segregation pauper lepers and the control f. llowing lepers certain callings was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have now the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill as amended by us annexed thereto.

- 2. Title.—We have indicated in the title that the medical treatment of lepers in asylums is one of the objects of their segregation
- 3. Clause 1.—We have made it clear in clause 1 that the Act shall become operative solely in such areas, whether municipalities only or otherwise, as a Local Government may determine, and that either the whole Act or any part of it -as, for instance, the clauses relating to pauper lepers - may be applied
- 4. Clause 2. We have retained the definition of "leper" as we believe that without actual and existing ulceration no action should be taken under this Act; and in clause (?) (a) we have amended the wording so as to cover the ordinary methods of public begging.
- 5. Clause 3.-It will be noted that the notification under this clause is distinct from the notification referred to in clause 1 (4), because the local application of the Act will necessarily be wider than the area from which lepers will be sent to an asylum. The Act will ordinarily be extended to a whole Province or to some territorial division of it, while the areas referred to in this clause will usually be municipal or other urban areas and their environs.

Since the segregation contemplated by the Act is to be compulsory, the asylums referred to in this clause and throughout the Act are public asylums only; we have omitted all reference to private asylums since, owing to the usual nature of their foundation and objects, they are inappropriate to compulsory confinement.

- 6. Clause 6. We have retained in this clause the wording by which any police-officer may arrest a pauper leper, since the areas in which such power will be exercised will, in general, be municipal towns; but we have provided that every person so arrested shall at once be taken to the police-station with a view to the usual record being made and despatched to the authorities, and that no delay shall be allowed in placing such person before an Inspector of Lepers.
- 7. Clause 8.—In consonance with several opinions we have modified clause 8 in the direction of greater distinctness and elasticity. The class of Magistrate who should ordinarily deal with these cases has been specified, and the right of every alleged leper to examine the Inspector of Lepers upon his certificate in Form B, and to require that the allegation of leprosy shall, if not admitted, be fully proved, has been made clear. We have, on the analogy of section 4 of the Lunatic Asylums Act, 1858, given power to the Magistrate to make over a pauper leper to friends, on proper conditions, in lieu of sending him to an asylum; and we have authorised a District or Chief Presidency Magistrate to order the release of any pauper leper from an asylum upon due cause, as, for instance, the cessation of his pauper status or the coming forward of friends. These modifications provide a safeguard against the improper or unnecessary confinement of persons in asylums.
- 8. Clause 9.— From clause 9, sub clause (a), we have excluded, as imperfect and undesirable, the detailed list of trades and callings therein entered, and have substituted for sub-clauses (a) and (b) a new sub-clause (a) in terms which, while more general, at the same time more fully cover the object of the original sub-clauses. We have modified the stringency of sub-clause (e) by new sub-clause (b), by which have placed upon the local authorities of a notified area the duty of safeguarding the public water-supply through bye-laws which shall confine lepers to particular sources of supply In sub-clause (c) we have provided that the public within a notified area shall be protected from lepers, not merely as passengers in, but as drivers or conductors of, public vehicles; we have, however, narrowed the restrictions by substituting "carriages" for "conveyances," and by excluding railway trains from the operation of the sub-clause, since the Railways Act enables the authorities to make rules for the safety of passengers in such matters. In sub-clause (u) we have given power to Local Governments to notify any trades or callings prohibited to lepers; on the other hand, by sub-section (2), Local Governments are enabled to bring into operation only such of the restrictions contained in this clause as may be desirable. Finally, we have reduced the maximum fine to Rs. 20, since first offences will ordinarily call for slight penalties.
- 9. Clause 10. This clause, as amended, gives further powers, but only to Magistrates of the first class, to restrain lepers from persistently disobeying the provisions of clause 9. The use of these further powers is wholly permissive, but their existence will protect the public of notified areas, usually urban, against recalcitrant lepers. We have the refere retained sub-clause (a) [sub-section (1)], for the removal and exclusion from notified areas, e.g., municipalities, of habitual offenders who have been convicted at least twice under clause 9. But we have modified sub-clause (b) [new sub-section (2)] so that the Magistrate can send an offender to any asylum only in default of execution of bond under sub-clause (a).
- 10. Crause 11.—This clause has been newly introduced to prevent employers from using leper labour in the trades or callings mentioned in clause 9; the fine is made heavier than in clause 10, since the offence is more culpable.
- 11. Clause 13.—We have modified this clause so as to ensure that every newly admitted leper within three months after admission, and every leper as often as possible, shall be personally examined by the medical officer on the Board and another member visiting together. Under the safeguards newly introduced into clauses 8 and 10, the power of appeal given in clause 15, and the power of the Local Government to make rules under clause 16, we do not deem it needful to make more frequent visits compulsory by the Act.
- 12. Clause 14.—We have followed the Bengal Act in giving power to two members of the Board, instead of three, to order the discharge of a leper from an asylum.
- 13. Clause 15.—We have made it clear that clause 15 provides an appeal solely against the refusal or issue, respectively, of certificates in Form A or B under clauses 9, 10 and 11. We do not deem it necessary to provide an appeal for pauper lepers under clauses 7 and 8, since only Magistrates of the first class, or those specially selected, may take action under those sections, while the power of discharge from asylums, given not merely to the Board but, as now provided, to the District or Chief Presidency Magistrate, and the new provisions for relegating lepers to the care of friends, are sufficient safeguards against unnecessary confinement.
- 14. Clause 17.—We have followed clause 4 of the Bengal Act in giving power to local authorities to expend fun's upon, and appropriate property to, asylums.
- 15. Clause 18.—We have, by clause 18, made provision for the protection of persons acting in good faith under this Act, following a similar provision in the Epidemic Diseases Act, 1897.

- 16. Clause 19.—We have entered an enabling clause to give power to the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal to substitute the present Act or any part thereof for Bengal Act V of 1895 in any part of the territories administered by him.
