An Ordinance enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, entitled the Vagrancy Ordinance, 1888.

[3rd March 1888.]

Be it enacted by the Governor of Hongkong, with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council thereof, as follows :—

1. In this Ordinance the term vagrant means any person other than a Chinese found asking for alms, or without any employment or visible means of subsistence.

Interpretation.

Agent of a vessel includes any person who undertakes the agency of such vessel, though he may not be the consignee thereof.

2. The Governor may provide a House of Detention for vagrants at such place as he may think proper, and may appoint a Superintendent and such Officers as he may think proper, and may remove any such Superintendent or Officers at pleasure.

Governor may provide House of Detention; in the meantime Victoria Gaol declared as such.

The Governor may, by notification in the Gazette, certify any building or part of a building to be a House of Detention for the purposes of this Ordinance; and until any such house be provided, the Gaol at Victoria may be used as such house for the purpose of this Ordinance.

3. Every House of Detention shall be under the immediate charge of a Superintendent, who shall be appointed, and may be suspended or removed, by the Governor, and until any other appointment is made, the Superintendent of Victoria Gaol shall be the Superintendent of the House of Detention.

Governor to appoint Superintendent. Meantime Superintendent of Victoria Gaol to be Superintendent.

4. Any Police Officer may require any person who is apparently a vagrant to accompany him or any other Police Officer to, and to appear before, a Magistrate.

5. Such Magistrate shall in such case, or in any other case where a person apparently a vagrant comes before him, make a summary enquiry into the circumstances of such apparent vagrant, and, if satisfied that he is a vagrant, shall declare him to be such.

Magistrate may declare a person to be a vagrant.

6. If such Magistrate shall be further of opinion that such vagrant is not likely to obtain employment at once, or if he has reason to believe that a declaration of vagrancy has on any former occasion been recorded in respect of such vagrant, he shall require such vagrant to go to a House of Detention, and shall draw up an order to that effect.

Committal to House of Detention.

7. The vagrant shall then be placed in charge of the Police for the purpose of being forwarded to the House of Detention, and the said order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining him in their charge while he is on his way to the House of Detention, and to the Superintendent of the House of Detention for receiving and detaining such vagrant.

8. Where the Magistrate dealing with such vagrant is of opinion that the vagrant is likely to obtain employment in the Colony, such Magistrate may, in his discretion, forward the vagrant in charge of the Police to the place where such employment is likely to be obtained, and may draw up an order to that effect. Such order shall be a sufficient authority to the Police for retaining the vagrant in their charge whilst on his way to such place of employment, and afterwards, should he not succeed in obtaining such employment.

Magistrate may forward to place of employment.

9. The Magistrate dealing with any vagrant shall, to the best of his ability, assist him in seeking employment, and may in the meantime, if he think fit, keep such vagrant in charge of the Police.
