EDITORIAL NOTE

Under the general title of "Looking Forward" the Royal Institute of International Affairs is publishing a series of pamphlets on the international aspects of reconstruction. The pamphlets are concerned with basic issues and are intended to stimulate thought and discussion. Their object, therefore, is to present problems rather than to solve them, though writers will be free to express their own opinions on the subjects they discuss. While no attempt has been made to impose uniformity of treatment on contributors to the series, they have been advised to aim at clearness of presentation, to avoid technicalities as far as possible, and to explain those which they feel compelled to use. It is hoped that by the assembly of the facts, often complex, and by their arrangement in reasonable perspective, readers will be provided with the material for sound judgment.

International Law by Norman Bentwich will be published shortly after this pamphlet. The following are in the press: Sovereignty for the Common Man by C. A. W. Manning; What is a Nation? by Harold Stannard.

General Editor.
