EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Bombay Castle, 6th November 1893.

No. 2433.—The following draft of rules which it is proposed to make in exercise of the powers conferred under Section 24 of the Bombay District Municipal Act, 1873, as amended by Section 49 (e) of the Bombay District Municipal Act Amendment Act, 1884, to prescribe the extent of the independent authority of Municipalities in respect of public education, and the relations of Municipalities with the Government Educational Department, is published for general information. Any objection or suggestions relating thereto received before the 9th day of December 1893 will, on and after that date, be considered :—

RULES LAID DOWN BY GOVERNMENT UNDER SECTION 24 OF THE BOMBAY DISTRICT MUNICIPAL ACT OF 1873.

1. The powers and duties of every Municipality in respect of the establishment and maintenance of schools may, subject to the reservations and conditions hereinafter contained, and subject to such alterations as may from time to time be made under the authority of Government on this behalf, be delegated to a Committee, which shall be called "the Schools Committee," and shall be constituted according to the rules made under Section 32 of the District Municipal Act Amendment Act (Bombay II of 1884).

2. The principles and system of school management, the course of instruction to be followed, and the rates of salary to be given to the various grades of masters in Municipal Schools, shall be those prescribed by the Educational Department under the authority of Government, in the Codes for Vernacular Masters and Training Colleges, and in Chapter I and Schedules of the Grant-in-Aid Code, so far as the same may be applicable: provided that to meet local requirements, with the previous consent of the Director of Public Instruction, any Municipality may adopt such modifications as may be found to be necessary or expedient. In case of doubt as to the application of any principle or rule, the decision of the Director of Public Instruction shall be followed subject to an appeal to Government, whose decision shall be final and conclusive.

3. Municipal schools shall, subject to the proviso in Rule 2, be provided for all castes and classes of the community, and shall be open to inspection and examination at all times by the Government Inspecting Staff. The Municipality shall in each case make suitable arrangements in communication with the Inspector for the annual examination required by the Educational Department.

4. In the budget estimate of every Municipality prepared under Section 88 of the Bombay District Municipal Act of 1873 as amended by clause (j) of Section 49 of the Bombay District Municipal Act Amendment Act, 1884, there shall be a separate section for educational income and expenditure. A copy of that section, with full details of both income and expenditure, and of all variations and alterations made from time to time, shall be forwarded to the Educational Inspector as soon as conveniently may be after the general meeting at which such budget estimate, variation or alteration is passed. The School Fund shall be kept distinct from the general Municipal Fund, and in the annual accounts rendered under Section 90 of the said Act, there shall also be a separate section under the head Education. A copy of this section shall be forwarded yearly to the Government Educational Inspector of the Division as soon as possible after the accounts have been audited and passed.

5. In the budget estimate and in the annual accounts shall be set forth in separate parts the receipts and expenditure—

- (1) for schools within the contract * ;
- (2) for schools not within the contract, but maintained or aided from the Municipal Fund with or without a Government grant ;
- (3) for any other educational purposes not included in the above, but coming under Section 24, clauses (15), (16) or (21) of Act VI of 1873.

Under the head of Receipts shall be shown separately—

- (a) balance of School Fund unexpended and carried forward ;
- (b) the Government contract grant ;
- (c) the fee receipts of schools ;
- (d) the sum assigned and paid to the Municipality under Section 47 of the Bombay District Local Boards Act, 1884, which is to be expended on educational purposes under the second paragraph of that section ;
- (e) any other contribution made by Government or by a Local Board, and any other income received by the Municipality for expenditure on or for the benefit of the said schools, or accruing from the said schools ;

- (f) the allotment made by the Municipality in the year of account from receipts of the Municipal Fund other than receipts under (a), (b), (c), (d), and (e) for expenditure on or for the benefit of the said schools.

6. The budget estimate and annual accounts shall be rendered in such detail as may be set forth in forms prescribed from time to time by the Governor in Council.

7. In all questions relating to pension, leave, and pay, and acting allowances the rules from time to time in force for the Government Uncovenanted services shall be applicable to every member of a school establishment who has been or may be transferred from the Educational Department, and who is in receipt of a salary which would entitle him to pension under the Government Uncovenanted Service Rules.

In Municipal Schools, so long as persons who hold Training College certificates recognized by the Educational Department or who are already in receipt of pensionable salaries under Government are procurable, no persons not so qualified shall be employed on pensionable pay. It shall be incumbent on every Municipality engaging a teacher as aforesaid to make provision for his pensionary rights and leave allowances, in accordance with the rules in this behalf from time to time prescribed by Government. In filling up places of non-pensionable pay, the Municipality shall give the preference to those who have passed an examination qualifying for the Public Service, or who have been useful teachers.

8. Subject to Rule 7, the appointment, promotion, punishment, suspension and dismissal of all members of the establishments of Municipal Schools shall rest with the Municipality or the Schools Committee to whom such power may be delegated : provided that no officer in receipt of a salary exceeding ten rupees per month shall be dismissed or have his salary permanently reduced or be re-transferred to the Educational Department without the previous sanction of the Municipality.

9. In order that the less advanced Municipalities may be relieved of responsibilities which they are not yet prepared to bear, any such Municipality may apply to the Director of Public Instruction, and on such application the administration of its schools in the matter of appointment, promotion, punishment, suspension and dismissal of all members of the establishments of Municipal Schools may be conducted by the Government Educational Department.

10. The scale of school fees payable in any Municipal School shall not, without the previous consent of the Director of Public Instruction, be increased above, or reduced below, that existing at the time of the transfer of such school to the Municipality. Free studentships in primary schools maintained or aided by a Municipality shall be distributed according to the rules prescribed in the Vernacular Masters Code, and scholarships in all institutions and free-studentships in institutions other than primary schools maintained or aided by a Municipality shall be distributed in accordance with the principles which regulate the award of Government and Local Board scholarships.

11. As to all Departmental matters, other than those referred to in Rule 2 as to which the ruling of the Educational Department is obligatory, every Municipality shall give full consideration to the representations of the Educational Department and shall make a written reply within a reasonable time stating its reasons in case it dissents from the views set forth in such representations.

12. With a view to the promotion of private schools and as an aid to the provision of the adequate system of primary instruction which is required by law, every Municipality shall keep a register of primary schools not included in the contract as Municipal Schools, to be recommended by them from time to time for maintenance under the Grant-in-Aid system according to the Code of rules from time to time prescribed and published by Government: provided, that a Municipality shall not interfere in any way with such schools as do not desire to receive aid or to be subject to its supervision.

13. A detailed statement of all employés in Municipal Schools, with their salaries and all other items of recurring expenditure, shall be maintained by each Municipality and shall be at all times open to the inspection of the Government Educational Inspector.

14. Every Municipality shall furnish without delay all returns, statistics and any other information relating to Municipal Schools which may be called for by the Educational Inspector.

By order of His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor in Council,

G. C. WHITWORTH,

Acting Secretary to Government

13. Circular to Local Governments and Administrations No. $\frac{3}{16}$, dated 16th July 1892.

Many enquiries having been received by the Government of India on the subject, the following explanation of the constitution and objects of the Imperial Institute is published for general information.

2. In December 1886 an organising Committee appointed by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, with Lord Herschell as President, submitted their report, copies of which were received by the Government of India and circulated to Local Governments and Administrations in February 1887.

3. Lord Herschell's Committee recommended that the Institute should comprise two sections—one for the United Kingdom, the other for the Colonies and India. They explained in the 9th and following paragraphs of their report that—

(3) the object of the Colonial and Indian Section will be to illustrate the great commercial and industrial resources of the Colonies and India, and to spread a knowledge of their progress and social condition.

(10) To this end provision should be made for—

- (1) the display in an adequate manner of the best natural and manufactured products of the Colonies and India, and, in connection with this, the circulation of typical collections throughout the United Kingdom;
- (2) a hall for the discussion of Colonial and Indian subjects, and for receptions connected with the Colonies and India;
- (3) the formation of Colonial and Indian libraries, and establishing in connection therewith reading news, and intelligence rooms;
- (4) the incorporation in some form into the proposed Institute of the Royal Colonial Institute and Royal Asiatic Society if, as is hoped, it be possible to bring about such a union;
- (5) the collection and diffusion of the fullest information in regard to the industrial and material condition of the Colonies, so as to enable intending emigrants to acquire all requisite knowledge. Such information might be advantageously supplemented by simple and practical instruction. An emigration office of this character should be in correspondence with the provincial towns, either through the free libraries or by other means, so that information may be readily accessible to the people. These objects would be greatly facilitated if, as may be hoped, the Government should consent to the transfer to the buildings of the Institute of the recently formed Emigration Department, which would, by a close connection with the Institute, largely increase its usefulness.

(11). Facilities might be afforded for the exhibition of works of Colonial and Indian Art.

(12). It is also considered desirable that means should be provided, not for a general exhibition, but for occasional special exhibitions of Colonial and Indian produce and manufactures. At one time a particular Colony or portion of the Empire may desire to show its progress; at another time a general comparison of particular industries may be useful. Whilst the permanent galleries would exhibit the usual commercial or industrial products of the several Colonies and India, the occasional exhibitions would stimulate and enlist the sympathies of Colonial and Indian producers, and keep up an active co-operation with the industrial classes of this country.

4. The Colonial and Indian Section has since the date of the Committee's report been subdivided into sections for each Colony, and there is now a distinct section for India, which, for the purposes of this Resolution, will be referred to as 'the Indian Section.'

The scope of the Indian Section has been enlarged by the introduction of arrangements for the teaching of Oriental languages thus described in the Year Book of the Institute for 1892:

'In 1887 it was suggested that a School of Modern Oriental Studies should be established as a branch of the Institute in imitation of the very efficient establishments of this kind which are carried on with Government resources in France, Germany, and Austria. The promulgation of this proposal led to negotiation with the authorities of University College and King's College, London, which resulted in their co-operation with the Institute in the establishment of the School. A Special Committee having been appointed to organise a system of work, it was arranged that classes for instruction in the Oriental languages required by students qualifying for examinations for the Indian Civil Service should be held at University College, while Modern Oriental languages, other than the Indian languages, should be taught at King's College, and that the Imperial Institute should undertake the general administrative and financial work. The School was officially opened in January 1890, when an inaugural address was delivered by Professor Max Müller at the Royal Institution in the presence of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales. The daughters of the late Colonel W. J. Ouseley (Bengal Army) have established and endowed in his memory three scholarships in Arabic and Persian in connection with the School, each one of the value of not less than £50 per annum.'

Since 1887 subscriptions to the amount of £101,550 have been raised in this country, and constitute more than one quarter of the total subscriptions received from all sources by the Managing Committee in London. The entire sum contributed has been utilized partly for the constitution of a permanent endowment fund, which amounted in 1892 to £141,520, and partly for the construction of the building.

The Institute, of which the foundation stone was laid by the Queen on the 4th of July 1887, was formally opened by Her Majesty on the 10th May 1893.

5. It was originally intended that a Committee of the Indian Section should be formed in India with the Viceroy as President, and in 1887 the names of members were forwarded to the Secretary of State. This scheme was, however, superseded by the constitution framed in 1890, in pursuance of the charter granted to the Institute in May 1888, under which the Institute is controlled by a governing body or general Council of not less than 120 members or governors, of whom 15 are appointed to represent India. The Indian Governors may be selected in such manner as the Governor-General in Council for the time being may direct.

6. The following rules have been prescribed for the appointment of the Indian representatives:

Three are to be appointed annually by the Governor-General in Council; six by the Provinces, including Native States, in rotation; four by the Chambers of Commerce in rotation; and two by Native institutions: provided that no representative can be appointed who will not be resident in England during his term of office.

• The term of office commences and ends on the 23rd of July, but a fresh nomination may be made at any intervening date in the event of office being vacated by the return of a member to India or for any other reason.

The Native States and Associations to be represented each year will be selected by the Government of India after ascertaining what eligible candidates are resident in England, and after correspondence with the rulers of the Native States and with the Native institutions concerned.

Provinces and Chambers of Commerce, in the order below prescribed for the next three years, will forward to the Secretary in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture the names of proposed representatives on or before the 1st of June. In each case three names may be submitted in the order in which it is desired that the offer of a governorship for the ensuing year may be made to the nominees. If no one of the nominees accept, the Government of India will select a representative. If no communication is received before the 1st of June from any Province or Chamber of Commerce entitled to a nomination, either the offer will be made to any existing representative, or a representative will be selected by the Government of India.

The following is the rotation prescribed for the next three years :

8. Fellows of the Imperial Institute are elected under rules, of which a copy is appended to this Resolution, and which explain the conditions and privileges attached to Fellowship. Application for election as Fellow, or for any information that may be required regarding the Institute, should be made to the Secretary, Imperial Institute, South Kensington.

9. The Government of India have decided that the most effective way in which the Imperial Institute can be made to serve the interests of India is to utilise it both for the purpose of attracting attention to the various economic products of India, especially those which are little known, and for obtaining through the agency of the governing body the trial or analysis by experts of products more or less new to commerce. The objects held in view will be more fully gathered from the following explanation embodied in the preface to the series of Commercial Hand-books which are provided to the Institute by the Department of Economic Products :

'The Government of India have arranged to provide to the Imperial Institute for the illustration of the Economic Products of India—

- (A) a descriptive catalogue or dictionary;
- (B) an index collection of all products;
- (C) a commercial collection of special products;
- (D) a hand-book descriptive of C.

A. The descriptive catalogue has been completed, and is termed the "Dictionary of the Economic Products of India." The compilation has occupied eight years, and has been made under the editorship of Dr. G. Watt, C.I.E., Reporter on Economic Products to the Government of India. It has been confined to the collection of facts and statistics available up to the date of the publication of the work.

To each product there is assigned in the dictionary a separate number, which will be permanently maintained for purposes of reference.

B. The index collection will, when completed, comprise small samples of every economic product of India, which will bear the same numbers as those assigned to the products in the dictionary.

C. The commercial collections are on a larger scale. The number of products of which a collection is provided each year will be limited to about 20.

Each collection will comprise as complete a set of specimens of the product in its raw and manufactured state as is necessary for the fulfilment of the objects with which the commercial collections and hand-books are provided.

D. The hand-books will supply, in a separate pamphlet for each product, the information contained in the dictionary, amplified by supplementary facts and statistics, and illustrated by maps, diagrams, photographs, etc.

The objects of the commercial collections and hand-books which accompany them are:

- (1) To secure, while each collection is being made for the Institute, a thorough and special investigation in India through which fresh information regarding the product concerned not contained in the dictionary may be obtained.
- (2) To illustrate the dictionary in a manner more complete than can be effected by the index collection.
- (3) In the case of products which are not generally known—
 - (a) to bring them to the notice of those interested;
 - (b) to indicate the extent to which and conditions under which they are procurable;
 - (c) to ascertain their commercial value;
 - (d) to secure, through the governing body of the Institute and commercial experts whom they may consult, such special trial or analysis of them as can be more effectually made in England than in India.

The initial cost of the collections has been met from a special grant of Rs. 10,000. An annual grant of £600 is provided for the maintenance and completion of the existing collections, and a further grant of £400 again is allowed for the salary of the official Curator. Rs. 4,000 are also contributed annually by Local Governments towards the collection of products for the Institute. The Indian Section is under the general superintendence of Sir F. Abel, Secretary to the Institute, and the collections are under the charge of Mr. J. R. Royle, C.I.E., of the India Office, who has been appointed official Curator of the Indian Courts.

10. The index collection has reached an advanced stage.

Commercial collections have, under the direction of Mr. E. Thurston, Officiating Reporter on Economic Products, been already provided for the representation of the following products:

These may be purchased for a nominal price either at the Imperial Institute, at the office of the Reporter on Economic Products in Calcutta, or from the Superintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

11. Galleries have been provided in the Institute building, in which the index collections are arranged in such a way as to be easily studied by interested visitors, and there are also working rooms for detailed examination of the commercial collections by those connected with the trades to which they appertain.

12. Special arrangements have since the opening of the Institute been set on foot, under the direction of Sir Frederick Abel, with the object of facilitating the trial and analysis of commercial products by experts either at the Institute itself, where rooms and laboratories have been provided for the purpose, or in local manufactories, chemical works, and other appropriate places. Dr. Theodore Cooke, C.I.E., late Principal of the College of Science, Poona, has recently been appointed as Technical Sub-Director of the Institute and to supervise arrangements for securing the investigation of new products from India and the Colonies.

13. All correspondence in India connected with the collections supplied to the Institute is conducted by the Reporter on Economic Products, to whose office at the Indian Museum, Calcutta, all enquiries or letters on the subject should be addressed.

14. The names of Governors appointed for the Indian Section for the year 1893-94 will be published shortly in the Gazette of the Government of India.

ORDER.—Ordered, that the above be published for general information in the Supplement to the			Secretary for Berar to the Resident at		Gazette of India , and that copies be forwarded to the several Local Governments and Administrations for information and publication in the local Gazette, and to the Chambers of Commerce noted on the margin.

PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.
(RAILWAY.)

Bombay Castle, 4th November 1893.

No. 36.—The following Notification by the Government of India in the Public Works Department is republished for information :—

“ Simla, the 26th October 1893.”

No. 415.—The following is published for general information :

Circular No. XV Railway, dated 11th October 1893.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India,
Public Works Department.

STEAM TRAMWAYS NOT WITHIN MUNICIPAL LIMITS.

Scrutiny of all applications for permission to construct tramways immediately they are received with the object of determining whether the projects should be classed as tramways or as railways.

Read—

Government of India Circular No. 17 Railway, dated 15th August 1883.

Government of India Circular No. 20 Railway, dated 11th September 1883.

Government of India Resolution No. 1275-R.C., dated 21st November 1892.

Read also—

The Bengal Tramways Act, III of 1883.

The Indian Tramways Act, XI of 1886.

The Indian Railways Act, IX of 1890.

OBSERVATIONS.—In the circulars of 1883 quoted above, the Government of India ruled that no new railway, or extension or branch of an existing railway, and that no steam tramway not within municipal limits—whatever may be the estimated cost and whatever the agency, whether provincial or private, by which the work is to be executed—shall be commenced until the project for the same shall have been submitted to and sanctioned by the Government of India.

2. In connection with some recent schemes for the construction of steam tramways outside municipal limits, inconvenience and difficulties have arisen from the treatment under the Acts relating to tramways of projects which might more properly be classed as projects for light railways.

3. Although it appears impracticable to define in set terms the difference between a steam tramway and a railway, it is noteworthy that in none of the Acts relating to tramways is any provision made in regard to stations, signals, fencing, gates, and crossings. Generally speaking projects which require these equipments, as well as projects which contemplate the running of trains at a speed exceeding 12 miles an hour, should, prima facie, be held to come under the classification of railways.

4. The use of steam tramways as a means of communication in districts which are not well served by roads, and as feeders to existing railways, may be encouraged with advantage. Care should, however, be taken that the provision of steam tramways is not permitted to interfere with progress in railway construction by conceding to tramway companies the possession of alignments that may be likely to be required within a reasonable period for the location of railways. In cases where such a result may be anticipated, and in which nevertheless it may be considered expedient to allow the construction of a steam tramway, the tramway ‘Order’ should always contain terms on which the tramway may, when necessary, be compelled to give way to a railway.

5. Attention is invited to the Resolution of 1892 read above, with which was circulated a note—by Lieutenant Colonel R. R. Pulford, R. E., Superintending Engineer of the 1st Circle, Provincial Works, North-Western Provinces and Oudh—describing the Powayan Steam tramway and giving particulars regarding its construction and working.

RESOLUTION.—The Government of India, without wishing to lay down any hard-and-fast rule which might have the effect of discouraging the construction of steam tramways, desire to call the attention of Local Governments and Administrations to the necessity for closely scrutinising, immediately that they are received and before negotiations are proceeded with, all applications for permission to construct steam tramways outside municipal limits with the object of determining whether the projects concerned will more properly and conveniently be classed as tramways to be constructed under the provisions of the Tramways Acts, or as railways to be constructed under the Indian Railways Act.

ORDER.—Ordered, that this Resolution be communicated for information and guidance to the Local Governments and Administrations marginally noted.

Also that it be forwarded for information to the Director General of Railways; the Accountant General, Public Works Department; and the Consulting Engineers to the Government of India for Railways, Calcutta, Central Division, Lucknow, and Assam.

Ordered also, that this Resolution be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

(Signed) F. J. HOME, Colonel, R. E.,
Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.”

By order of His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor in Council,

F. FIREBRACE, Lieut.-Colonel, R. E.,
Secretary to Government.

GENERAL LETTER No. T.A.G.

TREASURY ACCOUNT DEPARTMENT:

Bombay, 2nd November 1893.

From

THE ACCOUNTANT GENERAL, BOMBAY;

To

ALL HEADS OF DEPARTMENTS AND OFFICES,
INCLUDING COLLECTORS, DEPUTY COMMISSIONERS IN SIND AND TREASURY OFFICERS.

SIR,—I have had occasion several times recently to disallow comparatively large sums of money which controlling officers had passed to non-gazetted ministerial and menial officers under Article 1170, Civil Service Regulations. It does not seem generally understood that what these officers are entitled to is "actual travelling expenses" within mileage rates only and not full mileage per rates as a matter of course. Moreover the scale of actual expenses is to be moderated by the controlling officer, whose duty it is to "carefully check any tendency to abuse the option of exchanging a daily rate for mileage under Article 1170" [C. S. R., Article 1290 (a)] as well as to watch in the interests of the public purse that travelling allowances do not become a source of profit. [Article 1087, C. S. R.]

2. I would invite your particular attention to the terms of Certificate No. 2, Form 9, page 277, Civil Account Code, which has always to be signed when daily allowance is exchanged under Article 1170, Civil Service Regulations, and would request you to scrutinise carefully the details of actual travelling expenses said to have been incurred, disallowing any which seem unnecessary or excessive, considering the exigencies of the journey and the expedition actually used in accomplishing it. [Article 1290 (a), C. S. R.]

3. These details should in future be shown on the travelling allowance bill in the place assigned for "Detail of actual expenses" in Form 9, Civil Account Code, page 280.

A. F. COX,
Accountant General.
