RESOLUTION.

Ordered that the Report be published for general information in the Supplement to the Gazette of India and forwarded to the Legislative Department and to all Local Governments and Administrations.

Offg. Secretary to the Government of India.

Annual report on the working of the Office of Inventions and Designs during 1895.

I have the honour to submit, for the information of the Government of India, the following report on the working of the Office of Inventions and Designs during the calendar year 1895.

2. Mr. G. W. Forrest held charge of the office of Secretary under Act V of 1888 until the 20th March 1895; he then proceeded on furlough, and Surgeon-Lieutenant-Colonel Ranking, Secretary to the Board of Examiners, discharged the duties of the appointment, as a temporary measure, until the 14th June 1895, when I relieved him.

3. The inventions for the use of which exclusive privileges were sought or acquired during the year under review were for the most part connected with railways, punkahs, tea and indigo, sugarcane mills, water-lifts and electricity. The statistics are in certain respects somewhat disappointing. At first sight the considerable increase in the number of applications, 417 against 375 in both of the two years preceding, might lead to the supposition that there was much greater activity on the part of inventors in this country, but a closer examination of the figures shows that the rise is almost wholly due to the desire of English and American patentees to acquire protection for their manufactures. Forty-two as against 32 natives of India were among the applicants, and the percentage of increase in that class since 1893 has been more than ninety; this by itself is satisfactory, but in the circumstances it of course points to a corresponding fall in the number of Anglo-Indians who have turned their attention towards improving the manufactures of the country in which they live. The number of specifications filed in any one year must always depend on a variety of causes, and the large increase on the present occasion, 320 against 294 in 1894 and 253 in 1893, may be ascribed in part to the accident that inventors whose applications were received in the course of 1895 filed the specifications well within the limit of time allowed to them, and in part to the fact that a large proportion of the applicants resided out of India; it is of course the exception for an English patentee to abandon his intention of protecting a manufacture when he has once taken the step of applying for leave to file a specification, while not a few Indian inventors stop short at that stage.

4. The issue of rules under Sections 49 (1) and 63 of the Inventions and Designs Act of 1888, for the guidance of the public, had been suggested in the report for 1894 and a draft was published in 1895 for preliminary criticism by patent agents and others interested in the subject. Useful suggestions were received from certain firms, and after these had received consideration from the Government of India, and the draft had been revised in some particulars, the rules were notified. They related to the mode of preparing applications under either part of the Act, specifications and drawings. Such documents are open for reference as soon as they have been filed in the Secretary's office, and any written on flimsy paper, or illegibly and untidily, or which in consequence of neglect to mark clearly all letters or figures of reference on the drawings attached to them, cannot be easily consulted, must obviously cause much annoyance to visitors who may desire to inspect them. There were many such documents on the records, and the new rules aim at minimising the public discomfort which such a state of things causes.

5. Rules in respect to inventions by private persons which may be tried for the use of the Military or Marine services were also prescribed by the Government of India.

6. A Resolution published by the Military Department in 1894 had required that military officers, who wished to acquire exclusive privileges, should obtain sanction before applying for leave to file specifications. It was decided in the course of the year under review that this order did not affect military officers in civil employ.

7. A question having arisen as to the competence of local Governments to furnish copies of specifications supplied to them under Section 11 (2) of the Act and charge the fees specified in the fourth schedule, a ruling was made to the following effect. If a specification has been signed and executed in the same way as an original filed in the Secretary's office, it may be regarded as a duplicate original, and consequently as a public document within the meaning of Section 74 of the Indian Evidence Act; in such a case a certified copy may be furnished by a local Government on payment of the prescribed fee. If, however, a specification has not been so signed and executed, but is merely a copy of the original, it cannot be regarded as a public document, and a certified copy of it will not be admissible in evidence as proof of the original document. There is of course no objection to the grant of a copy of a copy of the specification filed at Calcutta, on payment of reasonable copying fees, but it should be certified as such.

8. Arrangements, the first, it is hoped, of many of the same kind, were made for the interchange of publications with the United States Patent Office at Washington.

9. The total number of applications under Part I of the Act was 417. Of these 308 were granted, 30 refused, and 79 were pending at the close of the year. It may be observed that in order to give facilities to members of the public for lodging objections against the grant of leave to file the specification of any invention, the issue of orders under Section 6 (1) of the Act is in every case deferred by the Government of India until at least one month has passed from the date on which the receipt of the application was published in the Gazette of India; the number of pending applications at any given time must therefore be large.

10. The number of references to experts fell from 131 in 1894 to 127; of these 15 were on payment of fees against 55 in the previous year, and of the remaining 112 as many as 63 were reported on by the Public Works Department. The increase (42) in the case of the class last named was due to the fact that a large percentage of the applications related to railway and other inventions in which the department in question was interested.

11. Out of the total number of applications filed, 179 were made by residents in India.

12. The specifications filed during the year showed an increase of 26 on the previous year and of 67 on the figures of 1893.

13. Forty applications, or two more than in 1894, for the registration of designs were received, and 23 were rejected. The notice which appears week by week in the Gazette of India, warning the public that copyright cannot be given to trademarks under the Inventions and Designs Act, appears to have little effect in removing the prevalent misapprehension, and the number of cases where copyright in a design was refused by the Government of India was swelled by applications of the class.

14. Five cases involving points of law were referred for the opinion of the Advocate-General.

15. Persons enjoying exclusive privileges kept these alive by payment of the prescribed fees in 172 cases against 133 in 1894. On the other hand, 197 allowed their rights to lapse; 171 failing to pay the fee necessary to preserve a privilege after the end of the fourth year from date of filing, while the later fees severally due under 4 (b), (c) and (d) of the fourth schedule of the Act were not tendered in 26 instances.

16. The gross income of the office rose from Rs. 21,931-6 in 1894 to Rs. 24,035-14. The statement appended to the report gives details of this amount. It will be seen that the principal items are on account of specifications filed (Rs. 9,600) and of receipts for the continuance of privileges (Rs. 8,600); the latter item is of course that in which the chief increase will in future be found.

Sir,—In modification of the instructions issued in General letter No. A.C.—4854, dated the 28th May 1896, I have the honour to forward herewith extract paragraph 1 of letter No. 380, dated the 12th of June 1896, from the Comptroller General, and to state that all extra expenditure incurred in the Civil Department on account of the Suakin Force should be debited to "Account between Bombay and Military Bombay—IV Items adjustable by Military." Separate schedules for these charges should be prepared (supported by proper vouchers to enable me to audit the charges) and submitted to this office.

O. T. BARROW,
Accountant General.

(Extract.)

In forwarding copy of extract paragraphs 1 to 4 of the Military Department letter to the Controller, Military Accounts, Bombay Command, No. 121-s., dated 28th May 1896, I have the honour to inform you that all extra expenditure incurred in the Civil Department on account of the Suakin Force should be debited to the Controller of Military Accounts, Bombay Command, in the exchange accounts with that officer, and included in a separate schedule "Suakin Expedition" after final audit by the disbursing account officer so far as they would have been finally audited had they been incurred on ordinary account and charged off in ordinary course, instead of being passed on to the Controller of Military Accounts, Bombay Command, for recovery from Her Majesty's Imperial Government.

RESOLUTION.

THE recommendations of the Public Service Commission regarding the Education Department are contained in paragraph 99, and in sections 58 to 64 of Chapter X, of their report. They were that—

- (1) the graded lists of the superior branch should be abolished, due regard being had to the interests of existing incumbents;
- (2) recruitment should be made in England only for—
 - (a) Principalships of Colleges;
 - (b) Professorships in those branches of knowledge in which the European standard of advancement has not been attained in India; and
 - (c) a smaller number of Inspectorships than at present;
- (3) recruitment of Professors should ordinarily be of specialists, and, when practicable, for a term of years with power of reappointment;
- (4) the remuneration of officers recruited in England should be fixed with reference to the attainments required and the duties to be performed in each case;
- (5) all educational appointments, other than those in the graded lists of the superior branch, should be filled up locally by the existing mode of recruitment on the principles recommended in the report as to conditions of service for the general Provincial Service;
- (6) there should be in each Presidency, and in the larger Provinces, at least one College with a staff of Professors capable of teaching up to the highest European standards, under a European Principal, and the same object should be kept in view in smaller Colleges as far as practicable; and
- (7) the inspection of Schools and Colleges should be carried on by an agency entirely separate from the teaching staff and recruited from a different source, recruitment being more largely made than heretofore in India.

2. In paragraphs 4 and 5 of the Despatch of 25th March 1891, cited in the preamble, which were intended to place before the Secretary of State for his opinion a general indication of the conclusions which the Government of India were disposed to adopt, they stated their objections to the immediate abolition of the Graded Service, on the grounds that they did not desire either to dispense with the services of the existing staff of officers or to compensate them; and that it was not then possible to determine what system should be substituted for the one then in force. The plan of engaging officers for terms of years was then under trial, but sufficient experience had not been gained to show whether it would be a success and what permanent arrangements as to pay and pension should be made. The system had, the Government of India observed, the manifest advantage of securing a succession of fresh men as Professors, but it had not been established that the prospect of temporary service in India without claim to leave and pension was attractive enough to secure competent Professors, or that, for the work of Professors of ordinary subjects, experience of India was not of still greater importance than freshness of knowledge. Such experience, the Government of India considered, was essential in the case of Inspectors, and in view of the transfer of the control of education to local bodies, and of the extension of the grant-in-aid system, they wished to maintain such a European element in the inspecting staff as would enable them to test with unflinching accuracy from time to time how teaching was being conducted in each part of the country. They accordingly recommended that a certain proportion of the inspecting staff of each Province should continue to be recruited in England, the minimum being fixed according to local circumstances. The question of pay had to be considered in its relation to the officers to be recruited (a) in England and (b) in India. So far as the former were concerned, the Government of India were disposed to think that a maximum pay of Rs. 1,200 a month was sufficient for the Principalship of a College, and Rs. 800 a month for a Professorship or an Inspectorship under the arrangement of temporary contracts. The pay of members of the Subordinate Educational Service, it was observed, varied in different Provinces. It was highest in Bengal, where it rose to a maximum of Rs. 500; while in the North-Western Provinces and Punjab it did not, though special officers drew higher rates, ordinarily rise over Rs. 300 and Rs. 350 respectively. The Government of India recommended that two grades should be added to the Provincial Service in Bengal—one on Rs. 600 and one on Rs. 700—for Professors and Inspectors recruited in India, and remarked that a similar addition would be necessary in other Provinces, and that an increase in expenditure in any Province would have to be covered by a decrease resulting from reductions in the graded list. Such an arrangement would, it appeared to the Government of India, suitably provide for the claims of senior officers appointed Inspectors or Professors, and while it would result in the disappearance of the existing difference between the Graded and the Subordinate Service, would make it possible to maintain the principle of the Public Service Commission's Report by dividing the new Educational Services into two classes,—viz., the Provincial Service including all posts above Rs. 200 in value, and the Subordinate Service comprising all appointments on Rs. 200 or less.

3. In his Despatch of the 28th January 1892, the Secretary of State agreed that the Graded Service should not be at once abolished, but remarked that the intention of the Public Service Commission had been, not to interfere with officers already in the Graded Service, nor to abolish all permanency of service, but to provide that for the future officers recruited in England should, in the first instance, be engaged for a short term with a power of reappointment, which would be exercised if their services were judged to be valuable. His Lordship observed that this proposal was in fact a restoration of a long-established practice which had fallen into disuse (inasmuch as the written terms of appointment were nearly always for five years only), and desired that in future it should have definite effect, the first five years of an officer's service being regarded as probationary and his future employment being made dependent on the judgment passed on his services during that term. In exceptional cases, he observed, a simple engagement for a short term of years or on other special conditions might be made. While concurring generally in the remaining recommendations of the Government of India, His Lordship suggested that their policy should be explained in greater detail, lists being prepared to show in the case of each Province the Principalships, Professorships, and Inspectorships which should form the higher staff recruited in England, and also those which it might be proposed to fill by appointing members of the Provincial Educational Service recruited in India. Viscount Cross proceeded to indicate those measures to which he was prepared to give favourable consideration. Observing that the general purport of the proposals of the Public Service Commission was to diminish the number of officers recruited in England and to raise their standard of quality, he said that to secure University men of high attainments a fairly attractive prospect must be offered; and that, if cost were reduced by the transfer of some officers from the graded lists to the Provincial Service, somewhat more favourable terms might be conceded to graduates in honours appointed in England. His Lordship remarked that as the Educational Departments in the several Provinces were, with one exception, very small, promotion was slow, and the advance from the fourth (Rs. 500—750) to the third grade (Rs. 750—1,000) of the graded list was long deferred; and he therefore thought that the professoriate would be placed on a better footing if all Professors were allowed to rise in ten years' service to a salary of Rs. 1,000 a month, the probationary five years being passed either on a salary of Rs. 500 rising to Rs. 750 by yearly increments of Rs. 50 per mensem, or on a fixed pay of Rs. 600 or Rs. 700 a month, and their salary rising, in the second term of five years, from Rs. 750 to Rs. 1,000 a month. His Lordship further suggested that the Government of India should consider the question whether higher pay should not be open to a Professor as such, and expressed the opinion that the higher salaries of Classes I and II of the Graded Service should be almost invariably attached to Principalships of Colleges and the Senior Inspectorships. He suggested that it might be found a preferable plan to attach to the office of Principal a special pay of Rs. 250 to Rs. 500 per mensem on account of the extra work and responsibility falling on the Professor who undertakes it. Of the Inspectorships he thought that at least one-half might be transferred to the Provincial branch of the service at an early date. His Lordship did not look with favour on the appointment of Professors to officiate as Inspectors, though he admitted that a permanent transfer from the former office to the latter might sometimes be in the public interest. He suggested also that the position of Head Masters recruited in England, which had never been satisfactorily defined, was of sufficient importance to merit attention in the future organisation of the Department. His Lordship observed in conclusion that any conditions of continued service after the term of probation which might be finally sanctioned would be extended to those gentlemen who, while the future position of Educational officers was under discussion, were engaged as ungraded officers for five years only, with no furlough or pension advantages.

4. The Secretary of State's Despatch was circulated in the spring of 1892 for opinion to Local Governments and Administrations, and they were at the same time asked to submit detailed schemes for the reorganisation of the Superior Educational Service on the lines marked out in His Lordship's Despatch. Having considered the replies of Local Governments and Administrations, the Government of India, in their letters of the 22nd August 1893, communicated to Local Governments and Administrations the decision they had arrived at on many of the points under discussion, and in calling for the Proposition Statements requisite to display the financial effect of the reorganisation, requested a further expression of opinion on some questions which remained unsettled. One of these was the question, which had been raised by the Secretary of State, whether any increase of pay should be given to officers recruited in England after they have attained the maximum of Rs. 1,000 a month. The Government of India were inclined to favour a modification of a proposal made by the Government of Bombay, and made a suggestion that an officer of fifteen years' approved service whose total salary did not exceed Rs. 1,000 should be given a special allowance of Rs. 100 a month. It was at first intended that an officer not considered deserving of that special allowance should be required to retire, but that proposal has since been dropped. Another question referred to Local Governments in the letters of 22nd August 1893 related to the pay to be given to members of the Provincial Service when acting in temporary vacancies in posts ordinarily filled by members of the Educational Services recruited in England. The last of the replies to the Home Department letters of 22nd August 1893 was received in March 1894; but it was not till August 1895 that the Government of India received the final reply of the Government of Bengal upon certain questions which it was found necessary to further discuss with that Government before a complete scheme could be placed before the Secretary of State. The scheme was finally placed before His Lordship in December 1895, and the general features of the organisation, as approved by him, are set forth below.

5. It must be observed, in the first place, that the reorganisation will affect only the Educational Departments in Madras, Bombay, Bengal, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the Punjab and the Central Provinces. In Burma there are in the service of Government no Principals or Professors of Colleges; and the Chief Commissioner's view has been accepted that the Province is not ready for the constitution of a Provincial Educational Service. It has also been decided that the Inspectorship of Schools in Burma must be filled by recruitment in England, and that they should be filled in future on conditions similar to those on which officers will be recruited for the 'Indian Educational Service' (vide next paragraph) generally. There is, therefore, no proposal for a general reorganisation of the service in Burma. In Assam the Director of Public Instruction will be the only officer recruited in England and he will be recruited for on the Bengal establishment. There will be no Provincial Service in Assam, since all the Educational officers, except the Director, will be in the Subordinate Service. The Inspector of Schools for Coorg belongs to the Madras Educational Department, and the question of the recruitment and pay of future incumbents of the post of Head Master of the Mercara Central School need not be considered until the time comes for the appointment of the next officer. The opinion of the Resident at Hyderabad that the Educational Department in Berar may with advantage be left upon its present footing has been accepted by the Government of India.

6. In accordance with the principles which have been adopted for the Judicial and Executive Services and some other Departments, the Educational Department will in future be divided broadly into (A) the Superior Service, and (B) the Subordinate Service. The former will consist of two branches, one including all posts to be filled by persons appointed in England, which will be called 'The Indian Educational Service'; and the other including all posts to be filled by recruitment in India, which will be known as 'the Provincial Educational Service' (of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, and so forth). The words 'appointed in England' may be added after 'The Indian Educational Service' whenever particular differentiation is needed.

7. The principles upon which appointments recruited for in India are to be classed in the Provincial or in the Subordinate Service are—

- (1) that the line between the two services will be drawn rather according to the nature of the office held than according to pay;
- (2) that generally Professors, Inspectors, and Joint and Assistant Inspectors are to be included in the Provincial Service; and Deputy Inspectors, Head Masters of District Schools, and officers of lower rank in the Subordinate Service;
- (3) as regards other offices, that those carrying less pay than Rs. 200 a month should not, except for very special reasons, be placed in the Provincial Service; and that, on the other hand, offices on higher pay than Rs. 200 (such as the senior Deputy Inspectorships in Bengal), may, at the discretion of the Local Government, be classed in the Subordinate Service.

The Government of Bombay recommended that Deputy Inspectors of Schools and Head Masters of High (i.e., Zilla or District) Schools in that Presidency should be placed in the Provincial Service, but the Government of India have come to the conclusion that, in accordance with the principles stated above, it is necessary that they should be placed in the Subordinate Service, as in other Provinces. The duties of a Deputy Inspector in Bombay or in Bengal are confined to a single district, and the status of such an officer is not comparable, for instance, with that of Assistant and Joint Inspectors in Bengal, whose jurisdiction extends over several districts and is really continuous with the jurisdiction of the Commissioner of a Division, and who have properly been classed as Provincial officers. Similarly Head Masters of High (i.e., Zilla or District) Schools in Bombay are neither better paid nor of better social or educational status than Head Masters of Zilla Schools in Bengal who belong to the Subordinate Service. While, however, the Government of India have not been able to accept in its entirety the view of the Government of Bombay as to the classification of Head Masterships of High Schools, they have agreed to the inclusion in the Provincial Service of the Head Masters of certain Collegiate Schools in Bombay—viz., the Elphinstone, Poona, Ahmedabad, and Karachi High Schools. The view of the Government of Madras has been accepted that in that Presidency the Provincial Service may be organised by grades on the basis of pay, since in the result the line between the Provincial and Subordinate Services is much the same as that drawn elsewhere. In the North-Western Provinces and Oudh four Head Masterships of District Schools on Rs. 400 a month and two on Rs. 350 a month have been classed in the Provincial Service, on the understanding that the Schools to which these officers are appointed are of the Collegiate class. The Government of the Punjab recommended that the Registrar of the Education Department in that Province should be included in the Provincial Service, but the status of this officer did not, in the opinion of the Government of India, justify his retention on this list and he has been entered in the Subordinate Service.

In other respects the several Provincial schemes adhere generally to the principles enunciated above but in Bengal and the Punjab the inclusion in the Provincial Service of the grade of Rs. 150 has been permitted, as it was represented that efficient men can be obtained on that initial salary. The maximum salary is, however, everywhere the same, viz., Rs. 700 a month. On the repeated recommendation of the Government of Bengal, a certain number of Deputy Inspectors, Masters, etc., at present in Government employ, have been included in the Bengal Provincial Service list on personal grounds on the understanding that the concession will not extend to their successors in office.

A list (Appendix A) is appended to this Resolution showing the appointments falling within the Indian Educational and Provincial Services, respectively, of the several Provinces affected by the reorganisation. It will be observed that, except in the Central Provinces (where the pay of the Inspector-General of Education is only Rs. 1,250—50—1,500), the post of Director of Public Instruction has been excluded. from the list of appointments in the Superior Educational Service. This omission has been made in accordance with the decision of the Secretary of State, communicated in his Despatch of the 12th March last. His Lordship observed:—

‘In the fifteenth paragraph of your letter it is stated that Local Governments and Administrations have been informed that the omission from the list of Educational appointments of the office of Director of Public Instruction should not interfere with the principle that, ceteris paribus, it is to be given to a member of the Educational Service. I am aware that this principle is founded on a Despatch of the Secretary of State dated so long ago as the 7th April 1859. I have nevertheless considerable doubt whether it is now expedient to re-affirm it, or to renew any pledges that might be understood as establishing a right of priority in favour of the Department. The office of Director of Public Instruction is one of very great importance and demands in the holder of it not only attainments of a high order, but considerable administrative capacity. The questions that are raised are often of great public interest. The Director controls a Department in intimate relation with Municipal Councils and District Boards, and he has to deal with the managers of numerous aided Colleges and Schools, as well as with the teachers employed in the Government Institutions under his supervision. A very important part of his work is to watch and stimulate the progress of primary instruction,—a matter in which he has to enlist the co-operation of the District Officers throughout the Province in which he is employed. In many of the Provinces the departmental staff is far too small to afford any guarantee for the presence among its members of an officer thoroughly qualified for these important administrative functions. On full consideration of the past history of the Department, I have arrived at the conclusion that the Local Governments and Administrations should be allowed a free hand in the selection of a Director, and should not be fettered by any rule or instruction purporting to give a preferential claim to an officer of any particular Department.’

8. The scale of pay for officers of the Indian Educational Service will be that proposed by Viscount Cross, and stated in paragraph 3 above, viz.:—

- (a) during the probationary period of five years, Rs. 500—50—700 a month, it being open to the Secretary of State to offer a fixed pay of Rs. 600, or even Rs. 700, in special cases when the services of a competent officer cannot otherwise be secured;
- (b) in the second period, Rs. 750—50—1,000, the maximum being attained at the end of ten years from first appointment.

This will be the general rule, but in certain exceptional cases it may be necessary to appoint persons with special qualifications on higher rates of pay. There are also several appointments which have been included in the Indian Education Service list, because they will have to be recruited for in England as a rule, but these appointments will carry special salaries and the holders of them will not, as a matter of course, be eligible for the pay of Rs. 500 rising to Rs. 1,000, which will be reserved for Professors, Inspectors and Principals.

9. Although the position and prospects of officers of the Indian Service will under the reorganisation of the Department be considerably improved in the earlier years of their service, it appeared to the Government of India to be undesirable and likely to create discontent in the Department, that a large proportion of its members should attain after ten years' service to the highest pay open to them. It has accordingly been decided to give a special allowance of Rs. 100 a month after fifteen years' service to officers whose total salary does not exceed Rs. 1,000 and who are considered by the Local Government to merit this increase of pay.

10. The plan suggested by the Secretary of State in 1892 of attaching personal allowances to the office of Principal and senior Inspector of Schools has been adopted. There will be two grades of allowances of Rs. 250—50—500 and Rs. 200—10—250 a month, respectively, so as to correspond to some extent with the higher rates of pay in the graded list, which will be supplanted by the new system. The allowances will be strictly personal, within the meaning of the Civil Service Regulations,—i.e., they will be held continuously by officers whether on duty or on leave (subject to the provisions of the leave rules in regard to allowances during leave) and will not be given to those who act for them during their absence. The following is the scale of allowances allotted to the several Provinces :—

Madras.—(a) Two allowances of Rs. 250—50—500, to be given to the Principal, Presidency College, and the senior Inspector of Schools; and (b) two allowances of Rs. 200—10—250, to be given, respectively, to the Principals of the Rajahmundry and Kumbakonam Colleges. It will be open to the Government of Madras, however, to give one of the lower allowances to an Inspector of long standing and approved service if, in their opinion, his claims to it are superior to those of one of the Principals.

Bombay.—(a) Two allowances of Rs. 250—50—500 a month, to be given to the senior Principal and the senior Inspector; and (b) three allowances of Rs. 200—10—250 a month, to be given to the remaining two Principals of Colleges and to the second senior Inspector.

Bengal.—(a) Two allowances of Rs. 250—50—500 a month; and (b) three allowances of Rs. 200—10—250 a month. The allowances will be open to the two senior Professors only at the Presidency College, Calcutta, and to Principals of Colleges and Inspectors of Schools generally, the rule being that they should be given to the senior, or most deserving, men, and should not be treated as staff allowances attached to certain offices.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—(a) One allowance of Rs. 250—50—500 a month; and (b) two allowances of Rs. 200—10—250 a month, to be distributed as His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and Chief Commissioner may think best.

Punjab.—(a) One allowance of Rs. 250—50—500 a month, to be given ordinarily to the senior of the two officers holding the appointments of Principal of the Lahore Government College and senior Inspector of Schools; and (b) one allowance of Rs. 200—10—250 a month, to be given ordinarily to the junior of the officers holding the above-mentioned appointments.

Central Provinces.—One allowance of Rs. 200—10—250 a month, to be given to the Principal of the Jubbulpore College.

11. In connection with the suggestion made by Lord Cross that at least one-half of the Inspectorships should at an early date be transferred to the Provincial Branch of the Educational Service, the following distribution of Inspectorships between the Indian and Provincial Services in each Province has been decided on.

Madras.—Two Inspectors to be recruited in England and two in India.

Bombay.—Three Inspectors to be recruited in England and one in India. It is not possible to transfer more than one Inspectorship to the Provincial list, as two of the Inspectors inspect the large European or Indo-European Schools in the Presidency town and in Poona for boys and girls, for which institutions it is essential, in view of the curriculum and other circumstances, that there should be European supervision, and the special circumstances of the Province of Sindh require that there should be a European Inspector for it.

Bengal.—Four Inspectors (including the Inspector of European Schools) to be recruited in England, and four Inspectors (one being a Joint Inspector for Orissa) to be recruited in India.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—Three Inspectors to be recruited in England and two in India.

Punjab.—Three Inspectors to be recruited in England and two in India. A third Inspectorship will be transferred to the Provincial Service as soon as there is a prospect of securing a sufficiency of Native gentlemen of the Province with the necessary qualifications. This cannot be done at present with due regard to the full efficiency of the service.

12. As observed above (paragraph 3), the Secretary of State expressed in 1892 his doubts whether Professors should be appointed to officiate as Inspectors, though he was of opinion that the permanent transfer of an officer from a Professorship to an Inspectorship might sometimes be in the public interest. It has since been decided, however, to allow full discretion in this matter to Local Governments and Administrations, on the ground that they are in the best position to judge when such transfers are desirable or necessary.

13. It was observed in the Secretary of State's Despatch of 28th January 1892 that the position of Head Masters recruited in England had never been very satisfactorily defined, but that it was of sufficient importance to merit attention in any future reorganisation. Head Masters appointed in England are at present found only in the Bombay Educational Service, and it has been decided that three Head Master-ships in that service should be recruited for in England, that a pay of Rs. 500—50—750 a month should be assigned to each, and that the holders of them should be eligible for vacancies among the Inspectorships reserved for the Indian Service.

One more Head Mastership will also be recruited for in England,—namely, the Head Mastership of the Central Model School in the Punjab : but this will be a special appointment carrying a salary of Rs. 400 a month.

14. All officers appointed in England will be eligible for the more favourable leave rules contained in Chapter XIII of the Civil Service Regulations. Their pensions will be regulated by the ordinary superior service pension rules in Chapters XVIII and XIX modified by the concession in Article 441-A (which will apply to those who enter the Indian Educational Service after the date of this Resolution in substitution for the provisions of Article 441). Directors of Public Instruction will, under Financial Department Resolution No. 2958-P., dated the 22nd June 1895, be eligible for an additional pension of Rs. 1,000 a year, provided they have rendered not less than three years of effective service in the appointment, and provided also that in each case during such service they have shown such special energy and efficiency as may be considered deserving of the concession. The probationary service of officers whose services have been continued beyond the probationary period, as well as the previous service of those who have been engaged, in the first instance, on temporary contracts without leave or pension advantages, but have been subsequently confirmed, will reckon towards leave and pension as well as towards increments under the new scheme.

15. It has been decided that no officer now in the Graded Service should suffer by the reorganisation of the Department. Every European officer, therefore, who has been permanently appointed to the graded list will be given the option of coming under the new scheme or of continuing on the graded list and obtaining promotion as vacancies occur in it, subject to the condition that only those considered fit for promotion will get it. Those officers who elect to come under the new scheme will count their past service on the graded list for the purpose of fixing their pay and increments as well as towards leave and pension. All officers appointed to the Graded Service as Natives of India, most of whom are drawing two-thirds of the salary of European officers, will be given the choice between continuing in the Graded Service subject to the two-thirds rule, and entering the Provincial Service. The principle that existing members shall in no case suffer by the reorganisation will be equally applicable to the Provincial Service. In future Natives of India who are desirous of entering the Education Department will usually be appointed in India and to the Provincial Service.

16. It will be open to Local Governments and Administrations, whenever occasion arises, to provide for temporary vacancies in posts ordinarily filled by members of the Indian Educational Service by appointing members of the Provincial Service to officiate. In all such cases the acting Provincial officer will receive a uniform allowance of Rs. 100 a month, subject to the proviso that the salary of the acting incumbent shall not be higher than the pay of the officer for whom he acts.

17. In Appendix B will be found the Proposition Statements for reorganisation of the Indian and Provincial Services in the several Provinces as they have been approved by the Secretary of State. It is only necessary in conclusion to observe that discretion will be allowed to Local Governments and Administrations as to the time within which the scale of numbers and pay fixed for the Provincial Services shall be fully worked up to. As the effect of the reorganisation scheme is to reduce the staff of officers recruited in England and to augment the Provincial staff, increases or improvements in the latter may fairly, if necessary, await funds being set free by changes in the Graded Service.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to all Local Governments and Administrations for information and guidance; and to the Department of Finance and Commerce for information.

Ordered also, that the Resolution be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, No. 2914-S.R., dated the 6th July 1896.

Read—

Resolution in the Finance and Commerce Department No. 4175, dated the 18th August 1894.

Letter from the Government of Bengal No. 4194-S.R., dated the 6th August 1895, and enclosures.

Letter to the Government of Bengal No. 4065, dated the 23rd August 1895.

Letter from the Government of Bengal No. 132-F., dated the 21st April 1896, and enclosures.

In the Resolution of the 18th August 1894 cited above, the Government of India directed the adoption at all Indian ports of the practice of the Customs authorities at Bombay in respect of two points connected with the administration of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, IV of 1889. The practice in respect of these points was thus stated:

- (1) goods bearing the names of British or British Indian firms are detained unless the origin of the goods is indicated on the same label as that on which the name appears;
- (2) the indication of the country of origin, as well as of the names of the shippers, is required to be placed on the capsules and corks of bottles of wine and other liquors as well as on the labels.

2. In August 1895, a representation was received from the Calcutta Wine, Spirit, and Beer Association to the effect that the enforcement of the Bombay practice on the second point would injuriously affect the trade in high class wines and spirits. The Board of Revenue pointed out that the complaint was based on a misapprehension of the intention of the orders which applied only to foreign goods bearing the names of British or British Indian manufacturers, dealers, or traders, and could not possibly affect the trade in high class wines and spirits, such articles never being imported with the names of British or British Indian firms on the capsules or corks of bottles containing them. This view of the scope of the orders was confirmed by the Government of India.

3. A further representation from the Calcutta Wine, Spirit, and Beer Association against the operation of the orders has, however, now been received, and the Government of Bengal recommend that as in their present form they may give rise to misapprehension, it would be well to define them more clearly. The Governor General in Council agrees in the opinion of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor that the orders may expediently be made quite clear, and the opportunity has been taken of incorporating them in the Instructions issued with the letter from this Department No. 295, dated the 28th November 1890, for the guidance of Customs authorities in the administration of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act. Those instructions have from time to time been supplemented by rulings issued by the Government of India, and it is now desirable to re-issue them as so amended. They are appended to this Resolution, and they should be circulated to all officers of the Customs Department in supersession of the Instructions hitherto issued.

Executive Instructions for the guidance of Customs Officers in the administration of the Indian Merchandise Marks Act, IV of 1889.

1. Labels or tickets, applied to boxes, cartons, parcels, or other packages, which are manifestly intended only for the purpose of identifying articles for the convenience of dealers and shopkeepers, and are not specially intended to attract the eye of the purchaser, should not be treated as trade descriptions. Examples:—On bundles of hosiery, 'hose, brown merino, size 10'; on shoes, 'enamelled leather, men's No. 6'; on hats, 'brown felt, hard No. 7.'

This instruction does not apply to a mark or description on the goods themselves, nor to a description of quality, nor to a description containing the name of a place, country, manufacturer or trader, nor to a trade-mark.

2. Goods manufactured on the continent of Europe should be detained if the manufacturer's name and the trade description are expressed in English, unless the name and description are accompanied by the name of the country of manufacture.

In certain cases where the name of a place only is applied, it is not necessary to require the name of the country; for instance, if brandy is imported from Nantes or Bordeaux and marked with the name of the port of shipment only, it is not necessary to require the addition of the name of the country, because no shipper or importer of brandy from France would wilfully leave room for doubt as to the French origin of the brandy.

If bars of iron or steel of other than English origin have English words stamped thereon, the Collector should require the country of origin to be stamped on them.

3. Customs officers should detain, on their own motion and without requiring information, any goods produced or manufactured beyond the limits of the United Kingdom or of British India which are marked with British or British Indian names or trade-marks or with colourable imitations thereof, or which are so described as to indicate or suggest that the goods were produced or made in the United Kingdom or British India, unless the country of origin of the goods is indicated, in conspicuous letters, on the same label as that on which the names, mark, or description appear.

In the cases mentioned in this instruction a description which indicates a particular class or method of manufacture, and includes the name of a place in or a part of the United Kingdom, and is thereby likely or calculated to mislead, includes such terms as 'Kidderminster carpets,' 'Windsor soap,' 'Balbriggan' on hosiery, 'Shetland' on shawls, and the like; for though these terms may be held to be merely indicative of methods of manufacture, they are likely to mislead as to the place of origin.

4. Customs officers should require the indication of the country of origin to be placed on the capsules and corks as well as on the labels of bottles of wine or other liquor produced or made beyond the limits of the United Kingdom or of British India, whenever such goods are

(a) so described

(b) or have applied to them British or British Indian names or trade-marks or colourable imitations thereof in such manner as to indicate or suggest that the wine or other liquor was produced or made in the United Kingdom or in British India.

If the description and the names are so applied as to indicate merely that the wine or other liquor has been imported by a British or British Indian trader or dealer, it is not necessary to require the indication of origin on the corks and capsules.

5. The cotton piece-goods which must have their length stamped on them, under the orders contained in the notification of the Government of India in the Department of Finance and Commerce No. 1430, dated the 6th April 1891, are those named below :

Cambrics.	Longcloths.
Checks, Spots, and Stripes.	Madapollams.
Chadars.	Mulls.
Chadar dhutis.	Muslins.
Dhutis.	Nainsooks.
Domestics.	Printers.
Durias.	Prints.
Drills.	Sáris.
Jaconets.	Scarves (eklai).
Jeans.	Sheetings.
Lappets.	Shirtings.
Lawns.	Tanjibs.
Lenos.	Twills.

T cloths and Mexicans.

No other descriptions of cotton goods need be stamped with their length.

6. A report on the proceedings of the Collector should be submitted annually to the local Government for transmission to the Government of India. The report should state the number of cases in which (1) detention was ordered; (2) detention was followed by confiscation; (3) detention was followed by release with or without a fine; (4) detention was ordered on information received; (5) detention was ordered without information. Under the first head should be specified the section of the Act under which action was taken."

By order of His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor in Council,

J. W. P. MUIR-MACKENZIE,
Acting Secretary to Government.

2. Upon receipt of an application in the prescribed form, duly filled in, the Surveyor will fix the date and hour at which the survey shall be commenced, and will forward to the applicant an intimation of the date and hour so fixed, together with a list of the requisite preparations for the survey of the inland steam-vessel. The said intimation and list shall be in the Form No. 2 hereto annexed.

If the Surveyor is unavoidably prevented from being present at the time fixed, the earliest possible intimation shall be sent to the applicant, and some other time convenient to the applicant and to the Surveyor shall be fixed for the survey.

If the Surveyor be subsequently informed by the Owner or Master that the requisite repairs, &c., have been executed, he shall, with the approval of the Port Officer, pay one or more extra visits to the steam-vessel, and thereafter either give or refuse a declaration as he shall think proper.

7. Every declaration of survey furnished under Section 9 of the Act shall be in Form

No. 5, hereto annexed, and shall contain the several particulars therein prescribed.

The Shipwright Surveyor will inspect the hull, equipments, and passenger accommodation, measure and determine the number of passengers the vessel is fit to carry, and see that the certificates of the Master and Engineer or engine-driver are such as are required by the Act; also that the lights and fog-signals are in accordance with the regulations for the prevention of collisions at sea.
