Classified by character of outstanding debt obligations" in Table 20. The larger part of the current debt shown in the columns headed "Warrants" and "Obligations on trust account" in Table 20 is debt bearing no interest. The total interest-bearing debt for which the rates were reported was $1,252,272,569. In addition to this amount

1 Average rate.

The highest salary paid to a governor, $12,000, was reported for Illinois; and the lowest, $3,000, was reported for 3 States, New Hampshire, Vermont, and South Dakota. Other salaries of governors were $10,000 in 7 States, $8,000 in 2 States, $7,500 in 7 States, $7,000 in 2 States, $6,500 in 3 States, $6,200 in 1 State, $6,000 in 4 States, $5,000 in 12 States, $4,500 in 2 States, and $4,000 in 4 States.

In 26 of the 48 States the salary of the governor exceeds that of any other official for which data are shown in Table 24; in 9 States his salary is equaled by that of one or more of the officials here reported; and in 13 States his salary is exceeded by the salary of one or more of the officials.

Lieutenant governor.—The constitutions of 35 States provide for a lieutenant governor, who succeeds to the governorship in case that office becomes vacant. In each of these 35 States, with the exception of Massachusetts, the lieutenant governor presides over the sessions of the senate. In 28 States the lieutenant governor receives a salary, but in the other 7 States he receives pay only as presiding officer during sessions of the senate.

Other State officials.—The State officials whose terms of service and salaries are shown under the last nine general headings of Table 24 are chosen by different methods. Where not otherwise indicated they are chosen by the duly qualified electors of the State, voting in general elections. The asterisks (*) in the columns headed "Term of office" indicate that the officials are chosen otherwise than by the electors of the State. There appears to be great diversity of practice in the selection of other than elected officials, but no effort was made to secure complete data pertaining to this particular feature.

The titles of the last three sets of columns of Table 24 are those found in the larger number of States. For the other States these titles are representative of the duties performed by officials bearing similar designation.

No. 14.—DENSITY OF POPULATION PER SQUARE MILE AT EACH CENSUS, 1790 TO 1900: BY STATES AND TERRITORIES.

[From reports of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce and Labor.]

[Notes.—In computing density of population for the United States, the areas and population of Alaska and Hawaii in 1900, of Alaska in 1890, and of Indian Territory in 1890, 1870, and 1860 are not considered. The area of Indian reservations, outside of Indian Territory, is included in the area of the States and Territories in which they are severally situated, and in that of the United States prior to 1890, although the population of these Indian reservations was not ascertained, and for this reason can not be considered in figuring density of population at the censuses prior to 1890.]

*The cost of collecting the internal revenue embraces the following items: Salaries and expenses of collectors, including pay of deputy collectors, clerks, etc., and including expenses incident to enforcing the provisions of law taxing oleomargarine; salaries and expenses of revenue agents, surveyors of distilleries, gaugers, storekeepers, and miscellaneous expenses; paper for internal-revenue stamps, and expenses of detecting and punishing violations of internal-revenue laws.

†The expenses of collecting the revenue from customs includes all sums drawn from the appropriation made by Congress for that purpose. The money is expended for salaries, rent, labor in weighing, gauging, and measuring imported merchandise, revenue boatmen, repairs, and other expenses incident to rented buildings, stationery, and the traveling expenses of special agents, but does not include expenditures for revenue cutters, fuel, lights, water, furniture, janitors, etc., for buildings owned by the Government, nor expenditures for erecting new buildings, all of which are paid for from specific appropriations made for those purposes.

The expenses of collecting internal and customs revenue do not include the expenditures for salaries, etc., incident to auditing these accounts in the Departments at Washington.

† Reported as "Slaughtering and meat packing, not including retail butchering establishments," in 1886.

‡ Establishments reported as "Slaughtering and meat packing, not including retail butchering establishments," in 1900 are shown under "Slaughtering and meat packing, wholesale."

§ Frequentative statistics of copper and lead smelting were shown in "Mining Industries" of 1900 and "Mineral Industries" of 1890, but were not included in statistics of manufactures.

¶ Statistics for "Zinc" in 1890 and 1890 differ in several particulars from those for "Smelting and refining, zinc," in 1890 and for "Zinc, smelting and refining" in 1900; a comparison with the earlier years is therefore inapplicable. The figures for 1890 and 1890 are given in this table under "Zinc."

‡ Reported as "Smelting and refining (base scrap-metal not from the ore)" in 1890 and as "Smelting and refining" in 1890.

§ Includes 636 establishments reported as "Soap" and 17 as "Candles" in 1905.

¶ Includes 5 establishments in 1890 and 1 in 1890 reported as "Fruit jar trimmings."

‡ Includes 6 establishments reported as "Fencil cases" in 1890.

^a Since 1885 includes domestic spirits exported and returned.

^b Does not include data with respect to commerce between the United States and insular possessions from 1901 to date.

^c Product less domestic exports.

NOTES.—(1) The production of domestic wines was estimated by the Department of Agriculture, by Mr. Charles McK. Lacombe, president of the Wine and Spirit Traders' Society of New York, and other well-informed persons, except that the production for 1889 (opposite the year 1890) is that officially reported by the Bureau of the Census Department of Commerce and Labor. (2) The consumption of domestic spirituous and malt liquors is derived from reports of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

*Leading refiners state that little or no sugar is manufactured from domestic molasses; also that in refining there is only about 2 per cent waste of original weight. Messrs. Willett & Gray, of New York, state that of the sugar consumed in 1906 only about 44,749 tons were unrefined.

*Including only the reported value of live stock on farms.

* Values for 1870 were reported in depreciated currency. To reduce to specie basis of other years they must be diminished one-fifth.

* Including estimated value of live stock on ranges.

* Value of land, with improvements, except buildings, $13,658,097,995; value of buildings, $3,566,630,486. The Twelfth Census was the first to collect separate statements of buildings on farms.

* Including value of live stock on ranges as well as on farms. Value of domestic animals, $2,979,197,566. This figure is more nearly comparable than that in the table with the returns for value of live stock at earlier censuses.

NOTE BY MESSRS. MAUGER & AVERY.—This table exhibits in a concise form the prices of the three grades of a standard domestic fleece wool in the seasonal markets at the beginning of each quarter. In its present shape it is deemed to be intelligible to all interested in wool. In the special features of "character and condition," washed Ohio fleece wool" is less subject to variation than any other description, and this is more a basis of value than any other class. Wool, owing to its wide variety, difference in character and condition, and liability to shrink in cleaning, is provided from speculative operations which apply to products which may be dealt in as "futures." For these reasons the prices of wool are not liable to the same changes as cotton, wheat, etc.

* The price on board fixed at Baltimore by the Seaboard Coal Association.
 * Price of soft-coal pool.
 * Owing to unusual conditions in the coal market the association price for 1902 is not a correct guide as to the actual selling price. Clearfield coal selling as high as $7 at the mines and as high as $9 in New York Harbor. Unsettled conditions lasted until the 1st of March, 1903, or nearly so; then, on April 1, prices were made $3.30 at Baltimore; later on in the year this price was discounted from 10 to 15 per cent.

* Not including messages sent over leased wires or under railroad contracts.

NOTE.—The greatly increased mileage since 1880 is principally due to the fact that in 1881 the Western Union Telegraph Company absorbed by purchase all the lines of the American Union and the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph companies, the former having previously in operation over 12,000 miles of line and the latter 8,716 miles. Capital stock of the Western Union, $100,000,000.

The Western Union has exclusive contracts with several international cable companies, operating eight Atlantic cables, and guarantees 5 per cent annual dividends on the stock of the American Telegraph and Cable Company; amount, $14,000,000.

Besides the above, there are new lines of telegraph which have complied with the United States telegraph act of 1866, and are operating wires with or without connection with railway companies.

The New York Mutual Telegraph Company, established in 1861, has about 8,000 miles of line, 60,000 miles of wire, 1,200 offices, and has extended its lines north and south, operating from Boston

^a Figures for New South Wales and Tasmania relate to Dec. 31; figures for the other States to June 30.

^b Figures for postal savings banks relate to the end of the calendar year 1904; figures for the other savings banks to the end of 1903.

^c Deposits with the State-controlled Caisse Générale d'Épargne. Includes savings deposits with post-offices. Moreover, accounts are published in the Annuaire Statistique de four municipal and five private savings banks for the year 1904. At the end of that year these nine institutions had 62,279 depositors, credited with $9,379,623 worth of deposits.

^d Exclusive of data for the "special savings banks," the total deposits in which, on June 30, 1906, amounted to $27,350,194. The total deposits in all savings banks amount thus to $49,379,816, making the average deposit per inhabitant $13.57. This total does not include the savings deposits in the chartered banks ("deposits payable after notice or on a fixed day"), which, on Dec. 31, 1905, were $38,765,182.

^e Figures for the two savings banks in Santiago and Valparaiso.

^f Includes all savings institutions. Figures for savings banks proper, exclusive of branches of ordinary banks, were 966,615 (number of depositors) and $160,621,194 (total deposits plus interest due on said deposits at the end of the year).

^g Not included in the grand total.

^h Exclusive of population in native States. Data for postal savings banks only.

ⁱ Exclusive of 132,009,802 lire of savings deposits with the so-called "Società ordinaria di credito" and 313,407,272 lire with the "Società cooperative di credito" at the end of 1903. No data are given with regard to number of depositors in these institutions.

^j Data for postal savings banks and the five principal private savings banks. Figures for the former are for the calendar year 1905; figures for the latter are for the calendar year 1904.

^k Figures for the "Casa de economie" only.

^l Preliminary data for all Government savings banks as published by the Věstník Finanční, No. 37, 1906, exclusive of securities held for depositors, the nominal value of which, on Dec. 31, 1906, was $115,431,000.

^m Estimates of M. Guillaume Fatio in the Journal de Statistique Suisse, 1909, No. 4.

ⁿ Year ended Nov. 30 for trustee savings banks; year ended Dec. 31 for postal savings banks.
