Introduction

1.1 Physical features:

1.1 Location:- Jalgaon as one of the seventh districts of Bombay Division is situated on the North East fringe of the Division. This district and Dhulia are known as Khandesh. The District lies in the upper Tapi basin. Unlike Deccan plateau the orientation of Khandesh is towards the West Coast. The area of Jalgaon District is 4392 sq. miles stretched in between  $20^{\circ}$  and  $21^{\circ}$  north Latitude and  $74^{\circ}55'$  and  $76^{\circ}28'$  in East Longitude.

1.2 Boundaries:- Jalgaon district is bounded by Madhya Pradesh on the north, Madhya Pradesh and Buldhana district on the east, Aurangabad district on the south and Dhulia and Nasik districts on the west. Stretching nearly 90 miles a along the Tapi river, and varying in breadth from seventy to ninety miles, it forms an upland basin, one of the most northerly sections of the Deccan table land. Along the whole northern boundary, the district is bounded by ranges of Satpuda, a mountain tract from thirty to forty miles wide. Quite a major portion of the northern boundary is marked by tributary Aner, which in the west continues to separate Jalgaon from Dhulia till its junction with the Tapi. To the south, the Ajantha, Satmala and Chandor ranges may roughly be said to mark the line between Jalgaon and the Marathwada territory. On the west Jalgaon shares its boundary with Nasik district over a stretch of about 15 miles, and then with Dhulia district for about 50 miles, the Panikam river being the only natural feature demarcating it over a major stretch.

1.3 Topography:- Although Jalgaon belongs to the Deccan uplands of Maharashtra State, it is distinguished from the rest of the uplands by its westward aspect. While rest of the upland region is drained by the major rivers to the east, the Tapi and its tributaries drain the Jalgaon region to the west towards Arabian Sea. This district has varied topographical features and landscapes, consisting of wild hills and forests, rich gardens and groves, stretched of barren plain, low rolling rocky hills and tensely gullied topography near river banks. Regionally from east to west, parallel with the Tapi are three well marked belts of country, in the centre the rich Tapi valley, in the north the high and wild Satpura, and in the south and south-west bare ridges and rich well watered valleys flanked by Ajantha range.

1.4-Soil:- Broadly, the soil of this district can be classified into three major tracts. The northern tract mostly consists of rich black Cotton soil except for a small strip of three to four miles along the foot of Satpura and about a mile near the bank of the Tapi river. In the central tract there are three types of soil viz., - deep black, red and brown. The deep black soil is most fertile and yields rich crops. The deep black soil is most fertile and yields rich crops. The lighter red soil though not so fertile, is sufficiently good for raising cash crops such as Cotton and Groundnut. The general quality of the soil in the southern tract is, however, inferior to that of the central or northern tracts. The reddish-brown soil in Pachora taluka and Bhadgaon peta is best suited for Jowar, Cotton and Groundnut, while the soil in Chalisgaon taluka is capable of raising heavy crops with the help of adequate water supply. On either side of the Tapi, runs an unbroken plain of the deep black cotton soil forming a strip of alluvium covered lands.

1.5-Rivers:- Tapi flows from east to west and meets Arabian Sea at Khambayat, nearly 12 miles from Surat. Out of the total length of about 450 miles of this river, nearly 75 miles is in Jalgaon and Dhulia districts. Almost all other rivers in Jalgaon district are its feeders. River Purna enters the district from south-east and meets Tapi at Champdev in Etlabad peta. Another important river Girna, takes its course in the Sahyadris in Nasik district flows from west to east in the southern part then south to north separating Frandol and Jalgaon taluka and meets the Tapi after taking a right angle turn near about Jalgaon. Among other feeders are included Bhogavati, Waghur and Bori feeding from south and Bhokar, Suki, Mori, Ratnawati, Madhi, Mahi, Gutli and Aner from north. The feeders from north except Aner are all small rivers.

1.6-Hills:- Within the district there are three chief hill ranges, the Satpuda in the north, the Hatti in the south-east and the Ajantha or Satmala in the South. In Satpuda the chief peaks that rise over about 3000 feet are Pancha Pandav and Mondhadamal looking down on Yawal. The Hatti hills bounding the Purna valley on the east, run north-west and south east and for about twenty miles pass through the south-east corner of Jalgaon. The Satmala also known as the Chandor or Ajanta ranges breaking off sharply from the Sahyadris in the north-west of Nasik, runs eastwards for about fifty miles. Near Manmad, after a gentle depression, it rises about 500 feet above the plain and forms a somewhat monotonous wall-like boundary between Jalgaon and the Deccan.

1.7-Minerals:- Jalgaon District is composed entirely of trap rocks which are generally barren of any economically useful and important minerals. The trap is used for building purposes as road metal, railway ballast and cement concrete.
