to make it cover any person appointed by the Local Government to perform all or any of the duties of a District Superintendent of Police under the Act in any district.

We have in section 2 restored the original words of section 7 of the Act and thus limited the 3. imposition of these minor punishments to cases in which officers discharge their duties in a careless or negligent manner or by their own acts render themselves unfit for the discharge thereof. At the same time we have authorized the imposition of one or more of these punishments, as we are of opinion that there may be cases in which it may be desirable to have such authority.

4. We have made no substantial alteration in section 3 of the Bill as introduced.

5. We have made important changes in section 4 of the Bill as introduced. We have in the first place provided for the issue of a preliminary proclamation by the Local Government, declaring a local area

vi.-7

Act for the Regula-tion of Police) was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

2. We have expanded the definition of " District Superintendent of Police" proposed by section 1 of the Bill as introduced, so as to be in a disturbed or dangerous state or that the conduct of the inhabitants is such as to make it expedient to increase the number of police. The notification of this proclamation of the Local Government must precede the further action to be taken either in the direction of quartering an additional police-force under this section or of the award of compensation for injuries suffered under the next section, to which we shall presently refer. We have maintained the liability of the inhabitants of the proclaimed area to bear the cost of additional police, and, following the principle of the English law on the subject, we have included in the term "inhabitants" all persons who directly hold property or collect rents within the local area. We have given the District Magistrate, acting with the consent of the Local Government, power to exempt persons or a class or section of the inhabitants from liability to contribute to such cost. The power to exempt "persons" has been inserted with the object of enabling the Magistrate to exempt individual holders of property in the area. We have also empowered the Magistrate to revise his order of exemption on his own motion at any time, or on application made within one month in that behalf.

6. We have re-drafted section 15A, proposed by section 5 of the Bill as introduced, so as to harmonize its procedure with that now adopted in section 15. We have made the action of the Magistrate under the section dependent first upon the receipt of an application for compensation and next on the sanction of the Local Government to that application being considered. We have placed the responsibility, as in section 15, on all the inhabitants of the proclaimed area, the word "inhabitants" being declared to have the same meaning as in section 15. We have given the Magistrate power, with the sanction of the Local Government, to make exemption from the liability to pay compensation, and, following the plan of section 15, authority to revise his order in that behalf.

7. Instead of proposing certain amendments in section 16 of the Act, we have thought it better (section 6 of our amended Bill) to redraft the whole section so as to make it provide for the recovery of moneys payable under sections 13, 14, 15 and 15A, for the crediting of the moneys recovered under the first three of these sections to the general Police Fund, and for the payment of those recovered under the last section to the persons to whom, and in the proportions in which, the same are payable under that section.

8. We have (section 7 of our amended Bill) added a clause to section 26 of the Act applying the provisions of section 525 of the Criminal Procedure Code to property referred to in this section. This supplies a want which has been felt.

9. We have (section 10 of our amended Bill) recast section 50 of the Act, expanding the new portion proposed by section 7 of the Bill as introduced so as to make the procedure in connection with the requirement of licenses for certain assemblies and processions more clear and definite. We have added a clause prohibiting the taking of any fee when such licenses are applied for or granted. We have also made it clear that the regulation of the use of music in the streets includes the suspension when necessary of its use.

10. We have (section 11 of our amended Bill) expanded the new clause which section 8 of the Bill as introduced proposed to add to section 31 of the Act, making it into a separate section and adding a sub-section declaring that any procession or assembly which neglects or refuses to obey an order to disperse shall be deemed to be an unlawful assembly, and thus liable to be dealt with under the provisions of Chapter IX of the Criminal Procedure Code.

11. We have (section 13 of our amended Bill), by the addition of certain words, made it clear that the offences punishable under section 34 of the Act, if committed in a street or thoroughfare, shall be equally punishable if committed in any place open to the public, though not a street or thoroughfare.

12. Section 9 of the Bill as introduced repealed sections 37, 38, 39, and 40 of the Act, which provide a special procedure for the recovery of fines and applied to such recovery the general provisions of the Penal and Oriminal Procedure Codes referred to in section 5 of the General Clauses Act, 1868. It appeared, however, that the effect of applying section 65 of the Penal Code and repealing section 39 of the Act would be to reduce the term for which a person might now be imprisoned in default of payment of fine imposed under section 34 of the Act from two months to two days. We have therefore provided that when a fine is imposed under section 34 of the Act, the imprisonment awarded in default of payment may, notwithstanding anything in section 65 of the Code, extend to eight days, being the period of imprisonment which may be awarded under the section irrespective of fine.

13. Section 46 of the Act at present enables the Government of India to extend the whole of the Act to any Presidency, Province or place. We have (section 15 of our amended Bill) modified that section so as to enable the Government to extend a part of the Act as well as the whole.

14. We have made some other amendments which are either consequential on those noticed above or 3 do not call for explanation.

I regret that I caunot recommend the Bill to be passed in its present shape. I believe that there is still much leit in the Bill which can be reasonably objected us, especially in reference to Sections 4, 5 and 10 of the Bill; in fact, I doubt, with many of those high executive and judicial authorities who have expressed their opinion on the subject, whether the power of exemption given to the Magistrates without anything like a judicial or quasi-judicial procedure would, in most cases, be exercised without inconvenience, and whether Section 5 ought at all to find place in the Police Act.

Sections 4, 5 and 6 of the Bill are, in our opinion, open to very serious objections. We cannot join in the recommendation that the Bill with those sections in it be passed into law. We propose to move an amendment in Council that they be strack out of the Bill, and deem it unnecessary to state at length our reasons in this note.
