PUBLISHERS' NOTE

In this the second Edition of "The Indian Problem" Mr. C. F. Andrews further elucidates his views on "Indian Independence" in the light of events subsequent to the publication of the papers presented herein. Advantage has also been taken of the issue of this revised edition to add three select speeches on Untouchability—a subject in which Mr. Andrews is as keen as Mr. Gandhi himself. For, says Mr. Andrews, "no people can be free, who are themselves ready to enslave others."
