Interpretation

On Regulation XXII. of 1827, Section III.

Clause 1st Article 4th.

On a question arising, it was declared that the temporary employment, within the limits of a camp in the course of his ordinary avocation, of a party who has no other claim, to be considered a Camp follower, is insufficient to render the provisions of Regulation XXII, Section III. Clause 1st Article 4th of 1827, applicable to such party, who is held to be amenable to the civil power for all criminal acts committed by him.

Notice

The Subjoined extract of a letter from the Acting Post Master in Khandeish, dated 12th instant, is published for the information of the public.

" With regret, I have the Honor to report for your information, the Overland Mail for the North Western provinces, dispatched from Bombay, on the 10th at 1 A. M. reached this Station at 11 A. M. this day, in a sad damaged state, the rope of the flying bridge at the Kadiva river (between Chandore and Nassick,) broke in crossing, and the boat in which the Mails were, swamped, and with the greatest difficulty the wallets were saved.

2. Instantly on arrival I opened each packet, dried, and having repacked, dispatched them, a work of considerable labor, and only this moment completed, nine Wallets were received, and as the letters and newspapers were dried, they were forwarded commencing about 1 P. M. and terminating as stated; many letters were much damaged, and considerable discontent will doubtless be expressed at such an untoward event pressing so heavy on the community."

GENERAL ORDERS.

BY THE HON'BLE THE GOVERNOR IN COUNCIL.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

BOMBAY CASTLE, 11TH JULY 1844.

No. 434 of 1844.—Under the orders of His Excellency the Commander in Chief, and in accordance with the G. G. O. 27th September 1841, Para. 345 Section XLII of Jameson's Code, the triennial inspection of Pensioners will take place at the different stations under this Presidency as soon after the 1st September next, as committees for the purpose can conveniently be assembled. The attention of these committees is particularly directed to the rules laid down for their guidance, and to the necessity of filling up the Inspection return with the utmost exactness.

2. It will also be their duty to enquire into and report upon the following points, and generally to elicit such information as it may be in their power to collect in furtherance of the object for which they are assembled.

1st Whether the musters have been regularly taken, and the date of each entered upon the Pensioners descriptive roll.

2nd. Whether pay appears to have been issued to any of the Pensioners without the muster having been taken.

3rd. Whether the Pensioners have been regularly paid the full amount of their Pensions, and whether these payments are attested by the signature of the disbursing officers.

4th. Whether all the Pensioners drawing pay at the different Stations were originally pensioned at those Stations, or whether their transfers to them have been sanctioned by competent authority, and entered in their Rolls.

5th. A particular inspection of the Women and Children on the Pension list should be made as from the returns, the rate of mortality amongst these classes of Pensioners appears not to be proportionate to those of other classes, and as in many instances the identity of the Pensioners especially in the case of the children, is after the lapse of a few years so difficult to establish as to present facilities for the perpetration of frauds, the Committees will be careful to make such alterations and additions to the column headed "indelible marks" &c. as to render the description of the holder of the Roll as complete as possible.

3. The Staff Officers of the different stations where Committees are directed to assemble, will give the earliest information to all civil authorities in charge of Pensioners in their neighbourhood of the probable time and place of assembly, in order that they may direct the due attendance of the Pensioners under their charge and may prepare the necessary documents in time for the Committees.

4. The pensioners at the Presidency will be inspected by the Superintendent of Pensions, and those at Tannah, Bhewndy, Panwell &c. by a Committee to be appointed for that purpose.
